Economic and Market Environment

Despite signs of renewed economic strength at the beginning of the reporting period, money market yields remained anchored by the 1% federal funds rate and remained near historically low levels. While new economic data in February 2004 further confirmed that an economic recovery was well underway, the number of new jobs continued to disappoint. In addition, the consumer price index in February indicated that the core rate of inflation rose only 0.1%, reinforcing the perception that the Federal Reserve Board (the “Fed”) still had a great deal of flexibility in the conduct of monetary policy. It was later revealed that U.S. economic growth expanded at a 4.4% annualized rate during the first quarter of 2004.

In early April 2004, however, the U.S. Department of Labor announced that the domestic economy had added 308,000 jobs in March, an unexpectedly strong report that fueled concerns that long-dormant inflationary pressures might finally have begun to resurface. As the month progressed, higher energy and commodity prices appeared to lend credence to that view. As a result, money market yields began to rise at the longer end of the maturity spectrum.

The Fed again left interest rates unchanged in May. However, unlike previous pronouncements, the Fed no longer indicated that it could be “patient” before raising rates, stating instead that future rate hikes were likely to be “measured.” Soon after the Fed meeting, non-farm payroll data showing a second consecutive month of gains triggered a significant change in investor expectations, which shifted from the belief that interest rates were unlikely to rise in 2004 to anticipation that the Fed might begin to tighten monetary policy as early as June. Indeed, the Fed raised the federal funds rate by 25 basis points to 1.25% on June 30. Most investors had anticipated the Fed’s move; therefore, the money markets already reflected the impact of the increase.

In its June 30 statement, the Fed noted that “policy accommodation can be removed at a pace that is likely to be measured” but that it was prepared to “respond to changes in economic prospects as needed to fulfill its obligation to maintain price stability.” Consequently, most analysts believed that the June 30 rate hike was the first in a series of increases designed to forestall inflationary pressures without derailing the economic recovery. This view was reinforced when it was later estimated that the U.S. economy grew at an annualized 3.0% rate during the second quarter of 2004, in spite of headwinds resulting from higher energy prices and ongoing terrorism fears.

However, the economy appeared to hit a “soft patch” in July. Consumer spending waned as 2003’s income tax cuts and low mortgage refinancing rates became a thing of the past. Employment numbers released in July also disappointed, with fewer jobs created in the previous month than many analysts expected. Nonetheless, most investors continued to believe that the Fed would increase the federal funds rate at their meeting in August, and money market yields reflected those expectations. Indeed, 10 days after the end of the reporting period, the Fed raised short-term rates by another 25 basis points to 1.5%.

Portfolio Focus

Early in the reporting period, we generally maintained the funds’ weighted average maturities in ranges that were longer than those of their peer groups. In the spring, however, when inflationary pressures became more apparent and investors revised their expectations regarding the timing of interest-rate increases, we began to adopt a more defensive posture, allowing the funds’ weighted average maturities to fall toward more neutral positions. Accordingly, to give us flexibility to take advantage of higher yields should they arise, we generally have limited new investments to money market securities with relatively shorter maturities. Of course, we are prepared to alter the funds’ positions as market conditions evolve.

Sincerely,

Patricia A. Larkin

Economic and Market Environment

Despite a sustained economic recovery, tax-exempt money market yields remained near historical lows when the reporting period began. During the first quarter of 2004, yields of money market securities remained anchored by the 1% federal funds rate and were relatively stable, even as longer-term bonds experienced heightened market volatility. In fact, at the time, the Federal Reserve Board (“the Fed”) had repeatedly affirmed its commitment to an accommodative monetary policy by stating that it intended to be “patient” in keeping interest rates low.

The economic environment and investor sentiment shifted in early April, when the U.S. Department of Labor released a report showing unexpectedly strong job growth. At the same time, oil and gas prices rose sharply as global demand for energy increased in the recovering economy. Faced with the potential inflationary pressures of higher commodity costs and a more robust job market, investors concluded that the Fed was likely to begin raising short-term interest rates sooner than they previously had expected. Indeed, as more evidence of economic strength accumulated in the spring, the Fed suggested that any future interest-rate increases were likely to be “measured.” On June 30, the Fed implemented its first rate-hike in approximately four years, raising the overnight federal funds rate by 25 basis points to 1.25%. Money market yields began to rise, especially at the longer end of the maturity spectrum, even before the Fed announced the increase.

The tax-exempt money markets also were strongly influenced during the reporting period by their own supply-and-demand dynamics. Unlike 2003, when state and local governments were faced with declining tax revenues and increasingly turned to the tax-exempt money markets to balance their budgets, rising tax revenues in 2004 led to a reduction in the supply of new short-term municipal securities. However, demand for tax-exempt money market instruments remained strong and steady from fixed-income investors seeking to preserve capital in anticipation of rising interest rates. Demand for short-term, tax-exempt securities was further strengthened by non-traditional investors, such as corporations, hedge funds and insurance companies, who were attracted by tax-exempt yields that were high relative to taxable money market yields. At times during the reporting period, tax-exempt yields exceeded taxable yields.

In addition to the general market influences discussed above, Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management was affected by the improving fiscal condition of New York City and, to a lesser extent, New York state. A rallying stock market and higher levels of investment banking activity helped fuel a recovery on Wall Street, producing higher-than-expected tax revenues for state and city coffers. As a result, New York issuers generally had less need for short-term financing, and the supply of newly issued New York money market securities dropped compared to the same period one year earlier, putting downward pressure on yields.

Portfolio Focus

The funds began the reporting period with weighted average maturities that were longer than industry averages. This position was designed to capture incrementally higher yields from fixed-rate instruments, including insured municipal bonds, notes and commercial paper with maturities in the three- to nine-month range.² To guard against the possibility that a disproportionate portion of the funds' holdings might mature during a time of unusually low reinvestment rates, we attempted to stagger the maturities of these holdings to construct a "laddered" portfolio in which holdings mature in stages.

Later in the reporting period, when it became clearer that the Fed was likely to begin raising short-term rates, we allowed the funds' weighted average maturities to move lower, toward the neutral range. In our view, shorter weighted average maturities were likely to give us greater flexibility to capture higher yields if and when they became available. To achieve this position, we reduced the funds' positions in municipal notes and commercial paper, and we increased the funds' holdings of variable-rate demand notes on which yields are reset weekly.

As of the end of the reporting period, demand for shorter-term instruments remained high as investors remained reluctant to purchase longer-term securities in a rising interest-rate environment. Strong demand, coupled with a reduced supply of newly issued securities, has helped keep tax-exempt yields relatively low at the shorter end of the maturity spectrum. Although higher yields were available among longer-term securities, we continued to believe that a cautious approach was warranted until the Fed's intentions became clearer.

Sincerely,

Colleen Meehan

² Insurance on individual portfolio securities extends to the repayment of principal and the payment of interest in the event of default. It does not extend to the market value of the portfolio securities or the value of the funds' shares.

UNDERSTANDING YOUR FUND'S EXPENSES

July 31, 2004 (Unaudited)

As a mutual fund investor, you pay ongoing expenses, such as management fees and other expenses. Using the information below, you can estimate how these expenses affect your investment and compare them with the expenses of other funds. You also may pay one-time transaction expenses, including sales charges (loads) and redemptions fees, which are not shown in this section and would have resulted in higher total expenses. For more information, see your fund's prospectus or talk to your financial adviser.

Review your fund's expenses

The table below shows the expenses you would have paid on a $1,000 investment in each class of each fund from February 1, 2004 to July 31, 2004. It also shows how much a $1,000 investment would be worth at the close of the period, assuming actual returns and expenses.

† Expenses for each share class are calculated using the fund's annualized expense ratio for each class, which represents the ongoing expenses as a percentage of net assets for the six months ended 7/31/04. The expense ratio may differ for each share class. Expenses are calculated by multiplying the expense ratio by the average account value for the period; then multiplying the result by the number of days in the period; and then dividing that result by the number of days in the year.

COMPARING YOUR FUND'S EXPENSES WITH THOSE OF OTHER FUNDS

July 31, 2004 (Unaudited)

Using the SEC's method to compare expenses

The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) has established guidelines to help investors assess fund expenses. Per these guidelines, the table below shows your fund's expenses based on a $1,000 investment, assuming a hypothetical 5% annualized return. You can use this information to compare the ongoing expenses (but not transaction expenses or total cost) of investing in the fund with those of other funds. All mutual fund shareholder reports will provide this information to help you make this comparison. Please note that you cannot use this information to estimate your actual ending account balance and expenses paid during the period.

^a Securities payable on demand. Variable interest rate—subject to periodic change.

^b These securities are prefunded; the date shown represents the prefunded date. Bonds which are prerefunded are collateralized by U.S. Government securities which are held in escrow and are used to pay principal and interest on the municipal issue and to retire the bonds in full at the earliest refunding date.

^c Notes which are not F, MIG and SP rated are represented by bond ratings of the issuers.

^d Securities which, while not rated by Fitch, Moody's and Standard & Poor's, have been determined by the Manager to be of comparable quality to those rated securities in which the fund may invest.

FINANCIAL HIGHLIGHTS

The following tables describe the performance for each share class for the fiscal periods indicated. All information reflects financial results for a single fund share. Total return shows how much your investment in the fund would have increased (or decreased) during each period, assuming you had reinvested all dividends and distributions. These figures have been derived from the fund's financial statements.

NOTE 1—Significant Accounting Policies:

Dreyfus Cash Management, Dreyfus Cash Management Plus, Inc., Dreyfus Government Cash Management, Dreyfus Government Prime Cash Management, Dreyfus Treasury Cash Management, Dreyfus Treasury Prime Cash Management, Dreyfus Municipal Cash Management Plus, Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management and Dreyfus Tax Exempt Cash Management, (each, a “fund” and collectively, the “funds”) are open-end management investment companies registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the “Act”). Each fund, other than Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management, is a diversified series. Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management is a non-diversified series. Dreyfus Government Cash Management and Dreyfus Government Prime Cash Management are each a separate series of Dreyfus Government Cash Management Funds (the “Company”) which currently offers two series. Each fund’s investment objective is to provide investors with as high a level of current income as is consistent with the preservation of capital and the maintenance of liquidity and, in the case of Dreyfus Municipal Cash Management Plus and Dreyfus Tax Exempt Cash Management only, which is exempt from federal income tax, and, in the case of Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management only, which is exempt from federal, New York state and New York city personal income taxes. The Dreyfus Corporation (the “Manager” or “Dreyfus”) serves as each fund’s investment adviser. The Manager is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Mellon Financial Corporation (“Mellon Financial”).

Dreyfus Service Corporation (the “Distributor”), a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Manager, is the distributor of the funds’ shares, which are sold to the public without a sales charge. Each fund offers the following classes of shares: Institutional Shares, Investor Shares, Administrative Shares and Participant Shares. Investor Shares, Administrative Shares and Participant Shares are subject to a Service Plan adopted pursuant to Rule 12b-1 under the Act. Other differences between the classes include the services offered to and the expenses borne by each class and certain voting rights. Income, expenses (other than expenses attributable to a specific class), and realized and unrealized gains or losses on investments are allocated to each class of shares based on its relative net assets.

It is each fund’s policy to maintain a continuous net asset value per share of $1.00; each fund has adopted certain investment, portfolio valuation and dividend and distribution policies to enable it to do so. There is no assurance, however, that any fund will be able to maintain a stable net asset value per share of $1.00.

Each fund’s financial statements are prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles, which may require the use of management estimates and assumptions. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

The funds enter into contracts that contain a variety of indemnifications. The funds’ maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown. The funds do not anticipate recognizing any loss related to these arrangements.

(a) Portfolio valuation: Investments in securities are valued at amortized cost in accordance with Rule 2a-7 of the Act, which has been determined by the funds’ Board members to represent the fair value of each fund’s investments.

(b) Securities transactions and investment income: Securities transactions are recorded on a trade date basis. Realized gain and loss from securities transactions are recorded on the identified cost basis. Interest income, adjusted for amortization of discount and premium on investments, is earned from settlement date and recognized on the accrual basis.

Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management follows an investment policy of investing primarily in municipal obligations of one state. Economic changes affecting the state and certain of its public bodies and municipalities may affect the ability of issuers within the state to pay interest on, or repay principal of, municipal obligations held by the fund.

Dreyfus Cash Management, Dreyfus Cash Management Plus, Inc., Dreyfus Government Cash Management and Dreyfus Treasury Cash Management may enter into repurchase agreements with financial institutions, deemed to be creditworthy by the Manager, subject to the seller's agreement to repurchase and the fund's agreement to resell such securities at a mutually agreed upon price. Securities purchased subject to repurchase agreements are deposited with the funds' custodians and, pursuant to the terms of the repurchase agreement, must have an aggregate market value greater than or equal to the repurchase price plus accrued interest at all times. If the value of the underlying securities falls below the value of the repurchase price plus accrued interest, the fund will require the seller to deposit additional collateral by the next business day. If the request for additional collateral is not met, or the seller defaults on its repurchase obligation, the fund maintains the right to sell the underlying securities at market value and may claim any resulting loss against the seller.

(c) Expenses: With regards to the Company, expenses directly attributable to each series are charged to that series' operations; expenses which are applicable to both series are allocated between them.

(d) Dividends to shareholders: It is the policy of each fund to declare dividends from investment income-net on each business day. Such dividends are paid monthly. Dividends from net realized capital gain, if any, are normally declared and paid annually, but each fund may make distributions on a more frequent basis to comply with the distribution requirements of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"). To the extent that net realized capital gain can be offset by capital loss carryovers, it is the policy of each fund not to distribute such gain.

(e) Federal income taxes: It is the policy of each fund (except for Dreyfus Municipal Cash Management Plus, Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management and Dreyfus Tax Exempt Cash Management) to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company, if such qualification is in the best interests of its shareholders, by complying with the applicable provisions of the Code and to make distributions of taxable income sufficient to relieve it from substantially all federal income and excise taxes.

It is the policy of Dreyfus Municipal Cash Management Plus, Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management and Dreyfus Tax Exempt Cash Management to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company, which can distribute tax exempt dividends, by complying with the applicable provisions of the Code and to make distributions of income sufficient to relieve it from substantially all federal income and excise taxes.

Table 1 summarizes each fund's unused capital loss carryover available for federal income tax purposes to be applied against future net securities profits, if any, realized subsequent to January 31, 2004.

The tax character of each fund's distributions paid to shareholders (except for Dreyfus Municipal Cash Management Plus, Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management and Dreyfus Tax Exempt Cash Management) during the fiscal year ended January 31, 2004, were all ordinary income. The tax character of current year distributions will be determined at the end of the current fiscal year.

† If not applied, the carryovers expire in the above years.

The tax character of Dreyfus Municipal Cash Management Plus, Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management and Dreyfus Tax Exempt Cash Management distributions paid to shareholders during the fiscal year ended January 31, 2004, were all tax exempt income. The tax character of current year distributions will be determined at the end of the current fiscal year.

At July 31, 2004, the cost of investments for federal income tax purposes was substantially the same as the cost for financial reporting purposes (see the Statements of Investments).

NOTE 2—Management Fee and Other Transactions with Affiliates:

(a) Pursuant to separate management agreements with the Manager, the management fee of each fund is computed at the annual rate of .20 of 1% of the value of such fund's average daily net assets and is payable monthly.

As to each fund, unless the Manager gives a fund's investors 90 days notice to the contrary, the Manager, and not the fund, will be liable for fund expenses (exclusive of taxes, brokerage fees, interest on borrowings and extraordinary expenses) other than the following expenses, which will be borne by the fund: the management fee, and with respect to the fund's Investor Shares, Administrative Shares and Participant Shares, Rule 12b-1 Service Plan expenses.

(b) Under each fund's Service Plan (the "Plan") adopted pursuant to Rule 12b-1 under the Act, relating to its Investor Shares, Administrative Shares and Participant Shares, each fund pays the Distributor for distributing such classes of shares and for advertising and marketing relating to such classes of shares and for providing certain services relating to shareholder accounts in such classes of shares, such as answering shareholder inquiries regarding the fund and providing reports and other information, and services related to the maintenance of shareholder accounts ("Servicing"), at an aggregate annual rate of .25, .10 and .40 of 1% of the value of the average daily net assets of Investor Shares, Administrative Shares and Participant Shares, respectively. The Distributor may pay one or more Service Agents (a securities dealer, financial institution or other industry professional) a fee in respect of a fund's, Investor Shares, Administrative Shares and Participant Shares owned by shareholders with whom the Service Agent has a Servicing relationship or for whom the Service Agent is the dealer or holder of record. The Distributor determines the amounts, if any, to be paid to Service Agents under the Plan and the basis on which such payments are made. The fees payable under each Plan are payable without regard to actual expenses incurred. Table 2 summarizes the amount each fund was charged pursuant to the Plan during the period ended July 31, 2004.

Table 3 summarizes the components of Due to The Dreyfus Corporation and affiliates in the Statements of Assets and Liabilities for each fund.

(c) Each fund (except for Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management) pays its Board members an annual fee of $3,000 and an attendance fee of $500 per meeting. Dreyfus New York Municipal Cash Management pays its Board members an annual fee of $1,000 and an attendance fee of $500 per meeting. These amounts are borne by the Manager as to each fund pursuant to the undertakings in effect. See Note 2(a).

NOTE 3—Capital Share Transactions:

Each fund (except for Dreyfus Cash Management Plus, Inc.) is authorized to issue an unlimited number of $.001 par value shares of Beneficial Interest. Dreyfus Cash Management Plus, Inc. is authorized to issue 90 billion shares of $.001 par value Common Stock.

NOTE 4—Legal Matters:

Two class actions (which have been consolidated) have been filed against Mellon Financial and Mellon Bank, N.A., and Dreyfus and Founders Asset Management LLC (the “Investment Advisers”), and the directors of all or substantially all of the Dreyfus funds, alleging that the Investment Advisers improperly used assets of the Dreyfus funds, in the form of directed brokerage commissions and 12b-1 fees, to pay brokers to promote sales of Dreyfus funds, and that the use of fund assets to make these payments was not properly disclosed to investors. The complaints further allege that the directors breached their fiduciary duties to fund shareholders under the Investment Company Act of 1940 and at common law. The complaints seek unspecified compensatory and punitive damages, rescission of the funds’ contracts with the Investment Advisers, an accounting of all fees paid, and an award of attorneys’ fees and litigation expenses. Dreyfus and the Dreyfus funds believe the allegations to be totally without merit and will defend the actions vigorously.

Additional lawsuits arising out of these circumstances and presenting similar allegations and requests for relief may be filed against the defendants in the future. Neither Dreyfus nor the Dreyfus funds believe that any of the pending actions will have a material adverse effect on the Dreyfus funds or Dreyfus’ ability to perform its contracts with the Dreyfus funds.
