Join Us in Building Something That Changes Lives

I'm reaching out to share something deeply personal and urgently needed—Jade House Recovery, a mission dedicated to bringing clinical care, structure, and lasting hope to South Florida's most vulnerable men battling addiction and homelessness.

This mission is personal. I've seen firsthand the devastation of addiction—the way it fractures families, steals futures, and isolates even the strongest among us. I also know that recovery is possible with the right care, structure, and support.

We're building this with a dual approach that creates both immediate impact and long-term sustainability:

- Jade House Treatment Center (Non-Profit): Providing therapeutic and clinical services to help men rebuild their lives.
- Jade House Management (For-Profit): Strengthening treatment centers from the inside out—expanding their reach, improving care, and ensuring real change.

This isn't just a vision—it's heart-driven work backed by strategy and action.

Here's why this matters to you:

- Your investment targets strong returns through revenue-sharing from proven Medicaid-backed operations (detailed projections available upon verification).
- Recession-resistant need—treatment demand grew 12% during the last economic downturn.
- Scalable impact—every $10K provides 90 days of treatment + creates counseling jobs.

We're now raising capital from our inner circle before opening to larger investors. I'd love for you to be part of this from the ground up.
