PROSPECTUS SUMMARY

This summary contains basic information about us and the resale of the shares being offered by the selling shareholders. Because it is a summary, it does not contain all of the information that you should consider before investing. You should read this entire prospectus carefully, including the section entitled "Risk Factors" and our financial statements and the related notes contained elsewhere or incorporated by reference in this prospectus, before making an investment decision.

The Company

Mines Management, Inc. is engaged in the business of acquiring and exploring mineral properties, primarily those containing silver and associated base and precious metals. Mines Management, Inc. was incorporated under the laws of the State of Idaho on February 20, 1947. We have a wholly owned subsidiary, Newhi, Inc., which was incorporated under the laws of the State of Washington on November 3, 1987.

Our principal mineral property interest is held by Newhi, Inc., and is referred to as the Montanore Project. The Montanore Project is located in northwestern Montana, and between 1988 and 2002 was operated by Noranda Minerals Corporation ("Noranda"). During that time the project received an approved Environmental Impact Statement and all of its primary environmental permits. From 1988 to 2002 we held royalty rights to a portion of the deposit. In 2002 Noranda announced that it was abandoning the project, and subsequently gave us quitclaim deeds to patented and unpatented mining claims that control the mineral rights, and all drilling core and intellectual property generated during its 14 years of geologic, environmental and engineering studies.

Our executive offices are located at 905 W. Riverside, Suite 311, Spokane, Washington 99201. Our telephone number is (509) 838-6050. Our Internet address is www.minesmanagement.com. The information on our website is not incorporated by reference into this prospectus.

The Offering

We are registering an aggregate of 1,753,751 shares of common stock of Mines Management, Inc., including 737,084 shares of common stock issuable upon the exercise of five-year warrants, to be offered for sale by certain of our shareholders.

Certain of the selling shareholders purchased 1,016,667 shares of common stock and warrants to purchase 508,334 shares of common stock from Mines Management in a private placement completed on October 21, 2005. Warrants to purchase an additional 228,750 shares were granted to the placement agents in consideration of services rendered in connection with the private placement. We relied on Section 4(2) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Regulation D promulgated thereunder in connection with the private placement.

Use of Proceeds

We will not receive any of the proceeds from the sale of the shares by the selling shareholders. We may, however, receive cash consideration in connection with the exercise of the warrants for cash.

RISK FACTORS

Our business, operations, and financial condition are subject to various risks. We urge you to consider the following risk factors in addition to the other information contained in, or incorporated by reference into, this prospectus or any prospectus supplement. If any of the following risks actually occur, our business, financial condition, results of operations or cash flows could be materially harmed. In any such case, the trading price of our common stock could decline, and you could lose all, or a part, of your investment.

We have no recent history of production.

We have no recent history of producing silver or other metals. The development of our Montanore Project will require the construction and operation of mines, processing plants, and related infrastructure. As a result, we are subject to all of the risks associated with establishing a new mining operation and business enterprise. There can be no assurance that we will successfully establish mining operations or profitability.

We have no proven or probable reserves.

We have no proven or probable reserves on any of our properties. We are currently focused on our Montanore Project. Substantial additional work, including delineation drilling, will be required in order to determine if any proven or probable reserves exist on our Montanore Project. In the event commercial quantities of minerals are discovered, the Montanore Project might not be brought into commercial production. The commercial viability of a mineral deposit once discovered is also dependent on a number of factors beyond our control, including particular attributes of the deposit such as size, grade and proximity to infrastructure, as well as metal prices.

The exploration of mineral properties is highly speculative in nature, involves substantial expenditures and is frequently non-productive.

Mineral exploration is highly speculative in nature and is frequently non-productive. Substantial expenditures are required to:

- establish ore reserves through drilling and metallurgical and other testing techniques;
- determine metal content and metallurgical recovery processes to extract metal from the ore; and
- design and construct mining and processing facilities.

If we discover ore, it usually takes several years from the initial phases of exploration until production is possible. During this time, the economic feasibility of production may change. As a result of these uncertainties, there can be no assurance that we will successfully acquire additional mineral rights, or that our exploration programs will result in new proven and probable reserves in sufficient quantities to justify commercial operations in any of our properties.

Our future success is subject to risks inherent in the mining industry.

Our future mining operations, if any, will be subject to all of the hazards and risks normally incident to developing and operating mining properties. These risks include insufficient ore reserves, fluctuations in metal prices and in production costs that may make mining of reserves uneconomic; significant environmental and other regulatory restrictions; labor disputes; geological problems; failure of underground stopes and/or surface dams; force majeure events; and the risk of injury to persons, property or the environment.

Our future profitability will be affected by changes in the prices of metals.

If we establish reserves and complete a favorable feasibility study, our profitability and long-term viability depend, in large part, on the market price of silver and copper. The market prices for these metals are volatile and are affected by numerous factors beyond our control, including:

- global or regional consumption patterns;
- supply of, and demand for, silver and copper;
- speculative activities;
- expectations for inflation; and
- political and economic conditions.

The aggregate effect of these factors on metals prices is impossible for us to predict. Decreases in metals prices have delayed, and could in the future adversely affect our ability to finance, the exploration and development of our properties, which would have a material adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations and cash flows. There can be no assurance that metals prices will not decline. During the five-year period ended December 31, 2004, the high and low settlement prices for silver and copper were $8.29 and $3.34 per ounce and $1.54 and $0.60 per pound, respectively.

We may not be able to obtain permits required for development of the Montanore Project.

In the ordinary course of business, mining companies are required to seek governmental permits for expansion of existing operations or for the commencement of new operations. We will be required to reactivate numerous permits for its Montanore Project. Obtaining the necessary governmental permits is a complex and time-consuming process involving numerous jurisdictions and often involving public hearings and costly undertakings. Obtaining required permits for Montanore Project may be more difficult due to its location within the Cabinet Wilderness Area. The duration and success of our efforts to obtain permits are contingent upon many variables not within our control. Obtaining environmental protection permits, including the approval of reclamation plans, may increase costs and cause delays depending on the nature of the activity to be permitted and the interpretation of applicable requirements implemented by the permitting authority. There can be no assurance that all necessary permits will be obtained and, if obtained, that the costs involved will not exceed those that had been previously estimated. It is possible that the costs and delays associated with the compliance with such standards and regulations could become such that we would not proceed with the development or operation of a mine or mines.

Changes in mining and environmental laws could increase costs and impair our ability to develop its properties.

From time to time the U.S. Congress may consider revisions in its mining and environmental laws. It remains unclear to what extent any such new legislation may affect existing mining claims or operations. The effect of any such revisions on our operations cannot be determined conclusively until such revision is enacted; however, such legislation could materially increase costs on properties located on federal lands, and such revision could also impair our ability to develop its mineral projects.

We are subject to environmental risks.

Mining is subject to potential risks and liabilities associated with pollution of the environment and the disposal of waste products occurring as a result of mineral exploration and production. Insurance against environmental risk (including potential liability for pollution or other hazards as a result of the disposal of waste products occurring from exploration and production) is not generally available to us (or to other companies in the minerals industry) at a reasonable price. To the extent that we become subject to environmental liabilities, the satisfaction of any such liabilities would reduce funds otherwise available to us and could have a material adverse effect on us. Laws and regulations intended to ensure the protection of the environment are constantly changing, and are generally becoming more restrictive.

The title to some of our properties may be uncertain or defective.

Although the Montanore deposit is held by patented mining claims, a significant portion of our holdings consist of unpatented lode and mill site claims. The validity of unpatented mining claims is often uncertain, and such validity is always subject to contest. Unpatented mining claims are unique property interests and are generally considered subject to greater title risk than patented mining claims, or real property interests that are owned in fee simple. We have not filed a patent application for any of unpatented claims that are located on federal public lands in the United States and, under possible future legislation to change the General Mining Law, patents may be hard to obtain. Although we have attempted to acquire satisfactory title to its undeveloped properties, we do not generally obtain title opinions until financing is sought to develop a property, with the attendant risk that title to some properties, particularly title to undeveloped properties, may be defective.

In recent years, the U.S. Congress has considered a number of proposed amendments to the General Mining Law. Although no such legislation has been adopted to date, there can be no assurance that such legislation will not be adopted in the future. If ever adopted, such legislation could, among other things, impose royalties on metal production from unpatented mining claims located on federal lands or impose fees on production from patented mining claims. Further, it could have an adverse impact on earnings from our operation, could reduce estimates of our reserves and could curtail our future exploration and development activity on federal lands or patented claims.

While we have no reason to believe that the existence and extent of any of our properties are in doubt, title to mining properties are subject to potential claims by third parties claiming an interest in them.

Failure to achieve and maintain effective internal controls in accordance with Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act could have a material adverse effect on our business and stock price.

We are in the process of documenting and testing our internal control procedures in order to satisfy the requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, which requires annual management assessments of the effectiveness of our internal controls over financial reporting and a report by our independent auditors regarding our assessments. During the course of our testing we may identify deficiencies which we may not be able to remediate in time to meet the deadline imposed by the Sarbanes-Oxley Act for compliance with the requirements of Section 404. In addition, if we fail to maintain the adequacy of our internal controls, as such standards are modified, supplemented or amended from time to time, we may not be able to ensure that we can conclude on an ongoing basis that we have effective internal controls over financial reporting in accordance with Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. Failure to achieve and maintain an effective internal control environment could have a material adverse effect on our stock price.

The common stock may be sold in one or more transactions at fixed prices, at prevailing market prices at the time of sale, at prices related to the prevailing market prices, at varying prices determined at the time of sale, or at negotiated prices. These sales may be effected at various times in one or more of the following transactions, or in other kinds of transactions:

- transactions on any national securities exchange or U.S. inter-dealer system of a registered national securities association on which the common stock may be listed or quoted at the time of sale;
- in the over-the-counter market;
- in private transactions and transactions otherwise than on these exchanges or systems or in the over-the-counter market;

We will pay substantially all of the expenses incurred by the selling shareholders incident to the offering and sale of the common stock.

Each selling shareholder has been advised, and has acknowledged to us, that the Commission currently takes the position that coverage of short sales of shares of our common stock “against the box” made prior to the effective date of the registration statement of which this prospectus is a part with any security covered by this prospectus is a violation of Section 5 of the Securities Act, as set forth in Item 65, Section 5 under Section A, of the Manual of Publicly Available Telephone Interpretations, dated June 1997, compiled by the Office of Chief Counsel, Division of Corporation Finance. Accordingly, each selling shareholder has agreed (on behalf of itself or any person over which it has direct control) not to use any of the securities covered by this prospectus to cover any short sales, hedging or similar transactions with the same economic effect as a short sale, made prior to the effective date of the registration statement. In addition, each selling shareholder has agreed to comply with Regulation M under the federal securities laws.
