“As investors focused on backing category-defining consumer brands, we are incredibly excited to support Plunge. Over the past four years, the company has scaled from a garage-built prototype to a dominant force in the wellness space, generating $90M in revenue—all without outside capital. This type of capital efficiency, product-market fit, and brand strength is rare, and we are thrilled to be part of their next phase of growth. When we met co-founders, Ryan Duey and Michael Garrett, we were immediately impressed by their vision, execution, and deep understanding of the market. Their ability to innovate across product, technology, and distribution while maintaining profitability speaks to their operational excellence. They have built a brand that resonates deeply with consumers and elite performance organizations alike, partnering with the likes of SpaceX, Equinox, and the U.S. Air Force. Plunge is unique in its category, leading not just in brand awareness but also in technological innovation. Their commercial-grade plunges solve critical pain points for B2B customers, and their IoT-enabled consumer models set a new standard in personalized wellness. Plunge is positioned to be the defining cold therapy company of our generation. We're proud to be investing in Plunge and look forward to supporting their mission to bring cold exposure and contrast therapy to the mainstream.”

“As an investor, I’ve rarely seen a team with as much hustle and product vision as Mike and Ryan. They took their deep knowledge from the float tank industry and channeled it into creating Plunge—a line of high-end cold plunges and beautifully designed saunas that raise the bar for at-home wellness. Their meticulous attention to design, seamless software integration, and keen market understanding position them for exceptional growth. I’m convinced Plunge is poised to continue redefining new product categories—and I’m thrilled to be a part of their journey.”

“I’ve been passionate about cold water immersion for years, trying every backyard setup imaginable. The moment I saw the first-generation Plunge, I was sold—the design, reliability, and ease of use are unmatched. I believe in Plunge so much that I became an investor, confident they’re setting the gold standard in the category. As recovery, resilience, and performance take center stage in health and wellness, Plunge is leading the way in innovation, and I’m proud to support a company making cold and heat therapy more accessible at home.”

Why Plunge?

At Plunge, we believe that resilience is the ultimate superpower.

Our cold plunges and high-heat saunas are tools for transformation, engineered to make building resilience a daily habit.

With industry-leading quality, seamless app control, and thoughtful design, we deliver contrast therapy* that's accessible, highly effective, and life-enhancing.

*Contrast therapy means alternating between cold and hot to improve circulation, reduce inflammation, and enhance recovery.

The coolest things start in garages

It's not too often that your obsession is also your career. And your therapy. And a way to change lives all over the world. But for us, that's exactly what happened.

Both of our co-founders, Michael and Ryan, had life-altering experiences that fueled a passion for cutting-edge wellness therapies. When the COVID-19 pandemic forced their float tank thriving businesses to close, Michael started tinkering to build the world's best cold plunge.

After countless iterations, Michael and his dad created a winning design. Ryan joined soon after to build the first 20 plunges together in Michael's garage.

We bought the domain “thecoldplunge.com” for a mere $10 and shaped how people referenced the modality. Two years later, we secured Plunge.com and set out to create a new category in wellness.

Initial growth came from seeding products with leading health influencers like Aubrey Marcus, Andrew Huberman, and Rich Roll. This epic “Plunge tour” proved the efficacy of our product and catapulted demand to the next level.

Just after hitting our first million dollars in sales in 2022, we were invited to pitch on Shark Tank and ended up with one of the top offers the show has ever seen.

By building an aesthetic, modern cold plunge for half the cost of the competition, we quickly achieved product-market fit. The quality and craftsmanship of our products combined with exposure from Shark Tank and top influencers catapulted us to market domination.

Today, with a growing community of 30,000+ loyal customers, over $200M+ in cumulative revenue, and partnerships with iconic brands like CrossFit, Liquid Death, and the NY Yankees, we're leading the charge in a booming $8B market.

 30K+ customers & counting

 45 million+ sessions

 $200M+ cumulative revenue

We couldn't be where we are today without the tremendous passion and support of our customers. That's why we're giving the Plunge community first access to our investment round before we raise institutional capital.

The comfort crisis is stealing our vitality

We live in a world where convenience is king, and it's quietly robbing us of our vitality. Sedentary lifestyles, screen-based entertainment, and the lack of physical challenges in daily life have left us ill-equipped to age with strength and vitality.

with strength and vitality.

Instead of thriving as we grow older, many people face chronic illnesses, reduced mobility, and a declining quality of life.

People want solutions that fit their lifestyle

People are catching on to the power of ancient rituals – like exposure to extreme cold and heat – as a highly efficient way to boost vitality, build resilience, and keep our bodies intact.

However, the rising popularity of this modality has led to the proliferation of clunky, white-labeled products that lack durability, reliability, and aesthetic appeal. These low-quality boxes are eyesores – there's a reason they're often placed out of sight.

When you're investing in your health and motivating yourself to plunge into ice-cold water or embrace high heat on a regular basis, details matter.

Pioneering high-quality, cutting-edge cold plunges & saunas

At Plunge, we're empowering people to reclaim vitality and extend their health spans with a suite of contrast therapy products that offer unmatched style and uncompromised quality.

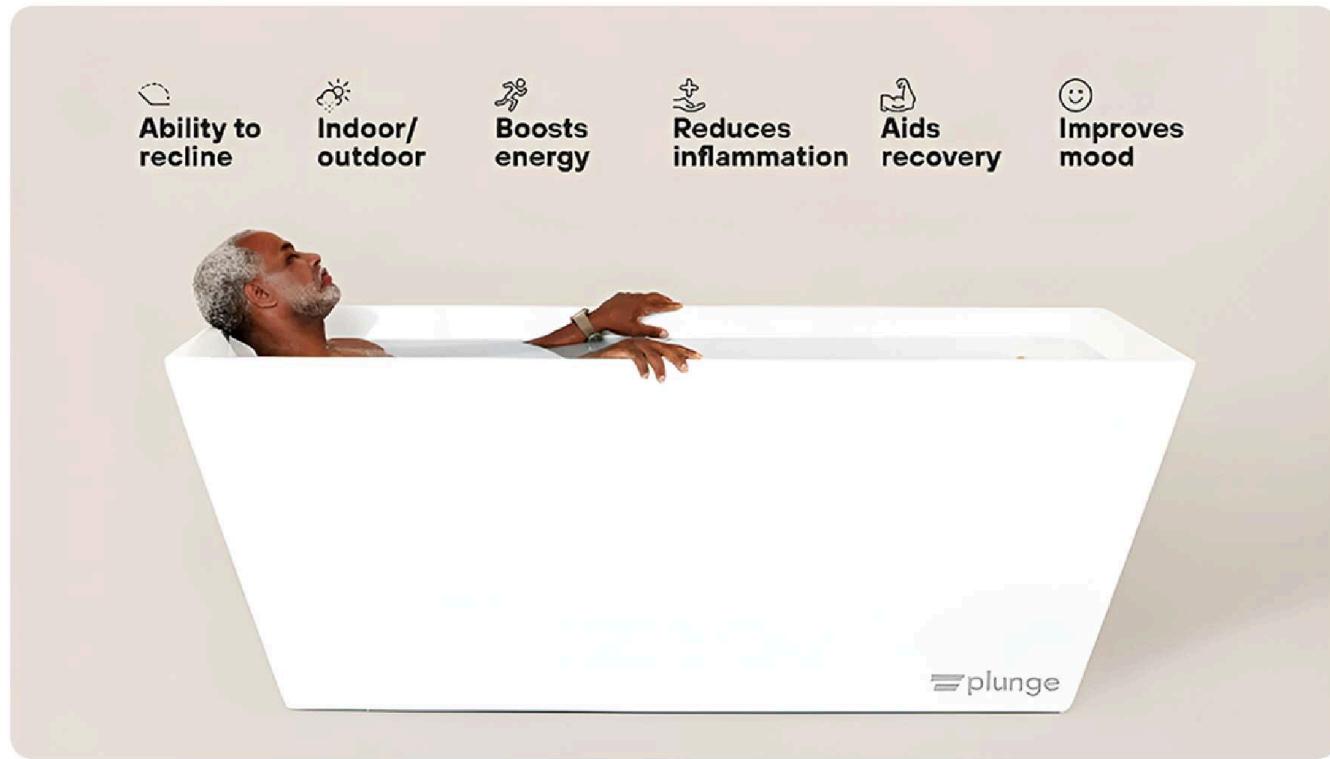

Built with high-quality materials and supported by a best-in-class app, our stunning range of premium cold plunges and saunas make submerging yourself into ice-cold water or entering sweltering heat an irresistible part of your day.

We're breaking the mold and thinking outside of the box, literally, with products that are meant to be seen. Our modern designs are not only meticulously engineered and validated through 45 million sessions to ensure optimal ergonomics and a seamless experience, but they also elevate any home, spa, locker room, or office building.

Our cold plunges are assembled in California, and our saunas are made here too. Keeping it local allows us to ensure that every Plunge and Sauna meets our high standards.

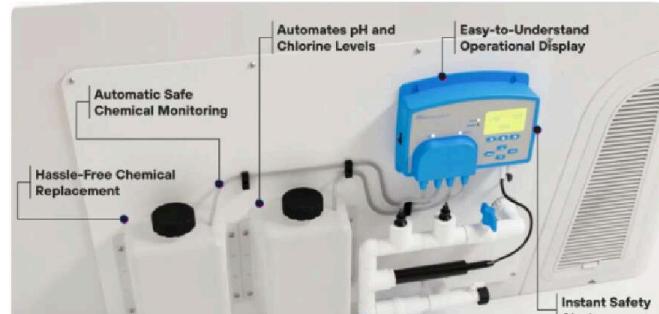

Smart, high-performance products built for home & commercial use

Each cold plunge features premier filtration and sanitation so that users can enjoy clean, perfectly chilled water at any time - no ice needed!

Control all of your

All Plunge products offer smartphone-controlled sessions through the Plunge App.

Our app enhances the customer experience and reinforces brand loyalty with features like session tracking, temperature control, maintenance reminders, and wellness tips, as well as connectivity with Apple Watches.

The app also creates opportunities for upselling and cross-selling, offering tailored recommendations for complementary products, accessories, and eventually subscription-based memberships.

We're currently working on incorporating a personal wellness coach into the app to drive accountability and enable data integrations with other popular wearables like Oura and Whoop.

On the B2B side, PlungeConnect is a cutting-edge enterprise platform that centralizes device data for seamless monitoring and maintenance.

Game Changer!

It's not a pill, it's not a nutrition plan, it's not

Life Changing!

I'd been doing a plunge in a poly stock tank some crazy workout regimen...its cold water! Ever since using the cold plunge I have noticed 2 prevalent things:

1. My recovery from workouts and cardio is dramatically quicker.
2. My 2pm "slump" is almost gone where I don't feel like I need a cup of coffee or some fresh air to keep me awake to make it through the day.

This is such an amazing product, well built, easy to set up and use! Highly recommend!

The Plunge: Cold Plunge Tub

with ice blocks in my shop but decided to make a major upgrade for Christmas! Love this tub and the chiller. Perfect for my space and I love that it's portable. You won't ever be sorry you purchased one!

Plunge Air

Best Tub On The Market

This is a first class plunge tub. It is very well designed with easy maintenance and an awesome app. The top is well designed and it is easy to use. I chose this tub over the plunger barrels because as I age I thought it would be easier to enter and exit the tub versus a barrel. The plunge basin makes it even easier!

Forbes

"The Plunge elevates your everyday ice bath into something straight out of a spa. Most other cold plunge tubs aren't exactly easy on the eyes. Plunge, on the other hand, doesn't sacrifice fashion for function. Think of the All-In as the Mac of cold plunge tubs."

GLAMOUR

"We love that the acrylic and fiberglass tub boasts a heater and a chiller, making it a highly versatile pick. You can set the temp to as low as 39°F and as high as 103°F. It's even equipped with a sanitation system to keep the whole thing clean."

ARCHITECTURAL DIGEST

"To get myself acquainted with cold plunging at home, I was lucky enough to test out the new Plunge All-In. I am now, without a doubt, completely spoiled and will never be able to plunge any other way."

FORTUNE

"We rated The Plunge cold plunge tub as the best overall. Its standout features include its simple assembly process, advanced filtration and sanitation systems, and low maintenance requirements. Our team also enjoyed the mobile app connectivity, which allowed them to configure the tub's settings remotely."

Led by proven health tech visionaries

With decades of experience driving innovation at iconic companies like Amazon, MakerBot, Chevron, and Life Fitness, our leadership team knows how to turn ideas into impact.

We've combined that expertise with our shared passion for contrast therapy to build a brand that's as enduring as the benefits we deliver.

Contrast therapy is a new and fast-growing market with immense untapped potential. Aggregating the residential and commercial markets for both cold plunges and saunas, the estimated U.S. market size is $8B+ today.

2024 Household (HH) Penetration

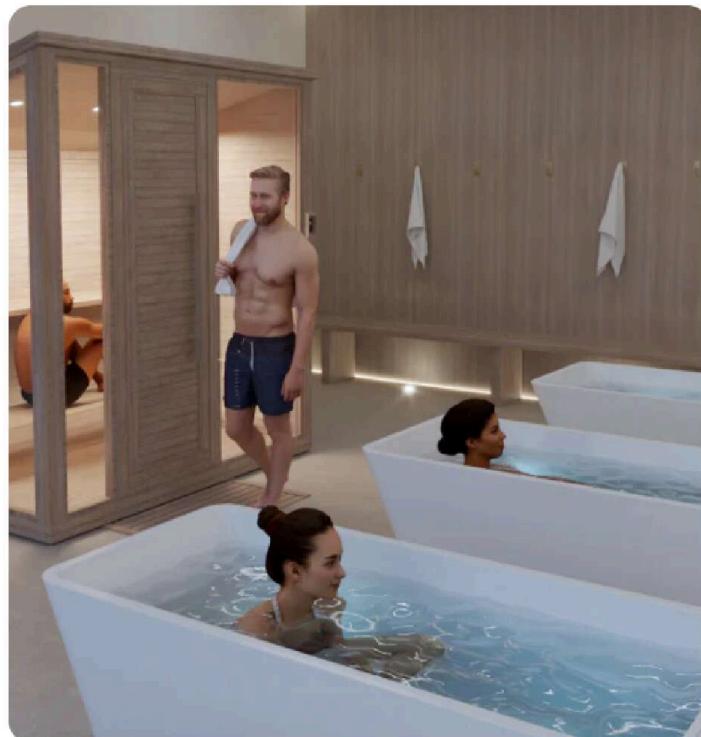

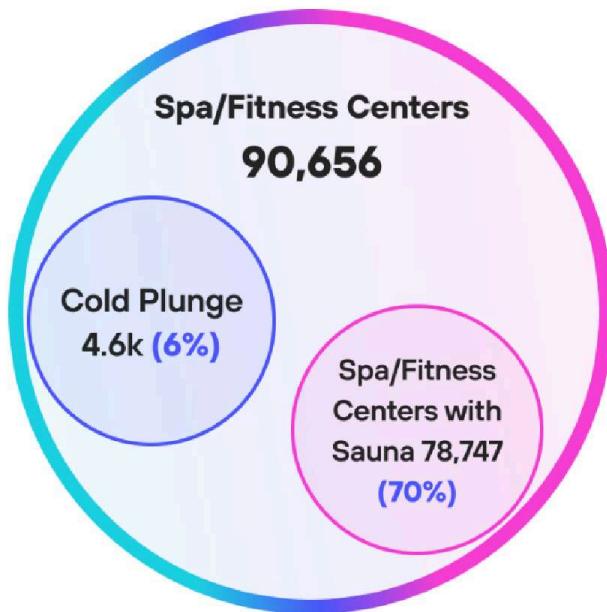

Massive potential for growth when comparing to the hot tub industry

Number of HH is estimated based on data from Grand View Research, Divided by our average sales price for tubs and saunas

Currently, 5% of US households own a hot tub, while less than 1% own a cold plunge or sauna. If the same hot tub consumers purchased a plunge or a sauna, the U.S. residential market size would exceed $40B.

2024 SPA/Fitness Center Penetration

For the commercial market, over 70% of leading U.S. gym chains offer saunas and yet only 6% offer cold plunges, creating a massive market growth opportunity. If all the gyms that with saunas also offered cold plunge therapy, the U.S. commercial market opportunity is $3.4B.

With the proven production capabilities and infrastructure we have in place today, Plunge can scale by more than 3X in the next 5 years.

With a combined residential and commercial total available market (TAM) of $43.4B+ as well as international expansion on the horizon, the market opportunity is massive.

Hardware, supplies, & accessories drive diverse revenue streams

The majority of our revenue comes from D2C and B2B cold plunge and sauna sales. Our average acquisition cost is incredibly low compared to our average order values.

Partnerships and joint marketing with influential brands like Liquid Death, alo, and CrossFit have proven to offer a lucrative customer acquisition channel that has already led to $1.6M in direct attributable revenue with zero acquisition costs.

We are focused on growing returning and recurring revenue from supplies and accessories, driven by our iOS app which simplifies maintenance and reordering supplies and drives customer loyalty.

● Sales Actual ($M)

From 2022 to 2023, we rode a tidal wave for residential cold plunging.

With little competition at our price point, we exploded to $82M in sales in 2023 and ramped our production capabilities to keep up.

In 2024, we leaned into the B2B channel and achieved 111% year-over-year growth, generating $13M in commercial revenue. Top-tier operators like SweatHouz and Chelsea Piers turned to Plunge for premium, commercial-grade cold plunges to scale their offerings. We also surpassed $9M in revenue from the launch of our new high-heat sauna products in the first full year of sales.

2025 is all about optimizing efficiency while expanding our B2B growth engine and whitespace to scale our sauna business. With streamlined operations, a leaner team, and smart marketing, we're on track for sustainable profitability.

* Future projections are not guaranteed

Future growth will come from B2B expansion with partners like SweatHouz, Hilton, and Marriott, plus international expansion and exciting new products like custom app protocols, upgraded tubs and saunas, and smaller, budget-friendly models.

We're primed for a high-value exit

Plunge is well-positioned for an attractive exit through strategic or private equity acquisition. With established relationships and ongoing dialogue with leading players in the wellness and fitness space, we're already on the radar of potential buyers.
