Economic and Market Environment

Although the overnight federal funds rate began the reporting period at 2.25% after approximately seven months of gradual increases, long-dormant inflationary pressures appeared to intensify during the first quarter of 2005 when energy prices moved sharply higher. It was no surprise, therefore, that the Federal Reserve Board (the "Fed") raised the federal funds rate at its February and March 2005 meetings to 2.75%. It later was revealed that the U.S. economy expanded at a relatively moderate 3.5% rate over the first three months of 2005.

Although concerns in the spring that the U.S. economy might have hit a soft patch proved to be short-lived, soaring energy prices and the possibility of slower global economic growth weighed on investor sentiment. Still, the Fed implemented rate hikes in May and June, raising the federal funds rate to 3.25%. U.S. GDP grew at a 3.3% annualized rate during the second quarter of 2005.

In July and August, stronger employment data helped convince investors that economic growth was solid. While inflationary pressures appeared to stay contained due to steep discounts from automobile manufacturers and apparel retailers, oil and gas prices continued to escalate. The Fed raised the federal funds rate to 3.5% at its meeting on August 9. On August 29, however, Hurricane Katrina struck the Gulf Coast, and oil prices spiked to more than $70 per barrel, reigniting concerns about a possible economic slowdown. Although some analysts believed that the Gulf Coast hurricanes might prompt the Fed to pause at its September 20 meeting, the Fed remained on course, increasing the federal funds rate to 3.75%. It was later announced that U.S. GDP grew at a relatively robust 4.1% annualized rate during the third quarter of 2005.

As was widely expected, the Fed hiked interest rates in early November when the economy continued to exhibit signs of strength. December saw the creation of 108,000 new jobs and a decline in the unemployment rate to 4.9%. These statistics appeared to confirm that the U.S. economy would finish 2005 on solid footing, and the twin drags caused by higher energy prices and the Gulf Coast hurricanes apparently were not sufficient to offset strength in broad sectors of the domestic economy.

The Fed implemented its final rate increase of 2005 at its meeting on December 10, leaving the federal funds rate at 4.25% by year-end. However, the Fed changed some of the language in its announcement of the increase, which many analysts interpreted as a signal that the credit tightening campaign might be nearing completion. This view was reinforced shortly after the start of 2006, when minutes from the December meeting showed that some Fed members had expressed concern that further rate hikes might restrict economic growth. However, the U.S. Department of Commerce later estimated that U.S. GDP expanded at a lower-than-expected 1.1% during the fourth quarter, apparently due to weakness in consumer spending and corporate capital expenditures. It also was estimated that the U.S. economy grew at a 3.5% rate for 2005 overall.

The economy's surprisingly weak performance for the fourth quarter appeared to be offset by more encouraging news from the labor market, including a reduction in the unemployment rate to 4.7% for December. As expected, the Fed implemented its fourteenth consecutive rate hike at its meeting on January 31, the last day of the reporting period. The Fed again revised the language in its statement accompanying the increase, indicating that "some further policy firming may be needed...." This change was widely viewed as an attempt to give the new Fed Chairman, Ben Bernanke, flexibility to set his own course.

Portfolio Focus

Investors currently are facing greater uncertainty regarding Fed policy under a new chairman. In addition, the Fed appears ready to give greater weight to incoming economic data when deciding whether to continue the tightening process at upcoming meetings. Therefore, we have continued to maintain the funds' relatively defensive posture, in which we focused primarily on securities with maturities of six months or less in an attempt to maintain the liquidity required to capture higher yields as they became available. Generally, we have set the funds' weighted average maturities according to the proximity of upcoming Fed meetings. However, we are prepared to increase the funds' weighted average maturities should we see more concrete signs that short-term interest rates have peaked.

Sincerely,

Patricia A. Larkin

Economic and Market Environment

While the U.S. economy grew at a relatively steady pace over the reporting period, and inflationary pressures generally remained subdued, investor sentiment waxed and waned throughout the year in response to each release of new economic data.

During the first half of the reporting period, energy prices moved sharply higher and long-dormant inflationary pressures appeared to intensify. It was no surprise, therefore, that the Federal Reserve Board (the "Fed") raised short-term interest rates at its meetings in February, March, May and June, driving the federal funds rate from 2.25% at the start of the reporting period to 3.25% by the end of July. The U.S. Department of Commerce reported that the U.S.

economy expanded at relatively moderate 3.5% and 3.3% annualized rates during the first quarter and second quarters of 2005, respectively.

Strong employment data over the summer helped convince investors that U.S. economic growth was solid, and the Fed raised rates to 3.5% on August 9. On August 29, however, Hurricane Katrina struck the Gulf Coast, reigniting concerns about a possible economic slowdown. However, the Fed remained on course, increasing the federal funds rate to 3.75% in September. U.S. GDP grew at a relatively robust 4.1% annualized rate during the third quarter of 2005.

As expected, the Fed raised interest rates again in November and December. Despite a lower-than-expected 1.1% GDP growth estimate for the fourth quarter, strong employment data appeared to confirm that the U.S. economy finished 2005 on solid footing. January 2006 began on an optimistic note when the minutes from the Fed's December meeting suggested that the credit tightening cycle might be nearing its end. Yet, the Fed raised the federal funds rate for the 14th consecutive time on January 31, the last day of the reporting period, to 4.5%.

Yields of tax-exempt money market instruments generally rose along with the federal funds rate, reaching their highest levels in more than four years. However, yields of shorter-dated money market securities tended to rise more sharply than longer-dated securities, causing yield differences along the tax-exempt yield curve to narrow. By the end of the reporting period, there was little difference in the yields provided by tax-exempt securities with maturities between six months and four years. As a result, investor demand continued to focus primarily on instruments maturing in six months or less.

Although there was less need among municipalities for short-term borrowing to cover budget shortfalls in the recovering economy, the conversion of longer-term municipal notes and bonds into their component parts caused the supply of newly issued municipal money market securities to rise to record levels. In fact, in the spring of 2005, seasonal factors enabled tax-exempt instruments to temporarily reach yields that were equal to those of taxable money market securities.

Like many other states, New York's fiscal condition improved in the strengthening economy. Higher levels of personal income and corporate franchise taxes during the reporting period helped boost reserves that could be used to offset future budget shortfalls stemming from rising energy and health care costs. Credit improvement was particularly evident in New York City, where rising real estate values and record bonuses on Wall Street have relieved budget pressures.

Portfolio Focus

During most of the reporting period, we focused primarily on municipal securities with maturities of six months or less in order to maintain liquidity and keep funds available for higher yielding instruments as they became available. However, most money market funds employed a similar strategy, and the industry's weighted average maturity remained relatively low.

With yields of variable-rate demand notes at unusually low levels, we found what we believed to be more attractive income opportunities from tax-exempt commercial paper, municipal notes and seasoned bonds with maturities between one and six months. We attempted to "ladder" the fund's holdings within this maturity range to protect its yield while ensuring that funds would remain available for reinvestment as interest rates rose.

As of the reporting period's end, stronger-than-expected employment data appeared to suggest that the U.S. economy remains on a path of sustainable growth. In addition, short-term interest rates remain relatively low by historical standards, and the new Fed chairman, Ben Bernanke, may want to show world markets that he is committed to fighting inflation. Accordingly, we have continued to focus on shorter-term instruments that provide the liquidity we need to capture higher yields as they arise.

Sincerely,

Colleen Meehan

COMPARING YOUR FUND'S EXPENSES WITH THOSE OF OTHER FUNDS (Unaudited)

Using the SEC's method to compare expenses

The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) has established guidelines to help investors assess fund expenses. Per these guidelines, the table below shows your fund's expenses based on a $1,000 investment, assuming a hypothetical 5% annualized return. You can use this information to compare the ongoing expenses (but not transaction expenses or total cost) of investing in the fund with those of other funds. All mutual fund shareholder reports will provide this information to help you make this comparison. Please note that you cannot use this information to estimate your actual ending account balance and expenses paid during the period.

NOTE 1—Significant Accounting Policies:

Dreyfus Cash Management, Dreyfus Cash Management Plus, Inc., Dreyfus Government Cash Management, Dreyfus Government Prime Cash Management, Dreyfus Treasury Cash Management, Dreyfus Treasury Prime Cash Management, Dreyfus Municipal Cash Management Plus, Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management and Dreyfus Tax Exempt Cash Management, (each, a “fund” and collectively, the “funds”) are open-end management investment companies registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the “Act”). Each fund, other than Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management, is diversified. Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management is non-diversified. Dreyfus Government Cash Management and Dreyfus Government Prime Cash Management are each a separate series of Dreyfus Government Cash Management Funds (the “Company”) which currently offers two series. Each fund’s investment objective is to provide investors with as high a level of current income as is consistent with the preservation of capital and the maintenance of liquidity and, in the case of Dreyfus Municipal Cash Management Plus and Dreyfus Tax Exempt Cash Management only, which is exempt from federal income tax, and, in the case of Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management only, which is exempt from federal, New York state and New York city personal income taxes. The Dreyfus Corporation (the “Manager” or “Dreyfus”) serves as each fund’s investment adviser. The Manager is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Mellon Financial Corporation (“Mellon Financial”).

Dreyfus Service Corporation (the “Distributor”), a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Manager, is the distributor of the funds’ shares, which are sold to the public without a sales charge. Each fund offers the following classes of shares: Institutional Shares, Investor Shares, Administrative Shares and Participant Shares. Investor Shares, Administrative Shares and Participant Shares are subject to a Service Plan adopted pursuant to Rule 12b-1 under the Act. Other differences between the classes include the services offered to and the expenses borne by each class and certain voting rights. Income, expenses (other than expenses attributable to a specific class), and realized and unrealized gains or losses on investments are allocated to each class of shares based on its relative net assets.

It is each fund’s policy to maintain a continuous net asset value per share of $1.00; each fund has adopted certain investment, portfolio valuation and dividend and distribution policies to enable it to do so. There is no assurance, however, that any fund will be able to maintain a stable net asset value per share of $1.00.

Each fund’s financial statements are prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles, which may require the use of management estimates and assumptions. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

The funds enter into contracts that contain a variety of indemnifications. The funds’ maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown. The funds do not anticipate recognizing any loss related to these arrangements.

(a) Portfolio valuation: Investments in securities are valued at amortized cost in accordance with Rule 2a-7 of the Act, which has been determined by the Board members to represent the fair value of each fund’s investments.

(b) Securities transactions and investment income: Securities transactions are recorded on a trade date basis. Realized gain and loss from securities transactions are recorded on the identified cost basis. Interest income, adjusted for accretion of discount and amortization of premium on investments, is earned from settlement date and recognized on the accrual basis. Cost of investments represents amortized cost.

Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management follows an investment policy of investing primarily in municipal obligations of one state. Economic changes affecting the state and certain of its public bodies and municipalities may affect the ability of issuers within the state to pay interest on, or repay principal of, municipal obligations held by the fund.

Dreyfus Cash Management, Dreyfus Cash Management Plus, Inc., Dreyfus Government Cash Management and Dreyfus Treasury Cash Management may enter into repurchase agreements with financial institutions, deemed to be creditworthy by the Manager, subject to the seller’s agreement to repurchase and the fund's agreement to resell such securities at a mutually agreed upon price. Securities purchased subject to repurchase agreements are deposited with the funds' custodians and, pursuant to the terms of the repurchase agreement, must have an aggregate market value greater than or equal to the repurchase price plus accrued interest at all times. If the value of the underlying securities falls below the value of the repurchase price plus accrued interest, the fund will require the seller to deposit additional collateral by the next business day. If the request for additional collateral is not met, or the seller defaults on its repurchase obligation, the fund maintains the right to sell the underlying securities at market value and may claim any resulting loss against the seller.

(c) Expenses: With regards to the Company, expenses directly attributable to each series are charged to that series' operations; expenses which are applicable to both series are allocated between them.

(d) Dividends to shareholders: It is the policy of each fund to declare dividends from investment income-net on each business day. Such dividends are paid monthly. Dividends from net realized capital gain, if any, are normally declared and paid annually, but each fund may make distributions on a more frequent basis to comply with the distribution requirements of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"). To the extent that net realized capital gain can be offset by capital loss carryovers, it is the policy of each fund not to distribute such gain.

(e) Federal income taxes: It is the policy of each fund (except for Dreyfus Municipal Cash Management Plus, Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management and Dreyfus Tax Exempt Cash Management) to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company, if such qualification is in the best interests of its shareholders, by complying with the applicable provisions of the Code and to make distributions of taxable income sufficient to relieve it from substantially all federal income and excise taxes.

It is the policy of Dreyfus Municipal Cash Management Plus, Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management and Dreyfus Tax Exempt Cash Management to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company, which can distribute tax exempt dividends, by complying with the applicable provisions of the Code and to make distributions of income sufficient to relieve it from substantially all federal income and excise taxes.

At January 31, 2006, the components of accumulated earnings on a tax basis were substantially the same as for financial reporting purposes.

Table 1 summarizes each fund's accumulated capital loss carryover available to be applied against future net securities profits, if any, realized subsequent to January 31, 2006.

The tax character of each fund's distributions paid to shareholders (except for Dreyfus Municipal Cash Management Plus, Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management and Dreyfus Tax Exempt Cash Management) during the fiscal periods ended January 31, 2006 and January 31, 2005, respectively, were all ordinary income.

The tax character of distributions paid to shareholders of Dreyfus Municipal Cash Management Plus, Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management and Dreyfus Tax Exempt Cash Management during the fiscal periods ended January 31, 2006 and January 31, 2005, respectively, were all tax exempt income.

During the period ended January 31, 2006, as a result of permanent book to tax differences, primarily due to dividend reclassification for tax purposes, Dreyfus Government Prime Cash Management decreased accumulated net realized gains (losses) on investments and increased accumulated undistributed investment income-net by the same amounts. Net assets of the fund were not affected by this reclassification. The amount of the reclassification was $2,910.

At January 31, 2006, the cost of investments for federal income tax purposes was substantially the same as the cost for financial reporting purposes (see the Statements of Investments).

NOTE 2—Management Fee and Other Transactions with Affiliates:

(a) Pursuant to separate management agreements with the Manager, the management fee of each fund is computed at the annual rate of .20% of the value of such fund's average daily net assets and is payable monthly.

As to each fund, unless the Manager gives a fund's investors 90 days notice to the contrary, the Manager, and not the fund, will be liable for fund expenses (exclusive of taxes, brokerage fees, interest on borrowings and extraordinary expenses) other than the following expenses, which will be borne by the fund: the management fee, and with respect to the fund's Investor Shares, Administrative Shares and Participant Shares, Rule 12b-1 Service Plan expenses.

(b) Under each fund's Service Plan (the "Plan") adopted pursuant to Rule 12b-1 under the Act, relating to its Investor Shares, Administrative Shares and Participant Shares, each fund pays the Distributor for distributing such classes of shares, for advertising and marketing relating to such classes of shares, for providing certain services relating to shareholder accounts in such classes of shares, such as answering shareholder inquiries regarding the fund and providing reports and other information, and services related to the maintenance of shareholder accounts ("Servicing"), at an aggregate annual rate of .25%, .10% and .40% of the value of the average daily net assets of Investor Shares, Administrative Shares and Participant Shares, respectively. The Distributor may pay one or more Service Agents (a securities dealer, financial institution or other industry professional) a fee in respect of a fund's Investor Shares, Administrative Shares and Participant Shares owned by shareholders with whom the Service Agent has a Servicing relationship or for whom the Service Agent is the dealer or holder of record. The Distributor determines the amounts, if any, to be paid to Service Agents under the Plan and the basis on which such payments are made. The fees payable under each Plan are payable without regard to actual expenses incurred. Table 2 summarizes the amount each fund was charged pursuant to the Plan during the period ended January 31, 2006.

Table 3 summarizes the components of Due to The Dreyfus Corporation and affiliates in the Statements of Assets and Liabilities for each fund.

(c) Each fund (except for Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management) pays its Board members an annual fee of $3,000 and an attendance fee of $500 per meeting. Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management pays its Board members an annual fee of $1,000 and an attendance fee of $500 per meeting. These amounts are borne by the Manager as to each fund pursuant to the undertakings in effect. See Note 2(a).

NOTE 3—Capital Share Transactions:

Each fund (except for Dreyfus Cash Management Plus, Inc.) is authorized to issue an unlimited number of $.001 par value shares of Beneficial Interest. Dreyfus Cash Management Plus, Inc. is authorized to issue 90 billion shares of $.001 par value Common Stock.

whether the financial statements and financial highlights are free of material misstatement. We were not engaged to perform an audit of the Funds’ internal control over financial reporting. Our audits included consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Funds’ internal control over financial reporting. Our procedures included confirmation of securities owned as of January 31, 2006 by correspondence with the custodian and others or by other appropriate auditing procedures where replies from others were not received. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.
