Meghan Ritchie

Food & Beverage Operations Expert
New York City Metropolitan Area

Summary

My passion for the food and beverage industry began in 2012 with the launch of my business, Megpies, which was an artisanal tart business serving local café chains and coffee shops in NYC. This business grew to $3.5 million annual revenue through US and Canadian distribution to 8,500 stores. I developed expertise in capital raising, financing, production operations, technology systems, marketing, logistics, people leadership, sales, and CPG branding.

I bring this expertise and passion to serving other food and beverage founders helping to bring their brands to market while improving their operational efficiencies.

Experience

Agua Bonita
