Item 7. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations, page 17

Executive Overview and Outlook, page 17

1. We have read your responses to prior comments one and two from our letter dated March 31, 2015. We note that your decision to use a particular exchange rate is based on consideration of the various exchange mechanisms and your company-specific facts and circumstances. In light of the (i) continued deterioration of economic conditions in Venezuela and the new currency exchange mechanisms and (ii) the extent of your business activities in Venezuela via your investment in CP Venezuela, please tell us what consideration you have given to identifying management's selection of the appropriate Bs to USD exchange rate as a critical accounting estimate. In this regard, it would appear that the additional information you have provided in response to prior comment one would be meaningful information to an investor. Furthermore, please address the need to illustrate the sensitivity of this estimate by quantifying the impact to your results of operations had you remeasured your monetary assets and liabilities at less favorable exchange rates.

2. We have read your response to prior comment three from our letter dated March 31, 2015. Please tell us what consideration you have given to expanding the discussion of your impairment analysis for your Venezuelan long-lived intangible assets to address the sensitivity of your impairment analysis, including whether or not you would need to recognize an impairment loss if you were to use a less favorable exchange rate and, if so, to quantify what that impairment loss would be.
