DISCOVERY OIL, LTD.
Condensed Notes to Interim Financial Statements
March 31, 2006

NOTE 1 - BASIS OF PRESENTATION

The foregoing unaudited interim financial statements have been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles for interim financial information and with the instructions to Form 10-QSB and Regulation S-B as promulgated by the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"). Accordingly, these financial statements do not include all of the disclosures required by generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America for complete financial statements. These unaudited interim financial statements should be read in conjunction with the Company's audited financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2005. In the opinion of management, the unaudited interim financial statements furnished herein include all adjustments, all of which are of a normal recurring nature, necessary for a fair statement of the results for the interim period presented. Operating results for the three month period ended March 31, 2006 are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected for the year ending December 31, 2006.

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America requires the use of estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities known to exist as of the date the financial statements are published, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Uncertainties with respect to such estimates and assumptions are inherent in the preparation of the Company's financial statements; accordingly, it is possible that the actual results could differ from these estimates and assumptions and could have a material effect on the reported amounts of the Company's financial position and results of operations.

NOTE 2 – GOING CONCERN

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis, which contemplates the realization of assets and satisfaction of liabilities in the normal course of business. The Company has suffered material recurring losses from operations since inception. At March 31, 2006, the Company has a deficit of $1,054,009. These factors raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern.

The Company's management is currently exploring new business opportunities, which will, if successful, mitigate these factors that raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. The financial statements do not include any adjustments relating to the recoverability and classification of recorded assets, or the amounts and classification of liabilities that might be necessary in the event the Company cannot continue in existence.

Condensed Notes to Interim Financial Statements

NOTE 3 – STATE TAX LIABILITY

For the three months ended March 31, 2006 the Company estimated its California corporate tax liability to be $25,122. The Company has not filed a return with the State of California for several years and because of that the Company has been suspended from operating as a corporation in California. In order to revive its authorized corporation status in California, the Company must file all delinquent tax returns and pay all related California corporate income taxes, penalties and interest. The Company is currently in negotiations with California to resolve this payable.

NOTE 4 – RELATED PARTY PAYABLE

From time to time, Company's president pays expenses on behalf of the Company. Additionally the Company signed a lease with this executive for the use of office space for $1,300 per month, or $15,600 per year. The Company also agreed to pay mileage for his travels relating to the Company. During the three months ended March 31, 2005 the Company reimbursed this executive $2,454 for travel, general and administrative expenses. The balance due to the executive at March 31, 2006 and 2005 was $49,175 and $6,458, respectively. This includes both cash loans, payables for expenses paid on behalf of the Company and accrued rent.

ITEM 2 - MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATION

General

Our management's discussion and analysis is intended to be read in conjunction with the Company's audited financial statements and notes thereto as published with the Company's Form 10KSB filed with the Securities Exchange Commission on April 17, 2006, and with the reviewed financial statements included herein. The following statements may be forward-looking in nature and actual results may differ materially.

Plan of Operation

Since the sale of previous interests, Discovery Oil has no revenue and has become a shell company. The Company is currently search for a new investment opportunity in the oil industry, which would probably take the form of a merger, stock-for-stock exchange or stock-for-assets exchange. No assurances can be made that we will be successful in locating and negotiating with any possible merger candidates.

The Company's major shareholders have undertaken to make funds available to the Company in amounts sufficient to enable us to satisfy our reporting and other obligations as a public Company, and to commence, on a limited basis, the process of investigating possible merger and acquisition candidates.

Given our lack of cash or other assets, Discovery Oil will be extremely limited in our attempts to locate potential business situations for investigation. We do not know when, or if, we may be able to locate investment opportunities or potential merger candidates. Business opportunities, if any arise, are expected to become available to the Company principally from the personal contacts of our officers and directors. Although the current focus of management is to find investment opportunities or merger candidates within the oil industry, we will also consider other ventures and reserve the right to evaluate and to enter into any type of business opportunity, in any stage of development, in any location.

We may seek a business opportunity with a firm which only recently commenced operations, or a developing company in need of additional funds for expansion into new products or markets, an entity seeking to develop a new product or service, or an established business which may be experiencing financial or operating difficulties and is in need of additional capital which is perceived to be easier to raise by a public company. In some instances, a business opportunity may involve the acquisition or merger with a corporation which does not need substantial additional cash but which desires to establish a public trading market for its common stock.

We may purchase assets and establish wholly owned subsidiaries in various businesses or purchase existing businesses as subsidiaries. We anticipate that the selection of a business opportunity in which to participate will be complex and extremely risky. Because of general economic conditions, rapid technological advances being made in some industries, and shortages of available capital, management believes that there are numerous firms seeking the benefits of a publicly traded corporation. Such perceived benefits of a publicly traded corporation may include facilitating or improving the terms on which additional equity financing may be sought, providing liquidity for the principals of a business, creating a means for providing incentive stock options or similar benefits to key employees, providing liquidity (subject to restrictions of applicable statutes) for all shareholders, and other factors. Potentially available business opportunities may occur in many different industries and at various stages of development, all of which will make the task of comparative investigation and analysis of such business opportunities extremely difficult and complex. At the present time, management does not anticipate paying any finder's fee for locating an acquisition prospect.

As part of our investigation of acquisition possibilities, we may meet with executive officers of the business and its personnel, inspect its facilities, obtain independent analysis or verification of the information provided and conduct other reasonable measures, to the extent permitted by the Company's limited resources and management's limited expertise. Generally, we intend to analyze and make a determination based upon all available information without reliance upon any single factor as controlling. We can give no assurance that we will be able to find suitable a suitable business opportunity which may desire to combine with Discovery Oil.

The Company plans to fund its operations during fiscal year 2006 through advances from related parties, and possibly through the sale of the Company's common stock, although there can be no assurance that the Company would be successful in selling its common stock. It is anticipated that any revenue from oil sales in 2006 would be negligible as the Company has yet to locate a new investment opportunity.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

As of December 31, 2005, the Company had only $1,066 in assets and liabilities of $115,904, and as of March 31, 2006 (unaudited) the Company had assets of only $2,141 and liabilities of $128,328. If the Company cannot find a new business acceptable to it, it will have to seek additional capital either through the sale of its securities or through loans, advances or capital contributions from its officer. The Company has only incidental ongoing expenses primarily associated with maintaining its corporate status and professional fees associated with accounting and legal costs.

Management anticipates that the Company will incur more costs including legal and accounting fees to locate and complete a merger or acquisition. At the present time, the Company does not have the assets to meet these financial requirements. Additionally, the Company does not have substantial assets to entice potential business opportunities to enter into transactions with the Company.

Since the sale of its previous interests in August 2004, the Company has not generated revenue and it is unlikely that any revenue will be generated until the Company locates a business opportunity with which to acquire or merge. Management of the Company will be investigating various business opportunities. These efforts may cost the Company not only out of pocket expenses for its management but also expenses associated with legal and accounting costs. There can be no guarantee that the Company will receive any benefits from the efforts of management to locate business opportunities.

If and when the Company locates a business opportunity, management of the company will give consideration to the dollar amount of that entity's profitable perations and the adequacy of its working capital in determining the terms and onditions under which the Company would consummate such an acquisition. otential business opportunities, no matter which form they may take, will most likely result in substantial dilution for the Company's shareholders as it has only limited capital and no operations.

The Company does not intend to employ anyone in the future, unless its present business operations change. From time to time, Company's president pays expenses on behalf of the Company. Additionally, the Company signed a lease with this executive for the use of office space for $1,300 per month, or $15,600 per year. The Company also agreed to pay mileage for his travels relating to the Company. During the three months ended March 31, 2005 the Company reimbursed this executive $2,454 for travel, general and administrative expenses. The balance due to the executive at March 31, 2006 and 2005 was $49,175 and $6,458, respectively. This includes both cash loans, payables for expenses paid on behalf of the Company and accrued rent.

Results of Operations

For the three months ended

March 31, 2006, the Company had a net loss of $11,349 compared to a net loss for the three months ended March 31, 2005, of $13,005. The Company anticipates losses to remain at the present level or slightly higher until a business opportunity is found. The Company had no revenue for the three months ended March 31, 2006. The Company does not anticipate any revenue until it locates a new business opportunity.

Off Balance-Sheet Arrangements

The Company has no off-balance sheet arrangements as defined in Item 303(c) of the SEC's Regulation S-B.

ITEM 3. CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

Based on their most recent evaluation, which was completed within 90 days of the filing of this Form 10-QSB, the Company's president and principle financial officer believes the Company's disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Exchange Act Rules 13a-14 and 15d-14) are effective to ensure that information required to be disclosed by the Company in this report is accumulated and communicated to the Company's management, including its principal officer, as appropriate, to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure.

There were no significant changes in the Company's internal controls or other factors that could significantly affect these controls subsequent to the date of their evaluation and there were no corrective actions with regard to significant deficiencies and material weaknesses.
