INTRODUCTION

An Introduction to Old Mutual Advisor Funds II and this Prospectus

Old Mutual Advisor Funds II® (“OMAF II” or the “Trust”) is a mutual fund that offers a convenient and economical means of investing in professionally managed portfolios of securities, called mutual funds. This Prospectus offers Class A and Class C shares of each Fund (each a “Fund” and collectively, the “Funds”) listed on the cover.

This Prospectus contains important information you should know before investing in a Fund and if you are a shareholder in a Fund. The information is arranged into different sections for easy reading and future reference. To obtain more information about the Funds, please refer to the back cover of this Prospectus.

Fund Summaries

Each Fund has its own investment goal and strategies for reaching that goal. Before investing, make sure the Fund’s goal matches your own. A description of each Fund’s goal, principal investment strategies, main risks of investing, and fees and expenses are described under the Fund Summaries section of this prospectus. Additional information about the Funds’ investment strategies is described in the More About the Funds section of this Prospectus.

The OMAF II Funds that primarily invest in equities (“Equity Funds”) are generally designed for long-term investors, such as those saving for retirement, or investors that want a fund that seeks to outperform the market in which it invests over the long-term. These Funds may not be suitable for investors who are pursuing a short-term investment goal, such as investing emergency reserves. These Funds also may not be suitable for investors who require regular income.

The OMAF II Funds that primarily invest in fixed income securities (“Fixed Income Funds”) are designed for more conservative investors who want to receive current income from their investments. These Funds may be suitable for investors who require greater stability of principal than equity funds or who are pursuing a short-term investment goal, such as investing emergency reserves.

Investment Adviser and Sub-Advisers

Old Mutual Capital, Inc. (“Old Mutual Capital” or the “Adviser”) is the investment Adviser for each Fund. Old Mutual Capital has retained the following Sub-Advisers to assist in managing the Funds: Analytic Investors, Inc. (“Analytic”); Barrow, Hanley, Mewhinney & Strauss, Inc. (“Barrow Hanley”); CastleArk Management, LLC (“CastleArk”); Columbus Circle Investors (“Columbus Circle”); Copper Rock Capital Partners, LLC (“Copper Rock”); Dwight Asset Management Company (“Dwight”); Eagle Asset Management, Inc. (“Eagle”); Heitman Real Estate Securities, LLC (“Heitman”); Liberty Ridge Capital, Inc. (“Liberty Ridge”); Munder Capital Management (“Munder”); Thompson, Siegel & Walmsley, Inc. (“TS&W”); Turner Investment Partners, Inc. (“Turner”); and Wellington Management Company, LLP (“Wellington”) (each, a “Sub-Adviser” and collectively, the “Sub-Advisers”). For information about the Adviser and the Sub-Advisers, see the Investment Adviser & Sub-Advisers sections of this Prospectus.

What the Funds Are — And Are Not

These Funds are mutual funds — pooled investments that are professionally managed and provide you the opportunity to participate in financial markets. The Funds strive to meet their stated goals, although as with all mutual funds, they cannot offer guaranteed results. As with any mutual fund, there is always a risk that you may lose money on your investment in a Fund.

An investment in a Fund is not a bank deposit. It is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (“FDIC”) or any other government agency.

Market Capitalizations

The Funds that primarily invest in small-cap companies will generally maintain an average market capitalization below $2.5 billion, although a Fund may invest in companies outside this range. The Funds that primarily invest in mid-cap companies will normally maintain an average market capitalization between $2.5 billion and $10 billion and the Funds that primarily invest in large-cap companies will generally maintain an average market capitalization above $10 billion, although a Fund may invest outside of these ranges.

FUND SUMMARIES

OLD MUTUAL ANALYTIC U.S. LONG/SHORT FUND

Morningstar Category: Large Blend

Sub-Adviser: Analytic Investors, Inc.

Selling Short

When the Fund sells a security short, it borrows the security from a third party and sells it at the then-current market price. The Fund is then obligated to buy the security on a later date so that it can return the security to the lender.

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with above-average total returns. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of companies whose securities are traded in U.S. markets. While the Fund may invest in companies of any size, it generally invests in large and mid-cap companies. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

The Fund may invest in long and short positions of publicly traded equity securities. The Fund's long and short positions may include equity securities of foreign issuers that are traded in U.S. markets. The Fund buys securities "long" that Analytic, the Fund's Sub-Adviser, believes will outperform and sells securities "short" that Analytic believes will underperform. This is not a market neutral strategy.

The Fund generally takes long equity positions equal to approximately 120% of the Fund's equity assets excluding cash, and short equity positions equal to approximately 20% of the Fund's equity assets at the time of investment, although the Fund's long-short exposure will vary over time based on Analytic's assessment of market conditions and other factors. The Fund's long equity exposure ordinarily ranges from 110% to 125% of the Fund's net assets and its short equity exposure ordinarily ranges from 10% to 33% of the Fund's net assets. The cash received from short sales may be used to invest in long equity positions. Analytic will normally maintain long and short positions such that the Fund's net long equity exposure (i.e., the percentage of long equity positions minus the percentage of short equity positions) does not exceed 100% of the Fund's net assets.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize the Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or the Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Short Sales Risk. If a security sold short increases in price, the Fund may have to cover its short position at a higher price than the short sale price, resulting in a loss. To borrow the security, the Fund also may be required to pay a premium, which would increase the cost of the security sold short. The amount of any gain will be decreased, and the amount of any loss increased, by the amount of the premium, dividends, interest or expenses the Fund may be required to pay in connection with the short sale. In addition, because the Fund's loss on a short sale arises from increases in the value of the security sold short, such loss is theoretically unlimited. By contrast, the Fund's loss on a long position arises from decreases in the value of the security and is limited by the fact that a security's value cannot drop below zero.

Segregated Account Risk. Until the Fund replaces a borrowed security, it is required to maintain a segregated account of cash or highly liquid securities with a broker or custodian to cover the Fund's short position. Securities held in a segregated account cannot be sold while the position they are covering is outstanding, unless they are replaced with similar securities. As a result, there is the possibility that segregation of a large percentage of the Fund's assets could affect its portfolio management.

Leverage Risk. By investing the proceeds received from selling securities short, the Fund is employing leverage, which creates special risks. The use of leverage may increase the Fund's exposure to long equity positions and make any change in the Fund's net asset value ("NAV") greater than without the use of leverage. This could result in increased volatility of returns.

Net Asset Value ("NAV")

A fund's NAV is the dollar value of a single fund share, and is based on the fund's assets minus its liabilities divided by the number of shares outstanding. The value of a single share is also called the share value or share price.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing the changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. The Fund was previously known as Old Mutual Analytic Disciplined Equity Fund and prior to March, 2006, the Fund did not take short positions as part of its main investment strategies. The Fund's performance prior to March, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

Year-by-Year Total Returns through December 31, 2005 — Class A Shares*

* The inception date of the Old Mutual Analytic U.S. Long/Short Fund's Class A shares was July 31, 2003.

The Fund's Class A shares year-to-date return as of June 30, 2006 was 3.64%.

Best Quarter: Q4 2004 10.31%

Worst Quarter: Q3 2004 (2.62)%

The following table provides average annual total return information for the Fund's Class A and Class C shares. The Fund's performance is compared to the Standard and Poor's ("S&P") 500 Index, a widely recognized, unmanaged index that measures the performance of large-cap stocks across all major industries. Sales loads are reflected in the performance table.

Average Annual Total Returns as of December 31, 2005

(Reflects No Deduction for Fees, Expenses or Taxes)	4.91%	N/A	12.02%

* When the return after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares is greater than the return after taxes on distributions, it is because of realized losses. If realized losses occur upon the sale of Fund shares, the capital loss is recorded as a tax benefit, which increases the return.

After-tax performance is shown for the Fund's Class A shares. After-tax performance for the Fund's Class C shares will vary. After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown, and the after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares through tax deferred arrangements, such as 401(k) plans or individual retirement accounts.

Fees and Expenses

This table summarizes the shareholder fees and annual operating expenses you would pay as an investor in this Fund. Shareholder transaction fees are paid directly from your account. Annual operating expenses are paid out of the Fund's assets. Additional fees may be imposed by your adviser or broker.

Operating Expenses

The operating expenses of a mutual fund generally include management fees, overhead, taxes, brokerage fees, 12b-1 fees and legal and audit fees.

* Expense information in the table has been restated to reflect current fees effective January 1, 2006.

¹ If you purchase $1,000,000 or more Class A shares and redeem these shares within 12 months from the date of purchase, you may pay a 1% contingent deferred sales charge ("CDSC") at the time of redemption.

³ The "Management Fees" information in the table has been restated to reflect the current management fee arrangement with Old Mutual Capital, which includes fees for advisory and administrative services. The "Other Expenses" information in the table has been restated to reflect the elimination of the 0.1227% administrative service fee previously charged to the Fund.

⁵ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (but excluding the Fund's dividend expenses on short sales, interest expenses on short sales, other interest expense, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 1.35% and 2.10% for Class A and Class C shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 1.35% and 2.10% for Class A and Class C shares, respectively, and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

Expense Example

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund to the cost of investing in other mutual funds. This example makes four assumptions: 1) you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods shown; 2) you redeem all your shares at the end of those time periods; 3) you earn a 5% return on your investment each year; and 4) the Fund's operating expenses remain the same for the time periods shown and include the effect of contractual fee waivers and expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. The example is hypothetical. Your actual costs may be higher or lower.

Your Cost

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Class A	$722	$1,058	$1,418	$2,427
Class C	$331	$741	$1,278	$2,746

You would pay the following if you did not redeem your shares:

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Class C	$231	$741	$1,278	$2,746

Performance Example

The following tables summarize the annual and cumulative impact of the Fund's fees and expenses on returns over a 10 year period. The tables show the estimated expenses that would be charged on a hypothetical investment of $10,000 after sales charges, assuming a 5% return each year, the cumulative return after fees and expenses, and the hypothetical year-end balance after fees and expenses. Sales loads are reflected in performance returns.

The annual expense ratio, which is the same as that stated in the Fees and Expenses Table, is net of any contractual fee waivers or expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. Your actual costs may be higher or lower. The tables also assume the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions.

OLD MUTUAL BARROW HANLEY VALUE FUND

Morningstar Category: Large Value

Sub-Adviser: Barrow, Hanley, Mewhinney & Strauss, Inc.

Investment Approach

The Fund, a non-diversified fund, seeks to provide investors with long-term capital growth. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests in equity securities of large and mid-cap companies with value characteristics. Undervalued stocks are generally those stocks that are out of favor with investors and, in the opinion of Barrow Hanley, the Fund's Sub-Adviser, are trading at prices that are below average at the time of purchase in relation to such measures as earnings and book value. These stocks often have above average dividend yields. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize the Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or the Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Investment Style Risk. Market performance tends to be cyclical, and during various cycles, certain investment styles may fall in and out of favor. The market may not favor the Fund's value style of investing, and the Fund's returns may vary considerably from other equity funds using different investment styles.

Non-Diversified Fund Risk. The Fund is "non-diversified," which means that it may own larger positions in a smaller number of securities than funds that are "diversified." The Fund may invest up to 25% of its total assets in the securities of one issuer. This means that an increase or decrease in the value of a single security likely will have a greater impact on the Fund's NAV and total return than a diversified fund. The Fund's share prices may also be more volatile than those of diversified funds.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser.

Common Stock

A common stock is a security representing ownership rights in a company. A shareholder is entitled to share in the company's profits, some of which may be paid out as dividends.

The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. The Fund was previously known as the Clipper Focus Fund and prior to January 1, 2006, the Fund was managed by an investment adviser different than the Fund's current Sub-Adviser. The Fund's performance prior to January 1, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

Year-by-Year Total Returns through December 31, 2005 — Class A Shares*

* The inception date of the Old Mutual Barrow Hanley Value Fund's Class A shares was July 31, 2003.

The Fund's Class A shares year-to-date return as of June 30, 2006 was 0.98%.

The Fund's performance is compared to the S&P 500 Index, a widely recognized, unmanaged index that measures the performance of large-cap stocks across all major industries. Sales loads are reflected in the performance table.

* When the return after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares is higher than the return after taxes on distributions, it is because of realized losses. If realized losses occur upon the sale of Fund shares, the capital loss is recorded as a tax benefit, which increases the return.

Total Return

A fund's total return is the percentage change, over a specified period of time, in a fund's NAV, assuming the reinvestment of all distributions of dividends and capital gains.

³ The "Management Fees" information in the table has been restated to reflect the current management fee arrangement with Old Mutual Capital, which includes fees for advisory and administrative services. The "Other Expenses" information in the table has been restated to reflect the elimination of the 0.1227% administrative service fee previously charged to the Fund.

⁴ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 1.35% and 2.10% for Class A and Class C shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 1.35% and 2.10% for Class A and Class C shares, respectively, and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

Expense Example

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund to the cost of investing in other mutual funds. This example makes four assumptions: 1) you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods shown; 2) you redeem all your shares at the end of those time periods; 3) you earn a 5% return on your investment each year; and 4) the Fund's operating expenses remain the same for the time periods shown and include the effect of contractual fee waivers and expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. The example is hypothetical. Your actual costs may be higher or lower.

Your Cost

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Class A	$705	$978	$1,323	$2,295
Class C	$313	$658	$1,181	$2,617

You would pay the following if you did not redeem your shares:

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Class C	$213	$658	$1,181	$2,617

Performance Example

The following tables summarize the annual and cumulative impact of the Fund's fees and expenses on returns over a 10 year period. The tables show the estimated expenses that would be charged on a hypothetical investment of $10,000 after sales charges, assuming a 5% return each year, the cumulative return after fees and expenses, and the hypothetical year-end balance after fees and expenses. Sales loads are reflected in performance returns.

The annual expense ratio, which is the same as that stated in the Fees and Expenses Table, is net of any contractual fee waivers or expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. Your actual costs may be higher or lower. The tables also assume the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions.

OLD MUTUAL COLUMBUS CIRCLE TECHNOLOGY AND COMMUNICATIONS FUND

Morningstar Category: Specialty — Technology

Investment Approach

The Fund, a non-diversified fund, seeks to provide investors with long-term capital growth. Current income is incidental to the Fund's goal. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of companies in the technology and communications sectors. The Fund is concentrated, which means it will invest 25% or more of its total assets in the group of industries within those sectors. The Fund's holdings may range from smaller companies developing new technologies or pursuing scientific breakthroughs to large firms with established track records in developing, using or marketing scientific advances. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize the Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or the Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund concentrates its investments in certain industries within the technology and communications sectors, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries. The Fund's performance may be impacted by general economic conditions, worldwide scientific and technological developments, product cycles, competition and government regulation.

Non-Diversified Fund Risk. The Fund is "non-diversified," which means that it may own larger positions in a smaller number of securities than funds that are "diversified." The Fund may invest up to 25% of its total assets in the securities of one issuer. This means that an increase or decrease in the value of a single security likely will have a greater impact on the Fund's NAV and total return than a diversified fund. The Fund's share prices may also be more volatile than those of diversified funds.

Small and Mid-Cap Company Risk. The Fund may invest in small-cap and mid-cap companies. While small-cap and mid-cap companies may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap and mid-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap or mid-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Technology and Communications Industries

Industries in the Technology sector include Application Software, Communications Equipment, Computer Hardware, Computer Storage & Peripherals, Data Processing & Outsourced Services, Electronic Equipment Manufacturers, Electronic Manufacturing Services, Home Entertainment Software, Internet Software & Services, IT Consulting & Services, Office Electronics, Semiconductor Equipment, Semiconductors, Systems Software and Technology Distributors.

Industries in the Communications sector include Alternative Carriers, Integrated Telecommunications Services, and Wireless Telecommunication Services.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. Prior to November 2, 1999, the Fund was diversified and did not concentrate its investments. Therefore, the Fund's performance prior to November 2, 1999 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future. Prior to January 1, 2006, the Fund was managed by an investment adviser different than the Fund's current Sub-Adviser and the Fund's performance prior to January 1, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

Such fees are not sales charges or CDSCs, but are retained by the Fund for the benefit of all shareholders. See the Policy Regarding Excessive or Short-Term Trading section of this Prospectus for more details.

OLD MUTUAL EMERGING GROWTH FUND

Morningstar Category: Small Growth

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with long-term capital growth. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of small-cap companies with growth characteristics at the time of purchase. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize the Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or the Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Investment Style Risk. Market performance tends to be cyclical, and during various cycles, certain investment styles may fall in and out of favor. The market may not favor the Fund's growth style of investing, and the Fund's returns may vary considerably from other equity funds using different investment styles.

Small Company Risk. The Fund primarily invests in small-cap companies. While small-cap companies may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Emerging Growth Companies

Growth funds generally focus on stocks of companies believed to have above average potential for growth in revenue and earnings. These stocks typically have low dividend yields and above average prices in relation to such measures as earnings and book value. Emerging growth companies are generally those growth companies that are less mature and appear to have the potential for rapid growth.

Performance Example

The following tables summarize the annual and cumulative impact of the Fund's fees and expenses on returns over a 10 year period. The tables show the estimated expenses that would be charged on a hypothetical investment of $10,000 after sales charges, assuming a 5% return each year, the cumulative return after fees and expenses, and the hypothetical year-end balance after fees and expenses. Sales loads are reflected in performance returns.

The annual expense ratio, which is the same as that stated in the Fees and Expenses Table, is net of any contractual fee waivers or expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. Your actual costs may be higher or lower. The tables also assume the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions.

OLD MUTUAL FOCUSED FUND

Morningstar Category: Large Blend Sub-Adviser: Liberty Ridge Capital, Inc.

Investment Approach

The Fund, a non-diversified fund, seeks to provide investors with above-average total returns over a 3 to 5 year market cycle. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of small, medium and large-cap companies. While the Fund may invest in companies of any market capitalization, the Fund generally invests in large-cap companies that Liberty Ridge, the Fund's Sub-Adviser, believes have sustainable long-term growth prospects but are currently trading at modest relative valuations. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stock.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize the Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or the Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Non-Diversified Fund Risk. The Fund is "non-diversified," which means that it may own larger positions in a smaller number of securities than funds that are "diversified." The Fund may invest up to 25% of its total assets in the securities of one issuer. This means that an increase or decrease in the value of a single security likely will have a greater impact on the Fund's NAV and total return than a diversified fund. The Fund's share prices may also be more volatile than those of diversified funds.

Small and Mid-Cap Company Risk. While the Fund generally invests in large-cap companies, the Fund may invest in small-cap or mid-cap companies. While small-cap and mid-cap companies may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap and mid-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap or mid-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within certain sectors, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Valuation

Valuation is the process of determining the value of a company. There are many different techniques for valuation, and the process is often partially objective and partially subjective.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect.

Year-by-Year Returns through December 31, 2005 — Class A Shares*

* The inception date of the Old Mutual Focused Fund's Class A shares was September 30, 2003.

The Fund's Class A shares year-to-date return as of June 30, 2006 was 3.47%.

Best Quarter: Q4 2004 15.40%

Worst Quarter: Q1 2005 (4.04)%

The following table provides average annual total return information for the Fund's Class A and Class C shares. The Fund's performance is compared to the Russell 3000® Index, a widely recognized, unmanaged index that measures the performance of the 3,000 largest U.S. companies based on total market capitalization. Sales loads are reflected in the performance table.

* When the return after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares is greater than the return after taxes on distributions, it is because of realized losses. If realized losses occur upon the sale of Fund shares, the capital loss is recorded as a tax benefit, which increases the return.

After-tax performance is shown for the Fund's Class A shares. After-tax performance for the Fund's Class C shares will vary. After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown, and the after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares through tax deferred arrangements, such as 401(k) plans or individual retirement accounts.

Fees and Expenses

This table summarizes the shareholder fees and annual operating expenses you would pay as an investor in this Fund. Shareholder transaction fees are paid directly from your account. ¹ If you purchase $1,000,000 or more Class A shares and redeem these shares within 12 months from the date of purchase, you may pay a 1% CDSC at the time of redemption.

³ The "Management Fees" information in the table has been restated to reflect the current management fee arrangement with Old Mutual Capital, which includes fees for advisory and administrative services. The "Other Expenses" information in the table has been restated to reflect the elimination of the 0.1227% administrative service fee previously charged to the Fund.

⁴ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed

1.40% and 2.15% for Class A and Class C shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 1.40% and 2.15% for Class A and Class C shares, respectively, and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

OLD MUTUAL GROWTH FUND

Morningstar Category: Mid-Cap Growth

Sub-Advisers: Munder Capital Management and Turner
Investment Partners, Inc.

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with capital appreciation. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 65% of its net assets in equity securities of small and mid-cap companies with favorable growth prospects. While the Fund may invest in both small and mid-cap companies, the Fund primarily invests in mid-cap companies. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common stocks and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize a Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or a Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Investment Style Risk. Market performance tends to be cyclical, and during various cycles, certain investment styles may fall in and out of favor. The market may not favor the Fund's growth style of investing, and the Fund's returns may vary considerably from other equity funds using different investment styles.

Small and Mid-Cap Company Risk. The Fund primarily invests in mid-cap companies, and to a lesser extent, small-cap companies. While small-cap and mid-cap companies may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap and mid-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap or mid-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect.

Diversified Investment Company

A diversified investment company is a mutual fund that has 75% of its assets invested in securities or cash with a maximum of 5% of assets invested in the securities of a single company, and a maximum holding of 10% of a company's voting shares.

Prior to January 1, 2006, the Fund was managed by an investment adviser different than the Fund's current Sub-Advisers and the Fund's performance prior to January 1, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

OLD MUTUAL HEITMAN REIT FUND

Morningstar Category: Specialty — Real Estate

Sub-Adviser: Heitman Real Estate Securities, LLC

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with a high total return consistent with reasonable risk. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of companies principally engaged in the real estate industry, including real estate investment trusts ("REITs"). Heitman, the Fund's Sub-Adviser, considers a company to be principally engaged in the real estate industry if it derives at least 50% of its revenues from the ownership, construction, management, financing or sale of commercial, industrial or residential real estate or has at least 50% of its assets in such real estate. The equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize the Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or the Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund concentrates its investments in certain real estate related industries, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries. Real estate industries are particularly sensitive to the following economic factors: interest rate changes or market recessions; over-building in one particular area, changes in zoning laws, or changes in neighborhood values; increases in property taxes; casualty and condemnation losses; and regulatory limitations on rents.

REITs Risk. REITs may expose the Fund to similar risks associated with direct investment in real estate. REITs are more dependent upon specialized management skills, have limited diversification and are, therefore, generally dependent on their ability to generate cash flow to make distributions to shareholders.

REITs

A REIT is a separately managed trust that makes investments in various real estate businesses. A REIT is generally not taxed on income distributed to its shareholders if, among other things, it distributes to its shareholders substantially all of its taxable income for each taxable year.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of unmanaged securities indexes. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect.

Year-by-Year Total Returns through December 31, 2005 — Class A Shares*

* The inception date of Old Mutual Heitman REIT Fund's Class A shares was September 30, 2003.

The Fund's Class A shares year-to-date return as of June 30, 2006 was 11.93%.

Best Quarter: Q4 2004 16.04%

Worst Quarter: Q1 2005 (7.20)%

The following table provides average annual total return information for the Fund's Class A and Class C shares. The Fund's performance is compared to the Dow Jones Wilshire Real Estate Securities Index and the S&P 500 Index. The Dow Jones Wilshire Real Estate Securities Index is a market capitalization weighted index of publicly traded real estate securities, including REITs, real estate operating companies and partnerships. The S&P 500 Index is a widely recognized, unmanaged index that measures the performance of large-cap stocks across all major industries. Sales loads are reflected in the performance table.

* When the return after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares is greater than the return after taxes on distributions, it is because of realized losses. If realized losses occur upon the sale of Fund shares, the capital loss is recorded as a tax benefit, which increases the return.

After-tax performance is shown for the Fund's Class A shares. After-tax performance for the Fund's Class C shares will vary. After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown, and the after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares through tax deferred arrangements, such as 401(k) plans or individual retirement accounts.

Fees and Expenses

This table summarizes the shareholder fees and annual operating expenses you would pay as an investor in this Fund. Shareholder transaction fees are paid directly from your account. ¹ If you purchase $1,000,000 or more Class A shares and redeem these shares within 12 months from the date of purchase, you may pay a 1% CDSC at the time of redemption.

² To prevent the Fund from being adversely affected by the transaction costs associated with short-term trading activity, the Fund will redeem shares at a price equal to the NAV of the shares, less an additional transaction fee equal to 2.00% of the NAV of all such shares redeemed within 10 calendar days of their purchase. Such fees are not sales charges or CDSCs, but are retained by the Fund for the benefit of all shareholders. See the Policy Regarding Excessive or Short-Term Trading section of this Prospectus for more details.

³ The "Management Fees" information in the table has been restated to reflect the current management fee arrangement with Old Mutual Capital, which includes fees for advisory and administrative services. The "Other Expenses" information in the table has been restated to reflect the elimination of the 0.1227% administrative service fee previously charged to the Fund.

⁴ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed

1.50% and 2.25% for Class A and Class C shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 1.50% and 2.25% for Class A and Class C shares, respectively, and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

Expense Example

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund to the cost of investing in other mutual funds. This example makes four assumptions: 1) you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods shown; 2) you redeem all your shares at the end of those time periods; 3) you earn a 5% return on your investment each year; and 4) the Fund's operating expenses remain the same for the time periods shown and include the effect of contractual fee waivers and expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. The example is hypothetical. Your actual costs may be higher or lower.

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Class A	$719	$1,022	$1,349	$2,271
Class C	$328	$703	$1,207	$2,592

You would pay the following if you did not redeem your shares:

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Class C	$228	$703	$1,207	$2,592

Performance Example

The following tables summarize the annual and cumulative impact of the Fund's fees and expenses on returns over a 10 year period. The tables show the estimated expenses that would be charged on a hypothetical investment of $10,000 after sales charges, assuming a 5% return each year, the cumulative return after fees and expenses, and the hypothetical year-end balance after fees and expenses. Sales loads are reflected in performance returns.

The annual expense ratio, which is the same as that stated in the Fees and Expenses Table, is net of any contractual fee waivers or expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. Your actual costs may be higher or lower. The tables also assume the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect.

OLD MUTUAL LARGE CAP GROWTH FUND

Morningstar Category: Large Growth

Sub-Advisers: CastleArk Management, LLC and Turner
Investment Partners, Inc.

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with long-term capital growth. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of large-cap companies with favorable growth prospects. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize a Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or a Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Investment Style Risk. Market performance tends to be cyclical, and during various cycles, certain investment styles may fall in and out of favor. The market may not favor the Fund's growth style of investing, and the Fund's returns may vary considerably from other equity funds using different investment styles.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. Prior to January 1, 2006, the Fund was managed by an investment adviser different than the Fund's current Sub-Advisers and the Fund's performance prior to January 1, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

* When the return after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares is greater than the return after taxes on distributions, it is because of realized losses. If realized losses occur upon the sale of Fund shares, the capital loss is recorded as a tax benefit, which increases the return.

After-tax performance is shown for the Fund's Class A shares. After-tax performance for the Fund's Class C shares will vary. After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. ¹ If you purchase $1,000,000 or more Class A shares and redeem these shares within 12 months from the date of purchase, you may pay a 1% CDSC at the time of redemption.

³ The "Management Fees" information in the table has been restated to reflect the current management fee arrangement with Old Mutual Capital, which includes fees for advisory and administrative services. The "Other Expenses" information in the table has been restated to reflect the elimination of the 0.1227% administrative service fee previously charged to the Fund.

⁴ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 1.50% and 2.25% for Class A and Class C shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 1.50% and 2.25% for Class A and Class C shares, respectively, and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

This example makes four assumptions: 1) you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods shown; 2) you redeem all your shares at the end of those time periods; 3) you earn a 5% return on your investment each year; and 4) the Fund's operating expenses remain the same for the time periods shown and include the effect of contractual fee waivers and expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. The example is hypothetical. Your actual costs may be higher or lower.

The tables show the estimated expenses that would be charged on a hypothetical investment of $10,000 after sales charges, assuming a 5% return each year, the cumulative return after fees and expenses, and the hypothetical year-end balance after fees and expenses. Sales loads are reflected in performance returns.

The annual expense ratio, which is the same as that stated in the Fees and Expenses Table, is net of any contractual fee waivers or expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. Your actual costs may be higher or lower. The tables also assume the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions.

OLD MUTUAL LARGE CAP GROWTH CONCENTRATED FUND

Sub-Advisers: CastleArk Management, LLC and Turner
Investment Partners, Inc.

Investment Approach

The Fund, a non-diversified fund, seeks to provide investors with long-term capital growth. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of large-cap companies with favorable growth prospects. Each Sub-Adviser will invest the portion of the Fund it manages in not more than 40 large-cap companies. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize a Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or a Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Investment Style Risk. Market performance tends to be cyclical, and during various cycles, certain investment styles may fall in and out of favor. The market may not favor the Fund's growth style of investing, and the Fund's returns may vary considerably from other equity funds using different investment styles.

Non-Diversified Fund Risk. The Fund is "non-diversified," which means that it may own larger positions in a smaller number of securities than funds that are "diversified." The Fund may invest up to 25% of its total assets in the securities of one issuer. This means that an increase or decrease in the value of a single security likely will have a greater impact on the Fund's NAV and total return than a diversified fund. The Fund's share prices may also be more volatile than those of diversified funds.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. Prior to January 1, 2006, the Fund was managed by an investment adviser different than the Fund's current Sub-Advisers and the Fund's performance prior to January 1, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

Morningstar Category: Mid-Cap Blend

Sub-Adviser: Liberty Ridge Capital, Inc.

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with above-average total return over a 3 to 5 year market cycle, consistent with reasonable risk. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of mid-cap companies. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize the Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or the Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Small and Mid-Cap Company Risk. The Fund primarily invests in mid-cap companies and also may invest in small-cap companies. While small-cap companies, and to an extent mid-cap companies, may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger and more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap and mid-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap or mid-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

¹ If you purchase $1,000,000 or more Class A shares and redeem these shares within 12 months from the date of purchase, you may pay a 1% CDSC at the time of redemption.

³ The "Management Fees" information in the table has been restated to reflect the current management fee arrangement with Old Mutual Capital, which includes fees for advisory and administrative services. The "Other Expenses" information in the table has been restated to reflect the elimination of the 0.1227% administrative service fee previously charged to the Fund.

⁴ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 1.45% and 2.20% for Class A and Class C shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 1.45% and 2.20% for Class A and Class C shares, respectively, and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

Expense Example

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund to the cost of investing in other mutual funds. This example makes four assumptions: 1) you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods shown; 2) you redeem all your shares at the end of those time periods; 3) you earn a 5% return on your investment each year; and 4) the Fund's operating expenses remain the same for the time periods shown and include the effect of contractual fee waivers and expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. The example is hypothetical. Your actual costs may be higher or lower.

Your Cost

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Class A	$714	$1,007	$1,353	$2,327
Class C	$323	$688	$1,212	$2,650

You would pay the following if you did not redeem your shares:

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Class C	$223	$688	$1,212	$2,650

Performance Example

The following tables summarize the annual and cumulative impact of the Fund's fees and expenses on returns over a 10 year period. The tables show the estimated expenses that would be charged on a hypothetical investment of $10,000 after sales charges, assuming a 5% return each year, the cumulative return after fees and expenses, and the hypothetical year-end balance after fees and expenses. Sales loads are reflected in performance returns.

The annual expense ratio, which is the same as that stated in the Fees and Expenses Table, is net of any contractual fee waivers or expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. Your actual costs may be higher or lower. The tables also assume the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions.

OLD MUTUAL SELECT GROWTH FUND

Morningstar Category: Large Growth

Sub-Advisers: CastleArk Management, LLC and Turner
Investment Partners, Inc.

Investment Approach

The Fund, a non-diversified Fund, seeks to provide investors with long-term capital growth. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of companies with favorable growth prospects. Each Sub-Adviser will invest its portion of the Fund in not more than 40 companies. While the Fund may invest in companies of any market capitalization, the Fund generally invests in large-cap companies. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize a Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or a Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Investment Style Risk. Market performance tends to be cyclical, and during various cycles, certain investment styles may fall in and out of favor. The market may not favor the Fund's growth style of investing, and the Fund's returns may vary considerably from other equity funds using different investment styles.

Non-Diversified Fund Risk. The Fund is "non-diversified," which means that it may own larger positions in a smaller number of securities than funds that are "diversified." The Fund may invest up to 25% of its total assets in the securities of one issuer. This means that an increase or decrease in the value of a single security likely will have a greater impact on the Fund's NAV and total return than a diversified fund. The Fund's share prices may also be more volatile than those of diversified funds.

Small and Mid-Cap Company Risk. The Fund may invest in small-cap or mid-cap companies. While small-cap and mid-cap companies may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap and mid-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap or mid-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. Prior to January 1, 2006, the Fund was managed by an investment adviser different than the Fund's current Sub-Advisers and the Fund's performance prior to January 1, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

Year-by-Year Total Returns through December 31, 2005 — Class A Shares*

* The inception date of the Old Mutual Select Growth Fund's Class A shares was September 30, 2003.

The Fund's Class A shares year-to-date return as of June 30, 2006 was 0.78%.

Worst Quarter: Q1 2005	(10.94)%

The following table provides average annual total return information for the Fund's Class A and Class C shares. The Fund's performance is compared to the Russell 3000® Growth Index, a widely recognized, unmanaged index that measures the performance of those Russell 3000® Index companies with higher price-to-book ratios and higher forecasted growth values. Sales loads are reflected in the performance table.

* When the return after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares is greater than the return after taxes on distributions, it is because of realized losses. If realized losses occur upon the sale of Fund shares, the capital loss is recorded as a tax benefit, which increases the return.

After-tax performance is shown for the Fund's Class A shares. After-tax performance for the Fund's Class C shares will vary. After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown, and the after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares through tax deferred arrangements, such as 401(k) plans or individual retirement accounts.

OLD MUTUAL SMALL CAP FUND

Morningstar Category: Small Blend

Sub-Advisers: Eagle Asset Management, Inc. and Liberty Ridge Capital, Inc.

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with above-average total return over a 3 to 5 year market cycle, consistent with reasonable risk. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of small-cap companies. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize a Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or a Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Small Company Risk. The Fund invests primarily in small-cap companies. While small-cap companies may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk is the potential for loss because of the inability to convert a security to cash in a timely manner and without any price discount.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. As of January 1, 2006, certain of the Fund's assets began to be managed by a Sub-Adviser different than the Fund's former adviser, and the Fund's former adviser became a Sub-Adviser to the Fund. As a result, the Fund's performance prior to January 1, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

The performance shown in the bar chart is for the Fund's Class A shares. Sales loads are not reflected in the bar chart; if they were, the returns shown would be lower. Performance for Class C shares will vary due to differences in fees and expenses.

This example makes four assumptions: 1) you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods shown; 2) you redeem all your shares at the end of those time periods; 3) you earn a 5% return on your investment each year; and 4) the Fund's operating expenses remain the same for the time periods shown and include the effect of contractual fee waivers and expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. The example is hypothetical. Your actual costs may be higher or lower.

Class C	$328	$703	$1,270	$2,813

Performance Example

The following tables summarize the annual and cumulative impact of the Fund's fees and expenses on returns over a 10 year period. The tables show the estimated expenses that would be charged on a hypothetical investment of $10,000 after sales charges, assuming a 5% return each year, the cumulative return after fees and expenses, and the hypothetical year-end balance after fees and expenses. Sales loads are reflected in performance returns.

The annual expense ratio, which is the same as that stated in the Fees and Expenses Table, is net of any contractual fee waivers or expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. Your actual costs may be higher or lower. The tables also assume the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions.

OLD MUTUAL STRATEGIC SMALL COMPANY FUND

Morningstar Category: Small Growth

Sub-Advisers: Copper Rock Capital Partners, LLC; Eagle Asset Management, Inc.; and Liberty Ridge Capital, Inc.

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with capital growth. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of small-cap companies. The Fund's investments are allocated between companies with growth prospects, companies with value characteristics, and companies that may have growth and value characteristics. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize a Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or a Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Small Company Risk. The Fund invests primarily in small-cap companies. While small-cap companies may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. As of January 1, 2006, certain of the Fund's assets began to be managed by Sub-Advisers different than the Fund's former adviser, and the Fund's former adviser became a Sub-Adviser to the Fund. As a result, the Fund's performance prior to January 1, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

Year-by-Year Total Returns through December 31, 2005 — Class A Shares*

* The inception date of the Old Mutual Strategic Small Company Fund's Class A shares was July 31, 2003.

The Fund's Class A shares year-to-date return as of June 30, 2006 was 2.66%.

Best Quarter: Q4 2004 17.84%

Worst Quarter: Q3 2004 (6.84)%

The following table provides average annual total return information for the Fund's Class A and Class C shares. The Fund's performance is compared to the Russell 2000® Index, a widely recognized, unmanaged index that tracks the performance of 2,000 small-cap stocks. Sales loads are reflected in the performance table.

* When the return after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares is greater than the return after taxes on distributions, it is because of realized losses. If realized losses occur upon the sale of Fund shares, the capital loss is recorded as a tax benefit, which increases the return.

After-tax performance is shown for the Fund's Class A shares. After-tax performance for the Fund's Class C shares will vary. After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown, and the after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares through tax deferred arrangements, such as 401(k) plans or individual retirement accounts.

¹ If you purchase $1,000,000 or more Class A shares and redeem these shares within 12 months from the date of purchase, you may pay a 1% CDSC at the time of redemption.

³ The "Management Fees" information in the table has been restated to reflect the current management fee arrangement with Old Mutual Capital, which includes fees for advisory and administrative services. The "Other Expenses" information in the table has been restated to reflect the elimination of the 0.1227% administrative service fee previously charged to the Fund.

⁴ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 1.60% and 2.35% for Class A and Class C shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 1.60% and 2.35% for Class A and Class C shares, respectively, and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

OLD MUTUAL TS&W SMALL CAP VALUE FUND

Morningstar Category: Small Blend

Sub-Adviser: Thomson, Siegel & Walmsley, Inc.

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with long-term capital growth. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of small-cap companies with value characteristics. The securities held in the Fund are primarily common stocks that TS&W, the Fund's Sub-Adviser, believes present a value or potential worth that is not recognized by prevailing market prices or that have experienced some fundamental changes and are intrinsically undervalued by the investment community. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize the Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or the Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Small Company Risk. The Fund invests primarily in small-cap companies. While small-cap companies may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Investment Style Risk. Market performance tends to be cyclical, and during various cycles, certain investment styles may fall in and out of favor. The market may not favor the Fund's value style of investing, and the Fund's returns may vary considerably from other equity funds using different investment styles.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Value Fund

Fund Closed to New Investors

Effective December 31, 2004 ("Closing Day"), the TS&W Small Cap Value Fund closed to new investors. Only the following investments into the Fund will be accepted: additional investments and/or exchanges made by persons who already owned shares of the Fund as of the Closing Day; new and subsequent investment made by directors, officers and employees of the Fund's Adviser and its affiliates; and new and subsequent investments made by participants in pension plans, provided that the pension plan owned shares of the Fund as of the Closing Day.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect.

OLD MUTUAL DWIGHT INTERMEDIATE FIXED INCOME FUND

Morningstar Category: Intermediate-Term Bond

Sub-Advisers: Dwight Asset Management Company

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with a high level of current income consistent with relative stability of principal. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in a diversified portfolio of fixed income securities of varying maturities. The Fund generally invests in investment grade fixed income securities but may invest up to 15% of its assets in high yield securities. The Fund may also invest in derivative instruments such as options, futures contracts, and options on indices and may engage in certain investment techniques which create market exposure, such as dollar rolls. The Fund's investment duration typically ranges from 75% to 125% of the average duration of the Lehman Brothers Intermediate Aggregate Bond Index. The Fund's dollar weighted average maturity will typically be between 3 and 10 years.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Credit Risk. The value of the debt securities held by the Fund fluctuates with the credit quality of the issuers of those securities. Credit risk relates to the ability of the issuer to make payments of principal and interest when due, including default risk. Securities issued by certain U.S. government agencies and instrumentalities, such as the Federal National Mortgage Association ("Fannie Mae"), Federal Home Loan Bank, Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation ("Freddie Mac") and Tennessee Valley Authority, are not supported by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Treasury, but only by their ability to borrow from the Treasury, other forms of governmental support, or by their own credit. Therefore, these securities have greater credit risk than Treasury securities.

Interest Rate Risk. When interest rates change, the value of the Fund's holdings will be affected. An increase in interest rates tends to reduce the market value of debt securities, while a decline in interest rates tends to increase their values.

Prepayment Risk. This risk relates primarily to mortgage-backed securities. During a period of declining interest rates, homeowners may refinance their high-rate mortgages and prepay the principal. Cash from these prepayments flows through to prepay the mortgage-backed securities, necessitating reinvestment in bonds with lower interest rates, which may lower the return of the Fund.

High Yield Risk. The Fund may invest in high yield securities (commonly known as "junk bonds") which may be subject to greater levels of interest rate, credit and liquidity risk than investment grade securities. These securities may be considered speculative with respect to the issuer's continuing ability to make principal and interest payments. An economic downturn or period of rising interest rates could adversely affect the market for junk bonds and reduce the Fund's ability to sell these securities (liquidity risk). If the issuer or a security is in default with respect to interest or principal payments, the Fund may lose its investment in the issue.

Changes in Debt Ratings. If a rating agency gives a debt security a lower rating, the value of the security may decline because investors may demand a higher rate of return.

Bonds and Maturity

A bond is an IOU (debt security) issued by a government or corporation that pays a stated rate of interest and returns the face value on the maturity date. Maturity is the length of time until a bond or other debt instrument "matures" or becomes due and payable.

Dollar Rolls

Dollar rolls are a special type of repurchase agreement in which the security transferred to the investor as collateral is a mortgage-backed security. The investor who sells the security gives up the cash flows during the roll period, but has use of the proceeds.

Duration

Duration is a measure that enables fixed income securities of different maturities and coupon rates to be compared. Duration measures the expected life of a fixed income security and is used to determine the sensitivity of a security's price to changes in interest rates. The longer a security's duration, the more sensitive it will be to changes in the interest rate.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect.

Year-by-Year Total Returns through December 31, 2005 — Class A Shares*

* The inception date of the Old Mutual Dwight Intermediate Fixed Income Fund's Class A Shares was July 31, 2003.

The Fund's Class A shares year-to-date return as of June 30, 2006 was (0.14)%.

Best Quarter: Q3 2004 2.14%

Worst Quarter: Q1 2005 (0.21)%

The following table provides average annual total return information for the Fund's Class A and Class C shares. The Fund's performance is compared to the Lehman Intermediate U.S. Aggregate Bond Index, a widely recognized, unmanaged index of fixed income securities with medium term durations. Sales loads are reflected in the performance table.

(Reflects No Deduction for Fees, Expenses or Taxes)	2.01%	N/A	3.66%

* When the return after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares is higher than the return after taxes on distributions, it is because of realized losses. If realized losses occur upon the sale of Fund shares, the capital loss is recorded as a tax benefit, which increases the return.

After-tax performance is shown for the Fund's Class A shares. After-tax performance for the Fund's Class C shares will vary. After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown, and the after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares through tax deferred arrangements, such as 401(k) plans or individual retirement accounts.

Fees and Expenses

This table summarizes the shareholder fees and annual operating expenses you would pay as an investor in the Fund. Shareholder transaction fees are paid directly from your account. Annual operating expenses are paid out of the Fund's assets. Additional fees may be imposed by your adviser or broker.

¹ If you purchase $1,000,000 or more Class A shares and redeem these shares within 12 months from the date of purchase, you may pay a 1% CDSC at the time of redemption.

³ The "Management Fees" information in the table has been restated to reflect the current management fee arrangement with Old Mutual Capital, which includes fees for advisory and administrative services. The "Other Expenses" information in the table has been restated to reflect the elimination of the 0.1227% administrative service fee previously charged to the Fund.

⁴ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 1.10% and 1.85% for Class A and Class C shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 1.10% and 1.85% for Class A and Class C shares, respectively, and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

Expense Example

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund to the cost of investing in other mutual funds. This example makes four assumptions: 1) you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods shown; 2) you redeem all your shares at the end of those time periods; 3) you earn a 5% return on your investment each year; and 4) the Fund's operating expenses remain the same for the time periods shown and include the effect of contractual fee waivers and expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. The example is hypothetical. Your actual costs may be higher or lower.

Performance Example

The following tables summarize the annual and cumulative impact of the Fund's fees and expenses on returns over a 10 year period. The tables show the estimated expenses that would be charged on a hypothetical investment of $10,000 after sales charges, assuming a 5% return each year, the cumulative return after fees and expenses, and the hypothetical year-end balance after fees and expenses. Sales loads are reflected in performance returns.

The annual expense ratio, which is the same as that stated in the Fees and Expenses Table, is net of any contractual fee waivers or expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. Your actual costs may be higher or lower. The tables also assume the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions.

OLD MUTUAL DWIGHT SHORT TERM FIXED INCOME FUND

Morningstar Category: Short-Term Bond

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with a high level of current income consistent with maintaining a relatively high degree of stability of shareholders' capital. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in obligations of the U.S. Government and in investment grade debt securities rated AAA by Standard & Poor's ("S&P"), Aaa by Moody's Investor Service, Inc. ("Moody's") or deemed equivalent by Dwight, the Fund's Sub-Adviser. The Fund may invest up to 20% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in investment grade debt securities rated between AA and BBB by S&P or Aa and Baa by Moody's, or deemed equivalent by Dwight.

U.S. government obligations include Treasury bills, notes, and bonds and Government National Mortgage Association ("Ginnie Mae") pass-through securities, which are supported by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Treasury, as well as obligations and instrumentalities of the U.S. government which may not be supported by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Treasury. Other debt securities in which the Fund may invest include income producing securities such as U.S. corporate bonds, mortgage- and asset-backed securities, and bonds of dollar denominated foreign issuers.

The weighted average maturity of the Fund will vary depending on an evaluation of market conditions, patterns and trends by the Fund's Sub-Adviser, but will typically be less than 3 years. There are no limitations on the maturity of any individual issues in the Fund.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Credit Risk. The value of the debt securities held by the Fund fluctuates with the credit quality of the issuers of those securities. Credit risk relates to the ability of the issuer to make payments of principal and interest when due, including default risk. Securities issued by certain U.S. government agencies and instrumentalities, such as the Federal National Mortgage Association ("Fannie Mae"), Federal Home Loan Bank, Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation ("Freddie Mac") and Tennessee Valley Authority, are not supported by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Treasury, but only by their ability to borrow from the Treasury, other forms of governmental support, or by their own credit. Therefore, these securities have greater credit risk than Treasury securities.

Interest Rate Risk. When interest rates change, the value of the Fund's holdings will be affected. An increase in interest rates tends to reduce the market value of debt securities, while a decline in interest rates tends to increase their values.

Prepayment Risk. This risk relates primarily to mortgage-backed securities. During a period of declining interest rates, homeowners may refinance their high-rate mortgages and prepay the principal. Cash from these prepayments flows through to prepay the mortgage-backed securities, necessitating reinvestment in bonds with lower interest rates, which may lower the return of the Fund.

Changes in Debt Ratings. If a rating agency gives a debt security a lower rating, the value of the security may decline because investors may demand a higher rate of return.

Credit Ratings

Many debt securities are assigned credit ratings by agencies such as S&P or Moody's that evaluate the quality of publicly offered debt. The four highest ratings of Moody's and S&P for corporate bonds are Aaa, Aa, A and Baa and AAA, AA, A and BBB. Securities with these credit ratings are generally considered investment grade. Lower rated securities, rated BB or Ba or lower are called "high yield" securities or "junk bonds."

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. On October 1, 2004, the Fund's shareholders approved a change in the Fund's investment goal and the Fund's investment strategy was changed accordingly. The performance information prior to October 1, 2004 is the performance of the Fund's previous strategy, which was to seek to provide investors with a level of current income higher than that of money market funds, while attempting to preserve principal and maintain a stable NAV per share. The Fund's performance prior to October 1, 2004 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

Year-by-Year Total Returns through December 31, 2005 — Class A Shares*

* The inception date of the Old Mutual Dwight Short Term Fixed Income Fund's Class A shares was July 31, 2003.

Sales loads are reflected in the performance table.

MORE ABOUT THE FUNDS

INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISKS

Each Fund seeks to achieve its investment objective through its principal investment strategies. The principal investment strategies and risks of each Fund have been described in the Fund Summaries. This section of the Prospectus discusses those and other investment strategies used by the Funds in greater detail and describes additional risks associated with an investment in the Funds. The Statement of Additional Information (“SAI”) contains more detailed information about the Funds’ investment policies and risks. The back cover of this Prospectus explains how you can get a copy of the SAI.

Analytic’s Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Analytic U.S. Long/Short Fund

Analytic selects equity securities for this Fund using a proprietary system that ranks stocks according to a mathematical model. Analytic’s system seeks to determine a security’s intrinsic value by evaluating variables, such as relative valuation, price momentum, company fundamentals, liquidity and risk. Analytic begins the stock selection process by ranking stocks according to their one-month expected return. Analytic then uses a process called “portfolio optimization” to select securities that it believes will:

- Maximize expected return for the Fund;
- Minimize expected volatility relative to its benchmark; and
- Diversify the assets of the Fund among industries, sectors, and individual securities.

Analytic monitors the stocks held by the Fund on a real-time basis for developments such as news events or significant changes in fundamental factors. Using its system, Analytic strives to assemble a portfolio of securities that is style and sector neutral to achieve a level of diversification and risk similar to the S&P 500 Index. “Style neutral” means a fund is similar to its investment universe in terms of exposure to quantifiable characteristics such as average market capitalization. A fund is “sector neutral” when its exposure to specified economic sectors is similar to that of its investment universe.

Barrow Hanley’s Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Barrow Hanley Value Fund

Barrow Hanley uses traditional methods of stock selection — research and analysis — to identify undervalued securities and searches for companies that have price to earnings and price to book ratios below the market and that have above average dividend yields. Barrow Hanley’s investment management approach may be described as contrarian in nature because it generally focuses on companies which are out of favor with other investors due to internal or external challenges judged to be short-term in nature. Barrow Hanley’s process seeks to identify the reasons for a temporary undervaluation of a company’s shares and believes that value can be added through individual stock selection.

Barrow Hanley utilizes risk management tools to help ensure that the Fund is not over-exposed to particular market segments. Barrow Hanley is a “bottom-up” value manager meaning it analyzes the fundamentals of companies one at a time rather than focusing on broader market themes. Sector and industry weightings are a residual of its investment process. Barrow Hanley expects to fully invest the assets of the Fund. Consequently, cash reserves are normally expected to be less than 5% of the Fund’s total assets.

CastleArk’s Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Large Cap Growth Concentrated, Large Cap Growth and Select Growth Funds

CastleArk’s investment process consists of three disciplines: a qualitative identification of companies with desirable stock traits, a quantitative valuation analysis, and a quantitative diversification analysis.

- Identification. CastleArk identifies companies that offer the best opportunities by looking for companies that (1) are growing, are highly-profitable, and dominate in their industries, (2) possess proprietary products, unique assets or an innovative approach to marketing, and (3) are capable, through outstanding management and otherwise, to produce superior returns on invested capital. Applying these criteria to a universe of approximately 800 growth stocks, CastleArk identifies around 200 dominant companies that it tracks for further consideration. Generally, about 10% of this list's dominant companies changes from year to year.

- Valuation. CastleArk determines target price-to-earnings ratios on a company-by-company basis through the use of its proprietary Earnings Life Cycle model. By use of this model, CastleArk compares the relative attractiveness of each of the dominant companies based on such factors as: (1) historical and projected earnings growth; (2) earnings stability; (3) return on invested capital; (4) P/E (price to earnings) ratios relative to S&P 500 averages; (5) earnings growth relative to S&P 500 averages; and (6) the beta of the stock (essentially, the variability of returns of the stock compared to returns of the market as a whole). CastleArk then classifies the dominant companies according to whether they are an "emerging growth", a "consistent growth" or a "cyclical growth" company. Next, CastleArk determines a fair value for each company and, by comparing this to the stock price of the company, CastleArk creates a ranking of each dominant company by the degree of under- or over-valuation.
- Diversification. Stocks of highly-ranked, dominant companies do not automatically become part of the portfolio. By considering factors such as industry and sector, company size (distribution of companies between "emerging", "consistent", and "cyclical" growth), liquidity (market impact costs of a buy or a sell), and market sensitivity of the portfolio (the portfolio's beta), CastleArk quantitatively assesses the risk each individual stock has on the total portfolio. CastleArk's diversification analysis also provides an overall risk framework that allows its portfolio to be "benchmarked" or compared with a target objective.

Columbus Circle's Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Columbus Circle Technology and Communications Fund

Columbus Circle's investment process is based on a growth-oriented process that uses fundamental research to evaluate growth and company quality. Columbus Circle's process is based on the premise that companies doing better than expected will have rising securities prices while companies producing less than expected results will not. Columbus Circle refers to its discipline as positive momentum and positive surprise.

Columbus Circle focuses its research on finding positive momentum and positive surprise and strives to invest in companies that exceed investor expectations. Through careful analysis of company fundamentals in the context of the prevailing economic environment, Columbus Circle selects companies that meet its criteria. Columbus Circle believes that when a company demonstrates positive momentum and positive surprise in its business progress, its share price has historically continued on an upward trend. As the company benefits from the strengths of a new product cycle, a niche technology or service, or a dominant secular trend, the stock has historically outperformed the market. Columbus Circle closely monitors a company's progress versus expectations in evaluating whether to purchase a stock.

Copper Rock's Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Strategic Small Company and Emerging Growth Funds

Copper Rock generates its initial investment ideas from a number of sources, including proprietary methods and screens, and bottom-up themes. In selecting companies, Copper Rock favors entrepreneurial companies that appear to be reasonably valued. Copper Rock's investment process seeks to add value through bottom-up stock selection and in-depth fundamental research to identify potential investments, examining such features as a company's financial condition, business prospects, competitive position, and business strategy. Copper Rock looks for companies with strong management, superior earnings growth prospects, and attractive relative valuations. Sector weights result from Copper Rock's bottom-up stock selection process.

Dwight's Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Intermediate Fixed Income and Short Term Fixed Income Funds

Dwight uses its own fundamental investment and credit research in selecting fixed income securities for a Fund's portfolio. Dwight selects securities through an active strategy focused primarily on relative yield, sector and asset class allocation, and duration management. Dwight looks for relative value in certain parts of the yield curve and seeks to enhance yield through selective allocation among various asset classes. Dwight also evaluates the potential performance of various market sectors and allocates investments among those sectors it believes will perform best. Dwight also reviews individual securities to identify issuers and issues that it believes will add value to the portfolio. Based on its interest rate outlook, Dwight may engage in duration management within a Fund's overall limits.

Eagle's Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Strategic Small Company and Small Cap Funds

Eagle searches for smaller, less visible companies with unique business concepts or niche products that are reasonably priced and positioned for growth. Eagle's small-cap core investment strategy employs in-depth, rigorous research, intensive analysis and thorough, bottom-up stock selection to identify consistently growing companies that are reasonably priced.

The driving force behind each of Eagle's investment decisions is to look beyond price-to-earnings multiples and stated growth rates to buy companies that have sustainable competitive advantages. Eagle seeks to gain a thorough understanding of a company's management, business plan, financials, real rate of growth and competitive threats and advantages.

Eagle focuses on companies that are low-cost producers; those with high barriers to entry, those with strong management teams; those with recurring revenue streams; and those with conservative accounting. Other criteria include a catalyst for accelerated growth; earnings-per-share growth greater than 15%; reasonable price-to-earnings ratio relative to growth rate; high or expanding return on equity and high or expanding operating margins relative to peer group.

Heitman's Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Heitman REIT Fund

Based upon extensive fundamental research, Heitman prepares valuation models for each company in its universe in order to identify companies that it believes are undervalued. The valuation model calculates each company's intrinsic value based on private market transactions, traditional statistical measures such as multiple to cash flow as well as relative value.

Heitman analyzes and selects investments that it believes will provide a relatively high and stable yield and are good prospects for future growth in dividends. Most of these companies specialize in a particular geographic region or specialize in one or two product types, such as office buildings, shopping centers, industrial complexes, and hotels. Heitman generally expects cash reserves to be less than 5% of the Old Mutual Heitman Real Estate Fund's total assets and generally expects to hold between 30 and 50 securities.

Liberty Ridge's Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Strategic Small Company, Focused, Large Cap, Mid-Cap and Small Cap Funds

Liberty Ridge's core investment process is driven by fundamental research and a multi-factor model that screens companies with attractive valuations relative to the sector and the market, near-term business dynamics, and long-term earnings growth. These securities are generally trading at modest relative valuations given certain financial measurements, such as their price-to-earnings ratios, dividend income potential and earnings power. Liberty Ridge attempts to focus on stocks of companies that are industry leaders where management teams have an incentive to grow bottom line earnings rather than focus primarily on revenues or return on equity. Liberty Ridge believes appropriately priced companies that are leaders in their industries with limited competition and high barriers to entry possess the characteristics that have the highest probability of outperforming the market over full market cycles in the blend space.

Munder's Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Growth Fund

Munder's investment style, which focuses on both growth prospects and valuation, is known as GARP (Growth at a Reasonable Price). This blended process seeks to perform better than either a pure growth or pure value approach over a complete market cycle.

Munder portfolio managers generally choose the Fund's investments by reviewing the earnings growth of all publicly traded mid-cap companies over the past three years and selecting companies from within that universe. Investment decisions are primarily based on:

- Above-average, consistent earnings growth;
- Financial stability;
- Relative valuation;
- Strength of industry position and management team; and
- Price changes compared to the S&P MidCap 400 Index.

Sector weights are also targeted to be similar to those of the S&P MidCap 400 Index in an effort to highlight stock selection and manage sector risk.

TS&W's Investment Strategies — Old Mutual TS&W Small Cap Value Fund

TS&W's small-cap value process uses a combination of quantitative and qualitative methods and is based on a four-factor valuation model. Parts one and two of the model attempt to assess a company's discount to private market value relative to other small-cap stocks. The third factor considers the relative earnings prospects of the company. The fourth factor involves looking at the company's recent price action. TS&W generally limits its investment universe to those companies with a minimum of three years of sound operating history.

TS&W's analysts also explore numerous factors that might affect the outlook for a company. They evaluate publicly available information including sell-side research, company filings, and trade periodicals. The analysts speak with company management to hear their perspectives and outlook on the pertinent business issues. They apply a consistent and disciplined review in a team environment that encourages critical thinking and analysis for each company considered for investment.

Established positions in the portfolio are ranked daily for expected return and are reviewed periodically in the same manner to re-examine their fundamental and valuation characteristics, with the research meeting again serving as a forum for the discussion of each existing stock's place in the portfolio.

Turner's Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Growth, Large Cap Growth Concentrated, Large Cap Growth and Select Growth Funds

Turner's investment strategy focuses on stock selection and a bottom-up strategy that blends quantitative, fundamental, and technical analysis. Ideal candidates for investment are growth companies believed to have favorable earnings prospects, reasonable valuations, favorable trading volume, and price patterns. Each security is subjected to three separate evaluation criteria: fundamental analysis (approximately 80%), quantitative screening (approximately 10%) and technical analysis (approximately 10%).

Turner's investment philosophy and process lead it to create equity portfolios that are generally fully invested at all times and, in large part, maintain sector weightings that are neutral relative to a targeted benchmark. Turner believes it is difficult, if not impossible, to accurately anticipate the market's moves to favor one sector above another, and that the practice of overweighting or underweighting sectors leads to erratic investment performance. By remaining fully invested with a full market weighting in every sector, Turner helps ensure that its portfolios are positioned to benefit from rapid changes in market sentiment. In addition, by purchasing only those securities Turner believes are the best stocks within each sector, it seeks to minimize the impact of poorly performing sectors on the overall portfolio. These disciplines help reduce risks associated with sector rotation and market timing, and allow the investment team to focus efforts primarily on stock selection.

The heart of Turner's stock selection process is fundamental analysis. Turner invests in companies whose fundamentals support:

- A rate of growth that exceeds their industry peers;
- Earnings that meet or exceed market consensus estimates; and
- Earnings estimates that are being revised upwards.

Fundamental analysis helps determine if the companies Turner follows will exceed, meet, or fall short of consensus earnings expectations. The research analysts meet with company management, talk to industry experts and competitors, and attend trade shows/conferences in an effort to anticipate changes in the outlook for corporate earnings.

While the primary focus is on fundamental analysis, Turner also uses a proprietary computer model to assess a universe of approximately 5,000 companies of varying capitalizations based on multiple earnings growth and valuation factors. Turner's analysts screen securities within sector and market capitalization groups, using factors appropriate for each specific group. Technical analysis is also used to evaluate trends in trading volume and price patterns for individual stocks. This helps the investment team to identify attractive entry and exit points. For example, money flow (accumulation or distribution) may act as a leading or confirming indicator. Relative strength can provide an early alert and cause analysts to revisit fundamentals.

MORE ABOUT INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISKS

Foreign Securities. While the Funds generally emphasize investments in securities traded in the U.S., a Fund may invest in foreign-traded securities. The Analytic U.S. Long/Short Fund may invest up to 20% of its assets in foreign securities. The other Funds may invest up to 15% of assets in foreign securities. Foreign securities refer to securities of issuers, wherever organized, that have their principal business activities outside of the United States and are not traded in the United States. Investments in foreign securities involve different risks than U.S. investments, including fluctuations in currency exchange rates, potentially unstable political and economic structures, reduced availability of public information, and lack of uniform financial reporting and regulatory practices similar to those that apply to U.S. issuers.

ADRs. The Funds may invest in American Depositary Receipts and American Depositary Shares (collectively, ADRs). ADRs are receipts representing shares of a foreign corporation held by a U.S. bank that entitle the holder to all dividends and capital gains on the underlying foreign shares. ADRs are typically denominated in U.S. dollars and trade in the U.S. securities markets. ADRs are subject to many of the same risks as direct investments in foreign securities, including the risk that material information about the issuer may not be disclosed in the United States and the risk that currency fluctuations may adversely affect the value of the ADR. ADRs are not considered foreign securities for purposes of the limitations stated above under Foreign Securities.

Fixed-Income Securities. While the Equity Funds generally emphasize investments in equity securities such as common and preferred stocks, they also may invest in investment grade fixed-income securities. Fixed-income securities in which the Funds might invest include bonds, debentures, and other corporate or government obligations. The price of a fixed income security may fall as a result of adverse events involving the issuer of the security, changes in the interest rates or other adverse economic or political events. Fixed income securities may not deliver their expected yield as a result of the factors listed above.

Securities That Are Not Readily Marketable. Each Fund may invest up to 15% of its net assets in securities that are "illiquid." A security is illiquid if it cannot be sold within seven days in the ordinary course of business for approximately the amount at which it is valued. For example, some securities are not registered under U.S. securities laws and cannot be sold to the public because of Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") regulations (these are known as "restricted securities"). Under procedures adopted by the Board of Trustees (the "Board"), certain restricted securities may be deemed liquid and will not be counted toward the 10% and 15% limits.

Investments in illiquid securities, which may include restricted securities, involve certain risks to the extent that a Fund may be unable to sell an illiquid security or sell at a reasonable price. In addition, in order to sell a restricted security, a Fund might have to bear the expense and incur the delays associated with registering the shares with the SEC.

Securities of Other Investment Companies. The Funds may acquire securities of other investment companies, including exchange-traded funds, subject to the limitations of the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended ("1940 Act"). A Fund's purchase of securities of other investment companies may result in the payment of additional management and distribution fees.

Derivatives. A Fund may use derivatives to hedge risks inherent in the portfolio, to enhance the potential return of a portfolio, to diversify a portfolio, as a substitute for taking a position in an underlying asset, to reduce transaction costs associated with managing a portfolio, or to implement a Fund's investment strategy through investments that may be more tax-efficient than a direct equity investment. Derivatives the Funds may use include futures contracts, purchasing and/or writing (selling) put and call options on securities, securities indexes, futures contracts, and foreign currencies. The Funds have limits on the use of derivatives and are not required to use them in seeking their investment objective. A small investment in derivatives could have a potentially large impact on a Fund's performance; certain gains or losses could be amplified, increasing share price movements. The use of derivatives involves risks that may be different from the risks associated with investing directly in the underlying assets, including the risk that changes in the value of a derivative held by a Fund may not correlate with the Fund's other investments.

Temporary Defensive Investments. In times of unstable or adverse market or economic conditions, up to 100% of a Fund's assets may be invested in temporary defensive instruments in an effort to enhance liquidity or preserve capital. Temporary defensive investments generally include cash, cash equivalents such as commercial paper, money market instruments, short-term debt securities, U.S. government securities, or repurchase agreements. A Fund could also hold these types of securities pending the investment of proceeds from the sale of Fund shares or portfolio securities or to meet anticipated redemptions of Fund shares. A Fund may invest in temporary defensive investments for undetermined periods of time, depending on market or economic conditions. To the extent a Fund invests defensively in these securities, it might not achieve its investment objective.

Fund Turnover. The Funds do not have any limitations regarding portfolio turnover and may have portfolio turnover rates in excess of 100%. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to a Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once during the course of a year. The portfolio turnover rates of the Funds may be higher than other mutual funds with the same investment objectives. Higher portfolio turnover rates increase the brokerage costs a Fund pays and may adversely affect its performance. In addition, the sale of Fund securities may generate capital gains, which, when distributed, may be taxable to you.

Liberty Ridge was appointed Sub-Adviser to the Funds effective January 1, 2006. Prior to that date, Liberty Ridge was the Trust's investment adviser. Liberty Ridge manages and supervises the investment of the Focused, Large Cap and Mid-Cap Funds' assets and certain of the Strategic Small Company and Small Cap Funds' assets on a discretionary basis, subject to the supervision of Old Mutual Capital. Liberty Ridge, a wholly-owned subsidiary of OMUSH, and an affiliate of Old Mutual Capital, was founded in 1982, and managed approximately $791 million in assets as of March 31, 2006.

Litigation

In June 2004, Liberty Ridge reached settlement agreements with respect to the market timing and selective disclosure actions filed by the SEC and New York Attorney General ("NYAG"). Under the NYAG settlement, if certain terms and undertakings in that settlement as described in the Trust's SAI are not met, the NYAG settlement stipulates that Liberty Ridge shall promptly terminate the sub-advisory services it provides to the Funds. In this event, the Trust's Board would be required to seek a new sub-adviser for the Funds sub-advised by Liberty Ridge or consider other alternatives.

As part of the In Re Mutual Funds Investment Litigation pending in the U.S. District Court for the District of Maryland (the "MDL Court"), PBHG Funds (now known as Old Mutual Advisor Funds II), Liberty Ridge (formerly known as Pilgrim Baxter & Associates, Ltd. ("PBA")), its affiliates, and/or certain related and unrelated parties have been named as defendants in a Class Action Suit ("Class Action Suit") and a separate Derivative Suit ("Derivative Suit") (together the "Civil Litigation"). The Civil Litigation consolidates and coordinates for pre-trial matters a number of individual class action suits and derivative suits based on similar claims, which previously had been filed against the PBHG Funds, Liberty Ridge and/or certain related parties in other jurisdictions, and had been transferred to the MDL Court. Information on the previously filed suits is contained in the Trust's SAI. Consolidated complaints in the Class Action and Derivative Suits were filed in the Civil Litigation on September 29, 2004 (MDL 1586).

The Civil Litigation and the previously filed suits are primarily based upon allegations that the defendants engaged in, or facilitated market timing of the PBHG Funds, and also made selective disclosure of confidential portfolio information to certain defendants and other parties. The Civil Litigation alleges a variety of theories for recovery, including but not limited to: (i) violations of various provisions of the Federal securities laws; (ii) breaches of fiduciary duty; and (iii) false or misleading prospectus disclosure. The Civil Litigation requests compensatory and punitive damages. In addition, the Derivative Suit requests the removal of each of the Trustees, the removal of Liberty Ridge as investment adviser, the removal of PBHG Fund Distributors (now known as Old Mutual Investment Partners) as distributor, rescission of the management and other contracts between PBHG Funds and the defendants, and rescission of the PBHG Funds' 12b-1 Plan.

On August 30, 2005, the State of West Virginia West Virginia Securities Division (the “WV Securities Division”) entered a cease and desist order (the “Order” and, together with the Civil Litigation, the “Litigation”) against Pilgrim Baxter & Associates, Ltd. (now known as Liberty Ridge Capital, Inc.). The Trust was not named in the Order. In the Order, the WV Securities Division alleged that Liberty Ridge permitted short-term trading in excess of the Trust’s disclosed limitation of four exchanges per year and also provided confidential portfolio information to customers of a broker-dealer who used the information to market time the Trust. The WV Securities Division further alleges in the Order that the foregoing violated the West Virginia Securities Act (W. Va. Code §§ 32-1-101, et seq.) and is seeking that Liberty Ridge cease and desist from further violation of the West Virginia Securities Act; pay restitution; disgorge fees; pay administrative and investigatory costs and expenses, including counsel fees; pay an administrative assessment; and other relief. It is possible that similar actions based on the same facts and circumstances may be filed in the future by other state agencies. Such other actions will be described in the SAI.

At this stage of the Litigation it is too early to assess the likely outcome of the Litigation, or success of any defenses each of the defendants may have to the claims. Any potential resolution of the Litigation may include, but not be limited to, judgments or settlements for damages against Liberty Ridge or any other named defendant. While it is currently too early to predict the result of the Litigation, Old Mutual Capital does not believe that the outcome of the Litigation will materially affect its ability to carry out its duty as investment adviser to the Funds. However, neither Liberty Ridge nor Old Mutual Capital are currently able to gauge the level of shareholder redemptions that may result from the news of the resolution of these pending lawsuits. Redemptions may require the Funds to sell investments to provide for sufficient liquidity, which could adversely impact the investment performance of the Funds.

Further fee breakpoints are triggered when a Fund's assets reach $500 million, $750 million, $1 billion, $1.5 billion and $2 billion. In each case, base level management fees for Equity Funds are reduced by an additional 0.05% for a possible 0.30% total reduction, and base level management fees for Fixed Income Funds are reduced by an additional 0.025% for a possible 0.15% total reduction.

The Sub-Advisers are entitled to receive a fee from Old Mutual Capital equal to a percentage of the daily net assets of each Fund. The fee arrangement for each Sub-Adviser is described in the SAI.

A discussion regarding the basis for the Board's approval of the investment advisory contract between the Trust and Old Mutual Capital and the sub-advisory contracts between the Trust and each Sub-Adviser is available in the Trust's Annual Report to Shareholders, which is available on the Funds' Website at www.oldmutualcapital.com. The back cover of this Prospectus explains how you can get a copy of the Annual Report.

ABOUT YOUR INVESTMENT

YOUR SHARE PRICE

The price you pay for a share of a Fund and the price you receive upon selling or redeeming a share of a Fund is called the net asset value ("NAV"). NAV per share class of a Fund is calculated by dividing the total net assets of each class of a Fund by the total number of the class' shares outstanding of that Fund. NAV is determined as of the close of regular trading on the New York Stock Exchange (the "NYSE") (normally 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time) on each day that the NYSE is open. NAV is not calculated, and you may not conduct Fund transactions, on days the NYSE is closed (generally weekends and New Year's Day, Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, Presidents' Day, Good Friday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas Day).

Your purchase, exchange, or redemption of a Fund's shares will be priced at the next NAV calculated after your request is received in good order by the Fund's transfer agent or other Fund agents. The NAV of your shares when redeemed may be more or less than the price you originally paid, depending primarily upon the Fund's investment performance. If a Fund invests in another investment company, that Fund's NAV is based in part on the NAV of the other investment companies in which the Fund invests. The prospectuses for these other investment companies explain the circumstances under which they may use fair value pricing and its effects.

The Trust may enter into agreements with broker-dealers, financial institutions, retirement plan accounts, trading platforms, certain fee-based programs, or other service providers ("Financial Intermediaries") that may include the Funds as an investment alternative in the programs they offer or administer. If you buy shares through a Financial Intermediary, generally your order must be received by the Financial Intermediary and transmitted to the Distributor or its designee by the close of regular trading on the NYSE in order for you to receive that day's offering price. Otherwise, the order will receive the offering price that is determined on the next regular business day. The Trust and Financial Intermediaries reserve the right to reject customer orders that are incomplete or otherwise not in "good order." Financial Intermediaries may also accept certain customer orders conditioned on the understanding that the orders may later be rejected in the event they cannot be transmitted to the Distributor or its designee in a timely manner. The Trust will be deemed to have received a purchase or redemption order from authorized Financial Intermediaries ("Authorized Financial Intermediaries") when the Financial Intermediary, or its authorized designee, accepts the order. The customer order will be priced at the Fund's NAV next computed after such order is unconditionally accepted by an Authorized Financial Intermediary or its authorized designee.

VALUING PORTFOLIO SECURITIES

The Funds use pricing services to determine the market value of the securities in their portfolios. Except as discussed below, the Funds generally use the market price of securities as of the close of regular trading on the NYSE to value equity securities held in the Funds' portfolios, except that securities traded primarily on the NASDAQ Stock Market ("NASDAQ") are normally valued by the Fund at the NASDAQ Official Closing Price provided by NASDAQ each business day.

Short-term investments are priced at amortized cost, which approximates market value. The market value of bonds is determined based on an evaluated price. If a Fund holds securities quoted in foreign currencies, it translates that price into U.S. dollars at current exchange rates. Because foreign markets may be open at different times than the NYSE, the price of a Fund's shares may change on days when its shares are not available for purchase or sale. If a market quotation is not readily available or is believed to be unreliable, the security is valued at fair value as determined in good faith by the Board or pursuant to procedures approved by the Board.

Fair Value Pricing

The Funds have fair value pricing procedures in place, and a Valuation Committee meets as necessary to value securities in appropriate circumstances that may include, but are not limited to, when a market price is believed to be unreliable, is unavailable, or if Fund assets have been affected by events occurring after the close of trading of a securities market, but before a Fund calculates its NAV. By fair valuing a security whose price may have been affected by events occurring after the close of trading in its respective market, a Fund attempts to establish a price that it might reasonably expect to receive upon its current sale of that security. These methods are designed to help ensure that the prices at which Fund shares are purchased and redeemed are fair, and do not result in dilution of shareholder interest or other harm to shareholders. In addition, fair value pricing is a helpful tool in preventing short-term trading activity because it may make it more difficult for potentially disruptive shareholders to determine if pricing inefficiencies exist in a Fund's securities. The valuation assigned to fair valued securities for purposes of calculating the Fund's NAV may differ from the security's most recent closing market price and from the prices used by other mutual funds to calculate their NAVs. Although intended to do so, the fair value procedures may not always better represent the price at which the Fund could sell the fair valued security and may not always result in a more accurate NAV.

INVESTING IN THE FUNDS

POLICY REGARDING EXCESSIVE OR SHORT TERM TRADING

While the Funds provide shareholders with daily liquidity, they are intended to be long-term investment vehicles and are not designed for investors that engage in short-term trading activity, market-timing, or other abusive trading practices. Short-term trading, market-timing, or other abusive trading practices may disrupt portfolio management strategies, may drive Fund expenses higher, and may harm Fund performance. In particular, frequent trading of Fund shares may:

- cause a Fund to keep more assets in cash or cash equivalents than it otherwise would, causing the Fund to miss out on investment opportunities;
- force a Fund to sell some of its investments sooner than it otherwise would in order to honor redemptions;
- increase brokerage commissions and other portfolio transaction expenses if securities are constantly being bought and sold by a Fund as assets move in or out; or
- dilute the value of Fund shares held by long-term shareholders.

The Trust, Old Mutual Capital, and their agents, will not knowingly permit investors to excessively trade the Funds, although no guarantees can be made that all such trading will be identified and restricted. For example, the Trust, Old Mutual Capital, and their agents cannot always know or reasonably detect short-term trading through purchase and sale orders received from Financial Intermediaries, or through the use of omnibus accounts by Financial Intermediaries.

To minimize harm to the Funds and their shareholders, we reserve the right to reject any purchase order, including exchange purchases, for any reason without prior notice.

The Board has adopted, and Old Mutual Capital and its affiliates (collectively, for purposes of this section Policy Regarding Excessive or Short-Term Trading, “Old Mutual Capital”) and their agents have implemented, the following tools designed to discourage excessive short-term trading in the Funds:

- trade activity monitoring;
- trading guidelines;
- a redemption/exchange fee on trades in all non-money market funds; and
- selective use of fair value pricing.

These tools are described in more detail below and in the preceding section. Although these tools are designed to discourage short-term trading, none of these tools alone nor all of them taken together eliminate the possibility that short-term trading activity in the Funds will occur. Moreover, each of these tools other than the redemption/exchange fee, involves judgments that are inherently subjective. Old Mutual Capital and its agents seek to make these judgments to the best of their abilities in a manner that they believe are consistent with long-term shareholder interests. For purposes of applying these tools, Old Mutual Capital and its agents may consider an investor’s trading history in the Funds, other Funds, and accounts under common ownership, influence or control. Old Mutual Capital and the Funds may modify these procedures in response to changing regulatory requirements or to enhance the effectiveness of the procedures.

Trade Activity Monitoring

Old Mutual Capital and its agents monitor selected trades in an effort to detect short-term trading activities. If, as a result of this monitoring, Old Mutual Capital or one of its agents determines that a shareholder has engaged in short-term trading, it will (i) advise the shareholder or use its best efforts to work with the Financial Intermediary that holds the account to inform the shareholder that he or she must stop such activities, and (ii) use its best efforts to refuse to process purchases or exchanges in the shareholder’s account. Determining whether a shareholder has engaged in short-term trading involves judgments that are inherently subjective. In making such judgments, Old Mutual Capital and its agents seek to act in a manner that they believe is consistent with the best interests of Fund shareholders.

The ability of Old Mutual Capital and its agents to monitor trades that are placed by the underlying shareholders of Financial Intermediaries is limited. Financial Intermediaries often maintain the underlying shareholder accounts and do not disclose individual shareholder transaction information. Old Mutual Capital and its agents generally rely on the cooperation, willingness, ability and rights of financial intermediaries to monitor trading activity in omnibus accounts and enforce the Funds' short-term trading policy on shareholders in such accounts. There is no assurance that the Financial Intermediaries will in all instances cooperate with Old Mutual Capital and its agents in monitoring trading activity or enforcing the short-term trading policy. Old Mutual Capital and its agents will, however, attempt to apply the short-term trading policy uniformly to all Financial Intermediaries.

Trading Guidelines

If a shareholder exceeds four exchanges out of a Fund per calendar year, or if the Trust, Old Mutual Capital, or one of their agents, determines that a shareholder's short-term trading activity is excessive (regardless of whether or not such shareholder exceeds such guidelines), the Trust will not knowingly accept any additional purchase and exchange orders from such shareholder. The Trust, Old Mutual Capital, and their agents may accept exchanges that are detected under these guidelines if they believe that such transactions are not short-term trading activity, for legitimate trading purposes and consistent with the best interests of long-term shareholders. Using the proceeds from the redemption of shares of one of the Trust's series funds to purchase shares of one or more other series funds of the Trust is considered a single exchange. The Trust may permit exceptions to the four exchange limit for wrap accounts that can demonstrate they are following a bona fide asset allocation program.

Transactions placed through the same Financial Intermediary on an omnibus basis may be deemed part of a group for purposes of this policy and may be rejected in whole or in part. Transactions accepted by a Financial Intermediary in violation of the short-term trading policy are not deemed accepted by the Fund and may be cancelled or revoked. Old Mutual Capital and its agents may also suspend or terminate a shareholder's exchange privileges if a shareholder engages in a disruptive pattern of exchanges. The Trust and Old Mutual Capital also reserve the right to delay delivery of redemption proceeds for up to 7 days or to honor certain redemptions with securities rather than cash.

Redemption/Exchange Fee

All Funds impose a 2.00% redemption/exchange fee on total redemption proceeds before applicable deferred sales charges of any shareholder redeeming shares, including redemption by exchange, of the Funds within 10 calendar days of their purchase. The Funds will impose a redemption/exchange fee to the extent that the number of Fund shares redeemed exceeds the number of Fund shares that have been held for more than 10 calendar days. In determining how long shares of the Fund have been held, Old Mutual Capital assumes that shares held by the investor for the longest period of time will be sold first. The Fund will retain the redemption/exchange fee for the benefit of the remaining shareholders.

The Funds charge the redemption/exchange fee to discourage market-timing by those shareholders initiating redemptions or exchanges to take advantage of short-term market movements, to help minimize the impact the redemption or exchange may have on the performance of the Fund, to facilitate Fund management, and to offset certain transaction costs and other expenses the Fund incurs because of the redemption or exchange.

The Funds will not charge the 2.00% redemption/exchange fee on transactions involving the following:

- total or partial redemptions of shares by omnibus accounts maintained by Financial Intermediaries such as broker-dealers and retirement plans and their service providers that do not have the systematic capability to process the fee;
- total or partial redemptions of shares by omnibus accounts maintained by Financial Intermediaries such as broker-dealers and retirement plans and their service providers that have negotiated pre-existing legal covenants and agreements with the Funds to waive or not to impose the fee;
- total or partial redemptions effectuated pursuant to an automatic non-discretionary rebalancing program or a systematic withdrawal plan established with the Funds or a Financial Intermediary;
- redemptions of shares from employer-sponsored retirement plans, such as 401(k) plans, which are made in connection with the withdrawal of an entire plan from a Fund;

- redemptions initiated to pay an asset-based fee charged to customers of certain fee-based or wrap programs; or
- redemptions initiated by a Fund, as permitted in the prospectus.

The Funds' goal is to apply the redemption/exchange fee to all shares of each Fund regardless of the type of account through which the shares are held. That goal is not immediately achievable primarily because of systems limitations of certain Financial Intermediaries and preexisting contrary legal covenants and agreements with Financial Intermediaries.

CHOOSING A SHARE CLASS

The Funds have four classes of shares, two of which, Class A and Class C, are offered by this prospectus. Each class represents investments in the same portfolio of securities of a Fund and has the same rights and privileges of the other share classes of that Fund, except that: (i) each class is subject to different sales charges (loads); (ii) each class is subject to different distribution fees, which, if applicable, are paid pursuant to a Distribution Plan adopted under Rule 12b-1 of the 1940 Act; (iii) each class may be subject to different service fees, which, if applicable, are paid pursuant to a Service Plan which may be adopted under Rule 12b-1 of the 1940 Act; (iv) exchanges are generally not permitted between the various share classes but only among the same class; and (v) each class may have exclusive voting rights with respect to matters affecting only that class. When choosing a share class, you should consult your financial adviser as to which class is most suitable for you. Below is a summary of certain features of the two share classes:

	Class A	Class C
Initial Sales Charge	up to 5.75%	None
CDSC	None (except on redemptions of certain large purchases held for less than one year)	1.00% on redemption within one year
Distribution and Service Fees	0.25%	1.00%
Dividends	Generally higher than Class C due to lower annual expenses	Generally lower than Class A due to higher annual expenses
Typical Shareholder	Generally more appropriate for long-term investors	Generally more appropriate for short-term investors

SALES CHARGES

Class A Shares

A sales charge may be imposed on the purchase of Class A shares of a Fund (initial sales charge). Class A shares are divided into two categories: Equity Funds and Fixed Income Funds. Each category has a different schedule of initial sales charges. You may be eligible to pay a reduced initial sales charge or none at all, as described below. The term Public Offering Price used below includes a Fund's NAV plus any applicable initial sales charge.

Equity Funds. Class A shares of the following Funds (the "Equity Funds") are currently sold with an initial sales charge ranging from 5.75% to 2.00% of the offering price on purchases of up to $1 million: Old Mutual Analytic U.S. Long/Short, Old Mutual Barrow Hanley Value, Old Mutual Columbus Circle Technology and Communications, Old Mutual Emerging Growth, Old Mutual Focused, Old Mutual Growth, Old Mutual Heitman REIT, Old Mutual Large Cap, Old Mutual Large Cap Growth, Old Mutual Large Cap Growth Concentrated, Old Mutual Mid-Cap, Old Mutual Select Growth, Old Mutual Small Cap, Old Mutual Strategic Small Company and Old Mutual TS&W Small Cap Value Funds.

Certain investors may be eligible to purchase Class A shares at NAV and not pay an initial sales charge. Other investors may be eligible for a reduced initial sales charges on purchases of Class A shares. Below are the various ways that investors may qualify for a reduction or elimination of initial sales charges on purchases of Class A shares. The SAI contains more detail on how to qualify for certain of these reductions or eliminations of initial sales charges.

Class A Purchases Not Subject to Initial Sales Charges

You will not pay initial sales charges:

- On purchases of $1 million or more Class A shares of a Fund. However, redemptions of Class A shares of a Fund purchased at NAV may result in your paying a CDSC if such shares are redeemed within one year of purchase. See "Class A Purchases Subject to Contingent Deferred Sales Charges" below.
- On additional purchases of one or more Funds that result in account balances of Class A shares of $1 million or more.
- On shares purchased by reinvesting dividends and distributions.
- When exchanging shares among Funds with the same or higher initial sales charges. See "General Policies — Exchanges Between Funds" below for more information on exchanges between Funds.
- When using the reinstatement privilege, which allows you to reinvest all or part of the proceeds from a previous redemption of Fund shares. See the SAI for more information on the reinstatement privilege.
- When a merger, consolidation or acquisition of assets of a Fund occurs.
- If you are the Adviser, an affiliated company of the Adviser, or a Sub-Adviser and you purchase your shares directly through Old Mutual Investment Partners (the "Distributor").

- If (a) you are a current or retired trustee, officer or employee (each such person referred to hereinafter as an “Employee”) of (i) the Adviser, or (ii) an affiliated Sub-Adviser, or (iii) affiliates of the Adviser or an affiliated Sub-Adviser or of other mutual funds which are advised by the Adviser or an affiliated Sub-Adviser, or the immediate family member of such persons (including spouse and children), or any trust established exclusively for the benefit of an Employee or an Employee’s immediate family member, (b) you opened your account while you or your immediate family member was an Employee, and (c) you purchased your shares directly through the Distributor.
- If you are an employee benefit plan established for employees of the Adviser, Sub-Adviser or their affiliates.
- If you are a discretionary advised client of the Adviser or its affiliates.
- If you are a registered representative or employee of selected dealers who have entered into agreements with the Distributor (or financial institutions that have arrangements with such dealers with respect to the sale of shares of the Funds) or any member of the immediate family (including spouse and children) of any such person, provided that purchases at NAV are permitted by the policies of, and are made through, such person’s employer.
- If you are a financial institution trust department investing an aggregate of up to $1 million in the Funds.
- If you are a managed account (wrap) program for the benefit of clients of broker-dealers and financial institutions or financial planners adhering to certain standards established by the Trust that provides asset allocation or similar specialized investment services or investment company transaction services for their customers, that charges a minimum annual fee for such services, and that has entered into an agreement with the Distributor or a clearing agent that has an agreement with the Distributor with respect to its use of the Funds in connection with such services.
- If you are a pension, profit-sharing or other employee benefit plans created pursuant to a plan qualified under Section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code (the “Code”) or plans under Section 457 of the Code, or employee benefit plans created pursuant to Section 403(b) of the Code and sponsored by nonprofit organizations defined under Section 501(c)(3) of the Code. See the SAI for applicable restrictions. Participants in such plans that establish one or more separate accounts with a Fund may include, for purposes of determining any applicable reductions of initial sales charges, only the participants’ individual investments in the plans.
- If you are an individual or entity with substantial business relationship with the Trust, the Adviser or their affiliates, as determined by a Vice President or more senior officer of the Trust or the Adviser, and you purchase your shares directly through the Distributor.

Class A Purchases Eligible for Reductions of Initial Sales Charges

In addition to the above described reductions in initial sales charges for purchases over a certain dollar size, you may also be eligible to participate in one or more of the programs described below to lower your initial sales charge. To be eligible to participate in these programs, you must inform your broker-dealer or financial adviser at the time you purchase shares that you would like to participate in one or more of the programs and provide information necessary to determine your eligibility to participate, including the account number(s) and names in which your accounts are registered at the time of purchase. In addition, OMAF II may request account statements if it is unable to verify your account information.

Rights of Accumulation. Purchases of new Class A shares may be combined with Class A shares that you previously purchased for the purpose of qualifying for the lower initial sales charge rates that apply to larger purchases. The applicable initial sales charge for the new purchase is based on the amount of your current purchase and the current value of all Class A shares that you own. See the SAI for more information on Rights of Accumulation.

Letters of Intent. Under a Letter of Intent (“LOI”), you commit to purchase a specified dollar amount of Class A shares of a Fund during a thirteen-month period. The amount you agree to purchase determines the amount of the initial sales charge you will pay. If you fail to purchase the full amount of your commitment in the LOI within the thirteen-month period, your account will be adjusted to the higher initial sales charge for the amount actually invested. See the SAI for more information on LOIs.

Concurrent Purchases. You may combine the amount invested in simultaneous purchases of Class A and Class C shares of two or more Funds to determine your Class A sales charge.

Purchasers Qualifying for Reductions of Initial Sales Charges

Only certain persons or groups are eligible for the reductions in initial sales charges described in the preceding section. These qualified purchasers include the following:

Individuals.

- An individual, his or her spouse, or children residing in the same household.
- Any trust established exclusively for the benefit of an individual.

Trustees and Fiduciaries.

- A trustee or fiduciary purchasing for a single trust, estate or fiduciary account, and Other Groups.

- Any organized group of persons, whether or not incorporated, purchasing Class A shares of one or more Funds, provided that (i) the organization has been in existence for at least six months; and (ii) the organization has some purpose other than the purchase at a discount of redeemable securities of a registered investment company.

Investors or dealers seeking to qualify orders for a reduced initial sales charge must identify such orders at the time of purchase and, if necessary, support their qualification for the reduced charge with appropriate documentation. Appropriate documentation includes, without limitation, account statements regarding Class A shares of the Funds held in all accounts (e.g., retirement accounts) by the investor, and, if applicable, his or her spouse and children residing in the same household, including accounts at broker-dealers or other financial intermediaries different than the broker-dealer of record for the current purchase of Fund shares. The Distributor reserves the right to determine whether any purchaser is entitled, by virtue of the foregoing, to the reduced initial sales charge. No person or entity may distribute shares of any Fund without payment of the applicable sales charge other than to persons or entities who qualify for a reduction in the sales charge as provided herein.

Class A Purchases Subject to Contingent Deferred Sales Charges

A CDSC will apply to purchases of $1 million or more of Class A shares that are redeemed within 12 months of the date of purchase. This charge will be based on the lesser of the value of the shares redeemed (excluding reinvested dividends and capital gain distributions) or the total original cost of such shares and will be charged at 1% of all purchases of $1 million or more. In determining whether a CDSC is payable, and the amount of any such charge, shares not subject to the CDSC are redeemed first (including shares purchased by reinvested dividends and capital gains distributions and amounts representing increases from capital appreciation), and then other shares are redeemed in the order of purchase. No such charge will be imposed upon exchanges unless the shares acquired by exchange are redeemed within 12 months of the date the shares were originally purchased.

Class A Purchases Not Subject to Contingent Deferred Sales Charges

The CDSC will be waived on redemptions of shares purchased by an investor in amounts of $1 million or more under the following circumstances:

- Where such investor's dealer of record, due to the nature of the investor's account, notifies the Distributor prior to the time of investment that the dealer waives the payments otherwise payable to the dealer.
- Managed account (wrap) programs for the benefit of clients of broker-dealers and financial institutions or financial planners adhering to certain standards established by the Trust that provide asset allocation or similar specialized investment services or investment company transaction services for their customers, that charge a minimum annual fee for such services, and that have entered into an agreement with the Distributor or a clearing agent that has an agreement with the Distributor with respect to their use of the Funds in connection with such services.

- On purchases subject to the reinstatement privilege, which allows you to reinvest all or part of the proceeds from a previous redemption of Fund shares. The reinstatement privilege applies to all types of accounts (i.e. regular accounts, retirement accounts, etc.) but new purchases must be in the same type of account as the previous purchases to be eligible for such privilege. See the SAI for more information on the reinstatement privilege.
- On purchases made in connection with the reinvestment of dividends and distributions from a Fund.

Class C Shares

Class C shares are not subject to an initial sales charge but may be sold with a CDSC. Class C shares of Funds in the Equity and Fixed Income category are currently sold with a CDSC of 1% on shares redeemed within one year of purchase. Shares of Funds in the Equity or Fixed Income category redeemed after one year will not pay a CDSC.

The overall cost per share of investing in Class C shares in amounts greater than $1,000,000 is generally higher than the comparable cost of investing in similar dollar amounts of Class A shares. Accordingly, the Trust will refuse an investor's order to purchase additional Class C shares when, to the knowledge of the Distributor, the value of all Class C shares of the Funds in all of the investor's related accounts exceeds $1,000,000. For purposes of this policy, "related accounts" refers to the accounts that may be aggregated for purposes of purchasing Class A shares with a reduced initial sales charge, as described in the "Purchasers Qualifying for Reductions of Initial Sales Charges" section of the Prospectus. In no event will the Trust honor an order to purchase more than $1,000,000 of Class C shares of the Funds.

Class C Purchases Not Subject to Contingent Deferred Sales Charges

Certain investors may be eligible to redeem Class C shares without paying a CDSC. You will not pay a CDSC:

- If you redeem shares acquired through reinvestment of dividends and distributions.
- On increases in the NAV of your shares.
- On redemptions pursuant to a Systematic Withdrawal Plan, provided that the amounts withdrawn do not exceed 10.00% of the value of your shares in any twelve-month period.
- When using the reinstatement privilege, which allows you to reinvest all or part of the proceeds from a previous redemption of Fund shares. See the SAI for more information on the reinvestment privilege.
- Upon the death of the shareholder or plan participant (if you present a death certificate for the applicable shareholder or plan participant).
- Upon the post-purchase disability (as defined in Section 72(m)(7) of the Code) of the shareholder or plan participant (if such shareholder or plan participant provides a physician's certification of such disability and such certification is acceptable in form and substance to the Trust). Pursuant to Section 72(m)(7) of the Code, an individual shall be considered to be disabled if she is unable to engage in any substantially gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or to be of long-continued and indefinite duration.
- On required minimum distributions taken from retirement accounts upon the shareholder's attainment of age 70½.
- On total or partial redemptions where the investor's dealer of record notified the Distributor prior to the time of investment that the dealer would waive the upfront payment otherwise payable to him.
- On the liquidation of a shareholders account by the Trust for failure to maintain the required minimum account balance.

There may be other situations when you may be able to purchase or redeem Class A or Class C shares at reduced or without sales charges. Consult the SAI for details.

Computing a Contingent Deferred Sales Charge

The CDSC on redemptions of Class A and Class C shares is computed based on the lower of their original purchase price or current market value, net of reinvested dividends and capital gains distributions. In determining whether to charge a CDSC, OMAF II will assume that you have redeemed shares on which there is no CDSC first and, then, shares in the order of purchase.

BUYING SHARES

You may purchase Class A and Class C shares of each Fund through select broker-dealers or other financial institutions that are authorized to sell you shares of the Funds. Such financial institutions may charge you a fee for this service in addition to each Fund's public offering price. Purchases of shares of each Fund may be made on any day on which the NYSE is open for business. For your purchase order to be effective on the day you place your order with your broker-dealer or other financial institution, the broker-dealer or financial institution must receive your order before 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time and promptly transmit the order to the Funds. The broker-dealer or financial institution is responsible for promptly transmitting purchase orders to the Funds so that you may receive the same day's NAV. The price per share you will pay to invest in a Fund is its NAV next calculated after the transfer agent or other authorized representative accepts your order, plus any applicable initial sales charge.

Spousal IRA. An IRA funded by a working spouse in the name of a nonworking spouse.

Roth IRA. An IRA with non-deductible contributions, and tax-free growth of assets and distributions to pay retirement expenses, provided certain conditions are met.

Simple IRA. An IRA or 401(k) plan sponsored by a small business employer under which each employee elects the portion of his or her compensation to be contributed to the IRA, and the employer is required to make additional contributions.

Coverdell Education Savings Accounts. A savings account with non-deductible contributions, and tax-free growth of assets and distributions, if used to pay certain educational expenses.

For more complete IRA information, consult your financial adviser or a tax adviser.

* The Funds reserve the right to change the amount of these minimums from time to time or to waive them in whole or in part.

² An investor may establish a SIP II with no minimum initial investment if the monthly systematic additional investment is at least $50. A SIP II may be established on any type of account.

SELLING SHARES

You may sell your shares of a Fund by contacting your broker-dealer or other financial institution at which you maintain an account. The broker-dealer or financial institution may charge you a fee for this service. Sale orders received by the transfer agent or other authorized representatives by 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time will be priced at the Fund's next calculated NAV. The redemption price will be reduced by any applicable CDSC and redemption/exchange fee. The Fund generally sends payment for your shares the business day after your order is accepted. Under unusual circumstances, the Fund may suspend redemptions or postpone payment for up to 7 days. Also, if the Fund has not yet collected payment for the shares you are selling, it may delay paying out the proceeds on your sale until payment has been collected, which may take up to 15 days from the date of purchase.

Limitations on selling shares by telephone

Proceeds Sent by	Minimum	Maximum
Check	no minimum	$50,000 per day
Wire*	no minimum	$50,000 per day
ACH	no minimum	$50,000 per day

* Wire fee is $10 per Federal Reserve Wire.

Please note that the banking instructions to be used for wire and ACH redemptions must be established on your account in advance of placing your sell order.

Written Redemption Orders

Some circumstances require written sell orders along with medallion signature guarantees. These include:

- Redemptions by check, wire or ACH in excess of $50,000;
- Requests to send proceeds to a different address or payee;
- Requests to send proceeds to an address that has been changed within the last 30 days; and
- Requests to wire proceeds to a different bank account.

A medallion signature guarantee helps to protect you against fraud. A medallion signature guarantee may be obtained from a domestic bank or trust company, broker, dealer, clearing agency, savings association, or other financial institution which participates in a medallion program recognized by the Securities Transfer Association. The three recognized medallion programs are Securities Transfer Agents Medallion Program ("STAMP"), Stock Exchanges Medallion Program ("SEMP") and NYSE Medallion Signature Program ("NYSE MSP"). Signature guarantees from financial institutions which are not participating in one of these programs or notary publics will not be accepted. For joint accounts, each signature must be guaranteed. Please call us to ensure that your signature guarantee is authentic.

Systematic Withdrawal Plan

A Systematic Withdrawal Plan permits you to have payments of $50 or more mailed or automatically transferred from your Fund accounts to your designated checking or savings account. Consult your broker, dealer, or financial institution regarding how to establish this feature. Please note that to utilize this feature, you must maintain an account balance of $5,000 or more.

GENERAL POLICIES

- IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT PROCEDURES FOR OPENING A NEW ACCOUNT: The Trust is required by Federal law to obtain, verify, and record information that identifies each person who opens a new account. If you do not provide this information, we may not be able to open your account. Each Fund reserves the right to close your account or take such other action deemed appropriate if we are unable to verify your identity.
- Each Fund may reject or suspend acceptance of purchase orders.
- Each Fund reserves the right to make redemptions in securities rather than in cash if the redemption amount exceeds $250,000 or 1% of the aggregate NAV of the Fund in any 90-day period.
- Payment for telephone purchases must be received by the Fund's transfer agent within seven days or you may be liable for any losses the Fund incurs as a result of the cancellation of your purchase order.
- When placing a purchase, sale, or exchange order through an authorized representative, it is the representative's responsibility to promptly transmit your order to the Fund's transfer agent so that you may receive that same day's NAV.
- SEI Trust Company, the custodian for IRAs and Coverdell Education Savings accounts, currently charges a $10 annual custodial fee to Traditional and Roth IRA accounts and a $7 annual custodial fee to Coverdell Education Savings Accounts. This fee will be automatically deducted from your account if not received by the announced due date, usually in mid-August.
- Because of the relatively high cost of maintaining smaller accounts, each Fund charges an annual fee of $12 if your account balance drops below the minimum investment amount. This fee does not apply to Uniform Gifts/Transfer to Minor Accounts, Coverdell Education Savings Accounts, or Systematic Investment Plans. The Funds will provide 60 days' prior notice of the imposition of this fee. The Funds will not impose this fee if you purchase additional shares during the notice period to bring your account balance to at least $1,000.
- For non-retirement accounts, if the value of your investment in the Fund falls below $500, we may redeem your shares and mail the proceeds to you. You will be provided 60 days' prior notice of such redemption. Your shares will not be redeemed if you purchase additional shares during the notice period to bring your account balance to at least $500.
- Asset allocation programs set up in networked accounts, which have been pre-approved by the Fund, will not be subject to the minimum account balances as described above.
- To reduce expenses, only one copy of most financial reports and prospectuses may be mailed to households, even if more than one person in the household holds shares of the Fund. Call your broker-dealer or financial adviser if you need additional copies of financial reports or prospectuses. If you do not want the mailing of these documents to be combined with those for other members of your household, contact your broker-dealer or financial adviser.

Exchanges Between Funds

You may exchange some or all shares of a particular class of a Fund for the same class of any other Fund that offers such class of shares. Generally, you will not pay an initial sales charge when you exchange Class A shares of two or more Funds. However, you may be required to pay an initial sales charge when exchanging from a Fund with a lower initial sales charge than the one into which you are exchanging. If you exchange into a Fund whose shares are subject to a CDSC, we will calculate the holding period on the date you made your original purchase and not the date you exchanged your shares.

If a shareholder exceeds four exchanges out of any of the Funds per calendar year, or if the Funds, Old Mutual Capital, or one of their agents determines, in its sole discretion, that a shareholder's short-term trading activity is excessive, the determining party may, in its discretion, reject any additional purchase and exchange orders. In addition, short-term exchanges may be subject to a redemption/exchange fee. See the section of this prospectus entitled "Your Investment — Policy Regarding Excessive or Short-Term Trading" for details of the limitations on exchanging between Funds and the redemption/exchange fee.

DISTRIBUTION AND TAXES

The Equity Funds pay shareholders dividends from their net investment income and distributions from their net realized capital gains at least once a year, if available, except the Old Mutual Heitman REIT Fund pays shareholders dividends from its net investment income quarterly and distributions from its net realized capital gains once a year, if available. The Fixed Income Funds declare dividends daily and pay shareholders dividends from their net investment income monthly. Dividends and distributions will be reinvested in your Fund account unless you instruct the Fund otherwise. There are no fees on reinvestments. Alternatively, you may elect to receive your dividends and distributions in cash in the form of a check, wire, or ACH.

Unless your investment is in an IRA or other tax-exempt account, your dividends and distributions will be taxable whether you receive them in cash or reinvest them. Dividends (including short-term capital gains distributions) are generally taxed at the ordinary income rate. However, distributions of qualified dividend income and of long-term capital gains are taxable at lower rates. The current qualified dividend income and long-term capital gains tax rates are provided in the table below.

A sale or exchange of shares of a Fund, whether for cash or for shares of another Fund, may also generate a tax liability unless your account is tax-exempt. There are two types of tax liabilities you may incur from a sale or exchange: (1) short-term capital gains will apply if you sell or exchange a Fund up to 12 months after buying it; and (2) long-term capital gains will apply to Funds sold or exchanged after 12 months. The table below describes the tax rates for each.

Taxes on Transactions

The tax status of your distributions for each calendar year will be detailed in your annual tax statement from the Fund. Because everyone's tax situation is unique, always consult your tax adviser about federal, state, and local tax consequences.

Taxability of Distributions to Individuals and Other Non-Corporate Shareholders

Type of Distribution	Tax rate for 15% bracket and lower	Tax rate for brackets higher than 15%
Dividends Generally	Ordinary income rate	Ordinary income rate
Qualified Dividends	5%	15%
Short-term Capital Gains	Ordinary income rate	Ordinary income rate
Long-term Capital Gains	5%	5%

Distribution Arrangements

The Trust, on behalf of Class A and Class C shares of each Fund, has adopted Distribution Plans and a Service Plan pursuant to which a Fund may pay distribution fees to the Distributor and service fees to the Distributor, brokers, dealers or other Financial Intermediaries. Currently, the Trust is not paying fees under the Distribution Plan for Class A shares of each Fund. Distribution fees are paid for the sale and distribution of all Class C shares of the Funds. Service fees are paid for providing or arranging for others to provide personal services to shareholders and/or maintenance of such shareholders' accounts. All or a substantial portion of the distribution fees and service fees that are paid to the Distributor are re-allowed to the dealer of record or entity providing personal shareholder services. Because distribution fees and/or service fees are paid out of the Funds' Class A and Class C assets on an ongoing basis, over time these fees will increase the cost of your investment and may cost you more than paying other types of sales charges. See the "Fund Summaries" and "Your Investment — Choosing a Share Class" sections of this Prospectus for details on the distribution fees and service fees.

REVENUE SHARING

Payments to Financial Intermediaries

The Financial Intermediary through which you purchase your shares may receive all or a portion of the sales charges and the distribution and service fees discussed in the "Your Investment — Choosing a Share Class" section of this Prospectus.

Payments by the Distributor, Old Mutual Capital, or their Affiliates

The Distributor or one or more of its affiliates may, from time to time, make payments from its own resources to Financial Intermediaries. These "revenue sharing" payments may be made in exchange for certain services provided by the Financial Intermediary, such as placing the Trust and the Funds on the Financial Intermediary's sales system or placing the Trust and the Funds on the Financial Intermediary's preferred or recommended list, and/or for marketing support. Marketing support payments include payments for conferences and seminars, investor and dealer-sponsored events, educating sales personnel of the Financial Intermediary, placement on sales lists, and access (in some cases on a preferential basis over competitors of the Trust) to sales meetings and salespeople of the Financial Intermediary.

Old Mutual Capital or its affiliates may also pay intermediaries for administrative or recordkeeping support services and/or marketing support. Administrative and recordkeeping support services may include transaction processing or account maintenance activities (such as processing purchases, redemptions, or exchanges or producing customer account statements or tax statements) sub-accounting services, answering shareholder inquiries relating to the Trust and the Funds, delivering proxy statements, annual reports, updated prospectuses and other communications, and other recordkeeping services relating to investments in the Funds.

From time to time, the Distributor or its affiliates may also pay "networking fees" to broker-dealers who process fund transactions through an automated mutual fund clearinghouse, which reduces the Trust's costs in processing shareholder transactions. These networking fees compensate the broker for its expense in processing transactions through the clearinghouse.

Financial Intermediaries may be compensated differently depending on the nature and extent of the services they provide. Financial Intermediaries may earn profits on these payments, since the amount of the payment may exceed their cost in providing the service. Certain of these payments are subject to limitations under applicable law.

The Distributor or its affiliates may also make non-service, revenue sharing payments to Financial Intermediaries at an annual rate specified in writing by the Distributor or its affiliates. These payments generally represent a percentage of a Financial Intermediary's sales and/or the value of Fund shares within a Financial Intermediary's client accounts. In addition, Financial Intermediaries may receive non-cash compensation, such as promotional merchandise bearing the Trust's logo.

The Distributor is motivated to make revenue sharing payments since, in certain circumstances, they promote the sale of Fund shares and the retention of those investments by clients of the Financial Intermediary. Old Mutual Capital and the Sub-Advisers may also benefit from the Distributor's activity through increased advisory fees resulting from additional assets acquired through sale of Fund shares through such Financial Intermediaries.

Payments by Old Mutual Advisor Funds II

Like Old Mutual Capital and its affiliates, the Trust may, from time to time, make payments to intermediaries that provide administrative or recordkeeping support services, as described above. From time to time, the Trust may also pay networking fees to brokers, up to certain limits.

YOU CAN FIND FURTHER DETAILS IN THE SAI ABOUT THESE PAYMENTS MADE TO FINANCIAL INTERMEDIARIES. YOU CAN ALSO SPEAK TO YOUR FINANCIAL INTERMEDIARY FOR MORE INFORMATION ABOUT THE PAYMENTS MADE BY THE DISTRIBUTOR, OLD MUTUAL CAPITAL, THEIR AFFILIATES, OR THE FUNDS, TO SUCH FINANCIAL INTERMEDIARY. IN CERTAIN CASES, THE PAYMENTS COULD BE SIGNIFICANT AND MAY CAUSE A CONFLICT OF INTEREST FOR YOUR FINANCIAL INTERMEDIARY.

FINANCIAL HIGHLIGHTS

FOR A SHARE OUTSTANDING THROUGHOUT EACH YEAR OR PERIOD ENDED MARCH 31 (UNLESS OTHERWISE NOTED).

A Fund's financial highlights help you understand its recent financial performance. The total returns represent the rate that you would have earned or lost on an investment in the Fund, assuming you reinvested all Fund distributions. PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP has audited the information contained in these financial highlights. Its report and the Fund's financial statements are included in the Funds' Annual Report to Shareholders, which is available, free of charge, upon request.

The Old Mutual Analytic U.S. Long/Short, Old Mutual Barrow Hanley Value, Old Mutual Heitman REIT and Old Mutual Dwight Short Term Fixed Income Funds acquired the assets of predecessor funds in a tax-free exchange by issuing new shares. This transaction was effective as of the close of business on December 14, 2001 for the Old Mutual Barrow Hanley Value and Old Mutual Heitman REIT Funds and effective as of the close of business on January 11, 2002 for the Analytic U.S. Long/Short and Old Mutual Dwight Short Term Fixed Income Funds. None of the Funds had any assets prior to the acquisition. Consequently, the information presented for each Fund prior to the acquisition date represents the financial history of its corresponding predecessor fund.

^ In addition to the net realized and unrealized losses on investments as set forth in the Statement of Operations, this amount includes an increase in net asset value per share resulting from the timing of sales and redemptions of shares in relation to fluctuating market values for the Fund's investments.

^^ The Trust incurred legal, printing and audit expenses relating to the SEC and NYAG examinations and the Civil Litigation described the "Litigation" section of this prospectus. The former adviser paid these expenses on behalf of the Trust. Had the former adviser not paid these expenses, the expenses for the Funds would have been higher than what is reflected in the financial highlights for the year ended March 31, 2005 and 2004.

The impact of the payment from an affiliate increased the Realized and Unrealized Gains on Securities by $0.07 per share. Prior to August 9, 2004, the PBHG IRA Capital Preservation Fund ("IRA Capital Preservation Fund") (which changed its investment objective and name effective October 19, 2004 to the Dwight Short Term Fixed Income Fund) entered into Wrapper Agreements with insurance companies, banks or other financial institutions. On August 6, 2004, the Board determined to seek shareholder approval to change the investment objective of the IRA Capital Preservation Fund into a fund with a variable net asset value per share which seeks to provide high income while managing its portfolio in a manner consistent with maintaining a relatively high degree of stability of shareholders' capital. This investment objective is sought by investing mainly in high quality bonds with short average remaining maturities. Shareholder approval of the change in investment objective was received on October 1, 2004. On August 9, 2004, the wrapper agreements were terminated by the IRA Capital Preservation Fund. The IRA Capital Preservation Fund received a simultaneous contribution of cash in the amount of $7,419,588 from Liberty Ridge, the Fund's former adviser. The cash was contributed to offset the IRA Capital Preservation Fund's obligations under the wrapper agreements to the issuers of the wrapper agreements, and to assist the IRA Capital Preservation Fund in maintaining its net asset value per share for each class of shares at $10.00. During the period August 10, 2004 through October 18, 2004 ("Interim Period"), the IRA Capital Preservation Fund sought to continue to provide a stable net asset value of $10.00 per share by investing in short-term fixed income instruments with less than 60 days to maturity. As a result, the dividend yield during the Interim Period was less than dividend yields during the first seven months of 2004. During the Interim Period, the former adviser undertook to waive the entire amount of its investment advisory fee. After the end of this Interim Period, the Dwight Short Term Fixed Income Fund began investing in fixed income instruments with greater than 60 days to maturity.

1 Per share calculations were performed using average shares for the period.

2 Historically, the Old Mutual Heitman REIT Fund has distributed to its shareholders amounts approximating dividends received from the REITs. A portion of such distributions may include a return of capital.

Amounts designated as "—" are either $0 or have been rounded to $0.

This Prospectus contains important information you should know before investing in a Fund and if you are a shareholder in a Fund. The information is arranged into different sections for easy reading and future reference. To obtain more information about the Funds, please refer to the back cover of this Prospectus.

What the Funds Are — And Are Not

These Funds are mutual funds — pooled investments that are professionally managed and provide you the opportunity to participate in financial markets. The Funds strive to meet their stated goals, although as with all mutual funds, they cannot offer guaranteed results. As with any mutual fund, there is always a risk that you may lose money on your investment in a Fund.

An investment in a Fund is not a bank deposit. It is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (“FDIC”) or any other government agency.

Market Capitalizations

The Funds that primarily invest in small-cap companies will generally maintain an average market capitalization below $2.5 billion, although a Fund may invest in companies outside this range. The Funds that primarily invest in mid-cap companies will normally maintain an average market capitalization between $2.5 billion and $10 billion and the Funds that primarily invest in large-cap companies will generally maintain an average market capitalization above $10 billion, although a Fund may invest outside of these ranges.

Fund Summaries

Each Fund has its own investment goal and strategies for reaching that goal. Before investing, make sure the Fund's goal matches your own. A description of each Fund's goal, principal investment strategies, main risks of investing, and fees and expenses are described under the Fund Summaries section of this Prospectus. Additional information about the Funds' investment strategies is described in the More About the Funds section of this Prospectus.

The OMAF II Funds that primarily invest in equities ("Equity Funds") are generally designed for long-term investors, such as those saving for retirement, or investors that want a fund that seeks to outperform the market in which it invests over the long-term. These Funds may not be suitable for investors who are pursuing a short-term investment goal, such as investing emergency reserves. These Funds also may not be suitable for investors who require regular income.

The OMAF II Funds that primarily invest in fixed income securities ("Fixed Income Funds") are designed for more conservative investors who seek current income from their investments. These Funds may be suitable for investors who require greater stability of principal than equity funds or who are pursuing a short-term investment goal, such as investing emergency reserves.

Investment Adviser and Sub-Advisers

Old Mutual Capital, Inc. ("Old Mutual Capital" or the "Adviser") is the investment adviser for each Fund. Old Mutual Capital has retained the following sub-advisers to assist in managing the Funds: Analytic Investors, Inc. ("Analytic"); Barrow, Hanley, Mewhinney & Strauss, Inc. ("Barrow Hanley"); CastleArk Management, LLC ("CastleArk"); Columbus Circle Investors ("Columbus Circle"); Copper Rock Capital Partners, LLC ("Copper Rock"); Dwight Asset Management Company ("Dwight"); Eagle Asset Management, Inc. ("Eagle"); Heitman Real Estate Securities, LLC ("Heitman"); Liberty Ridge Capital, Inc. ("Liberty Ridge"); Munder Capital Management ("Munder"); Thompson, Siegel & Walmsley, Inc. ("TS&W"); Turner Investment Partners, Inc. ("Turner"); and Wellington Management Company, LLP ("Wellington") (each, a "Sub-Adviser" and collectively, the "Sub-Advisers"). For information about the Adviser and the Sub-Advisers, see the Investment Adviser & Sub-Advisers sections of this Prospectus.

FUND SUMMARIES

OLD MUTUAL ANALYTIC U.S. LONG/SHORT FUND

Morningstar Category: Large Blend

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with above-average total returns. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of companies whose securities are traded in U.S. markets. While the Fund may invest in companies of any size, it generally invests in large and mid-cap companies. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

The Fund may invest in long and short positions of publicly traded equity securities. The Fund's long and short positions may include equity securities of foreign issuers that are traded in U.S. markets. The Fund buys securities "long" that Analytic, the Fund's Sub-Adviser, believes will outperform and sells securities "short" that Analytic believes will underperform. This is not a market neutral strategy.

The Fund generally takes long equity positions equal to approximately 120% of the Fund's equity assets excluding cash, and short equity positions equal to approximately 20% of the Fund's equity assets at the time of investment, although the Fund's long-short exposure will vary over time based on Analytic's assessment of market conditions and other factors. The Fund's long equity exposure ordinarily ranges from 110% to 125% of the Fund's net assets and its short equity exposure ordinarily ranges from 10% to 33% of the Fund's net assets. The cash received from short sales may be used to invest in long equity positions. Analytic will normally maintain long and short positions such that the Fund's net long equity exposure (i.e., the percentage of long equity positions minus the percentage of short equity positions) does not exceed 100% of the Fund's net assets.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize the Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or the Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Short Sales Risk. If a security sold short increases in price, the Fund may have to cover its short position at a higher price than the short sale price, resulting in a loss. To borrow the security, the Fund also may be required to pay a premium, which would increase the cost of the security sold short. The amount of any gain will be decreased, and the amount of any loss increased, by the amount of the premium, dividends, interest or expenses the Fund may be required to pay in connection with the short sale. In addition, because the Fund's loss on a short sale arises from

Selling Short

When the Fund sells a security short, it borrows the security from a third party and sells it at the then-current market price. The Fund is then obligated to buy the security on a later date so that it can return the security to the lender.

Net Asset Value ("NAV")

A fund's NAV is the dollar value of a single fund share, and is based on the fund's assets minus its liabilities divided by the number of shares outstanding.

The value of a single share is also called the share value or share price.

increases in the value of the security sold short, such loss is theoretically unlimited. By contrast, the Fund's loss on a long position arises from decreases in the value of the security and is limited by the fact that a security's value cannot drop below zero.

Segregated Account Risk. Until the Fund replaces a borrowed security, it is required to maintain a segregated account of cash or highly liquid securities with a broker or custodian to cover the Fund's short position. Securities held in a segregated account cannot be sold while the position they are covering is outstanding, unless they are replaced with similar securities. As a result, there is the possibility that segregation of a large percentage of the Fund's assets could affect its portfolio management.

Leverage Risk. By investing the proceeds received from selling securities short, the Fund is employing leverage, which creates special risks. The use of leverage may increase the Fund's exposure to long equity positions and make any change in the Fund's net asset value ("NAV") greater than without the use of leverage. This could result in increased volatility of returns.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing the changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. Data prior to January 11, 2002, includes performance of a predecessor fund. The predecessor fund was managed by Analytic and had investment goals, strategies and policies that were substantially similar to the Fund's. The Fund was previously known as the Old Mutual Analytic Defensive Equity Fund and prior to March, 2006, the Fund did not take short positions as part of its main investment strategies. The Fund's performance prior to March, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

Year-by-Year Total Returns through December 31, 2005 — Class Z Shares

The Fund's Class Z shares year-to-date return as of June 30, 2006 was 3.82%.

The table below provides average annual total return information for the Fund's Class Z shares. Because the Fund does not currently offer Advisor Class shares, the average annual total returns data does not reflect Advisor Class performance. The Fund's average annual total return is compared to the Standard and Poor's ("S&P") 500 Index, a widely recognized, unmanaged index that measures the performance of large-cap stocks across all major industries.

Operating Expenses

The operating expenses of a mutual fund generally include management fees, overhead, taxes, brokerage fees, 12b-1 fees and legal and audit fees.

Fees and Expenses

The following table describes the shareholder fees and annual operating expenses you may pay as an investor in this Fund. Shareholder transaction fees are paid directly from your account. Annual operating expenses are paid out of the Fund's assets. Additional fees may be imposed by your adviser or broker.

Net Annual Operating Expenses including Dividend Expense on Short Sales	1.28%⁴	1.53%⁴

* Expense information in the table has been restated to reflect current fees effective January 1, 2006.

² The "Management Fees" information in the table has been restated to reflect the current management fee arrangement with Old Mutual Capital, which includes fees for advisory and administrative services. The "Other Operating Expenses" information in the table has been restated to reflect the elimination of the 0.1227% administrative service fee previously charged to the Fund. Because the Fund does not currently offer Advisor Class shares, "Other Operating Expenses" for Advisor Class shares are based on expenses of the Fund's Class Z shares.

⁴ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (but excluding the Fund's dividend expenses on short sales, interest expenses on short sales, other interest expense, taxes, brokerage, and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 1.10% and 1.35% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 1.10% and 1.35% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively, and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by Liberty Ridge, the former adviser.

Expense Example

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund to the cost of investing in other mutual funds. This example makes four assumptions: 1) you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods shown; 2) you redeem all your shares at the end of those time periods; 3) you earn a 5% return on your investment each year; and 4) the Fund's operating expenses remain the same for the time periods shown and include the effect of contractual fee waivers and expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. The example is hypothetical. Your actual costs may be higher or lower.

The following tables summarize the annual and cumulative impact of the Fund's fees and expenses on returns over a 10-year period. The annual expense ratio, which is the same as that stated in the Fees and Expenses Table, is net of any contractual fee waivers or expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. Your actual costs may be higher or lower. The tables also assume the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions.

OLD MUTUAL BARROW HANLEY VALUE FUND

Investment Approach

The Fund, a non-diversified fund, seeks to provide investors with long-term capital growth. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests in equity securities of large and mid-cap companies with value characteristics. Undervalued stocks are generally those stocks that are out of favor with investors and, in the opinion of Barrow Hanley, the Fund's Sub-Adviser, are trading at prices that are below average at the time of purchase in relation to such measures as earnings and book value. These stocks often have above average dividend yields. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize the Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or the Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Investment Style Risk. Market performance tends to be cyclical, and during various cycles, certain investment styles may fall in and out of favor. The market may not favor the Fund's value style of investing, and the Fund's returns may vary considerably from other equity funds using different investment styles.

Non-Diversified Portfolio Risk. The Fund is "non-diversified" which means that it may own larger positions in a smaller number of securities than funds that are "diversified." The Fund may invest up to 25% of its total assets in the securities of one issuer. This means that an increase or decrease in the value of a single security likely will have a greater impact on the Fund's NAV and total return than a diversified fund. The Fund's share prices may also be more volatile than those of diversified fund.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Common Stock

A common stock is a security representing ownership rights in a company. A shareholder is entitled to share in the company's profits, some of which may be paid out as dividends.

Total Return

A fund's total return is the percentage change, over a specified period of time, in a fund's NAV, assuming the reinvestment of all distributions of dividends and capital gains.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. Data prior to December 14, 2001 includes performance of a predecessor fund, whose inception date was September 10, 1998. The predecessor fund had investment goals, strategies and policies that were substantially similar to the Fund's. The Fund was previously known as the Clipper Focus Fund and prior to January 1, 2006, the Fund was managed by an investment adviser different than the Fund's current Sub-Adviser. The Fund's performance prior to January 1, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

The table below provides average annual total return information for the Fund's Class Z and Advisor Class shares. * When the return after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares is greater than the return after taxes on distributions, it is because of realized losses. If realized losses occur upon the sale of Fund shares, the capital loss is recorded as a tax benefit, which increases the return.

OLD MUTUAL COLUMBUS CIRCLE TECHNOLOGY AND COMMUNICATIONS FUND

Investment Approach

The Fund, a non-diversified fund, seeks to provide investors with long-term capital growth. Current income is incidental to the Fund's goal. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of companies in the technology and communications sectors of the stock market. The Fund is concentrated, which means it will invest 25% or more of its total assets in the group of industries within those sectors. The Fund's holdings may range from smaller companies developing new technologies or pursuing scientific breakthroughs to large firms with established track records in developing, using or marketing scientific advances. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize the Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or the Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund concentrates its investments in certain industries within the technology and communications sectors, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries. The Fund's performance may be impacted by general economic conditions, worldwide scientific and technological developments, product cycles, competition and government regulation.

Non-Diversified Portfolio Risk. The Fund is "non-diversified" which means that it may own larger positions in a smaller number of securities than funds that are "diversified." The Fund may invest up to 25% of its total assets in the securities of one issuer. This means that an increase or decrease in the value of a single security likely will have a greater impact on the Fund's NAV and total return than a diversified fund. The Fund's share prices may also be more volatile than those of diversified fund.

Small and Mid-Cap Company Risk. The Fund may invest in small-cap and mid-cap companies. While small-cap and mid-cap companies may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap and mid-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap or mid-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Technology and Communications Industries

Industries in the Technology sector include Application Software, Communications Equipment, Computer Hardware, Computer Storage & Peripherals, Data Processing & Outsourced Services, Electronic Equipment Manufacturers, Electronic Manufacturing Services, Home Entertainment Software, Internet Software & Services, IT Consulting & Services, Office Electronics, Semiconductor Equipment, Semiconductors, Systems Software and Technology Distributors. Industries in the Communications sector include Alternative Carriers, Integrated Telecommunications Services, and Wireless Telecommunication Services.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. Prior to November 2, 1999, the Fund was diversified and did not concentrate its investments. Therefore, the Fund's performance prior to November 2, 1999 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future. Prior to January 1, 2006, the Fund was managed by an investment adviser different than the Fund's current Sub-Adviser and the Fund's performance prior to January 1, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

* When the return after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares is greater than the return after taxes on distributions, it is because of realized losses. If realized losses occur upon the sale of Fund shares, the capital loss is recorded as a tax benefit, which increases the return.

† Returns are for past 10 years or since inception, whichever is lesser. Index returns are for past 10 years.

After-tax performance is shown for Class Z shares. After-tax performance for Advisor Class shares will vary. After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown, and the after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares through tax-deferred arrangements, such as 401(k) plans or individual retirement accounts.

Fees and Expenses

The following table describes the shareholder fees and annual operating expenses you may pay as an investor in this Fund. Shareholder transaction fees are paid directly from your account. Annual operating expenses are paid out of the Fund's assets. Additional fees may be imposed by your adviser or broker.

* Expense information in the table has been restated to reflect current fees effective January 1, 2006.

³ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 1.45% and 1.70% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 1.45% and 1.70% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively, and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

Expense Example

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund to the cost of investing in other mutual funds. This example makes four assumptions: 1) you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods shown; 2) you redeem all your shares at the end of those time periods; 3) you earn a 5% return on your investment each year; and 4) the Fund's operating expenses remain the same for the time periods shown and include the effect of contractual fee waivers and expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. The example is hypothetical. Your actual costs may be higher or lower.

Performance Example

The following tables summarize the annual and cumulative impact of the Fund's fees and expenses on returns over a 10-year period. The tables show the estimated expenses that would be charged on a hypothetical investment of $10,000 assuming a 5% return each year, the cumulative return after fees and expenses, and the hypothetical year-end balance after fees and expenses.

The annual expense ratio, which is the same as that stated in the Fees and Expenses Table, is net of any contractual fee waivers or expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. Your actual costs may be higher or lower. The tables also assume the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions.

OLD MUTUAL EMERGING GROWTH FUND

Morningstar Category: Small Growth

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with long-term capital growth. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of small-cap companies with growth characteristics at the time of purchase. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize the Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or the Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Investment Style Risk. Market performance tends to be cyclical, and during various cycles, certain investment styles may fall in and out of favor. The market may not favor the Fund's growth style of investing, and the Fund's returns may vary considerably from other equity funds using different investment styles.

Small Company Risk. The Fund primarily invests in small-cap companies. While small-cap companies may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Emerging Growth Companies

Growth funds generally focus on stocks of companies believed to have above average potential for growth in revenue and earnings. These stocks typically have low dividend yields and above average prices in relation to such measures as earnings and book value. Emerging growth companies are generally those growth companies that are less mature and appear to have the potential for rapid growth.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. Prior to January 1, 2006, the Fund was managed by an investment adviser different than the Fund's current Sub-Adviser and the Fund's performance prior to January 1, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

Year-by-Year Total Returns through December 31, 2005 — Class Z Shares

The Fund's Class Z shares year-to-date return as of June 30, 2006 was 1.49%.

Best Quarter: Q4 1999 45.85%
Worst Quarter: Q3 2001 (34.44)%

The table below provides average annual total return information for the Fund's Class Z shares. Because the Fund does not currently offer Advisor Class shares, the average annual total returns data does not reflect Advisor Class performance. The Fund's average annual total return is compared to the Russell 2000® Growth Index, a widely recognized, unmanaged index that tracks the performance of the securities of 2,000 small-cap companies in the Russell 2000® Index with greater-than-average growth characteristics.

* When the return after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares is greater than the return after taxes on distributions, it is because of realized losses. If realized losses occur upon the sale of Fund shares, the capital loss is recorded as a tax benefit, which increases the return.

After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown, and the after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares through tax-deferred arrangements, such as 401(k) plans or individual retirement accounts.

* Expense information in the table has been restated to reflect current fees effective January 1, 2006.

² The "Management Fees" information in the table has been restated to reflect the current management fee arrangement with Old Mutual Capital, which includes fees for advisory and administrative services. The "Other Expenses" information in the table has been restated to reflect the elimination of the 0.1227% administrative service fee previously charged to the Fund. Because the Fund does not currently offer Advisor Class shares, "Other Expenses" for Advisor Class shares are based on expenses of the Fund's Class Z shares.

³ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 1.30% and 1.55% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 1.30% and 1.55% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively, and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former investment adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

Expense Example

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund to the cost of investing in other mutual funds. This example makes four assumptions: 1) you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods shown; 2) you redeem all your shares at the end of those time periods; 3) you earn a 5% return on your investment each year; and 4) the Fund's operating expenses remain the same for the time periods shown and include the effect of contractual fee waivers and expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. OLD MUTUAL FOCUSED FUND

Morningstar Category: Large Blend

Investment Approach

The Fund, a non-diversified fund, seeks to provide investors with above-average total returns over a 3 to 5 year market cycle. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of small, medium and large-cap companies. While the Fund may invest in companies of any market capitalization, the Fund generally invests in large-cap companies that Liberty Ridge, the Fund's Sub-Adviser, believes have sustainable long-term growth prospects but are currently trading at modest relative valuations. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stock.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize the Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or the Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Non-Diversified Portfolio Risk. The Fund is "non-diversified" which means that it may own larger positions in a smaller number of securities than funds that are "diversified." The Fund may invest up to 25% of its total assets in the securities of one issuer. This means that an increase or decrease in the value of a single security likely will have a greater impact on the Fund's NAV and total return than a diversified fund. The Fund's share prices may also be more volatile than those of diversified fund.

Small and Mid-Cap Company Risk. While the Fund generally invests in large-cap companies, the Fund may invest in small-cap or mid-cap companies. While small-cap and mid-cap companies may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap and mid-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap or mid-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Valuation

Valuation is the process of determining the value of a company. There are many different techniques for valuation, and the process is often partially objective and partially subjective.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect.

The "Other Expenses" information in the table has been restated to reflect the elimination of the 0.1227% administrative service fee previously charged to the Fund. Because the Fund does not currently offer Advisor Class shares, "Other Expenses" for Advisor Class shares are based on expenses of the Fund's Class Z shares.

³ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 1.15% and 1.40% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 1.15% and 1.40% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively, and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

Expense Example

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund to the cost of investing in other mutual funds. This example makes four assumptions: 1) you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods shown; 2) you redeem all your shares at the end of those time periods; 3) you earn a 5% return on your investment each year; and 4) the Fund's operating expenses remain the same for the time periods shown and include the effect of contractual fee waivers and expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. The example is hypothetical. Your actual costs may be higher or lower.

Performance Example

The following tables summarize the annual and cumulative impact of the Fund's fees and expenses on returns over a 10-year period. The tables show the estimated expenses that would be charged on a hypothetical investment of $10,000 assuming a 5% return each year, the cumulative return after fees and expenses, and the hypothetical year-end balance after fees and expenses.

The annual expense ratio, which is the same as that stated in the Fees and Expenses Table, is net of any contractual fee waivers or expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. Your actual costs may be higher or lower. The tables also assume the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions.

OLD MUTUAL GROWTH FUND

Sub-Advisers: Munder Capital Management and Turner
Investment Partners, Inc.

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with capital appreciation. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 65% of its net assets in equity securities of small and mid-cap companies with favorable growth prospects. While the Fund may invest in both small and mid-cap companies, the Fund primarily invests in mid-cap companies. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common stocks and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize a Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or a Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Investment Style Risk. Market performance tends to be cyclical, and during various cycles, certain investment styles may fall in and out of favor. The market may not favor the Fund's growth style of investing, and the Fund's returns may vary considerably from other equity funds using different investment styles.

Small and Mid-Cap Company Risk. The Fund primarily invests in mid-cap companies, and to a lesser extent, small-cap companies. While small-cap and mid-cap companies may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap and mid-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap or mid-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Diversified Investment Company

A diversified investment company is a mutual fund that has 75% of its assets invested in securities or cash with a maximum of 5% of assets invested in the securities of a single company, and a maximum holding of 10% of a company's voting shares.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of unmanaged securities indexes. All performance figures reflect reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. Prior to January 1, 2006, the Fund was managed by an investment adviser different than the Fund's current Sub-Advisers and the Fund's performance prior to January 1, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

Year-by-Year Total Returns through December 31, 2005 — Class Z Shares

The Fund's Class Z shares year-to-date return as of June 30, 2006 was 2.86%.

Best Quarter: Q4 1999 64.55%

Worst Quarter: Q4 2000 (32.58)%

The table below provides average annual total return information for the Fund's Class Z and Advisor Class shares. The Fund's average annual total return is compared to the Russell Mid-Cap Growth Index and S&P MidCap 400 Index. The unmanaged Russell Mid-Cap Growth Index measures the performance of those securities in the Russell Mid-Cap Index with greater than average growth characteristics. The S&P MidCap 400 Index is a widely recognized, unmanaged mid-cap index of 400 domestic stocks chosen for their market capitalization, liquidity and industry group representations.

* When the return after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares is greater than the return after taxes on distributions, it is because of realized losses. If realized losses occur upon the sale of Fund shares, the capital loss is recorded as a tax benefit, which increases the return.

† Returns are for past 10 years or since inception, whichever is lesser. Index returns are for past 10 years.

After-tax performance is shown for Class Z shares. After-tax performance for Advisor Class shares will vary. After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown, and the after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares through tax-deferred arrangements, such as 401(k) plans or individual retirement accounts.

Such fees are not sales charges or contingent deferred sales charges, but are retained by the Fund for the benefit of all shareholders. OLD MUTUAL HEITMAN REIT FUND

Morningstar Category: Specialty — Real Estate

Sub-Adviser: Heitman Real Estate Securities, LLC

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with a high total return consistent with reasonable risk. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of companies principally engaged in the real estate industry, including real estate investment trusts ("REITs"). Heitman, the Fund's Sub-Adviser, considers a company to be principally engaged in the real estate industry if it derives at least 50% of its revenues from the ownership, construction, management, financing or sale of commercial, industrial or residential real estate or has at least 50% of its assets in such real estate. The equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize the Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or the Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund concentrates its investments in certain real estate related industries, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries. Real estate industries are particularly sensitive to the following economic factors: interest rate changes or market recessions; over-building in one particular area, changes in zoning laws, or changes in neighborhood values; increases in property taxes; casualty and condemnation losses; and regulatory limitations on rents.

REITs Risk. REITs may expose the Fund to similar risks associated with direct investment in real estate. REITs are more dependent upon specialized management skills, have limited diversification and are, therefore, generally dependent on their ability to generate cash flow to make distributions to shareholders.

REITs

A REIT is a separately managed trust that makes investments in various real estate businesses. A REIT is generally not taxed on income distributed to its shareholders if, among other things, it distributes to its shareholders substantially all of its taxable income for each taxable year.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of unmanaged securities indexes. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect.

Morningstar Category: Large Value

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with long-term capital growth and income. Current income is a secondary objective. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of large-cap companies. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize the Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or the Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect.

Year-by-Year Total Returns through December 31, 2005 — Class Z Shares

The Fund's Class Z shares year-to-date return as of June 30, 2006 was 3.36%.

Best Quarter: Q4 1998 28.21%

Worst Quarter: Q3 2002 (21.27)%

The table below provides average annual total return information for the Fund's Class Z and Advisor Class shares. The Fund's average annual total return is compared to the S&P 500 Index, a widely recognized, unmanaged index that measures the performance of large-cap stocks across all major industries.

* When the return after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares is greater than the return after taxes on distributions, it is because of realized losses. If realized losses occur upon the sale of Fund shares, the capital loss is recorded as a tax benefit, which increases the return.

After-tax performance is shown for Class Z shares. After-tax performance for Advisor Class shares will vary. After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown, and the after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares through tax-deferred arrangements, such as 401(k) plans or individual retirement accounts.

Fees and Expenses

The following table describes the shareholder fees and annual operating expenses you may pay as an investor in this Fund. Shareholder transaction fees are paid directly from your account. Annual operating expenses are paid out of the Fund's assets. Additional fees may be imposed by your adviser or broker.

Net Annual Operating Expenses	1.15%³	1.40%³

* Expense information in the table has been restated to reflect current fees effective January 1, 2006.

³ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 1.15% and 1.40% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 1.15% and 1.40% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively, and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

Expense Example

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund to the cost of investing in other mutual funds. This example makes four assumptions: 1) you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods shown; 2) you redeem all your shares at the end of those time periods; 3) you earn a 5% return on your investment each year; and 4) the Fund's operating expenses remain the same for the time periods shown and include the effect of contractual fee waivers and expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. The example is hypothetical. Your actual costs may be higher or lower.

Performance Example

The following tables summarize the annual and cumulative impact of the Fund's fees and expenses on returns over a 10-year period. The tables show the estimated expenses that would be charged on a hypothetical investment of $10,000 assuming a 5% return each year, the cumulative return after fees and expenses, and the hypothetical year-end balance after fees and expenses.

The annual expense ratio, which is the same as that stated in the Fees and Expenses Table, is net of any contractual fee waivers or expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. Your actual costs may be higher or lower. The tables also assume the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions.

OLD MUTUAL LARGE CAP GROWTH CONCENTRATED FUND

Investment Approach

The Fund, a non-diversified fund, seeks to provide investors with long-term capital growth. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of large-cap companies with favorable growth prospects. Each Sub-Adviser will invest the portion of the Fund it manages in not more than 40 large-cap companies. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize a Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or a Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Investment Style Risk. Market performance tends to be cyclical, and during various cycles, certain investment styles may fall in and out of favor. The market may not favor the Fund's growth style of investing, and the Fund's returns may vary considerably from other equity funds using different investment styles.

Non-Diversified Portfolio Risk. The Fund is "non-diversified" which means that it may own larger positions in a smaller number of securities than funds that are "diversified." The Fund may invest up to 25% of its total assets in the securities of one issuer. This means that an increase or decrease in the value of a single security likely will have a greater impact on the Fund's NAV and total return than a diversified fund. The Fund's share prices may also be more volatile than those of diversified fund.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. Prior to January 1, 2006, the Fund was managed by an investment adviser different than the Fund's current Sub-Advisers and the Fund's performance prior to January 1, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

* When the return after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares is greater than the return after taxes on distributions, it is because of realized losses. If realized losses occur upon the sale of Fund shares, the capital loss is recorded as a tax benefit, which increases the return.

After-tax performance is shown for Class Z shares. After-tax performance for Advisor Class shares will vary. After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown, and the after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares through tax-deferred arrangements, such as 401(k) plans or individual retirement accounts.

Fees and Expenses

The following table describes the shareholder fees and annual operating expenses you may pay as an investor in this Fund. Shareholder transaction fees are paid directly from your account. Annual operating expenses are paid out of the Fund's assets. Additional fees may be imposed by your adviser or broker.

* Expense information in the table has been restated to reflect current fees effective January 1, 2006.

³ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 1.25% and 1.50% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 1.25% and 1.50% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

Expense Example

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund to the cost of investing in other mutual funds. This example makes four assumptions: 1) you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods shown; 2) you redeem all your shares at the end of those time periods; 3) you earn a 5% return on your investment each year; and 4) the Fund's operating expenses remain the same for the time periods shown and include the effect of contractual fee waivers and expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. The example is hypothetical. Your actual costs may be higher or lower.

Performance Example

The following tables summarize the annual and cumulative impact of the Fund's fees and expenses on returns over a 10-year period. The tables show the estimated expenses that would be charged on a hypothetical investment of $10,000 assuming a 5% return each year, the cumulative return after fees and expenses, and the hypothetical year-end balance after fees and expenses.

The annual expense ratio, which is the same as that stated in the Fees and Expenses Table, is net of any contractual fee waivers or expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. Your actual costs may be higher or lower. The tables also assume the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions.

OLD MUTUAL MID-CAP FUND

Morningstar Category: Mid-Cap Blend

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with above-average total return over a 3 to 5 year market cycle, consistent with reasonable risk. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of mid-cap companies. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize the Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or the Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Small and Mid-Cap Company Risk. The Fund primarily invests in mid-cap companies and also may invest in small-cap companies. While small-cap companies, and to an extent mid-cap companies, may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger and more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap and mid-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap or mid-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect.

Year-by-Year Total Returns through December 31, 2005 — Class Z Shares

The Fund's Class Z shares year-to-date return as of June 30, 2006 was 2.15%.

* When the return after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares is greater than the return after taxes on distributions, it is because of realized losses. If realized losses occur upon the sale of Fund shares, the capital loss is recorded as a tax benefit, which increases the return.

After-tax performance is shown for Class Z shares. After-tax performance for Advisor Class shares will vary. After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. The "Other Expenses" information in the table has been restated to reflect the elimination of the 0.1227% administrative service fee previously charged to the Fund.

³ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 1.20% and 1.45% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

OLD MUTUAL SELECT GROWTH FUND

Investment Approach

The Fund, a non-diversified Fund, seeks to provide investors with long-term capital growth. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of companies with favorable growth prospects. Each Sub-Adviser will invest its portion of the Fund in not more than 40 companies. While the Fund may invest in companies of any market capitalization, the Fund generally invests in large-cap companies. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize a Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or a Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Investment Style Risk. Market performance tends to be cyclical, and during various cycles, certain investment styles may fall in and out of favor. The market may not favor the Fund's growth style of investing, and the Fund's returns may vary considerably from other equity funds using different investment styles.

Non-Diversified Portfolio Risk. The Fund is "non-diversified" which means that it may own larger positions in a smaller number of securities than funds that are "diversified." The Fund may invest up to 25% of its total assets in the securities of one issuer. This means that an increase or decrease in the value of a single security likely will have a greater impact on the Fund's NAV and total return than a diversified fund. The Fund's share prices may also be more volatile than those of diversified fund.

Small and Mid-Cap Company Risk. The Fund may invest in small-cap or mid-cap growth companies. While small-cap and mid-cap companies may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap and mid-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap or mid-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. Prior to January 1, 2006, the Fund was managed by an investment adviser different than the Fund's current Sub-Advisers and the Fund's performance prior to January 1, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

Year-by-Year Total Returns through December 31, 2005 — Class Z Shares

The Fund's Class Z shares year-to-date return as of June 30, 2006 was 0.90%.

Best Quarter: Q4 1999 130.62%

Worst Quarter: Q4 2000 (43.15)%

* When the return after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares is greater than the return after taxes on distributions, it is because of realized losses. If realized losses occur upon the sale of Fund shares, the capital loss is recorded as a tax benefit, which increases the return.

After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown, and the after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares through tax-deferred arrangements, such as 401(k) plans or individual retirement accounts.

² The "Management Fees" information in the table has been restated to reflect the current management fee arrangement with Old Mutual Capital, which includes fees for advisory and administrative services. The "Other Expenses" information in the table has been restated to reflect the elimination of the 0.1227% administrative service fee previously charged to the Fund. Because the Fund does not currently offer Advisor Class shares, "Other Expenses" for Advisor Class shares are based on expenses of the Fund's Class Z shares.

³ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 1.25% and 1.50% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 1.25% and 1.50% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively, and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

Expense Example

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund to the cost of investing in other mutual funds. This example makes four assumptions: 1) you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods shown; 2) you redeem all your shares at the end of those time periods; 3) you earn a 5% return on your investment each year; and 4) the Fund's operating expenses remain the same for the time periods shown and include the effect of contractual fee waivers and expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. The tables show the estimated expenses that would be charged on a hypothetical investment of $10,000 assuming a 5% return each year, the cumulative return after fees and expenses, and the hypothetical year-end balance after fees and expenses.

The annual expense ratio, which is the same as that stated in the Fees and Expenses Table, is net of any contractual fee waivers or expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. Your actual costs may be higher or lower. The tables also assume the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions.

OLD MUTUAL SMALL CAP FUND

Morningstar Category: Small Blend Sub-Advisers: Eagle Asset Management, Inc. and Liberty Ridge Capital, Inc.

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with above-average total return over a 3 to 5 year market cycle, consistent with reasonable risk. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of small-cap companies. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize a Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or a Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Small Company Risk. The Fund invests primarily in small-cap companies. While small-cap companies may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk is the potential for loss because of the inability to convert a security to cash in a timely manner and without any price discount.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. As of January 1, 2006, certain of the Fund's assets began to be managed by a Sub-Adviser different than the Fund's former adviser, and the Fund's former adviser became a Sub-Adviser to the Fund. As a result, the Fund's performance prior to January 1, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

Fees and Expenses

The following table describes the shareholder fees and annual operating expenses you may pay as an investor in this Fund. Shareholder transaction fees are paid directly from your account. Annual operating expenses are paid out of the Fund's assets. Additional fees may be imposed by your adviser or broker.

* Expense information in the table has been restated to reflect current fees effective January 1, 2006.

² The "Management Fees" information in the table has been restated to reflect the current management fee arrangement with Old Mutual Capital, which includes fees for advisory and administrative services. The "Other Expenses" information in the table has been restated to reflect the elimination of the 0.1227% administrative service fee previously charged to the Fund.

³ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 1.25% and 1.50% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 1.25% and 1.50% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively, and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund to the cost of investing in other mutual funds. This example makes four assumptions: 1) you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods shown; 2) you redeem all your shares at the end of those time periods; 3) you earn a 5% return on your investment each year; and 4) the Fund's operating expenses remain the same for the time periods shown and include the effect of contractual fee waivers and expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. The example is hypothetical. Your actual costs may be higher or lower.

OLD MUTUAL STRATEGIC SMALL COMPANY FUND

Morningstar Category: Small Growth Sub-Advisers: Copper Rock Capital Partners, LLC; Eagle Asset Management, Inc; and Liberty Ridge Capital, Inc.

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with capital growth. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of small-cap companies. The Fund's investments are allocated between companies with growth prospects, companies with value characteristics, and companies that may have growth and value characteristics. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize a Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or a Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Small Company Risk. The Fund invests primarily in small-cap companies. While small-cap companies may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. As of January 1, 2006, certain of the Fund's assets began to be managed by Sub-Advisers different than the Fund's former adviser, and the Fund's former adviser became a Sub-Adviser to the Fund. As a result, the Fund's performance prior to January 1, 2006 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

OLD MUTUAL TS&W SMALL CAP VALUE FUND

Morningstar Category: Small Blend

Sub-Adviser: Thompson, Siegel & Walmsley, Inc.

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with long-term capital growth. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of small-cap companies with value characteristics. The securities held in the Fund are primarily common stocks that TS&W, the Fund's Sub-Adviser, believes present a value or potential worth that is not recognized by prevailing market prices or that have experienced some fundamental changes and are intrinsically undervalued by the investment community. Equity securities in which the Fund may invest include common and preferred stocks.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Stock Market Risk. The value of the stocks and other securities owned by the Fund will fluctuate depending on the performance of the companies that issued them, general market and economic conditions, and investor confidence. The market may also fail to recognize the Sub-Adviser's determination of an investment's value or the Sub-Adviser may misgauge that value.

Small Company Risk. The Fund invests primarily in small-cap companies. While small-cap companies may offer greater potential for capital appreciation than larger more established companies, they may also involve greater risk of loss and price fluctuation. The trading markets for securities of small-cap issuers may be less liquid and more volatile than securities of larger companies. This means that the Fund could have greater difficulty buying or selling a security of a small-cap issuer at an acceptable price, especially in periods of market volatility.

Investment Style Risk. Market performance tends to be cyclical, and during various cycles, certain investment styles may fall in and out of favor. The market may not favor the Fund's value style of investing, and the Fund's returns may vary considerably from other equity funds using different investment styles.

Industry and Sector Risk. Companies that have similar lines of business are grouped together in broad categories called industries. Certain industries are grouped together in broader categories called sectors. The Fund may focus its investments in certain industries within a sector, which may cause the Fund's performance to be susceptible to the economic, business or other developments that affect those industries.

Value Fund

Fund Closed to New Investors

Effective December 31, 2004 ("Closing Day"), the TS&W Small Cap Value Fund closed to new investors. Only the following investments into the Fund will be accepted: additional investments and/or exchanges made by persons who already owned shares of the Fund as of the Closing Day; new and subsequent investment made by directors, officers and employees of the Fund's Adviser and its affiliates; and new and subsequent investments made by participants in pension plans, provided that the pension plan owned shares of the Fund as of the Closing Day.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. Prior to July 25, 2004, the Class Z shares of the Fund were known as the TS&W Small Cap Value Fund, LLC. On July 25, 2003, the Fund acquired the assets of the TS&W Small Cap Value Fund, LLC. The predecessor fund was managed by TS&W and had investment goals, strategies and policies that were substantially similar to the Fund's. However, the predecessor fund was not registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended ("1940 Act"), nor was it subject to certain investment limitations, diversification requirements and other restrictions imposed by the 1940 Act and the Internal Revenue Code, and the Fund's performance prior to July 25, 2003 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

Year-by-Year Total Returns through December 31, 2005 — Class Z Shares

The Fund's Class Z shares year-to-date return as of June 30, 2006 was 12.52%.

Best Quarter: Q2 2003 18.82%

Worst Quarter: Q3 2002 (15.85)%

The table below provides average annual total return information for the Fund's Class Z shares. Because the Fund does not currently offer Advisor Class shares, the average annual total returns data does not reflect Advisor Class performance. The Fund's average annual total return is compared to the Russell 2000® Value Index, a widely recognized, unmanaged index that tracks the performance of the 2,000 small-cap companies in the Russell 2000® Value Index with lower price-to-book ratios and lower forecasted growth values.

Russell 2000® Value Index (Reflects No Deduction for Fees, Expenses or Taxes)	4.71%	13.55%	14.87%

* The Past 5 Years and Since Inception returns After Taxes on Distributions and After Taxes on Distributions and Sale of Fund Shares are not shown for the Fund's predecessor as the predecessor fund was not registered under the 1940 Act and, unlike a registered investment company, was not required to make distributions. The average annual total return of the Class Z shares before taxes from the Fund's inception date of July 25, 2003, to December 31, 2005, was 25.32%. The average annual total returns of the Class Z shares after taxes on distributions and after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares from the Fund's inception date to December 31, 2005, were 24.18% and 21.72%, respectively.

After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown, and the after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares through tax-deferred arrangements, such as 401(k) plans or individual retirement accounts.

Fees and Expenses

The following table describes the shareholder fees and annual operating expenses you may pay as an investor in this Fund. Shareholder transaction fees are paid directly from your account. Annual operating expenses are paid out of the Fund's assets. Additional fees may be imposed by your adviser or broker.

Fees and Expenses Table*

Net Annual Operating Expenses	1.30%³	1.55%³

* Expense information in the table has been restated to reflect current fees effective January 1, 2006.

² The "Management Fees" information in the table has been restated to reflect the current management fee arrangement with Old Mutual Capital, which includes fees for advisory and administrative services. The "Other Expenses" information in the table has been restated to reflect the elimination of the 0.1227% administrative service fee previously charged to the Fund. Because the Fund does not currently offer Advisor Class shares, "Other Expenses" for Advisor Class shares are based on expenses of the Fund's Class Z shares.

³ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 1.30% and 1.55% for the Fund's Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 1.30% and 1.55% for the Fund's Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively, and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

Expense Example

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund to the cost of investing in other mutual funds. This example makes four assumptions: 1) you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods shown; 2) you redeem all your shares at the end of those time periods; 3) you earn a 5% return on your investment each year; and 4) the Fund's operating expenses remain the same for the time periods shown and include the effect of contractual fee waivers and expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. The example is hypothetical. Your actual costs may be higher or lower.

Performance Example

The following tables summarize the annual and cumulative impact of the Fund's fees and expenses on returns over a 10-year period. The tables show the estimated expenses that would be charged on a hypothetical investment of $10,000 assuming a 5% return each year, the cumulative return after fees and expenses, and the hypothetical year-end balance after fees and expenses.

The annual expense ratio, which is the same as that stated in the Fees and Expenses Table, is net of any contractual fee waivers or expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. Your actual costs may be higher or lower. The tables also assume the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions.

OLD MUTUAL CASH RESERVES FUND

Sub-Adviser: Wellington Management Company, LLP

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with current income while preserving principal and maintaining liquidity. To pursue this goal, the Fund invests exclusively in short-term U.S. dollar-denominated debt obligations of U.S. or foreign issuers that are rated in one of the two highest rating categories by any two nationally recognized rating organizations or that are unrated securities of comparable quality. The Fund's holdings are primarily U.S. money market instruments, such as certificates of deposit ("CDs"), commercial paper and corporate obligations, that Wellington, the Fund's Sub-Adviser, believes offer the most attractive income potential without undue risk.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Interest Rate Risk. When interest rates change, the Fund's yield will be affected. An increase in interest rates tends to increase the Fund's yield, while a decline in interest rates tends to reduce its yield.

Credit Risk. The value of debt securities held by the Fund fluctuates with the credit quality of the issuers of those securities. Credit risk relates to the ability of the issuer to meet interest or principal payments, or both, as they become due.

Inflation Risk. Inflation risk is the risk that your investment will not provide enough income to keep pace with inflation.

An investment in the Fund is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. Although the Fund seeks to preserve the value of your investment at $1.00 per share, it is possible to lose money by investing in the Fund.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect.

Money Market

Money Market is the securities market that exists to provide very short term funding to corporations, municipalities and the U.S. government. The money market specializes in debt securities that mature in less than one year.

Commercial Paper

Commercial paper is a money market instrument that is a short-term promissory note issued by a corporation

The table below provides average annual total return information for the Fund's Class Z shares. OLD MUTUAL DWIGHT INTERMEDIATE FIXED INCOME FUND

Sub-Adviser: Dwight Asset Management Company

Bonds and Maturity

A bond is an IOU (debt security) issued by a government or corporation that pays a stated rate of interest and returns the face value on the maturity date. Maturity is the length of time until a bond or other debt instrument "matures" or becomes due and payable.

Dollar Rolls

Dollar rolls are a special type of repurchase agreement in which the security transferred to the investor as collateral is a mortgage-backed security. The investor who sells the security gives up the cash flows during the roll period, but has use of the proceeds.

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with a high level of current income consistent with relative stability of principal. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in a diversified portfolio of fixed income securities of varying maturities. The Fund generally invests in investment grade fixed income securities but may invest up to 15% of its assets in high yield securities. The Fund may also invest in derivative instruments such as options, futures contracts, and options on indices and may engage in certain investment techniques which create market exposure, such as dollar rolls. The Fund's investment duration typically ranges from 75% to 125% of the average duration of the Lehman Brothers Intermediate Aggregate Bond Index. The Fund's dollar weighted average maturity will typically be between 3 and 10 years.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Credit Risk. The value of the debt securities held by the Fund fluctuates with the credit quality of the issuers of those securities. Credit risk relates to the ability of the issuer to make payments of principal and interest when due, including default risk. Securities issued by certain U.S. government agencies and instrumentalities, such as the Federal National Mortgage Association ("Fannie Mae"), Federal Home Loan Bank, Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation ("Freddie Mac") and Tennessee Valley Authority, are not supported by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Treasury, but only by their ability to borrow from the Treasury, other forms of governmental support, or by their own credit. Therefore, these securities have greater credit risk than Treasury securities.

Interest Rate Risk. When interest rates change, the value of the Fund's holdings will be affected. An increase in interest rates tends to reduce the market value of debt securities, while a decline in interest rates tends to increase their values.

Prepayment Risk. This risk relates primarily to mortgage-backed securities. During a period of declining interest rates, homeowners may refinance their high-rate mortgages and prepay the principal. Cash from these prepayments flows through to prepay the mortgage-backed securities, necessitating reinvestment in bonds with lower interest rates, which may lower the return of the Fund.

High Yield Risk. The Fund may invest in high yield securities (commonly known as "junk bonds") which may be subject to greater levels of interest rate, credit and liquidity risk than investment grade securities. These securities may be considered speculative with respect to the issuer's continuing ability to make principal and interest payments. An economic downturn or period of rising interest rates could adversely affect the market for junk bonds and reduce the Fund's ability to sell these securities (liquidity risk). If the issuer or a security is in default with respect to interest or principal payments, the Fund may lose its investment in the issue.

Changes in Debt Ratings. If a rating agency gives a debt security a lower rating, the value of the security may decline because investors may demand a higher rate of return.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect.

Year-by-Year Total Returns through December 31, 2005 — Class Z Shares

The Fund's Class Z shares year-to-date return as of June 30, 2006 was (0.02)%.

Best Quarter: Q3 2004 2.31%
Worst Quarter: Q1 2005 (0.15)%

Duration

Duration is a measure that enables fixed income securities of different maturities and coupon rates to be compared. Duration measures the expected life of a fixed income security and is used to determine the sensitivity of a security's price to changes in interest rates. The longer a security's duration, the more sensitive it will be to changes in the interest rate.

Dwight Intermediate Fixed Income Fund — Class Z
Before Taxes	7/31/03	2.69%	N/A	5.29%
Dwight Intermediate Fixed Income Fund — Class Z
After Taxes on Distributions	7/31/03	1.28%	N/A	3.56%

Lehman Intermediate U.S. Aggregate Bond Index (Reflects No Deduction for Fees, Expenses or Taxes)	7/31/03	2.01%	5.51%	3.66%

* When the return after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares is greater than the return after taxes on distributions, it is because of realized losses. If realized losses occur upon the sale of Fund shares, the capital loss is recorded as a tax benefit, which increases the return.

After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown, and the after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares through tax deferred arrangements, such as 401(k) plans or individual retirement accounts.

* Expense information in the table has been restated to reflect current fees effective January 1, 2006.

² The "Management Fees" information in the table has been restated to reflect the current management fee arrangement with Old Mutual Capital, which includes fees for advisory and administrative services. The "Other Expenses" information in the table has been restated to reflect the elimination of the 0.1227% administrative service fee previously charged to the Fund. Because the Fund does not currently offer Advisor Class shares, "Other Expenses" for Advisor Class shares are based on expenses of the Fund's Class Z shares.

³ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 0.85% and 1.10% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively. Old Mutual Capital may be entitled to reimbursement of any fees waived or expenses absorbed pursuant to this arrangement in any fiscal year in which the Fund's total assets are greater than $75 million, its total operating expenses are less than 0.85% and 1.10% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively, and the reimbursement is made within three years after the fees were waived or expenses absorbed. Old Mutual Capital and the Fund's former adviser have agreed not to seek reimbursement for fees waived or expenses absorbed by the former adviser.

Expense Example

Class Z	$87	$271	$666	$1,772
Advisor Class	$112	$350	$798	$2,047

Performance Example

The following tables summarize the annual and cumulative impact of the Fund's fees and expenses on returns over a 10-year period. The tables show the estimated expenses that would be charged on a hypothetical investment of $10,000 assuming a 5% return each year, the cumulative return after fees and expenses, and the hypothetical year-end balance after fees and expenses.

The annual expense ratio, which is the same as that stated in the Fees and Expenses Table, is net of any contractual fee waivers or expense reimbursements for the period of the contractual commitment. Your actual costs may be higher or lower. The tables also assume the reinvestment of all dividends and distributions.

OLD MUTUAL DWIGHT SHORT TERM FIXED INCOME FUND

Credit Ratings

Many debt securities are assigned credit ratings by agencies such as S&P or Moody's that evaluate the quality of publicly offered debt. The four highest ratings of Moody's and S&P for corporate bonds are Aaa, Aa, A and Baa and AAA, AA, A and BBB. Securities with these credit ratings are generally considered investment grade. Lower rated securities, rated BB or Ba or lower are called "high yield" securities or "junk bonds."

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to provide investors with a high level of current income consistent with maintaining a relatively high degree of stability of shareholders' capital. To pursue this goal, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in obligations of the U.S. Government and in investment grade debt securities rated AAA by Standard & Poor's ("S&P"), Aaa by Moody's Investor Service, Inc. ("Moody's") or deemed equivalent by Dwight, the Fund's Sub-Adviser. The Fund may invest up to 20% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in investment grade debt securities rated between AA and BBB by S&P or Aa and Baa by Moody's.

U.S. government obligations include Treasury bills, notes, and bonds and Government National Mortgage Association ("Ginnie Mae") pass-through securities, which are supported by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Treasury, as well as obligations and instrumentalities of the U.S. government which may not be supported by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Treasury. Other debt securities in which the Fund may invest include income producing securities such as U.S. corporate bonds, mortgage- and asset-backed securities, and bonds of dollar denominated foreign issuers.

The weighted average maturity of the Fund will vary depending on an evaluation of market conditions, patterns and trends by the Fund's Sub-Adviser, but will typically be less than 3 years. There are no limitations on the maturity of any individual issues in the Fund.

Main Investment Risks

Like all investments in securities, you risk losing money by investing in the Fund. The main risks of investing in this Fund are:

Credit Risk. The value of the debt securities held by the Fund fluctuates with the credit quality of the issuers of those securities. Credit risk relates to the ability of the issuer to make payments of principal and interest when due, including default risk. Securities issued by certain U.S. government agencies and instrumentalities, such as the Federal National Mortgage Association ("Fannie Mae"), Federal Home Loan Bank, Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation ("Freddie Mac") and Tennessee Valley Authority, are not supported by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Treasury, but only by their ability to borrow from the Treasury, other forms of governmental support, or by their own credit. Therefore, these securities have greater credit risk than Treasury securities.

Interest Rate Risk. When interest rates change, the value of the Fund's holdings will be affected. An increase in interest rates tends to reduce the market value of debt securities, while a decline in interest rates tends to increase their values.

Prepayment Risk. This risk relates primarily to mortgage-backed securities. During a period of declining interest rates, homeowners may refinance their high-rate mortgages and prepay the principal. Cash from these prepayments flows through to prepay the mortgage-backed securities, necessitating reinvestment in bonds with lower interest rates, which may lower the return of the Fund.

Changes in Debt Ratings. If a rating agency gives a debt security a lower rating, the value of the security may decline because investors may demand a higher rate of return.

Performance Information

The following bar chart and performance table illustrate the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in the Fund's performance year to year and by showing how the Fund's average annual returns compare to those of an unmanaged securities index. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions.

The Fund's past performance, both before and after taxes, does not guarantee how it will perform in the future. Performance reflects a limitation on the total expenses of the Fund pursuant to an arrangement with the Fund's former investment adviser. The Fund's returns would have been lower if the expense limitation had not been in effect. On October 1, 2004, the Fund's shareholders approved a change in the Fund's investment goal and the Fund's investment strategy was changed accordingly. The performance information prior to October 1, 2004 is the performance of the Fund's previous strategy, which was to seek to provide investors with a level of current income higher than that of money market funds, while attempting to preserve principal and maintain a stable NAV per share. The Fund's performance prior to October 1, 2004 may not be indicative of how it will perform in the future.

The Fund's Class Z shares year-to-date return as of June 30, 2006 was 1.24%.

The table below provides average annual total return information for the Fund's Class Z and Advisor Class shares. The Fund's performance is compared to the Merrill Lynch 1-3 Year U.S. Treasuries Index, an unmanaged performance benchmark including all U.S. Treasury and agency securities with maturities greater than or equal to one year and less than three years.

 Average annual total returns after taxes on distributions and after taxes on distributions and sale of Fund shares are shown only for the past 1 year because until October 19, 2004, Fund shares were sold only to individual retirement accounts.

After-tax performance is shown for Class Z shares. After-tax performance for Advisor Class shares will vary. After-tax returns are calculated using the historical highest individual federal marginal income tax rates and do not reflect the impact of state and local taxes. Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown, and the after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares through tax-deferred arrangements, such as 401(k) plans or individual retirement accounts.

³ These are the expenses you should expect to pay as an investor in this Fund as a result of Old Mutual Capital's contractual agreement to waive through December 31, 2008 that portion, if any, of the annual management fee payable by the Fund and to pay certain expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to ensure that the total annual operating expenses (excluding interest, taxes, brokerage and extraordinary expenses) do not exceed 0.70% and 0.95% for Class Z and Advisor Class shares, respectively. INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISKS

Each Fund seeks to achieve its investment objective through its principal investment strategies. The principal investment strategies and risks of each Fund have been described in the foregoing Fund Summaries. This section of the Prospectus discusses those and other investment strategies used by the Funds in greater detail and describes additional risks associated with an investment in the Funds. Analytic’s Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Analytic U.S. Long/Short Fund

Analytic selects equity securities for this Fund using a proprietary system that ranks stocks according to a mathematical model. Analytic’s system seeks to determine a security’s intrinsic value by evaluating variables, such as relative valuation, price momentum, company fundamentals, liquidity and risk. Analytic begins the stock selection process by ranking stocks according to their one-month expected return. Analytic then uses a process called “portfolio optimization” to select securities that it believes will:

- Maximize expected return for the Fund;
- Minimize expected volatility relative to its benchmark; and
- Diversify the assets of the Fund among industries, sectors, and individual securities.

Analytic monitors the stocks held by the Fund on a real-time basis for developments such as news events or significant changes in fundamental factors. Using its system, Analytic strives to assemble a portfolio of securities that is style and sector neutral to achieve a level of diversification and risk similar to the S&P 500 Index. “Style neutral” means a fund is similar to its investment universe in terms of exposure to quantifiable characteristics such as average market capitalization. A fund is “sector neutral” when its exposure to specified economic sectors is similar to that of its investment universe.

Barrow Hanley’s Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Barrow Hanley Value Fund

Barrow Hanley uses traditional methods of stock selection — research and analysis — to identify undervalued securities and searches for companies that have price to earnings and price to book ratios below the market and that have above average dividend yields. Barrow Hanley’s investment management approach may be described as contrarian in nature because it generally focuses on companies which are out of favor with other investors due to internal or external challenges judged to be short-term in nature. Barrow Hanley’s process seeks to identify the reasons for a temporary undervaluation of a company’s shares and believes that value can be added through individual stock selection.

Barrow Hanley utilizes risk management tools to help ensure that the Fund is not over-exposed to particular market segments. Barrow Hanley is a “bottom-up” value manager meaning it analyzes the fundamentals of companies one at a time rather than focusing on broader market themes. Sector and industry weightings are a residual of its investment process. Barrow Hanley expects to fully invest the assets of the Fund. Consequently, cash reserves are normally expected to be less than 5% of the Fund’s total assets.

CastleArk’s investment process consists of three disciplines: a qualitative identification of companies with desirable stock traits, a quantitative valuation analysis, and a quantitative diversification analysis.

- Identification. CastleArk identifies companies that offer the best opportunities by looking for companies that (1) are growing, are highly-profitable, and dominate in their industries, (2) possess proprietary products, unique assets or an innovative approach to marketing, and (3) are capable, through outstanding management and otherwise, to produce superior returns on invested capital. Applying these criteria to a universe of approximately 800 growth stocks, CastleArk identifies around 200 dominant companies that it tracks for further consideration. Generally, about 10% of this list's dominant companies changes from year to year.

- Valuation. CastleArk determines target price-to-earnings ratios on a company-by-company basis through the use of its proprietary Earnings Life Cycle model. By use of this model, CastleArk compares the relative attractiveness of each of the dominant companies based on such factors as: (1) historical and projected earnings growth; (2) earnings stability; (3) return on invested capital; (4) P/E (price to earnings) ratios relative to S&P 500 averages; (5) earnings growth relative to S&P 500 averages; and (6) the beta of the stock (essentially, the variability of returns of the stock compared to returns of the market as a whole). CastleArk then classifies the dominant companies according to whether they are an "emerging growth", a "consistent growth" or a "cyclical growth" company. Next, CastleArk determines a fair value for each company and, by comparing this to the stock price of the company, CastleArk creates a ranking of each dominant company by the degree of under- or over-valuation.
- Diversification. Stocks of highly-ranked, dominant companies do not automatically become part of the portfolio. By considering factors such as industry and sector, company size (distribution of companies between "emerging", "consistent", and "cyclical" growth), liquidity (market impact costs of a buy or a sell), and market sensitivity of the portfolio (the portfolio's beta), CastleArk quantitatively assesses the risk each individual stock has on the total portfolio. CastleArk's diversification analysis also provides an overall risk framework that allows its portfolio to be "benchmarked" or compared with a target objective.

Columbus Circle's investment process is based on a growth-oriented process that uses fundamental research to evaluate growth and company quality. Columbus Circle's process is based on the premise that companies doing better than expected will have rising securities prices while companies producing less than expected results will not. Columbus Circle refers to its discipline as positive momentum and positive surprise.

Columbus Circle focuses its research on finding positive momentum and positive surprise and strives to invest in companies that exceed investor expectations. Through careful analysis of company fundamentals in the context of the prevailing economic environment, Columbus Circle selects companies that meet its criteria. Columbus Circle believes that when a company demonstrates positive momentum and positive surprise in its business progress, its share price has historically continued on an upward trend. As the company benefits from the strengths of a new product cycle, a niche technology or service, or a dominant secular trend, the stock has historically outperformed the market. Columbus Circle closely monitors a company's progress versus expectations in evaluating whether to purchase a stock.

Copper Rock's Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Strategic Small Company and Emerging Growth Funds

Copper Rock generates its initial investment ideas from a number of sources, including proprietary methods and screens, and bottom-up themes. In selecting companies, Copper Rock favors entrepreneurial companies that appear to be reasonably valued. Copper Rock's investment process seeks to add value through bottom-up stock selection and in-depth fundamental research to identify potential investments, examining such features as a company's financial condition, business prospects, competitive position, and business strategy. Copper Rock looks for companies with strong management, superior earnings growth prospects, and attractive relative valuations. Sector weights result from Copper Rock's bottom-up stock selection process.

Dwight's Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Intermediate Fixed Income and Short Term Fixed Income Funds

Dwight uses its own fundamental investment and credit research in selecting fixed income securities for a Fund's portfolio. Dwight selects securities through an active strategy focused primarily on relative yield, sector and asset class allocation, and duration management. Dwight looks for relative value in certain parts of the yield curve and seeks to enhance yield through selective allocation among various asset classes. Dwight also evaluates the potential performance of various market sectors and allocates investments among those sectors it believes will perform best. Dwight also reviews individual securities to identify issuers and issues that it believes will add value to the portfolio. Based on its interest rate outlook, Dwight may engage in duration management within a Fund's overall limits.

Eagle's Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Strategic Small Company and Small Cap Funds

Eagle searches for smaller, less visible companies with unique business concepts or niche products that are reasonably priced and positioned for growth. Eagle's small-cap core investment strategy employs in-depth, rigorous research, intensive analysis and thorough, bottom-up stock selection to identify consistently growing companies that are reasonably priced.

The driving force behind each of Eagle's investment decisions is to look beyond price-to-earnings multiples and stated growth rates to buy companies that have sustainable competitive advantages. Eagle seeks to gain a thorough understanding of a company's management, business plan, financials, real rate of growth and competitive threats and advantages.

Eagle focuses on companies that are low-cost producers; those with high barriers to entry, those with strong management teams; those with recurring revenue streams; and those with conservative accounting. Other criteria include a catalyst for accelerated growth; earnings-per-share growth greater than 15%; reasonable price-to-earnings ratio relative to growth rate; high or expanding return on equity and high or expanding operating margins relative to peer group.

Heitman's Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Heitman REIT Fund

Based upon extensive fundamental research, Heitman prepares valuation models for each company in its universe in order to identify companies that it believes are undervalued. The valuation model calculates each company's intrinsic value based on private market transactions, traditional statistical measures such as multiple to cash flow as well as relative value.

Heitman analyzes and selects investments that it believes will provide a relatively high and stable yield and are good prospects for future growth in dividends. Most of these companies specialize in a particular geographic region or specialize in one or two product types, such as office buildings, shopping centers, industrial complexes, and hotels. Heitman generally expects cash reserves to be less than 5% of the Old Mutual Heitman Real Estate Fund's total assets and generally expects to hold between 30 and 50 securities.

Liberty Ridge's Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Strategic Small Company, Focused, Large Cap, Mid-Cap and Small Cap Funds

Liberty Ridge's core investment process is driven by fundamental research and a multi-factor model that screens companies with attractive valuations relative to the sector and the market, near-term business dynamics, and long-term earnings growth. These securities are generally trading at modest relative valuations given certain financial measurements, such as their price-to-earnings ratios, dividend income potential and earnings power. Liberty Ridge attempts to focus on stocks of companies that are industry leaders where management teams have an incentive to grow bottom line earnings rather than focus primarily on revenues or return on equity. Liberty Ridge believes appropriately priced companies that are leaders in their industries with limited competition and high barriers to entry possess the characteristics that have the highest probability of outperforming the market over full market cycles in the blend space.

Munder's Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Growth Fund

Munder's investment style, which focuses on both growth prospects and valuation, is known as GARP (Growth at a Reasonable Price). This blended process seeks to perform better than either a pure growth or pure value approach over a complete market cycle.

Munder portfolio managers generally choose the Fund's investments by reviewing the earnings growth of all publicly traded mid-cap companies over the past three years and selecting companies from within that universe. Investment decisions are primarily based on:

- Above-average, consistent earnings growth;
- Financial stability;
- Relative valuation;
- Strength of industry position and management team; and
- Price changes compared to the S&P MidCap 400 Index.

TS&W's Investment Strategies — Old Mutual TS&W Small Cap Value Fund

TS&W's small-cap value process uses a combination of quantitative and qualitative methods and is based on a four-factor valuation model. Parts one and two of the model attempt to assess a company's discount to private market value relative to other small-cap stocks. The third factor considers the relative earnings prospects of the company. The fourth factor involves looking at the company's recent price action. TS&W generally limits its investment universe to those companies with a minimum of three years of sound operating history.

TS&W's analysts also explore numerous factors that might affect the outlook for a company. They evaluate publicly available information including sell-side research, company filings, and trade periodicals. The analysts speak with company management to hear their perspectives and outlook on the pertinent business issues. They apply a consistent and disciplined review in a team environment that encourages critical thinking and analysis for each company considered for investment.

Established positions in the portfolio are ranked daily for expected return and are reviewed periodically in the same manner to re-examine their fundamental and valuation characteristics, with the research meeting again serving as a forum for the discussion of each existing stock's place in the portfolio.

Turner's investment strategy focuses on stock selection and a bottom-up strategy that blends quantitative, fundamental, and technical analysis. Ideal candidates for investment are growth companies believed to have favorable earnings prospects, reasonable valuations, favorable trading volume, and price patterns. Each security is subjected to three separate evaluation criteria: fundamental analysis (approximately 80%), quantitative screening (approximately 10%) and technical analysis (approximately 10%).

Turner's investment philosophy and process lead it to create equity portfolios that are generally fully invested at all times and, in large part, maintain sector weightings that are neutral relative to a targeted benchmark. Turner believes it is difficult, if not impossible, to accurately anticipate the market's moves to favor one sector above another, and that the practice of overweighting or underweighting sectors leads to erratic investment performance. By remaining fully invested with a full market weighting in every sector, Turner helps ensure that its portfolios are positioned to benefit from rapid changes in market sentiment. In addition, by purchasing only those securities Turner believes are the best stocks within each sector, it seeks to minimize the impact of poorly performing sectors on the overall portfolio. These disciplines help reduce risks associated with sector rotation and market timing, and allow the investment team to focus efforts primarily on stock selection.

The heart of Turner's stock selection process is fundamental analysis. Turner invests in companies whose fundamentals support:

- a rate of growth that exceeds their industry peers;
- earnings that meet or exceed market consensus estimates; and
- earnings estimates that are being revised upwards.

Fundamental analysis helps determine if the companies Turner follows will exceed, meet, or fall short of consensus earnings expectations. The research analysts meet with company management, talk to industry experts and competitors, and attend trade shows/conferences in an effort to anticipate changes in the outlook for corporate earnings.

While the primary focus is on fundamental analysis, Turner also uses a proprietary computer model to assess a universe of approximately 5,000 companies of varying capitalizations based on multiple earnings growth and valuation factors. Turner's analysts screen securities within sector and market capitalization groups, using factors appropriate for each specific group. Technical analysis is also used to evaluate trends in trading volume and price patterns for individual stocks. This helps the investment team to identify attractive entry and exit points. For example, money flow (accumulation or distribution) may act as a leading or confirming indicator. Relative strength can provide an early alert and cause analysts to revisit fundamentals.

Wellington's Investment Strategies — Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund

Wellington uses macro-economic and fundamental company analysis to seek securities with an acceptable maturity, are marketable and liquid, offer competitive yields and are issued by issuers that are on a sound financial footing. Wellington also considers factors such as the anticipated level of interest rates and the maturity of individual securities relative to the maturity of the Fund as a whole.

MORE ABOUT INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISKS

Foreign Securities. While the Funds generally emphasize investments in securities traded in the U.S., a Fund may invest in foreign-traded securities. The Analytic U.S. Long/Short Fund may invest up to 20% of its assets in foreign securities. The other Funds may invest up to 15% of assets in foreign securities. Foreign securities refer to securities of issuers, wherever organized, that have their principal business activities outside of the United States and are not traded in the United States. Investments in foreign securities involve different risks than U.S. investments, including fluctuations in currency exchange rates, potentially unstable political and economic structures, reduced availability of public information, and lack of uniform financial reporting and regulatory practices similar to those that apply to U.S. issuers.

ADRs. The Funds may invest in American Depositary Receipts and American Depositary Shares (collectively, ADRs). ADRs are receipts representing shares of a foreign corporation held by a U.S. bank that entitle the holder to all dividends and capital gains on the underlying foreign shares. ADRs are typically denominated in U.S. dollars and trade in the U.S. securities markets. ADRs are subject to many of the same risks as direct investments in foreign securities, including the risk that material information about the issuer may not be disclosed in the United States and the risk that currency fluctuations may adversely affect the value of the ADR. ADRs are not considered foreign securities for purposes of the limitations stated above under Foreign Securities.

Fixed-Income Securities. While the Equity Funds generally emphasize investments in equity securities such as common and preferred stocks, they also may invest in investment grade fixed-income securities. Fixed-income securities in which the Funds might invest include bonds, debentures, and other corporate or government obligations. The price of a fixed income security may fall as a result of adverse events involving the issuer of the security, changes in the interest rates or other adverse economic or political events. Fixed income securities may not deliver their expected yield as a result of the factors listed above.

Securities That Are Not Readily Marketable. Each Fund (other than the Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund) may invest up to 15% of its net assets in securities that are “illiquid.” The Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund may invest up to 10% of its net assets in securities that are illiquid. A security is illiquid if it cannot be sold within seven days in the ordinary course of business for approximately the amount at which it is valued. For example, some securities are not registered under U.S. securities laws and cannot be sold to the public because of Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) regulations (these are known as “restricted securities”). Under procedures adopted by the Board of Trustees (the “Board”), certain restricted securities may be deemed liquid and will not be counted toward the 10% and 15% limits.

Investments in illiquid securities, which may include restricted securities, involve certain risks to the extent that a Fund may be unable to sell an illiquid security or sell at a reasonable price. In addition, in order to sell a restricted security, a Fund might have to bear the expense and incur the delays associated with registering the shares with the SEC.

Securities of Other Investment Companies. The Funds may acquire securities of other investment companies, including exchange-traded funds, subject to the limitations of the 1940 Act. A Fund’s purchase of securities of other investment companies may result in the payment of additional management and distribution fees.

Derivatives. A Fund may use derivatives to hedge risks inherent in the portfolio, to enhance the potential return of a portfolio, to diversify a portfolio, as a substitute for taking a position in an underlying asset, to reduce transaction costs associated with managing a portfolio, or to implement a Fund’s investment strategy through investments that may be more tax-efficient than a direct equity investment. Derivatives the Funds may use include futures contracts, purchasing and/or writing (selling) put and call options on securities, securities indexes, futures contracts, and foreign currencies. The Funds have limits on the use of derivatives and are not required to use them in seeking their investment objective. A small investment in derivatives could have a potentially large impact on a Fund’s performance; certain gains or losses could be amplified, increasing share price movements. The use of derivatives involves risks that may be different from the risks associated with investing directly in the underlying assets, including the risk that changes in the value of a derivative held by a Fund may not correlate with the Fund’s other investments.

Temporary Defensive Investments. In times of unstable or adverse market or economic conditions, up to 100% of a Fund’s assets may be invested in temporary defensive instruments in an effort to enhance liquidity or preserve capital. Temporary defensive investments generally include cash, cash equivalents such as commercial paper, money market instruments, short-term debt securities, U.S. government securities, or repurchase agreements. A Fund could also hold these types of securities pending the investment of proceeds from the sale of Fund shares or portfolio securities or to meet anticipated redemptions of Fund shares. A Fund may invest in temporary defensive investments for undetermined periods of time, depending on market or economic conditions. To the extent a Fund invests defensively in these securities, it might not achieve its investment objective.

Fund Turnover. The Funds do not have any limitations regarding portfolio turnover and may have portfolio turnover rates in excess of 100%. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to a Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once during the course of a year. The portfolio turnover rates of the Funds may be higher than other mutual funds with the same investment objectives. Higher portfolio turnover rates increase the brokerage costs a Fund pays and may adversely affect its performance. In addition, the sale of Fund securities may generate capital gains, which, when distributed, may be taxable to you.

The Trust and Old Mutual Capital will therefore have the right to hire, terminate, or replace unaffiliated sub-advisers without shareholder approval, including, without limitation, the replacement or reinstatement of any unaffiliated sub-advisers with respect to which a subadvisory agreement has automatically terminated as a result of an assignment. Old Mutual Capital will have the ultimate responsibility to oversee the sub-advisers and recommend their hiring, termination and replacement. Litigation

In June 2004, Liberty Ridge reached settlement agreements with respect to the market timing and selective disclosure actions filed by the SEC and New York Attorney General ("NYAG"). Under the NYAG settlement, if certain terms and undertakings in that settlement as described in the Trust's SAI are not met, the NYAG settlement stipulates that Liberty Ridge shall promptly terminate the sub-advisory services it provides to the Funds. In this event, the Trust's Board would be required to seek a new sub-adviser for the Funds sub-advised by Liberty Ridge or consider other alternatives.

As part of the In Re Mutual Funds Investment Litigation pending in the U.S. District Court for the District of Maryland (the "MDL Court"), PBHG Funds (now known as Old Mutual Advisor Funds II), Liberty Ridge (formerly known as Pilgrim Baxter & Associates, Ltd. ("PBA")), its affiliates, and/or certain related and unrelated parties have been named as defendants in a Class Action Suit ("Class Action Suit") and a separate Derivative Suit ("Derivative Suit") (together the "Civil Litigation"). The Civil Litigation consolidates and coordinates for pre-trial matters a number of individual class action suits and derivative suits based on similar claims, which previously had been filed against the PBHG Funds, Liberty Ridge and/or certain related parties in other jurisdictions, and had been transferred to the MDL Court. Information on the previously filed suits is contained in the Trust's SAI. Consolidated complaints in the Class Action and Derivative Suits were filed in the Civil Litigation on September 29, 2004 (MDL 1586).

The Civil Litigation and the previously filed suits are primarily based upon allegations that the defendants engaged in, or facilitated market timing of the PBHG Funds, and also made selective disclosure of confidential portfolio information to certain defendants and other parties. The Civil Litigation alleges a variety of theories for recovery, including but not limited to: (i) violations of various provisions of the Federal securities laws; (ii) breaches of fiduciary duty; and (iii) false or misleading prospectus disclosure. The Civil Litigation requests compensatory and punitive damages. In addition, the Derivative Suit requests the removal of each of the Trustees, the removal of Liberty Ridge as investment adviser, the removal of PBHG Fund Distributors (now known as Old Mutual Investment Partners) as distributor, rescission of the management and other contracts between PBHG Funds and the defendants, and rescission of the PBHG Funds' 12b-1 Plan.

On August 30, 2005, the State of West Virginia West Virginia Securities Division (the "WV Securities Division") entered a cease and desist order (the "Order" and, together with the Civil Litigation, the "Litigation") against Pilgrim Baxter & Associates, Ltd. (now known as Liberty Ridge Capital, Inc.). The Trust was not named in the Order. In the Order, the WV Securities Division alleged that Liberty Ridge permitted short-term trading in excess of the Trust's disclosed limitation of four exchanges per year and also provided confidential portfolio information to customers of a broker-dealer who used the information to market time the Trust. The WV Securities Division further alleges in the Order that the foregoing violated the West Virginia Securities Act (W. Va. Code §§ 32-1-101, et seq.) and is seeking that Liberty Ridge cease and desist from further violation of the West Virginia Securities Act; pay restitution; disgorge fees; pay administrative and investigatory costs and expenses, including counsel fees; pay an administrative assessment; and other relief. It is possible that similar actions based on the same facts and circumstances may be filed in the future by other state agencies. Such other actions will be described in the SAI.

At this stage of the Litigation it is too early to assess the likely outcome of the Litigation, or success of any defenses each of the defendants may have to the claims. Any potential resolution of the Litigation may include, but not be limited to, judgments or settlements for damages against Liberty Ridge or any other named defendant. While it is currently too early to predict the result of the Litigation, Old Mutual Capital does not believe that the outcome of the Litigation will materially affect its ability to carry out its duty as investment adviser to the Funds. However, neither Liberty Ridge nor Old Mutual Capital are currently able to gauge the level of shareholder redemptions that may result from the news of the resolution of these pending lawsuits. Redemptions may require the Funds to sell investments to provide for sufficient liquidity, which could adversely impact the investment performance of the Funds.

For assets between $0 and $300 million, management fees for all Funds will be charged at their base level. Once assets of any Equity Fund or Fixed Income Fund exceed $300 million, the management fee charged will be reduced by 0.05% and 0.025% from their base levels, respectively. Further fee breakpoints are triggered when a Fund's assets reach $500 million, $750 million, $1 billion, $1.5 billion and $2 billion. In each case, base level management fees for Equity Funds are reduced by an additional 0.05% for a possible 0.30% total reduction, and base level management fees for Fixed Income Funds are reduced by an additional 0.025% for a possible 0.15% total reduction.

The Sub-Advisers are entitled to receive a fee from Old Mutual Capital equal to a percentage of the daily net assets of each Fund. The fee arrangement for each Sub-Adviser is described in the SAI.

ABOUT YOUR INVESTMENT

YOUR SHARE PRICE

The price you pay for a share of a Fund and the price you receive upon selling or redeeming a share of a Fund is called the net asset value ("NAV"). NAV per share class of a Fund is calculated by dividing the total net assets of each class of a Fund by the total number of the class' shares outstanding of that Fund. NAV is determined as of the close of regular trading on the New York Stock Exchange (the "NYSE") (normally 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time) on each day that the NYSE is open. NAV is not calculated, and you may not conduct Fund transactions, on days the NYSE is closed (generally weekends and New Year's Day, Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, Presidents' Day, Good Friday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas Day).

Your purchase, exchange, or redemption of a Fund's shares will be priced at the next NAV calculated after your request is received in good order by the Fund's transfer agent or other Fund agents. The NAV of your shares when redeemed may be more or less than the price you originally paid, depending primarily upon the Fund's investment performance. If a Fund invests in another investment company, that Fund's NAV is based in part on the NAV of the other investment companies in which the Fund invests. The Prospectuses for these other investment companies explain the circumstances under which they may use fair value pricing and its effects.

The Trust may enter into agreements with broker-dealers, financial institutions, retirement plan accounts, trading platforms, certain fee-based programs, or other service providers ("Financial Intermediaries") that may include the Funds as an investment alternative in the programs they offer or administer. If you buy shares through a Financial Intermediary, generally your order must be received by the Financial Intermediary and transmitted to the Distributor or its designee by the close of regular trading on the NYSE in order for you to receive that day's offering price. Otherwise, the order will receive the offering price that is determined on the next regular business day. The Trust and Financial Intermediaries reserve the right to reject customer orders that are incomplete or otherwise not in "good order." Financial Intermediaries may also accept certain customer orders conditioned on the understanding that the orders may later be rejected in the event they cannot be transmitted to the Distributor or its designee in a timely manner. The Trust will be deemed to have received a purchase or redemption order from authorized Financial Intermediaries ("Authorized Financial Intermediary") when the Financial Intermediary, or its authorized designee, accepts the order. The customer order will be priced at the Fund's NAV next computed after such order is unconditionally accepted by an Authorized Financial Intermediary or its authorized designee.

VALUING PORTFOLIO SECURITIES

The Funds use pricing services to determine the market value of the securities in their portfolios. Except as discussed below, the Funds generally use the market price of securities as of the close of regular trading on the NYSE to value equity securities held in the Funds' portfolios, except that securities traded primarily on the NASDAQ Stock Market ("NASDAQ") are normally valued by the Fund at the NASDAQ Official Closing Price provided by NASDAQ each business day.

The Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund prices its investments at amortized cost, which approximates market value. Short-term investments are priced at amortized cost, which approximates market value. The market value of bonds is determined based on an evaluated price. If a Fund holds securities quoted in foreign currencies, it translates that price into U.S. dollars at current exchange rates. Because foreign markets may be open at different times than the NYSE, the price of a Fund's shares may change on days when its shares are not available for purchase or sale. If a market quotation is not readily available or is believed to be unreliable, the security is valued at fair value as determined in good faith by the Board or pursuant to procedures approved by the Board.

Fair Value Pricing

The Funds have fair value pricing procedures in place, and a Valuation Committee meets as necessary to value securities in appropriate circumstances that may include, but are not limited to, when a market price is believed to be unreliable, is unavailable, or if Fund assets have been affected by events occurring after the close of trading of a securities market, but before a Fund calculates its NAV. By fair valuing a security whose price may have been affected by events occurring after the close of trading in its respective market, a Fund attempts to establish a price that it might reasonably expect to receive upon its current sale of that security. These methods are designed to help ensure that the prices at which Fund shares are purchased and redeemed are fair, and do not result in dilution of shareholder interest or other harm to shareholders. In addition, fair value pricing is a helpful tool in preventing excessive short-term trading activity because it may make it more difficult for potentially disruptive shareholders to determine if pricing inefficiencies exist in a Fund's securities. The valuation assigned to fair valued securities for purposes of calculating the Fund's NAV may differ from the security's most recent closing market price and from the prices used by other mutual funds to calculate their NAVs. Although intended to do so, the fair value procedures may not always better represent the price at which the Fund could sell the fair valued security and may not always result in a more accurate NAV.

INVESTING IN THE FUNDS

POLICY REGARDING EXCESSIVE OR SHORT-TERM TRADING

While the Funds provide shareholders with daily liquidity, they are intended to be long-term investment vehicles and are not designed for investors that engage in short-term trading activity, market-timing, or other abusive trading practices. Short-term trading, market-timing, or other abusive trading practices may disrupt portfolio management strategies, may drive Fund expenses higher, and may harm Fund performance. In particular, frequent trading of Fund shares may:

- cause a Fund to keep more assets in cash or cash equivalents than it otherwise would, causing the Fund to miss out on investment opportunities;
- force a Fund to sell some of its investments sooner than it otherwise would in order to honor redemptions;
- increase brokerage commissions and other portfolio transaction expenses if securities are constantly being bought and sold by a Fund as assets move in or out; or
- dilute the value of Fund shares held by long-term shareholders.

The Trust, Old Mutual Capital, and their agents, will not knowingly permit investors to excessively trade the Funds, although no guarantees can be made that all such trading will be identified and restricted. Purchase and sale orders may be received through Financial Intermediaries. The Trust, Old Mutual Capital, and their agents cannot always know or reasonably detect short-term trading through Financial Intermediaries, or through the use of omnibus accounts by Financial Intermediaries.

To minimize harm to the Funds and their shareholders, we reserve the right to reject any purchase order, including exchange purchases, for any reason without prior notice.

The Board has adopted, and Old Mutual Capital and its affiliates (collectively, for purposes of this section Policy Regarding Excessive or Short-Term Trading, “Old Mutual Capital”) and their agents have implemented, the following tools designed to discourage excessive short-term trading in the Funds:

- trade activity monitoring;
- trading guidelines;
- a redemption/exchange fee on trades in all non-money market funds; and
- selective use of fair value pricing.

Each of these tools is described in more detail below. Although these tools are designed to discourage short-term trading, none of these tools alone nor all of them taken together eliminate the possibility that short-term trading activity in the Funds will occur. Moreover, each of these tools other than the redemption/exchange fee involves judgments that are inherently subjective. Old Mutual Capital and its agents seek to make these judgments to the best of their abilities in a manner that they believe are consistent with long-term shareholder interests. For purposes of applying these tools, Old Mutual Capital and its agents may consider an investor’s trading history in the Funds, other Funds, and accounts under common ownership, influence or control. Old Mutual Capital and the Funds may modify these procedures in response to changing regulatory requirements or to enhance the effectiveness of the procedures.

Trade Activity Monitoring

Old Mutual Capital and its agents monitor selected trades in an effort to detect short-term trading activities. If, as a result of this monitoring, Old Mutual Capital or one of its agents determines that a shareholder has engaged in short-term trading, it will (i) advise the shareholder or use its best efforts to work with the Financial Intermediary that holds the account to inform the shareholder that he or she must stop such activities, and (ii) use its best efforts to refuse to process purchases or exchanges in the shareholder’s account. Determining whether a shareholder has engaged in short-term trading involves judgments that are inherently subjective. In making such judgments, Old Mutual Capital and its agents seek to act in a manner that they believe is consistent with the best interests of Fund shareholders.

The ability of Old Mutual Capital and its agents to monitor trades that are placed by the underlying shareholders of Financial Intermediaries is limited. Financial Intermediaries often maintain the underlying shareholder accounts and do not disclose individual shareholder transaction information. Old Mutual Capital and its agents generally rely on the cooperation, willingness, ability and rights of financial intermediaries to monitor trading activity in omnibus accounts and enforce the Funds' short-term trading policy on shareholders in such accounts. There is no assurance that the Financial Intermediaries will in all instances cooperate with Old Mutual Capital and its agents in monitoring trading activity or enforcing the short-term trading policy. Old Mutual Capital and its agents, will, however, attempt to apply the short-term trading policy uniformly to all Financial Intermediaries.

Trading Guidelines

If a shareholder exceeds four exchanges out of a Fund (other than Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund) per calendar year, or if the Trust, Old Mutual Capital or one of their agents, determines that a shareholder's short-term trading activity is excessive (regardless of whether or not such shareholder exceeds such guidelines), the Trust will not knowingly accept any additional purchase and exchange orders from such shareholder. The Trust and Old Mutual Capital and their agents may accept exchanges that are detected under these guidelines if they believe that such transactions are not short-term trading activity, for legitimate trading purposes and consistent with the best interests of long-term shareholders. Using the proceeds from the redemption of shares of one of the Trust's series funds to purchase shares of one or more other series funds of the Trust is considered a single exchange. The Trust may permit exceptions to the four exchange limit for wrap accounts that can demonstrate they are following a bona fide asset allocation program.

Transactions placed through the same Financial Intermediary on an omnibus basis may be deemed part of a group for purposes of this policy and may be rejected in whole or in part. Transactions accepted by a Financial Intermediary in violation of the short-term trading policy are not deemed accepted by the Fund and may be cancelled or revoked. Old Mutual Capital and its agents may also suspend or terminate a shareholder's exchange privileges if a shareholder engages in a disruptive pattern of exchanges. The Trust and Old Mutual Capital also reserve the right to delay delivery of redemption proceeds for up to 7 days or to honor certain redemptions with securities rather than cash.

Redemption/Exchange Fee

All Funds (except the Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund) will each impose a 2.00% redemption/exchange fee on total redemption proceeds before applicable deferred sales charges of any shareholder redeeming shares, including redemption by exchange, of the Funds within 10 calendar days of their purchase. The Funds will impose a redemption/exchange fee to the extent that the number of Fund shares redeemed exceeds the number of Fund shares that have been held for more than 10 calendar days. In determining how long shares of the Fund have been held, Old Mutual Capital assumes that shares held by the investor for the longest period of time will be sold first. The Fund will retain the redemption/exchange fee for the benefit of the remaining shareholders.

The redemption/exchange fee will not be applicable to shares of the Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund.

The Funds charge the redemption/exchange fee to discourage market timing by those shareholders initiating redemptions or exchanges to take advantage of short-term market movements, to help minimize the impact the redemption or exchange may have on the performance of the Fund, to facilitate Fund management, and to offset certain transaction costs and other expenses the Fund incurs because of the redemption or exchange.

The Funds will not charge the 2.00% redemption/exchange fee on transactions involving the following:

- total or partial redemptions of shares by omnibus accounts maintained by Financial Intermediaries such as broker-dealers and retirement plans and their service providers that do not have the systematic capability to process the fee;
- total or partial redemptions of shares by omnibus accounts maintained by Financial Intermediaries such as broker-dealers and retirement plans and their service providers that have negotiated pre-existing legal covenants and agreements with the Funds to waive or not to impose the fee;

- total or partial redemptions effectuated pursuant to an automatic non-discretionary rebalancing program or a systematic withdrawal plan established with the Funds or a Financial Intermediary;
- redemptions of shares from employer-sponsored retirement plans, such as 401(k) plans, which are made in connection with the withdrawal of an entire plan from a Fund;
- redemptions initiated to pay an asset-based fee charged to customers of certain fee-based or wrap programs; or
- redemptions initiated by a Fund, as permitted in the Prospectus.

The Funds' goal is to apply the redemption/exchange fee to all shares of each Fund (except the Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund) regardless of the type of account through which the shares are held. That goal is not immediately achievable primarily because of systems limitations of certain Financial Intermediaries and preexisting contrary legal covenants and agreements with Financial Intermediaries.

CHOOSING A SHARE CLASS

The Funds have four classes of shares, two of which, Class Z and Advisor Class, are offered by this Prospectus. Each class represents investments in the same portfolio of securities of a Fund and has the same rights and privileges of the other share classes of that Fund, except that: (i) each class is subject to different sales charges (loads); (ii) each class is subject to different distribution fees, which, if applicable, are paid pursuant to a Distribution Plan adopted under Rule 12b-1 of the 1940 Act; (iii) each class may be subject to different service fees, which, if applicable, are paid pursuant to a Service Plan which may be adopted under Rule 12b-1 of the 1940 Act; (iv) exchanges are generally not permitted between the various share classes but only among the same class; and (v) each class may have exclusive voting rights with respect to matters affecting only that class. When choosing a share class, you should consult your financial adviser as to which class is most suitable for you.

BUYING SHARES

You may purchase shares of each Fund directly through the Fund's transfer agent or through select broker-dealers or other financial institutions that are authorized to sell you shares of the Funds. Such broker-dealers or financial institutions may charge you a fee for this service in addition to each Fund's public offering price. The price per share you will pay to invest in a Fund is its NAV next calculated after the transfer agent or other authorized representative accepts your order.

Purchases of shares of each Fund may be made on any day on which the NYSE is open for business. If you purchase shares directly through the Fund's transfer agent, your order must be received before 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time for your purchase order to be effective on the day you place your order. If you order shares through a broker-dealer or other financial institution, the broker-dealer or financial institution must receive your order before 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time and promptly transmit the order to the Funds for your purchase order to be effective on the day you place your order. The broker-dealer or financial institution is responsible for promptly transmitting purchase orders to the Funds so that you may receive the same day's NAV.

You may sell your shares at NAV any day the New York Stock Exchange is open for business. Sale orders received by the Fund's transfer agent or other authorized representatives by 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time will be priced at the Fund's next calculated NAV. The Fund generally sends payment for your shares the business day after your order is accepted. Under unusual circumstances, the Fund may suspend redemptions or postpone payment for up to 7 days. Also, if the Fund has not yet collected payment for the shares you are selling, it may delay paying out the proceeds on your sale until payment has been collected, which may take up to 15 days from the date of purchase. You may also sell shares of each Fund through certain broker-dealers or other financial institutions at which you maintain an account. The broker-dealer or financial institution may charge you a fee for this service.

- Requests to send proceeds to a different address or payee;
- Requests to send proceeds to an address that has been changed within the last 30 days; and

A medallion signature guarantee helps to protect you against fraud. A medallion signature guarantee may be obtained from a domestic bank or trust company, broker, dealer, clearing agency, savings association, or other financial institution which participates in a medallion program recognized by the Securities Transfer Association. The three recognized medallion programs are Securities Transfer Agents Medallion Program (STAMP), Stock Exchanges Medallion Program (SEMP) and NYSE Medallion Signature Program (NYSE MSP). GENERAL POLICIES

- IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT PROCEDURES FOR OPENING A NEW ACCOUNT: The Trust is required by Federal law to obtain, verify, and record information that identifies each person who opens a new account. If you do not provide this information, we may not be able to open your account. Each Fund reserves the right to close your account or take such other action deemed appropriate if we are unable to verify your identity.
- Each Fund may reject or suspend acceptance of purchase orders.
- Each Fund reserves the right to make redemptions in securities rather than in cash if the redemption amount exceeds $250,000 or 1% of the aggregate NAV of the Fund in any 90-day period.
- Payment for telephone purchases must be received by the Fund's transfer agent within seven days or you may be liable for any losses the Fund incurs as a result of the cancellation of your purchase order.
- When placing a purchase, sale, or exchange order through an authorized representative, it is the representative's responsibility to promptly transmit your order to the Fund's transfer agent so that you may receive that same day's NAV.
- SEI Trust Company, the custodian for IRAs and Coverdell Education Savings accounts, currently charges a $10 annual custodial fee to Traditional and Roth IRA accounts and a $7 annual custodial fee to Coverdell Education Savings Accounts. This fee will be automatically deducted from your account if not received by the announced due date, usually in mid-August.

- Because of the relatively high cost of maintaining smaller accounts, each Fund charges an annual fee of $12 if your account balance drops below the minimum investment amount. This fee does not apply to Uniform Gifts/Transfer to Minor Accounts, Coverdell Education Savings Accounts, or Systematic Investment Plans. The Funds will provide 60 days' prior notice of the imposition of this fee. The Funds will not impose this fee if you purchase additional shares during the notice period to bring your account balance to at least $1,000.
- For non-retirement accounts, if the value of your investment in the Fund falls below $500, we may redeem your shares and mail the proceeds to you. You will be provided 60 days' prior notice of such redemption. Your shares will not be redeemed if you purchase additional shares during the notice period to bring your account balance to at least $500.
- Asset allocation programs set up in networked accounts, which have been pre-approved by the Fund, will not be subject to the minimum account balances as described above.
- To reduce expenses, only one copy of most financial reports and prospectuses may be mailed to households, even if more than one person in the household holds shares of the Fund. Call your broker-dealer or financial adviser if you need additional copies of financial reports or prospectuses. If you do not want the mailing of these documents to be combined with those for other members of your household, contact your broker-dealer or financial adviser.

Exchanges Between Funds

You may exchange some or all shares of a particular class of a Fund for the same class of any other Fund that offers such class of shares. If a shareholder exceeds four exchanges out of any of the Funds per calendar year, or if the Funds, Old Mutual Capital, or one of their agents determines, in its sole discretion, that a shareholder's short-term trading activity is excessive, the determining party may, in its discretion, reject any additional purchase and exchange orders. In addition, short-term exchanges may be subject to a redemption/exchange fee. See the section of this Prospectus entitled "Your Investment — Policy Regarding Excessive or Short-Term Trading" for details of the limitations on exchanging between Funds and the redemption/exchange fee.

DISTRIBUTION AND TAXES

The Equity Funds pay shareholders dividends from their net investment income and distributions from their net realized capital gains at least once a year, if available, except the Old Mutual Heitman REIT Fund pays shareholders dividends from its net investment income quarterly and distributions from its net realized capital gains once a year, if available. The Fixed Income Funds declare dividends daily and pay shareholders dividends from their net investment income monthly. Dividends and distributions will be reinvested in your Fund account unless you instruct the Fund otherwise. There are no fees on reinvestments. Alternatively, you may elect to receive your dividends and distributions in cash in the form of a check, wire, or ACH.

Unless your investment is in an IRA or other tax-exempt account, your dividends and distributions will be taxable whether you receive them in cash or reinvest them. Dividends (including short-term capital gains distributions) are generally taxed at the ordinary income rate. However, distributions of qualified dividend income and of long-term capital gains are taxable at lower rates. The current qualified dividend income and long-term capital gains tax rates are provided in the table below.

A sale or exchange of shares of a Fund, whether for cash or for shares of another Fund, may also generate a tax liability unless your account is tax-exempt. There are two types of tax liabilities you may incur from a sale or exchange: (1) short-term capital gains will apply if you sell or exchange a Fund up to 12 months after buying it; and (2) long-term capital gains will apply to Funds sold or exchanged after 12 months. The table below describes the tax rates for each.

Taxes on Transactions

The tax status of your distributions for each calendar year will be detailed in your annual tax statement from the Fund. Because everyone's tax situation is unique, always consult your tax adviser about federal, state, and local tax consequences.

Taxability of Distributions to Individuals and Other Non-Corporate Shareholders

Type of Distribution	Tax rate for 15% bracket and lower	Tax rate for brackets higher than 15%
Dividends Generally	Ordinary income rate	Ordinary income rate
Qualified Dividends	5%	15%
Short-term Capital Gains	Ordinary income rate	Ordinary income rate
Long-term Capital Gains	5%	15%

Distribution Arrangements

The Trust, on behalf of the Advisor Class shares of each Fund, has adopted a Distribution Plan and a Service Plan pursuant to which a Fund may pay distribution fees to Old Mutual Investment Partners (the "Distributor") and service fees to the Distributor, brokers, dealers or other Financial Intermediaries. Service fees are paid for providing or arranging for others to provide personal services to shareholders and/or maintenance of such shareholders' accounts. All or a substantial portion of the distribution fees and service fees that are paid to the Distributor are re-allowed to the dealer of record or entity providing personal shareholder services. Because distribution fees and/or service fees are paid out of the Funds' Advisor Class assets on an ongoing basis, over time these fees will increase the cost of your investment and may cost you more than paying other types of sales charges. See the "Fund Summaries" and "Your Investment — Choosing a Share Class" sections of this Prospectus for details on the distribution fees and service fees.

REVENUE SHARING

Payments to Financial Intermediaries

The Distributor or one or more of its affiliates may, from time to time, make payments from its own resources to Financial Intermediaries. These “revenue sharing” payments may be made in exchange for certain services provided by the intermediary, such as placing the Trust and the Funds on the intermediary’s sales system or placing the Trust and the Funds on the intermediary’s preferred or recommended list, and/or marketing support. Marketing support payments include payments for conferences and seminars, investor and dealer-sponsored events, educating sales personnel of the Financial Intermediary, placement on sales lists and access (in some cases on a preferential basis over competitors of the Trust) to sales meetings and salespeople of the Financial Intermediary.

Old Mutual Capital or its affiliates may pay Financial Intermediaries for administrative or recordkeeping support services. Administrative and recordkeeping support services may include transaction processing or account maintenance activities (such as processing purchases, redemptions, or exchanges or producing customer account statements or tax statements) sub-accounting services, answering shareholder inquiries relating to the Trust and the Funds, delivering proxy statements, annual reports, updated prospectuses and other communications, and other recordkeeping services relating to investments in the Funds.

From time to time, the Distributor or its affiliates may also pay “networking fees” to broker-dealers who process fund transactions through an automated mutual fund clearinghouse, which reduces the Trust’s costs in processing shareholder transactions. These networking fees compensate the broker for its expense in processing transactions through the clearinghouse.

Financial Intermediaries may be compensated differently depending on the nature and extent of the services they provide. Financial Intermediaries may earn profits on these payments, since the amount of the payment may exceed their cost in providing the service. Certain of these payments are subject to limitations under applicable law.

The Distributor or its affiliates may also make non-service, revenue sharing payments to Financial Intermediaries at an annual rate specified in writing by the Distributor or its affiliates. These payments generally represent a percentage of a Financial Intermediary’s sales and/or the value of Fund shares within a Financial Intermediary’s client accounts. In addition, intermediaries may receive non-cash compensation, such as promotional merchandise bearing the OMAF II logo.

The Distributor is motivated to make these revenue sharing payments since, in certain circumstances, they promote the sale of Fund shares and the retention of those investments by clients of the Financial Intermediary. Old Mutual Capital and the Sub-Advisers may also benefit from the Distributor’s activity through increased advisory fees resulting from additional assets acquired through sale of Fund shares through such Financial Intermediaries.

Payments by Old Mutual Advisor Funds II

Like Old Mutual Capital and its affiliates, the Trust may, from time to time, make payments to intermediaries that provide administrative or recordkeeping support services, as described above. From time to time, the Trust may also pay networking fees to brokers, up to certain limits.

You can find further details in the SAI about these payments made to Financial Intermediaries. You can also speak to your Financial Intermediary for more information about the payments made by the Distributor, Old Mutual Capital, their affiliates, or the Funds, to such Financial Intermediary. In certain cases, the payments could be significant and may cause a conflict of interest for your Financial Intermediary.

FINANCIAL HIGHLIGHTS

A Fund's financial highlights help you understand its recent financial performance. The total returns represent the rate that you would have earned or lost on an investment in the Fund, assuming you reinvested all Fund distributions. PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP has audited the information contained in these financial highlights. Its report and the Fund's financial statements are included in the Funds' Annual Report to Shareholders, which is available, free of charge, upon request.

The Old Mutual Analytic U.S. Long/Short, Old Mutual Barrow Hanley Value, Old Mutual Heitman REIT and Old Mutual Dwight Short Term Fixed Income Funds acquired the assets of predecessor funds in a tax-free exchange by issuing new shares. This transaction was effective as of the close of business on December 14, 2001 for the Old Mutual Barrow Hanley Value and Old Mutual Heitman REIT Funds and effective as of the close of business on January 11, 2002 for the Analytic U.S. Long/Short and Old Mutual Dwight Short Term Fixed Income Funds. None of the Funds had any assets prior to the acquisition. Consequently, the information presented for each Fund prior to the acquisition date represents the financial history of its corresponding predecessor fund.

^^^ The Trust incurred legal, printing and audit expenses relating to the SEC and NYAG examinations and the Civil Litigation described the "Litigation" section of this prospectus. The former adviser paid these expenses on behalf of the Trust. Had the former adviser not paid these expenses, the expenses for the Funds would have been higher than what is reflected in the financial highlights for the year ended March 31, 2005 and 2004.

The impact of the payment from an affiliate increased the Realized and Unrealized Gains on Securities by $0.07 per share. Prior to August 9, 2004, the PBHG IRA Capital Preservation Fund ("IRA Capital Preservation Fund") (which changed its investment objective and name effective October 19, 2004 to the Dwight Short Term Fixed Income Fund) entered into Wrapper Agreements with insurance companies, banks or other financial institutions. On August 6, 2004, the Board determined to seek shareholder approval to change the investment objective of the IRA Capital Preservation Fund into a fund with a variable net asset value per share which seeks to provide high income while managing its portfolio in a manner consistent with maintaining a relatively high degree of stability of shareholders' capital. This investment objective is sought by investing mainly in high quality bonds with short average remaining maturities. Shareholder approval of the change in investment objective was received on October 1, 2004. On August 9, 2004, the wrapper agreements were terminated by the IRA Capital Preservation Fund. The IRA Capital Preservation Fund received a simultaneous contribution of cash in the amount of $7,419,588 from Liberty Ridge, the Fund's former adviser. The cash was contributed to offset the IRA Capital Preservation Fund's obligations under the wrapper agreements to the issuers of the wrapper agreements, and to assist the IRA Capital Preservation Fund in maintaining its net asset value per share for each class of shares at $10.00. During the period August 10, 2004 through October 18, 2004 ("Interim Period"), the IRA Capital Preservation Fund sought to continue to provide a stable net asset value of $10.00 per share by investing in short-term fixed income instruments with less than 60 days to maturity. As a result, the dividend yield during the Interim Period was less than dividend yields during the first seven months of 2004. During the Interim Period, the former adviser undertook to waive the entire amount of its investment advisory fee. After the end of this Interim Period, the Dwight Short Term Fixed Income Fund began investing in fixed income instruments with greater than 60 days to maturity.

^^^ In addition to the net realized and unrealized losses on investments as set forth in the Statement of Operations, this amount includes an increase in net asset value per share resulting from the timing of sales and redemptions of shares in relation to fluctuating market values for the Fund's investments.

THE TRUST

The Trust is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) as an open-end management investment company, known as a mutual fund. The Trust was originally incorporated in Delaware on August 2, 1985 under the name PBHG Growth Fund, Inc., and commenced business shortly thereafter as an open-end management investment company under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the “1940 Act”). On July 21, 1992, shareholders of the Trust approved an Agreement and Articles of Merger pursuant to which the Fund was reorganized and merged into a new Maryland corporation, also named PBHG Growth Fund, Inc. Effective November 1, 2005, the Trustees of the Trust voted to change the Trust’s name to Old Mutual Advisor Funds II.

Effective January 1, 2006, the Board of Trustees (the “Board”) approved Old Mutual Capital, Inc. This SAI relates to all Funds of the Trust. Shareholders may purchase shares through four separate classes: Class A, Class C, Class Z, and Advisor Class, which each have different distribution costs, voting rights and dividends. Except for these differences, each Class share of each Fund represents an equal proportionate interest in that Fund. A more detailed description of the rights and restrictions of the separate classes is provided in the “Description of Shares” section of this SAI. No investment in shares of a Fund should be made without first reading a Fund’s prospectus. Capitalized terms not defined in this SAI are defined in each prospectus offering shares of the Funds.

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES, POLICIES AND RESTRICTIONS

The investment objective of each Fund is fundamental and may not be changed, as to a Fund, without approval by the holders of a majority of such Fund's outstanding voting shares. Such majority is defined in the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (“1940 Act”) as the lesser of (i) 67% or more of the voting securities of the Fund present in person or by proxy at a meeting, if the holders of more than 50% of the outstanding voting securities are present or represented by proxy; or (ii) more than 50% of the outstanding voting securities of the Fund. The investment objective of each Fund is set forth below:

Old Mutual Analytic U.S. Long/Short Fund	Above average returns.
Old Mutual Barrow Hanley Value Fund	Long-term growth of capital.
Old Mutual Columbus Circle Technology and Communications Fund	Long-term growth of capital.

Old Mutual Strategic Small Company Fund	Growth of capital.
Old Mutual TS&W Small Cap Value Fund	Long-term growth of capital.
Fixed Income Funds (“Fixed Income Funds”)

FUNDAMENTAL INVESTMENT RESTRICTIONS

Each Fund has adopted certain investment restrictions which, in addition to those restrictions described in the prospectuses, are fundamental and may not be changed without approval by a majority vote of the Fund's shareholders.

Several of these Fundamental Investment Restrictions include the defined terms "1940 Act Laws, Interpretations and Exemptions." This term means the 1940 Act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder, as such statute, rule and regulations are amended from time to time or are interpreted from time to time by the staff of the SEC and any exemptive order or similar relief granted to a Fund.

1. Each Fund, other than Old Mutual Barrow Hanley Value Fund, Old Mutual Columbus Circle Technology and Communications Fund, Old Mutual Focused Fund, Old Mutual Large Cap Growth Concentrated Fund, and Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund, and, is a "diversified company" as defined in the 1940 Act. This means that a Fund will not purchase the securities of any issuer if, as a result, the Fund would fail to be a diversified company within the meaning of the 1940 Act Laws, Interpretations and Exemptions. This restriction does not prevent a Fund from purchasing the securities of other investment companies to the extent permitted by the 1940 Act Laws, Interpretations and Exemptions.

Please refer to number 2 of the "Non-Fundamental Investment Restrictions" section for further information.

2. A Fund may not borrow money or issue senior securities, defined below, except as permitted by the 1940 Act Laws, Interpretations and Exemptions.

Please refer to number 3 of the "Non-Fundamental Investment Restrictions" section for further information.

3. A Fund may not underwrite the securities of other issuers. This restriction does not prevent a Fund from engaging in transactions involving the acquisition, disposition or resale of its portfolio securities, regardless of whether the Fund may be considered to be an underwriter under the Securities Act of 1933.
4. A Fund will not make investments that will result in the concentration (as that term may be defined or interpreted by the 1940 Act, Laws, Interpretations and Exemptions) of its investments in the securities of issuers primarily engaged in the same industry. This restriction does not limit a Fund's investments in (i) obligations issued or guaranteed by the U.S. Government, its agencies or instrumentalities, (ii) tax-exempt obligations issued by governments or political subdivisions of governments or (iii) repurchase agreements collateralized by such obligations, and does not limit Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund's investment in domestic bank obligations. In complying with this restriction, a Fund will not consider a bank-issued guaranty or financial guaranty insurance as a separate security.

This limitation does not apply to the Old Mutual Columbus Circle Technology and Communications Fund or the Old Mutual Heitman REIT Fund, as those Funds have investment policies to concentrate their investments in the technology and communications industry and the REIT industry, respectively.

Please refer to number 4 of the "Non-Fundamental Investment Restrictions" section for further information.

5. A Fund may not purchase or sell real estate unless acquired as a result of ownership of securities or other instruments. This restriction does not prevent a Fund from investing in issuers that invest, deal or otherwise engage in transactions in real estate or interests therein, or investing in securities that are secured by real estate or interests therein.

6. A Fund may not purchase or sell physical commodities unless acquired as a result of ownership of securities or other instruments. This restriction does not prevent a Fund from engaging in transactions involving futures contracts and options thereon or investing in securities that are secured by physical commodities.
7. A Fund may not make personal loans or loans of its assets to persons who control or are under common control with the Fund, except to the extent permitted by the 1940 Act Laws, Interpretations and Exemptions. This restriction does not prevent a Fund from, among other things, purchasing debt obligations, entering repurchase agreements, loaning its assets to broker-dealers or institutional investors or investing in loans, including assignments and participation interests.

Please refer to number 5 of the “Non-Fundamental Investment Restrictions” section for further information.

A Fund may, notwithstanding any other fundamental investment policy or restriction, invest all of its assets in the securities of a single open-end management investment company with substantially the same fundamental investment objective, policies and restrictions as the Fund.

Except for borrowing under Fundamental Restriction number 2, the foregoing limitations will apply at the time of the purchase of a security.

NON-FUNDAMENTAL INVESTMENT RESTRICTIONS

Each Fund also has adopted certain non-fundamental investment restrictions. A non-fundamental investment restriction may be amended by the Board of Trustees (“Board”) without a vote of shareholders.

1. A Fund may not invest more than 15% of its net assets in illiquid securities (10% for Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund). This limitation does not include any Rule 144A restricted security that has been determined by, or pursuant to procedures established by, the Board of Trustees, based on trading markets for such security, to be liquid.
2. In complying with the fundamental restriction regarding issuer diversification, a Fund will not, with respect to 75% of its total assets, purchase securities of any issuer (other than securities issued or guaranteed by the U.S. Government or any of its agencies or instrumentalities), if, as a result, (i) more than 5% of the Fund’s total assets would be invested in the securities of that issuer, or (ii) the Fund would hold more than 10% of the outstanding voting securities of that issuer. This limitation does not apply to Old Mutual Barrow Hanley Value Fund, Old Mutual Columbus Circle Technology and Communications Fund, Old Mutual Focused Fund, Old Mutual Large Cap Growth Concentrated Fund, and Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund.
3. In complying with the fundamental restriction regarding borrowing money and issuing senior securities, a Fund may borrow money in an amount not exceeding 33⅓% of its total assets (including the amount borrowed) less liabilities (other than borrowings). A Fund may borrow from banks, broker-dealers or an Affiliated Fund on such terms and conditions as the SEC may require in an exemptive order on which the Funds may rely. Each Fund, other than the Old Mutual Analytic U.S. Long/Short Fund, may not borrow for leveraging, but may borrow for temporary or emergency purposes, in anticipation of or in response to adverse market conditions, or for cash management purposes. Each Fund, except the Old Mutual Analytic U.S. Long/Short Fund, may not purchase additional securities when borrowings exceed 5% of the Fund’s total assets. The Old Mutual Analytic U.S. Long/Short Fund may borrow for leveraging and may engage in short sales up to the limits described in the Fund's prospectuses and this SAI.

4. In complying with the fundamental restriction regarding industry concentration, a Fund may invest up to (but not including) 25% of its total assets in the securities of issuers whose principal business activities are in the same industry. For purposes of this limitation, supranational organizations, such as The World Bank, the European Union and the European Coal and Steel Community, are deemed to be issuers conducting their principal business activities in the same industry; state and municipal governments and their agencies and authorities are not deemed to be industries; utility companies will be divided according to their services (e.g., gas distribution, gas transmission, electric and telephone will each be considered a separate industry); and financial service companies will be classified according to the end users of their services (e.g., automobile finance, bank finance and diversified finance). This limitation does not apply to the Old Mutual Columbus Circle Technology and Communications Fund or the Old Mutual Heitman REIT Fund.
5. In complying with the fundamental restriction with regard to making loans, a Fund may lend up to 33⅓% of its total assets and may lend money to another Affiliated Fund, on such terms and conditions as the SEC may require in an exemptive order on which the Funds may rely.
6. Notwithstanding the fundamental restriction with regard to investing all assets in an open-end fund, a Fund may not invest all of its assets in the securities of a single open-end management investment company with the same fundamental investment objectives, policies and restrictions as the Fund. A Fund may (i) purchase securities of other investment companies as permitted by Section 12 (d)(1) of the 1940 Act and (ii) invest its assets in securities of other money market funds and lend money to other Affiliated Funds, subject to the terms and conditions of any exemptive orders issued by the SEC on which the Funds may rely.

Except for investments in illiquid securities under Non-Fundamental Restriction number 1 and borrowing under Non-Fundamental Restriction number 3, the foregoing limitations will apply at the time of the purchase of a security.

EQUITY SECURITIES

Each Equity Fund may invest in equity securities, including common, preferred, and interests in publicly traded limited partnerships, and securities whose values are tied to the price of stocks, such as rights, warrants and convertible preferred and convertible debt securities.

Common Stocks. Common stocks represent units of ownership in a company. Common stocks usually carry voting rights and earn dividends. Unlike preferred stocks, which are described below, dividends on common stocks are not fixed but are declared at the discretion of the Board.

Preferred Stocks. Preferred stocks are also units of ownership in a company. Preferred stocks normally have preference over common stock in the payment of dividends and the liquidation of the company. However, in all other respects, preferred stocks are subordinated to the liabilities of the issuer. Unlike common stocks, preferred stocks are generally not entitled to vote on corporate matters. Types of preferred stocks include adjustable-rate preferred stock, fixed dividend preferred stock, perpetual preferred stock, and sinking fund preferred stock. Generally, the market values of preferred stock with a fixed dividend rate and no conversion element varies inversely with interest rates and perceived credit risk.

Interests in Publicly Traded Limited Partnerships. Interests in publicly traded limited partnerships (limited partnership interests or units) represent equity interests in the assets and earnings of the partnership's trade or business. Unlike common stock in a corporation, limited partnership interests have limited or no voting rights. However, many of the risks of investing in common stocks are still applicable to investments in limited partnership interests. See "Description of Permitted Investments - General Risks of Investing in Stocks." In addition, limited partnership interests are subject to risks not present in common stock. For example, interest income generated from limited partnerships deemed not to be "publicly traded" will not be considered "qualifying income" under the Code and may trigger adverse tax consequences (please refer to the "Taxes" section of this SAI for a discussion of relevant tax risks). Also, since publicly traded limited partnerships are a less common form of organizational structure than corporations, the limited partnership units may be less liquid than publicly traded common stock. Also, because of the difference in organizational structure, the fair value of limited partnership units in a Fund's portfolio may be based either upon the current market price of such units, or if there is no current market price, upon the pro rata value of the underlying assets of the partnership. Limited partnership units also have the risk that the limited partnership might, under certain circumstances, be treated as a general partnership giving rise to broader liability exposure to the limited partners for activities of the partnership. Further, the general partners of a limited partnership may be able to significantly change the business or asset structure of a limited partnership without the limited partners having any ability to disapprove any such changes. In certain limited partnerships, limited partners may also be required to return distributions previously made in the event that excess distributions have been made by the partnership, or in the event that the general partners, or their affiliates, are entitled to indemnification.

Rights and Warrants. Rights and warrants are securities which entitle the holder to purchase the securities of a company (usually, its common stock) at a specified price during a specified time period. The value of a right or warrant is affected by many of the same factors that determine the prices of common stocks. Rights and warrants may be purchased directly or acquired in connection with a corporate reorganization or exchange offer. A right is an instrument granting rights to existing shareholders of a corporation to subscribe to shares of a new issue of common stock at below the public offering price before the stock is offered to the public. A warrant is an instrument issued by a corporation that gives the holder the right to subscribe to a specific amount of the corporation's capital stock at a set price for a specified period of time. Rights and warrants do not represent ownership of the securities, but only the right to buy the securities. The prices of rights and warrants do not necessarily move parallel to the prices of underlying securities. Rights and warrants may be considered speculative in that they have no voting rights, pay no dividends, and have no rights with respect to the assets of a corporation issuing them. Right and warrant positions will not be used to increase the leverage of a Fund; consequently, right and warrant positions are generally accompanied by cash positions equivalent to the required exercise amount.

Convertible Securities. A convertible security entitles the holder to exchange it for a fixed number of shares of common stock or other equity security, usually at a fixed price within a specified period of time. Until conversion, the owner of convertible securities usually receives the interest paid on a convertible bond or the dividend preference of a preferred stock.

Convertible securities have characteristics similar to both fixed income and equity securities. Because of the conversion feature, the market value of convertible securities tends to move together with the market value of the underlying common stock. As a result, a Fund's selection of convertible securities is based, to a great extent, on the potential for capital appreciation that may exist in the underlying stock. The value of convertible securities is also affected by prevailing interest rates, the credit quality of the issuer, and any call provisions.

A synthetic convertible security is a combination investment in which a Fund purchases both (i) high-grade cash equivalents or a high grade debt obligation of an issuer or U.S. Government securities and (ii) call options or warrants on the common stock of the same or different issuer with some or all of the anticipated interest income from the associated debt obligation that is earned over the holding period of the option or warrant.

While providing a fixed income stream (generally higher in yield than the income derivable from common stock but lower than that afforded by a similar non-convertible security), a convertible security also affords a shareholder the opportunity, through its conversion feature, to participate in the capital appreciation attendant upon a market price advance in the convertible security's underlying common stock. A synthetic convertible position has similar investment characteristics, but may differ with respect to credit quality, time to maturity, trading characteristics and other factors. Because a Fund will create synthetic convertible positions only out of high grade fixed income securities, the credit rating associated with a Fund's synthetic convertible investments is generally expected to be higher than that of the average convertible security, many of which are rated below high grade. However, because the options used to create synthetic convertible positions will generally have expirations between one month and three years of the time of purchase, the maturity of these positions will generally be shorter than average for convertible securities. Since the option component of a convertible security or synthetic convertible position is a wasting asset (in the sense of losing "time value" as maturity approaches), a synthetic convertible position may lose such value more rapidly than a convertible security of longer maturity; however, the gain in option value due to appreciation of the underlying stock may exceed such time value loss. The market price of the option component generally reflects these differences in maturities, and the Adviser and applicable sub-adviser take such differences into account when evaluating such positions. When a synthetic convertible position "matures" because of the expiration of the associated option, a Fund may extend the maturity by investing in a new option with longer maturity on the common stock of the same or different issuer. If a Fund does not so extend the maturity of a position, it may continue to hold the associated fixed income security.

General Risks of Investing in Stocks. While investing in stocks allows shareholders to participate in the benefits of owning a company, such shareholders must accept the risks of ownership. Unlike bondholders, who have preference to a company's earnings and cash flow, preferred stockholders, followed by common stockholders in order of priority, are entitled only to the residual amount after a company meets its other obligations. For this reason, the value of a company's stock will usually react more strongly to actual or perceived changes in the company's financial condition or prospects than its debt obligations. Stockholders of a company that fares poorly can lose money.

Stock markets tend to move in cycles with short or extended periods of rising and falling stock prices. The value of a company's stock may fall because of:

- Factors that directly relate to that company, such as decisions made by its management or lower demand for the company's products or services;
- Factors affecting an entire industry, such as increases in production costs; and
- Changes in financial market conditions that are relatively unrelated to the company or its industry, such as changes in interest rates, currency exchange rates or inflation rates.

Because preferred stock is generally junior to debt securities and other obligations of the issuer, deterioration in the credit quality of the issuer will cause greater changes in the value of a preferred stock than in a more senior debt security with similar stated yield characteristics.

A Fund's investment in convertible securities or other securities may generate taxable income which may be treated differently for income tax and book income purposes. These differences in timing may result in the acceleration of income for income tax purposes, and may result in the recharacterization of capital gains and losses as ordinary income, thereby affecting the amount of required fund distributions.

DEBT SECURITIES

Debt securities include bonds, notes and other securities that give the holder the right to receive fixed amounts of principal, interest, or both on a date in the future or on demand. Debt securities also are often referred to as fixed-income securities, even if the rate of interest varies over the life of the security.

Corporate Bonds. Corporations issue bonds and notes to raise money for working capital or for capital expenditures such as plant construction, equipment purchases and expansion. In return for the money loaned to the corporation by shareholders, the corporation promises to pay shareholders interest, and repay the principal amount of the bond or note.

U.S. Government Agency Obligations. Certain Federal agencies such as the Government National Mortgage Association ("GNMA") have been established as instrumentalities of the United States Government to supervise and finance certain types of activities. Securities issued by these agencies, while not direct obligations of the United States Government, are either backed by the full faith and credit of the United States (e.g., GNMA securities) or supported by the issuing agencies' right to borrow from the Treasury. The securities issued by other agencies are supported only by the credit of the instrumentality (e.g., Tennessee Valley Authority securities).

Federal National Mortgage Association ("FNMA") is a government-sponsored corporation owned entirely by private stockholders. FNMA is regulated by the Secretary of Housing and Urban development. FNMA purchases conventional mortgages from a list of approved sellers and service providers, including state and federally-chartered savings and loan associations, mutual savings banks, commercial banks and credit unions and mortgage bankers. Securities issued by FNMA are agency securities, which means FNMA, but not the U.S. government, guarantees their timely payment of principal and interest.

Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation ("FHLMC") is a corporate instrumentality of the U.S. government whose stock is owned by the twelve Federal Home Loan Banks. Congress created FHLMC in 1970 to increase the availability of mortgage credit for residential housing. FHLMC issues Participation Certificates (PCs) which represent interests in conventional mortgages. Like FNMA, FHLMC guarantees the timely payment of interest and ultimate collection of principal, but PCs are not backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. government.

U.S. Government Securities. Bills, notes and bonds issued by the U.S. Government and backed by the full faith and credit of the United States.

U.S. Treasury Obligations. Bills, notes and bonds issued by the U.S. Treasury, and separately traded interest and principal component parts of such obligations that are transferable through the Federal book-entry system known as Separately Traded Registered Interest and Principal Securities ("STRIPS"). Under the STRIPS program, a Fund will be able to have its beneficial ownership of securities recorded directly in the book-entry record-keeping system in lieu of having to hold certificates or other evidences of ownership of the underlying U.S. Treasury securities. When U.S. Treasury obligations have been stripped of their unmatured interest coupons by the holder, the stripped coupons are sold separately or grouped with other coupons with like maturity dates and sold in such bundled form. The principal or corpus is sold at a deep discount because the buyer receives only the right to receive a future fixed payment on the security and does not receive any rights to periodic interest (cash) payments. Purchasers of stripped obligations acquire, in effect, discount obligations that are economically identical to the securities that the Treasury sells itself. Other facilities are available to facilitate the transfer of ownership of non-Treasury securities by accounting separately for the beneficial ownership of particular interest coupon and corpus payments on such securities through a book-entry record-keeping system.

Repurchase Agreements. Repurchase agreements are agreements by which a person (e.g., a Fund) obtains a security and simultaneously commits to return the security to the seller (a member bank of the Federal Reserve System or primary securities dealer as recognized by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York) at an agreed upon price (including principal and interest) on an agreed upon date within a number of days (usually not more than seven) from the date of purchase. The resale price reflects the purchase price plus an agreed upon market rate of interest which is unrelated to the coupon rate or maturity of the underlying security. A repurchase agreement involves the obligation of the seller to pay the agreed upon price, which obligation is in effect secured by the value of the underlying security.

Repurchase agreements are considered to be loans by a Fund for purposes of its investment limitations. The repurchase agreements entered into by the Funds will provide that the underlying security at all times shall have a value at least equal to 102% of the resale price stated in the agreement. With respect to all repurchase agreements entered into by a Fund, the Fund's custodians or their agents must take possession of the underlying collateral. However, if the seller defaults, the Fund could realize a loss on the sale of the underlying security to the extent that the proceeds of the sale, including accrued interest, are less than the resale price provided in the agreement including interest. In addition, even though the Bankruptcy Code provides protection for most repurchase agreements, if the seller should be involved in bankruptcy or insolvency proceedings, the Fund may incur delay and costs in selling the underlying security or may suffer a loss of principal and interest if the Fund is treated as an unsecured creditor of the seller and is required to return the underlying security to the seller's estate.

Mortgage-Backed Securities. Securities that include interests in pools of lower-rated debt securities, or consumer loans or mortgages, or complex instruments such as collateralized mortgage obligations and stripped mortgage-backed securities. The value of these securities may be significantly affected by changes in interest rates, the market's perception of the issuers, and the creditworthiness of the parties involved. Some securities may have a structure that makes their reaction to interest rates and other factors difficult to predict, making their value highly volatile. These securities may also be subject to prepayment risk.

Yield characteristics of mortgage-backed securities differ from those of traditional debt securities in a variety of ways. For example, payments of interest and principal are more frequent (usually monthly) and their interest rates are sometimes adjustable. In addition, a variety of economic, geographic, social and other factors, such as the sale of the underlying property, refinancing or foreclosure, can cause shareholders to repay the loans underlying a mortgage-backed security sooner than expected. If the prepayment rates increase, a Fund may have to reinvest its principal at a rate of interest that is lower than the rate on existing mortgage-backed securities.

Commercial Banks, Savings and Loan Institutions, Private Mortgage Insurance Companies, Mortgage Bankers and Other Secondary Market Issuers. Commercial banks, savings and loan institutions, private mortgage insurance companies, mortgage bankers and other secondary market issuers also create pass-through pools of conventional mortgage loans. In addition to guaranteeing the mortgage-related security, such issuers may service and/or have originated the underlying mortgage loans. Pools created by these issuers generally offer a higher rate of interest than pools created by GNMA, FNMA & FHLMC because they are not guaranteed by a government agency.

Collateralized Mortgage Obligations (CMOS). CMOs are hybrids between mortgage-backed bonds and mortgage pass-through securities. Similar to a bond, CMOs usually pay interest monthly and have a more focused range of principal payment dates than pass-through securities. While CMOs may be collateralized by whole mortgage loans, CMOs are more typically collateralized by mortgage-backed securities guaranteed by GNMA, FHLMC, or FNMA and their income streams.

A REMIC is a CMO that qualifies for special tax treatment under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, and invests in certain mortgages primarily secured by interests in real property and other permitted investments.

CMOs are structured into multiple classes, each bearing a different stated maturity. Each class of CMO or REMIC certificate, often referred to as a “tranche,” is issued at a specific interest rate and must be fully retired by its final distribution date. Generally, all classes of CMOs or REMIC certificates pay or accrue interest monthly. Investing in the lowest tranche of CMOs and REMIC certificates involves risks similar to those associated with investing in equity securities.

Mortgage Dollar Rolls. Each Fund (except Cash Reserves Fund) may invest in mortgage dollar rolls. In a mortgage dollar roll, a Fund sells a mortgage-backed security and simultaneously enters into a commitment to purchase a similar security at a later date. The fund either will be paid a fee by the counterparty upon entering into the transaction or will be entitled to purchase the similar security at a discount. As with any forward commitment, mortgage dollar rolls involve the risk that the counterparty will fail to deliver the new security on the settlement date, which may deprive the Fund of obtaining a beneficial investment. In addition, the security to be delivered in the future may turn out to be inferior to the security sold upon entering into the transaction. In addition, the transaction costs may exceed the return earned by the fund from the transaction.

Stripped Mortgage-Backed Securities. Stripped mortgage-backed securities are derivative multiple-class mortgage-backed securities. Stripped mortgage-backed securities usually have two classes that receive different proportions of interest and principal distributions on a pool of mortgage assets. Typically, one class will receive some of the interest and most of the principal, while the other class will receive most of the interest and the remaining principal. In extreme cases, one class will receive all of the interest (“interest only” or “IO” class) while the other class will receive the entire principal (“principal only” or “PO” class). The cash flow and yields on IOs and POs are extremely sensitive to the rate of principal payments (including prepayments) on the underlying mortgage loans or mortgage-backed securities. A rapid rate of principal payments may adversely affect the yield to maturity of IOs. Slower than anticipated prepayments of principal may adversely affect the yield to maturity of a PO. The yields and market risk of interest only and principal only stripped mortgage-backed securities, respectively, may be more volatile than those of other fixed income securities, including traditional mortgage-backed securities.

Other Asset-Backed Securities. These securities are interests in pools of a broad range of assets other than mortgages, such as automobile loans, computer leases and credit card receivables. Like mortgage-backed securities, these securities are pass-through. In general, the collateral supporting these securities is of shorter maturity than mortgage loans and is less likely to experience substantial prepayments with interest rate fluctuations.

Asset-backed securities present certain risks that are not presented by mortgage-backed securities. Primarily, these securities may not have the benefit of any security interest in the related assets, which raises the possibility that recoveries on repossessed collateral may not be available to support payments on these securities. For example, credit card receivables are generally unsecured and the debtors are entitled to the protection of a number of state and federal consumer credit laws, many of which allow debtors to reduce their balances by offsetting certain amounts owed on the credit cards. Most issuers of asset-backed securities backed by automobile receivables permit the servicers of such receivables to retain possession of the underlying obligations. If the servicer were to sell these obligations to another party, there is a risk that the purchaser would acquire an interest superior to that of the holders of the related asset-backed securities. Due to the quantity of vehicles involved and requirements under state laws, asset-backed securities backed by automobile receivables may not have a proper security interest in all of the obligations backing such receivables.

To lessen the effect of failures by obligors on underlying assets to make payments, the entity administering the pool of assets may agree to ensure the receipt of payments on the underlying pool occurs in a timely fashion (“liquidity protection”). In addition, asset-backed securities may obtain insurance, such as guarantees, policies or letters of credit obtained by the issuer or sponsor from third parties, for some or all of the assets in the pool (“credit support”). Delinquency or loss more than that anticipated or failure of the credit support could adversely affect the return on an investment in such a security.

A Fund may also invest in residual interests in asset-backed securities, which is the excess cash flow remaining after making required payments on the securities and paying related administrative expenses. The amount of residual cash flow resulting from a particular issue of asset-backed securities depends in part on the characteristics of the underlying assets, the coupon rates on the securities, prevailing interest rates, the amount of administrative expenses and the actual prepayment experience on the underlying assets.

Pay-In-Kind (PIK) Securities. The Dwight Intermediate Fixed Income Fund and Dwight Short Term Fixed Income Fund may invest in securities which pay interest either in cash or additional securities. These securities are generally high yield securities and, in addition to the other risks associated with investing in high yield securities, are subject to the risks that the interest payments which consist of additional securities are also subject to the risks of high yield securities.

Receipts. Receipts are separately traded interest and principal component parts of U.S. Treasury obligations that are issued by banks or brokerage firms and are created by depositing U.S. Treasury obligations into a special account at a custodian bank.

The custodian bank holds the interest and principal payments for the benefit of the registered owners of the receipts. The custodian bank arranges for the issuance of the receipts evidencing ownership and maintains the register.

Senior Loans. Senior Loans generally are arranged through private negotiations between a borrower and the lenders represented in each case by one or more agents of the several lenders. Senior Loans in which the Dwight Intermediate Fixed Income Fund and Dwight Short Term Fixed Income Fund may purchase interests generally pay interest at rates that are periodically redetermined by reference to a base lending rate plus a premium. These base lending rates are generally Prime Rate, LIBOR, the CD rate or other base lending rates used by commercial lenders. The Senior Loans in the Dwight Intermediate Fixed Income Fund’s and Dwight Short Term Fixed Income Fund’s investment portfolio will at all times have a dollar-weighted average time until next interest rate redetermination of 180 days or less. Because of prepayment provisions, the actual remaining maturity of Senior Loans may vary substantially from the stated maturity of such loans.

Structured Notes. The Dwight Intermediate Fixed Income Fund and Dwight Short Term Fixed Income Fund may invest in structured notes, including “total rate of return swaps,” with rates of return determined by reference to the total rate of return on one or more loans referenced in such notes. The rate of return on the structured note may be determined by applying a multiplier to the rate of total return on the referenced loan or loans. Application of a multiplier is comparable to the use of leverage, which magnifies the risk of loss, because a relatively small decline in the value of a referenced note could result in a relatively large loss in value. Structured notes are treated as Senior Loans.

Step Coupon Bonds (STEPS). The Dwight Intermediate Fixed Income Fund and Dwight Short Term Fixed Income Fund may invest in debt securities which pay interest at a series of different rates (including 0%) in accordance with a stated schedule for a series of periods. In addition to the risks associated with the credit rating of the issuers, these securities may be subject to more volatility risk than fixed rate debt securities.

Tender Option Bonds. A tender option bond is a municipal security (generally held pursuant to a custodial arrangement) having a relatively long maturity and bearing interest at a fixed rate substantially higher than prevailing short-term tax-exempt rates, that has been coupled with the agreement of a third party, such as a bank, broker-dealer or other financial institution, pursuant to which such institution grants the security holders the option, at periodic intervals, to tender their securities to the institution and receive the face value thereof. As consideration for providing the option, the financial institution receives periodic fees equal to the difference between the municipal security's fixed coupon rate and the rate, as determined by a remarketing or similar agent at or near the commencement of such period, that would cause the securities, coupled with the tender option, to trade at par on the date of such determination. Thus, after payment of this fee, the security holder effectively holds a demand obligation that bears interest at the prevailing short-term tax exempt rate. The Adviser or sub-adviser as the case may be, will consider on an ongoing basis the creditworthiness of the issuer of the underlying municipal securities, of any custodian, and of the third-party provider of the tender option. In certain instances and for certain tender option bonds, the option may be terminable in the event of a default in payment of principal of interest on the underlying municipal securities and for other reasons.

Variable and Floating Rate Instruments. Certain of the obligations purchased by a Fund may carry variable or floating rates of interest, may involve a conditional or unconditional demand feature and may include variable amount master demand notes. Such instruments bear interest at rates which are not fixed, but which vary with changes in specified market rates or indices, such as a Federal Reserve composite index. The interest rates on these securities may be reset daily, weekly, quarterly or some other reset period, and may have a floor or ceiling on interest rate changes. There is a risk that the current interest rate on such obligations may not accurately reflect existing market interest rates. A demand instrument with a demand notice exceeding seven days may be considered illiquid if there is no secondary market for such securities. The Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund will not invest more than 30% of its total assets in floating rate notes.

Zero Coupon Bonds. These securities make no periodic payments of interest, but instead are sold at a discount from their face value. When held to maturity, their entire income, which consists of accretion of discount, comes from the difference between the issue price and their value at maturity. The amount of the discount rate varies depending on factors including the time remaining until maturity, prevailing interest rates, the security's liquidity and the issuer's credit quality. The market value of zero coupon securities may exhibit greater price volatility than ordinary debt securities because a stripped security will have a longer duration than an ordinary debt security with the same maturity. A Fund's investments in pay-in-kind, delayed and zero coupon bonds may require it to sell certain of its Fund securities to generate sufficient cash to satisfy certain income distribution requirements.

Factors Affecting the Value of Debt Securities. The total return of a debt instrument is composed of two elements: the percentage change in the security's price and interest income earned. The yield to maturity of a debt security estimates its total return only if the price of the debt security remains unchanged during the holding period and coupon interest is reinvested at the same yield to maturity. The total return of a debt instrument, therefore, will be determined not only by how much interest is earned, but also by how much the price of the security and interest rates change.

Interest Rates. The price of a debt security generally moves in the opposite direction from interest rates (i.e., if interest rates go up, the value of the bond will go down, and vice versa).

Prepayment Risk. This risk affects mainly mortgage-backed securities. Unlike other debt securities, falling interest rates can hurt mortgage-backed securities, which may cause your share price to fall. Lower rates motivate people to pay off mortgage-backed and asset-backed securities earlier than expected. A Fund may then have to reinvest the proceeds from such prepayments at lower interest rates, which can reduce its yield. The unexpected timing of mortgage and asset-backed prepayments caused by the variations in interest rates may also shorten or lengthen the average maturity of a Fund. If left unattended, drifts in the average maturity of a Fund can have the unintended effect of increasing or reducing the effective duration of the Fund, which may adversely affect the expected performance of a Fund.

Extension Risk. The other side of prepayment risk occurs when interest rates are rising. Rising interest rates can cause a Fund's average maturity to lengthen unexpectedly due to a drop in mortgage prepayments. This would increase the sensitivity of a Fund to rising rates and its potential for price declines. Extending the average life of a mortgage-backed security increases the risk of depreciation due to future increases in market interest rates. For these reasons, mortgage-backed securities may be less effective than other types of U.S. government securities as a means of "locking in" interest rates.

Credit Ratings. Coupon interest is offered to shareholders of debt securities as compensation for assuming risk, although short-term Treasury securities, such as 3-month treasury bills, are considered "risk free." Corporate securities offer higher yields than Treasury securities because their payment of interest and complete repayment of principal is less certain. The credit rating or financial condition of an issuer may affect the value of a debt security. Generally, the lower the quality rating of a security, the greater the risks that the issuer will fail to pay interest and return principal. To compensate shareholders for taking on increased risk, issuers with lower credit ratings usually offer their shareholders a higher "risk premium" in the form of higher interest rates above comparable Treasury securities.

Changes in shareholder confidence regarding the certainty of interest and principal payments of a corporate debt security will result in an adjustment to this "risk premium." If an issuer's outstanding debt carries a fixed coupon, adjustments to the risk premium must occur in the price, which effects the yield to maturity of the bond. If an issuer defaults or becomes unable to honor its financial obligations, the bond may lose some or all of its value.

A security rated within the four highest rating categories by a rating agency is called "investment-grade" because its issuer is more likely to pay interest and repay principal than an issuer of a lower rated bond. Adverse economic conditions or changing circumstances, however, may weaken the capacity of the issuer to pay interest and repay principal. If a security is not rated or is rated under a different system, the adviser or sub-adviser may determine that it is of investment-grade. The adviser or sub-adviser may retain securities that are downgraded, if it believes that keeping those securities is warranted.

Debt securities rated below investment-grade (junk bonds) are highly speculative securities that are usually issued by smaller, less credit worthy and/or highly leveraged (indebted) companies. A corporation may issue a junk bond because of a corporate restructuring or other similar event. Compared with investment-grade bonds, junk bonds carry a greater degree of risk and are less likely to make payments of interest and principal. Market developments and the financial and business condition of the corporation issuing these securities influences their price and liquidity more than changes in interest rates, when compared to investment-grade debt securities. Insufficient liquidity in the junk bond market may make it more difficult to dispose of junk bonds and may cause a Fund to experience sudden and substantial price declines. A lack of reliable, objective data or market quotations may make it more difficult to value junk bonds accurately.

Rating agencies are organizations that assign ratings to securities based primarily on the rating agency's assessment of the issuer's financial strength. The Funds currently use ratings compiled by Moody's Investor Services ("Moody's"), Standard and Poor's Ratings Services ("S&P"), and Fitch. Credit ratings are only an agency's opinion, not an absolute standard of quality, and they do not reflect an evaluation of market risk. The section "Bond Ratings" contains further information concerning the ratings of certain rating agencies and their significance.

The adviser or sub-adviser may use ratings produced by ratings agencies as guidelines to determine the rating of a security at the time a Fund buys it. A rating agency may change its credit ratings at any time. The adviser or sub-adviser monitors the rating of the security and will take appropriate actions if a rating agency reduces the security's rating. A Fund is not obligated to dispose of securities whose issuers subsequently are in default or which are downgraded below the above-stated ratings. A Fund may invest in securities of any rating.

SHORT-TERM INVESTMENTS

Commercial Paper and Other Cash Equivalents. Commercial paper is the term for short-term promissory notes issued by domestic corporations to meet current working capital needs. Commercial paper may be unsecured by the corporation's assets but may be backed by a letter of credit from a bank or other financial institution. The letter of credit enhances the paper's creditworthiness. The issuer is directly responsible for payment but the bank "guarantees" that if the note is not paid at maturity by the issuer, the bank will pay the principal and interest to the buyer. Commercial paper is sold either in an interest-bearing form or on a discounted basis, with maturities not exceeding 270 days.

Bank Obligations. A Fund will only invest in a security issued by a commercial bank if the bank:

- Has total assets of at least $1 billion, or the equivalent in other currencies; and
- Is either a U.S. bank and a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation; or
- Is a foreign branch of a U.S. bank and the adviser believes the security is of an investment quality comparable with other debt securities that the Fund may purchase.

Bankers' Acceptance. A bill of exchange or time draft drawn on and accepted by a commercial bank. It is used by corporations to finance the shipment and storage of goods and to furnish dollar exchange. Maturities are generally six months or less.

Certificates of Deposit. A negotiable interest bearing instrument with a specific maturity. Certificates of deposit are issued by banks and savings and loan institutions in exchange for the deposit of funds and normally can be traded in the secondary market prior to maturity. Certificates of deposit generally carry penalties for early withdrawal and may therefore be considered illiquid.

Demand Instruments. Certain instruments may involve a conditional or unconditional demand feature which permits the holder to demand payment of the principal amount of the instrument. Demand instruments may include variable amount master demand notes.

Time Deposits. A non-negotiable receipt issued by a bank in exchange for the deposit of funds. Like a certificate of deposit, it earns a specified rate of interest over a definite period of time; however, it cannot be traded in the secondary market. Time deposits with a withdrawal penalty are considered to be illiquid securities.

DERIVATIVES

Derivatives are financial instruments whose value is based on an underlying asset, such as a stock or a bond, or an underlying economic factor, such as an interest rate or a market benchmark. A Fund may use derivatives for various purposes including to gain exposure to various markets in a cost efficient manner, to reduce transaction costs or to remain fully invested or to enhance return. A Fund may also invest in derivatives to protect its investments against changes resulting from market conditions (a practice known as “hedging”). When hedging is successful, a Fund will have offset any depreciation in the value of its portfolio securities by the appreciation in the value of the derivative position. Although techniques other than the sale and purchase of derivatives could be used to control the exposure of a Fund to market fluctuations, the use of derivatives may be a more effective means of hedging this exposure. To the extent that derivatives involve leveraging a Fund’s assets, the Fund will segregate assets with its custodian to cover the leveraged position, consistent with the rules and interpretations of the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) and its staff.

Futures Contracts

Futures Transactions. A futures contract is a bilateral agreement to buy or sell a security (or deliver a cash settlement price, in the case of a contract relating to an index or otherwise not calling for physical delivery at the end of trading in the contracts) for a set price in the future. Futures contracts are designated by boards of trade which have been designated “contracts markets” by the Commodities Futures Trading Commission (“CFTC”). Under exemptive regulations adopted by the CFTC, the Funds will not be registered with, or regulated by the CFTC as a commodity pool operator.

No purchase price is paid or received when the contract is entered into. Instead, a Fund upon entering into a futures contract (and to maintain that Fund’s open positions in futures contracts) would be required to deposit with its custodian in a segregated account in the name of the futures broker an amount of cash, or other assets, known as “initial margin.” The margin required for a particular futures contract is set by the exchange on which the contract is traded, and may be significantly modified from time to time by the exchange during the term of the contract. By using futures contracts as a risk management technique, it may be possible to accomplish certain results more quickly and with lower transaction costs. In addition, in fixed income portfolios, a futures contract may be used to modify the duration of the portfolio or particular securities in the portfolio.

If the price of an open futures contract changes (by increase in the case of a sale or by decrease in the case of a purchase) so that the loss on the futures contract reaches a point at which the margin on deposit does not satisfy margin requirements, the broker will require an increase in the margin. However, if the value of a position increases because of favorable price changes in the futures contract so that the margin deposit exceeds the required margin, the broker will pay the excess to the Fund. These subsequent payments called “variation margin,” to and from the futures broker, are made on a daily basis as the price of the underlying assets fluctuate making the long and short positions in the futures contract more or less valuable, a process known as “marking to the market.” A Fund may earn interest income on its initial and variation margin deposits.

A Fund will incur brokerage fees when it purchases and sells futures contracts. Positions taken in the futures markets are not normally held until delivery or cash settlement is required, but are instead liquidated through offsetting transactions that may result in a gain or a loss. While futures positions taken by a Fund will usually be liquidated in this manner, a Fund may instead make or take delivery of underlying securities whenever it appears economically advantageous to that Fund to do so. A clearing organization associated with the exchange on which futures are traded assumes responsibility for closing out transactions and guarantees that as between the clearing members of an exchange, the sale and purchase obligations will be performed with regard to all positions that remain open at the termination of the contract.

Securities Index Futures Contracts. Purchases or sales of securities index futures contracts may be used in an attempt to protect each of the Fund's current or intended investments from broad fluctuations in securities prices. A securities index futures contract does not require the physical delivery of securities, but merely provides for profits and losses resulting from changes in the market value of the contract to be credited or debited at the close of each trading day to the respective accounts of the parties to the contract. On the contract's expiration date a final cash settlement occurs and the futures positions are simply closed out. Changes in the market value of a particular index futures contract reflect changes in the specified index of securities on which the future is based.

By establishing an appropriate "short" position in index futures, a Fund may also seek to protect the value of its portfolio against an overall decline in the market for such securities. Alternatively, in anticipation of a generally rising market, a Fund can seek to avoid losing the benefit of apparently low current prices by establishing a "long" position in securities index futures and later liquidating that position as particular securities are in fact acquired. To the extent that these hedging strategies are successful, a Fund will be affected to a lesser degree by adverse overall market price movements than would otherwise be the case.

Limitations on Purchase and Sale of Futures Contracts. In instances involving the purchase of futures contracts by a Fund, an amount of cash or other liquid assets, equal to the cost of such futures contracts (less any related margin deposits), will be deposited in a segregated account with its custodian, thereby insuring that the use of such futures contract is unleveraged. In instances involving the sale of futures or index futures contracts, the Fund will at all times cover such contracts by maintaining securities underlying such futures contracts, options to acquire offsetting futures contracts, liquid assets, and/or securities the price changes of which are, in the opinion of its Adviser or sub-adviser expected to replicate substantially the movement of such futures or index future contract.

For information concerning the risks associated with utilizing futures contracts, please refer the "Risks of Transactions in Futures Contracts and Options" section of this SAI below.

Options. Options are contracts that give one of the parties to the contract the right to buy or sell the security that is subject to the option at a stated price during the option period, and obligates the other party to the contract to buy or sell such security at the stated price during the option period. The types of options transactions that each Fund may utilize are discussed below.

Writing Call Options. A call option is a contract which gives the purchaser of the option (in return for a premium paid) the right to buy, and the writer of the option (in return for a premium received) the obligation to sell, the underlying security at the exercise price at any time prior to the expiration of the option, regardless of the market price of the security during the option period. A call option on a security is covered, for example, when the writer of the call option owns the security on which the option is written (or on a security convertible into such a security without additional consideration) throughout the option period.

A Fund will write covered call options both to reduce the risks associated with certain of its investments and to increase total investment return through the receipt of premiums. In return for the premium income, a Fund will give up the opportunity to profit from an increase in the market price of the underlying security above the exercise price so long as its obligations under the contract continue, except insofar as the premium represents a profit. Moreover, in writing the call option, a Fund will retain the risk of loss should the price of the security decline. The premium is intended to offset that loss in whole or in part. Unlike the situation in which a Fund owns securities not subject to a call option, a Fund, in writing call options, must assume that the call may be exercised at any time prior to the expiration of its obligation as a writer, and that in such circumstances the net proceeds realized from the sale of the underlying securities pursuant to the call may be substantially below the prevailing market price.

A Fund may terminate its obligation under an option it has written by buying an identical option. Such a transaction is called a “closing purchase transaction.” A Fund will realize a gain or loss from a closing purchase transaction if the amount paid to purchase a call option is less or more than the amount received from the sale of the corresponding call option. Also, because increases in the market price of a call option will generally reflect increases in the market price of the underlying security, any loss resulting from the exercise or closing out of a call option is likely to be offset in whole or part by unrealized appreciation of the underlying security owned by the Fund. When an underlying security is sold from a Fund’s securities portfolio, that Fund will effect a closing purchase transaction so as to close out any existing covered call option on that underlying security.

Writing Put Options. The writer of a put option becomes obligated to purchase the underlying security at a specified price during the option period if the buyer elects to exercise the option before its expiration date. A Fund when it writes a put option will be required to “cover” it, for example, by depositing and maintaining in a segregated account with its custodian cash, or other liquid obligations having a value equal to or greater than the exercise price of the option.

A Fund may write put options either to earn additional income in the form of option premiums (anticipating that the price of the underlying security will remain stable or rise during the option period and the option will therefore not be exercised) or to acquire the underlying security at a net cost below the current value (e.g., the option is exercised because of a decline in the price of the underlying security, but the amount paid by such Fund, offset by the option premium, is less than the current price). The risk of either strategy is that the price of the underlying security may decline by an amount greater than the premium received. The premium which a Fund receives from writing a put option will reflect, among other things, the current market price of the underlying security, the relationship of the exercise price to that market price, the historical price volatility of the underlying security, the option period, supply and demand and interest rates.

A Fund may effect a closing purchase transaction to realize a profit on an outstanding put option or to prevent an outstanding put option from being exercised.

Purchasing Put and Call Options. A Fund may purchase put options on securities to protect its holdings against a substantial decline in market value. The purchase of put options on securities will enable a Fund to preserve, at least partially, unrealized gains in an appreciated security in its portfolio without actually selling the security. In addition, a Fund will continue to receive interest or dividend income on the security. A Fund may also purchase call options on securities to protect against substantial increases in prices of securities that the Fund intends to purchase pending its ability to invest in an orderly manner in those securities. A Fund may sell put or call options it has previously purchased, which could result in a net gain or loss depending on whether the amount received on the sale is more or less than the premium and other transaction cost paid on the put or call option which was bought.

Securities Index Options. A Fund may write covered put and call options and purchase call and put options on securities indexes for the purpose of hedging against the risk of unfavorable price movements adversely affecting the value of the Fund’s securities or securities it intends to purchase. A Fund will only write “covered” options. A call option on a securities index is considered covered, for example, if, so long as the Fund is obligated as the writer of the call, it holds securities the price changes of which are, in the opinion of the Adviser or sub-adviser, expected to replicate substantially the movement of the index or indexes upon which the options written by the Fund are based. A put on a securities index written by a Fund will be considered covered if, so long as it is obligated as the writer of the put, the Fund segregates with its custodian cash or other liquid obligations having a value equal to or greater than the exercise price of the option. Unlike a stock option, which gives the holder the right to purchase or sell a specified stock at a specified price, an option on a securities index gives the holder the right to receive a cash “exercise settlement amount” equal to (i) the difference between the exercise price of the option and the value of the underlying stock index on the exercise date, multiplied by (ii) a fixed “index multiplier.” A securities index fluctuates with changes in the market value of the securities so included. For example, some securities index options are based on a broad market index such as the S&P 500 or the NYSE Composite Index, or a narrower market index such as the S&P 100. Indexes may also be based on an industry or market segment such as the AMEX Oil and Gas Index or the Computer and Business Equipment Index.

Options on Futures. An option on a futures contract provides the holder with the right to buy a futures contract (in the case of a call option) or sell a futures contract (in the case of a put option) at a fixed time and price. Upon exercise of the option by the holder, the contract market clearing house establishes a corresponding short position for the writer of the option (in the case of a call option) or a corresponding long position (in the case of a put option). If the option is exercised, the parties will be subject to the futures contracts. In addition, the writer of an option on a futures contract is subject to initial and variation margin requirements on the option position. Options on futures contracts are traded on the same contract market as the underlying futures contract.

The buyer or seller of an option on a futures contract may terminate the option early by purchasing or selling an option of the same series (i.e., the same exercise price and expiration date) as the option previously purchased or sold. The difference between the premiums paid and received represents the trader’s profit or loss on the transaction.

A Fund may purchase put and call options on futures contracts instead of selling or buying futures contracts. A Fund may buy a put option on a futures contract for the same reasons it would sell a futures contract. It also may purchase such put options in order to hedge a long position in the underlying futures contract. A Fund may buy call options on futures contracts for the same purpose as the actual purchase of the futures contracts, such as in anticipation of favorable market conditions.

A Fund may write a call option on a futures contract to hedge against a decline in the prices of the instrument underlying the futures contracts. If the price of the futures contract at expiration were below the exercise price, the Fund would retain the option premium, which would offset, in part, any decline in the value of its Fund securities.

The writing of a put option on a futures contract is similar to the purchase of the futures contracts, except that, if the market price declines, a Fund would pay more than the market price for the underlying instrument. The premium received on the sale of the put option, less any transaction costs, would reduce the net cost to the Funds.

A Fund will “cover” any options it writes on futures contracts by, for example, segregating cash or liquid securities with the Fund’s custodian and marking to market daily an amount sufficient to cover the futures contract.

Combined Positions. A Fund may purchase and write options in combination with each other, or in combination with futures or forward contracts, to adjust the risk and return characteristics of the overall position. For example, a Fund could construct a combined position whose risk and return characteristics are similar to selling a futures contract by purchasing a put option and writing a call option on the same underlying instrument. Alternatively, a Fund could write a call option at one strike price and buy a call option at a lower price to reduce the risk of the written call option in the event of a substantial price increase. Because combined options positions involve multiple trades, they result in higher transaction costs and may be more difficult to open and close out.

Over-The-Counter Options. A Fund may enter into contracts to write over-the-counter options with primary dealers. The Funds have established standards of creditworthiness for these primary dealers, although the Fund may still be subject to the risk that firms participating in these transactions will fail to meet their obligations.

As with written exchange-traded options, a Fund must segregate liquid assets to cover its exposure under written over-the-counter options, and the segregated assets must be marked to market daily. A Fund must treat its entire exposure under a contract as illiquid unless the contract provides that the Fund has the absolute right to repurchase the written option at any time at a repurchase price which represents the fair market value, as determined in good faith through negotiation between the parties, but which in no event will exceed a price determined pursuant to a formula contained in the contract. Although the specific details of the formula may vary between contracts with different primary dealers, the formula will generally be based on a multiple of the premium received by a Fund for writing the option, plus the amount, if any, that the option is “in-the-money” (i.e., the amount by which the price of the option exceeds the exercise price). The formula will similarly take into account whether the option is “out-of-the-money.” If a contract gives the Fund an absolute right to repurchase the written option at a pre-established formula price, the Fund would treat as illiquid only securities equal in amount to the formula price less the amount by which the option is “in-the-money.”

Risks of Transactions in Futures Contracts and Options.

Futures

The prices of futures contracts are volatile and are influenced, among other things, by actual and anticipated changes in the market and interest rates, which in turn are affected by fiscal and monetary policies and national and international political and economic events.

Most United States futures exchanges limit the amount of fluctuation permitted in futures contract prices during a single trading day. The daily limit establishes the maximum amount that the price of a futures contract may vary either up or down from the previous day’s settlement price at the end of a trading session. Once the daily limit has been reached in a particular type of futures contract, no trades may be made on that day at a price beyond that limit. The daily limit governs only price movement during a particular trading day and therefore does not limit potential losses, because the limit may prevent the liquidation of unfavorable positions. Futures contract prices have occasionally moved to the daily limit for several consecutive trading days with little or no trading, thereby preventing prompt liquidation of futures positions and subjecting some futures traders to substantial losses.

Because of the low margin deposits required, futures trading involves an extremely high degree of leverage. As a result, a relatively small price movement in a futures contract may result in immediate and substantial loss, as well as gain, to the investor. For example, if at the time of purchase, 10% of the value of the futures contract is deposited as margin, a subsequent 10% decrease in the value of the futures contract would result in a total loss of the margin deposit, before any deduction for the transaction costs, if the account were then closed out. A 15% decrease would result in a loss equal to 150% of the original margin deposit, if the futures contract were closed out.

Thus, a purchase or sale of a futures contract may result in losses in excess of the amount invested in the futures contract.

A decision of whether, when, and how to hedge involves skill and judgment, and even a well-conceived hedge may be unsuccessful to some degree because of unexpected market behavior, market trends or interest rate trends. There are several risks in connection with the use by a Fund of futures contracts as a hedging device. One risk arises because of the imperfect correlation between movements in the prices of the futures contracts and movements in the prices of the underlying instruments that are the subject of the hedge. The Adviser or sub-adviser will, however, attempt to reduce this risk by entering into futures contracts whose movements, in its judgment, will have a significant correlation with movements in the prices of the Fund's underlying instruments sought to be hedged.

Successful use of futures contracts by a Fund for hedging purposes is also subject to the Fund's ability to correctly predict movements in the direction of the market. It is possible that, when a Fund has sold futures to hedge its portfolio against a decline in the market, the index, indices, or instruments underlying futures might advance and the value of the underlying instruments held in that Fund's portfolio might decline. If this were to occur, the Fund would lose money on the futures and also would experience a decline in value in its underlying instruments.

Positions in futures contracts may be closed out only on an exchange or a board of trade, which provides the market for such futures. Although a Fund intends to purchase or sell futures only on exchanges or boards of trade where there appears to be an active market, there is no guarantee that such will exist for any particular contract or at any particular time. If there is not a liquid market at a particular time, it may not be possible to close a futures position at such time, and, in the event of adverse price movements, the Fund would continue to be required to make daily cash payments of variation margin.

However, in the event futures positions are used to hedge portfolio securities, the securities will not be sold until the futures positions can be liquidated. In such circumstances, an increase in the price of securities, if any, may partially or completely offset losses on the futures contracts. Further, the counterparty to a futures contract could default.

Options

A closing purchase transaction for exchange-traded options may be made only on a national securities exchange. There is no assurance that a liquid secondary market on an exchange will exist for any particular option, or at any particular time, and for some options, such as over-the-counter options, no secondary market on an exchange may exist. If a Fund is unable to affect a closing purchase transaction, that Fund will not sell the underlying security until the option expires or the Fund delivers the underlying security upon exercise.

Options traded in the over-the-counter market may not be as actively traded as those on an exchange. Accordingly, it may be more difficult to value such options. In addition, it may be difficult to enter into closing transactions with respect to options traded over-the-counter. The Fund will engage in such transactions only with firms of sufficient credit so as to minimize these risks. Such options and the securities used as "cover" for such options may be considered illiquid securities.

The effectiveness of hedging through the purchase of securities index options will depend upon the extent to which price movements in the portion of the securities portfolio being hedged correlate with price movements in the selected securities index. Perfect correlation is not possible because the securities held or to be acquired by a Fund will not exactly match the composition of the securities indexes on which options are written. In the purchase of securities index options the principal risk is that the premium and transaction costs paid by a Fund in purchasing an option will be lost if the changes (increase in the case of a call, decrease in the case of a put) in the level of the index do not exceed the cost of the option.

An exchange may establish limitations governing the maximum number of calls and puts in each class (whether or not covered) which may be written by a single investor or group of investors acting in concert (regardless of whether the options are written on the same or different exchanges or are held or written in one or more accounts or through one or more brokers). It is possible that the Fund and clients advised by the Adviser or the applicable sub-adviser may constitute such a group. An exchange may order the liquidation of positions found to be in violation of these limits, and it may impose certain other sanctions. These position limits may limit the number of options that a Fund can write on a particular security.

Caps, Collars and Floors. Caps and floors have an effect similar to buying or writing options. In a typical cap or floor agreement, one party agrees to make payments only under specified circumstances, usually in return for payment of a fee by the other party. For example, the buyer of an interest rate cap obtains the right to receive payments to the extent that a specified interest rate exceeds an agreed-upon level. The seller of an interest rate floor is obligated to make payments to the extent that a specified interest rate falls below an agreed-upon level. An interest rate collar combines elements of buying a cap and selling a floor.

Inverse Floaters. Each Fund (except Cash Reserves Fund) may invest in inverse floaters. Inverse floaters are derivative securities whose interest rates vary inversely to changes in short-term interest rates and whose values fluctuate inversely to changes in long-term interest rates. The value of certain inverse floaters will fluctuate substantially more in response to a given change in long-term rates than would a traditional debt security. These securities have investment characteristics similar to leverage, in that interest rate changes have a magnified effect on the value of inverse floaters.

Swap Agreements. A swap is a financial instrument that typically involves the exchange of cash flows between two parties on specified dates (settlement dates), where the cash flows are based on agreed-upon prices, rates, indices, etc. The nominal amount on which the cash flows are calculated is called the notional amount. Swaps are individually negotiated and structured to include exposure to a variety of different types of investments or market factors, such as interest rates, foreign currency rates, mortgage securities, corporate borrowing rates, security prices, indexes or inflation rates.

Swap agreements may increase or decrease the overall volatility of the investments of a Fund and its share price. The performance of swap agreements may be affected by a change in the specific interest rate, currency, or other factors that determine the amounts of payments due to and from a Fund. If a swap agreement calls for payments by a Fund, the Fund must be prepared to make such payments when due. In addition, if the counter-party's creditworthiness declines, the value of a swap agreement would be likely to decline, potentially resulting in losses.

Generally, swap agreements have a fixed maturity date that will be agreed upon by the parties. The agreement can be terminated before the maturity date only under limited circumstances, such as default by one of the parties or insolvency, among others, and can be transferred by a party only with the prior written consent of the other party. A Fund may be able to eliminate its exposure under a swap agreement either by assignment or by other disposition, or by entering into an offsetting swap agreement with the same party or a similarly creditworthy party. If the counter-party is unable to meet its obligations under the contract, declares bankruptcy, defaults or becomes insolvent, a Fund may not be able to recover the money it expected to receive under the contract.

A swap agreement can be a form of leverage, which can magnify a Fund's gains or losses. In order to reduce the risk associated with leveraging, a Fund may cover its current obligations under swap agreements according to guidelines established by the SEC. If a Fund enters into a swap agreement on a net basis, it will segregate assets with a daily value at least equal to the excess, if any, of the Fund's accrued obligations under the swap agreement over the accrued amount the Fund is entitled to receive under the agreement. If a Fund enters into a swap agreement on other than a net basis, it will segregate assets with a value equal to the full amount of the Fund's accrued obligations under the agreement.

Equity Swaps. In a typical equity swap, one party agrees to pay another party the return on a stock, stock index or basket of stocks in return for a specified interest rate. By entering into an equity index swap, for example, the index receiver can gain exposure to stocks making up the index of securities without actually purchasing those stocks. Equity index swaps involve not only the risk associated with investment in the securities represented in the index, but also the risk that the performance of such securities, including dividends, will not exceed the return on the interest rate that a Fund will be committed to pay.

Interest Rate Swaps. Interest rate swaps are financial instruments that involve the exchange of one type of interest rate for another type of interest rate cash flow on specified dates in the future. Some of the different types of interest rate swaps are “fixed-for floating rate swaps,” “termed basis swaps” and “index amortizing swaps.” Fixed-for floating rate swaps involve the exchange of fixed interest rate cash flows for floating rate cash flows. Termed basis swaps entail cash flows to both parties based on floating interest rates, where the interest rate indices are different. Index amortizing swaps are typically fixed-for floating swaps where the notional amount changes if certain conditions are met.

Like a traditional investment in a debt security, a Fund could lose money by investing in an interest rate swap if interest rates change adversely. For example, if a Fund enters into a swap where it agrees to exchange a floating rate of interest for a fixed rate of interest, a Fund may have to pay more money than it receives. Similarly, if a Fund enters into a swap where it agrees to exchange a fixed rate of interest for a floating rate of interest, a Fund may receive less money than it has agreed to pay.

Currency Swaps. A currency swap is an agreement between two parties in which one party agrees to make interest rate payments in one currency and the other promises to make interest rate payments in another currency. A Fund may enter into a currency swap when it has one currency and desires a different currency. Typically the interest rates that determine the currency swap payments are fixed, although occasionally one or both parties may pay a floating rate of interest. Unlike an interest rate swap, however, the principal amounts are exchanged at the beginning of the contract and returned at the end of the contract. Changes in foreign exchange rates and changes in interest rates, as described above, may negatively affect currency swaps.

FOREIGN SECURITIES AND DEPOSITARY RECEIPTS

Each of the Funds may invest in foreign securities. Investing in the securities of foreign issuers involves special risks and considerations not typically associated with investing in U.S. companies. These risks and considerations include differences in accounting, auditing and financial reporting standards, generally higher commission rates on foreign portfolio transactions, the possibility of expropriation or confiscatory taxation, adverse changes in investment or exchange control regulations, political instability which could affect U.S. investment in foreign countries and potential restrictions on the flow of international capital and currencies. Foreign issuers may also be subject to less government regulation than U.S. companies. Moreover, the dividends and interest payable on foreign securities may be subject to foreign withholding taxes, thus reducing the net amount of income available for distribution to a Fund’s shareholders. Further, foreign securities often trade with less frequency and volume than domestic securities and, therefore, may exhibit greater price volatility. Changes in foreign exchange rates will affect, favorably or unfavorably, the value of those securities which are denominated or quoted in currencies other than the U.S. dollar.

Investments in emerging markets may be considered speculative, and therefore may offer higher potential for gains and losses than investments in developed markets of the world. With respect to any emerging country, there may be greater potential for nationalization, expropriation or confiscatory taxation, political changes, government regulation, social instability or diplomatic developments (including war) which could affect adversely the economies of such countries or the value of the Fund’s investments in those countries. In addition, it may be difficult to obtain and enforce a judgment in the courts of such countries. Further, the economies of developing countries generally are heavily dependent upon international trade and, accordingly, have been and may continue to be adversely affected by trade barriers, exchange controls, managed adjustments in relative currency values and other protectionist measures imposed or negotiated by the countries with which they trade.

Currency Transactions. A Fund may hold foreign currency deposits from time to time, and may convert dollars and foreign currencies in the foreign exchange markets. Currency conversion involves dealer spreads and other costs, although commissions usually are not charged. Currencies may be exchanged on a spot (i.e., cash) basis, or by entering into forward contracts to purchase or sell foreign currencies at a future date and price. Forward contracts generally are traded in an interbank market conducted directly between currency traders (usually large commercial banks) and their customers. The parties to a forward contract may agree to offset or terminate the contract before maturity, or may hold the contract to maturity and complete the contemplated currency exchange.

A Fund may use currency forward contracts to manage currency risks and to facilitate transactions in foreign securities. The following discussion summarizes the principal currency management strategies involving forward contracts that could be used by the Funds.

In connection with purchases and sales of securities denominated in foreign currencies, a Fund may enter into currency forward contracts to fix a definite price for the purchase or sale in advance of the trade's settlement date. This technique is sometimes referred to as a "settlement hedge" or "transaction hedge." The Adviser or the applicable sub-adviser may enter into settlement hedges in the normal course of managing the Fund's foreign investments. A Fund may also enter into forward contracts to purchase or sell a foreign currency in anticipation of future purchases or sales of securities denominated in foreign currency, even if the specific investments have not yet been selected by the Adviser or the applicable sub-adviser.

A Fund may also use forward contracts to hedge against a decline in the value of existing investments denominated in foreign currency. For example, if a Fund owned securities denominated in pounds sterling, it could enter into a forward contract to sell pounds sterling in return for U.S. dollars to hedge against possible declines in the pound's value. Such a hedge, sometimes referred to as a "position hedge," would tend to offset both positive and negative currency fluctuations, but would not offset changes in security values caused by other factors. A Fund could also hedge the position by selling another currency expected to perform similarly to the pound sterling - for example, by entering into a forward contract to sell Deutschmark or European Currency Units in return for U.S. dollars. This type of hedge, sometimes referred to as a "proxy hedge," could offer advantages in terms of cost, yield, or efficiency, but generally would not hedge currency exposure as effectively as a simple hedge into U.S. dollars. Proxy hedges may result in losses if the currency used to hedge does not perform similarly to the currency in which the hedged securities are denominated.

Under certain conditions, guidelines of the SEC require mutual funds to set aside appropriate liquid assets in a segregated account to cover currency forward contracts. As required by SEC guidelines, each Fund will segregate assets to cover currency forward contracts, if any, whose purpose is essentially speculative. A Fund will not segregate assets to cover forward contracts entered into for hedging purposes, including settlement hedges, position hedges, and proxy hedges.

Successful use of forward currency contracts will depend on the skill of the Adviser or the applicable sub-adviser in analyzing and predicting currency values. Forward contracts may substantially change a Fund's investment exposure to changes in currency exchange rates, and could result in losses to a Fund if currencies do not perform as the Adviser or the applicable sub-adviser anticipates. For example, if a currency's value rose at a time when the Adviser or sub-adviser had hedged a Fund by selling that currency in exchange for dollars, a Fund would be unable to participate in the currency's appreciation. If the Adviser or a sub-adviser hedges a Fund's currency exposure through proxy hedges, the Fund could realize currency losses from the hedge and the security position at the same time if the two currencies do not move in tandem. Similarly, if the Adviser or the applicable sub-adviser increases a Fund's exposure to a foreign currency and that currency's value declines, the Fund will realize a loss. There is no assurance that the use of forward currency contracts by the Adviser or the sub-advisers will be advantageous to a Fund or that it will hedge at an appropriate time.

European Economic and Monetary Union. The European Economic and Monetary Union (the "EMU") currently has 28 European states as members, with several additional states being considered for membership. The EMU adopted the "euro" as a common currency on January 1, 1999 and subordinated the national currencies of each country until such time as the national currencies are phased out entirely. The euro could adversely affect the value of securities held by the Fund because as the euro is implemented as the common currency, there may be changes in the relative value of the U.S. dollar and other major currencies, as well as possible adverse tax consequences. In addition, the introduction of the euro may affect the fiscal and monetary levels of participating EMU countries and may also increase price competition among business firms within EMU countries and between businesses in EMU and non-EMU countries. These uncertainties raise the possibility of increased volatility in the financial markets of the affected countries.

American Depositary Receipts (ADRS), European Depositary Receipts (EDRS), and Global Depositary Receipts (GDRS). ADRs are securities, typically issued by a U.S. financial institution (a "Depository"), that evidence ownership interests in a security or a pool of securities issued by a foreign issuer and deposited with the Depository. EDRs are receipts issued by non-U.S. banks or trust companies and foreign branches of U.S. banks that evidence ownership of the underlying foreign securities. GDRs, which are sometimes referred to as Continental Depositary Receipts (CDRs), are securities, typically issued by a non-U.S. financial institution, that evidence ownership interests in a security or a pool of securities issued by either a U.S. or foreign issuer. ADRs, EDRs, GDRs and CDRs may be available for investment through "sponsored" or "unsponsored" facilities. A sponsored facility is established jointly by the issuer of the security underlying the receipt and a Depository, whereas an unsponsored facility may be established by a Depository without participation by the issuer of the receipt's underlying security.

Holders of an unsponsored depositary receipt generally bear all the costs of the unsponsored facility. The Depository of an unsponsored facility frequently is under no obligation to distribute shareholder communications received from the issuer of the deposited security or to pass through to the holders of the receipts voting rights with respect to the deposited securities.

OTHER PERMITTED INVESTMENTS

Interfund Loans. Each Fund may lend uninvested cash up to 15% of its net assets to other current and future Old Mutual Advisor Funds II and Old Mutual Insurance Series Fund portfolios advised by Old Mutual Capital as well as to portfolios of other registered investment companies whose investment adviser is controlling, controlled by, or under common control with Old Mutual Capital ("Affiliated Funds") and each Fund may borrow from other Affiliated Funds to the extent permitted under such Fund's investment restrictions. If a Fund has borrowed from other Affiliated Funds and has aggregate borrowings from all sources that exceed 10% of such Fund's total assets, such Fund will secure all of its loans from other Affiliated Funds by pledging securities or other Fund assets whose value equals or exceeds 102% of the aggregate outstanding borrowing amount. The ability of a Fund to lend its securities to other Affiliated Funds is subject to certain other terms and conditions contained in an exemptive order issued by the SEC to Old Mutual Advisor Funds II, Old Mutual Insurance Series Fund and Old Mutual Capital. Borrowing creates leverage and can magnify a Fund's losses, which risk is mitigated by limiting the amount that a Fund can borrow. For more information about the Funds' borrowing limitations, see number 3 of the "Investment Limitations – Non-Fundamental Restrictions" section of this SAI.

Investment Company Shares. Each Fund may acquire securities of other investment companies, subject to the limitations of the 1940 Act. Applicable regulations prohibit a Fund from acquiring the securities of other investment companies that are not "part of the same group of investment companies" if, as a result of such acquisition; (i) the Fund owns more than 3% of the total voting stock of the company; (ii) more than 5% of the Fund's total assets are invested in securities of any one investment company; or (iii) more than 10% of the total assets of the Fund are invested in securities (other than treasury stock) issued by all investment companies. Should a Fund purchase securities of other investment companies, shareholders may incur additional management, advisory, and distribution fees.

Securities of other investment companies that may be purchased by the Funds include Exchange-traded funds ("ETFs"). An ETF is a type of index fund that trades like a common stock and represent a fixed portfolio of securities designed to track a particular market index. A Fund may purchase an ETF to temporarily gain exposure to a portion of the U.S. or a foreign market pending the purchase of individual securities. The risks of owning an ETF generally reflect the risks of owning the underlying securities it is designed to track, although the potential lack of liquidity of an ETF could result in it being more volatile. Additionally, ETFs have management fees which increase their costs. All Funds may invest in ETFs, with the same percentage limitations as investments in other registered investment companies.

Initial Public Offerings (IPOs). Each Equity Fund may invest a portion of its assets in securities of companies offering shares in IPOs. IPOs may have a magnified performance impact on a Fund with a small asset base. The impact of IPOs on a Fund's performance likely will decrease as the Fund's asset size increases, which could reduce the Fund's total returns. IPOs may not be consistently available to a Fund for investing, particularly as the Fund's asset base grows. Because IPO shares frequently are volatile in price, the Funds may hold IPO shares for a very short period of time. This may increase the turnover of a Fund and may lead to increased expenses for a Fund, such as commissions and transaction costs. By selling shares, a Fund may realize taxable gains it will subsequently distribute to shareholders. In addition, the market for IPO shares can be speculative and/or inactive for extended periods of time. The limited number of shares available for trading in some IPOs may make it more difficult for a Fund to buy or sell significant amounts of shares without an unfavorable impact on prevailing prices. Shareholders in IPO shares can be affected by substantial dilution in the value of their shares, by sales of additional shares and by concentration of control in existing management and principal shareholders.

A Fund's investment in IPO shares may include the securities of unseasoned companies (companies with less than three years of continuous operations), which presents risks considerably greater than common stocks of more established companies. These companies may have limited operating histories and their prospects for profitability may be uncertain. These companies may be involved in new and evolving businesses and may be vulnerable to competition and changes in technology, markets and economic conditions. They may be more dependent on key managers and third parties and may have limited product lines.

Municipal Lease Obligations. Each Fund (except Cash Reserves Fund) may invest in municipal lease obligations. Although a municipal lease obligation does not constitute a general obligation of the municipality for which the municipality's taxing power is pledged, a municipal lease obligation is ordinarily backed by the municipality's covenant to budget for, appropriate and make the payments due under the municipal lease obligation. However, certain lease obligations contain "non-appropriation" clauses which provide that the municipality has no obligation to make lease or clauses which provide that the municipality has no obligation to make lease or installment purchase payments in future years unless money is appropriated for such purpose on a yearly basis. Although "non-appropriation" lease obligations are secured by the leased property, disposition of the property in the event of foreclosure might prove difficult. In addition, the tax treatment of such obligations in the event of non-appropriation is unclear.

Participation Interests. Each Fund (except Cash Reserves Fund) may invest in participation interests either by purchasing them directly or by purchasing certificates of accrual or similar instruments evidencing direct ownership of interest payments or principal payments, or both, on municipal obligations, provided that, in the opinion of counsel to the initial seller of each such certificate or instrument, any discount accruing on such certificate or instrument that is purchased at a yield not greater than the coupon rate of interest on the related municipal obligations will be exempt from federal income tax to the same extent as interest on such municipal obligations. Each Fund may also invest in tax-exempt obligations by purchasing from banks participation interests in all or part of specific holdings of municipal obligations. Such participations may be backed in whole or part by an irrevocable letter of credit or guarantee of the selling bank. The selling bank may receive a fee from a Fund in connection with the arrangement. Each Fund will not purchase such participation interests unless it receives an opinion of counsel or a ruling of the Internal Revenue Service that interest earned by it on municipal obligations in which it holds such participation interests is exempt from federal income tax.

Over-The-Counter Securities. Each Fund (except the Cash Reserves, Dwight Short Term Fixed Income and Dwight Intermediate Fixed Income Funds) may invest in over-the-counter stocks. In contrast to the securities exchanges, the over-the-counter market is not a centralized facility that limits trading activity to securities of companies which initially satisfy certain defined standards. Generally, the volume of trading in an unlisted or over-the-counter common stock is less than the volume of trading in a listed stock. This means that the depth of market liquidity of some stocks in which each Fund invests may not be as great as that of other securities and, if the Funds were to dispose of such a stock, they might have to offer the shares at a discount from recent prices, or sell the shares in small lots over an extended period of time.

Securities That Are Not Readily Marketable. The Funds may invest up to 15% of the value of their net assets (10% for the Cash Reserves Fund), measured at the time of investment, in investments that are not readily marketable. A security which is not "readily marketable" is generally considered to be a security that cannot be disposed of within seven days in the ordinary course of business at approximately the amount at which it is valued.

Subject to the foregoing 15%/10 limitation, the Funds may invest in restricted securities. "Restricted" securities generally include securities that are not registered under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "1933 Act"), and are subject to legal or contractual restrictions upon resale. Restricted securities nevertheless may be "readily marketable" and can often be sold in privately negotiated transactions or in a registered public offering. There are an increasing number of securities being issued without registration under the 1933 Act for which a liquid secondary market exists among institutional investors such as the Funds. These securities are often called "Rule 144A" securities (see discussion below).

A Fund may not be able to dispose of a security that is not "readily marketable" at the time desired or at a reasonable price. In addition, in order to resell such a security, a Fund might have to bear the expense and incur the delays associated with effecting registration. In purchasing such securities, no Fund intends to engage in underwriting activities, except to the extent a Fund may be deemed to be a statutory underwriter under the 1933 Act in disposing of such securities.

Rule 144A Securities. In recent years, a large institutional market has developed for certain securities that are not registered under the 1933 Act. Institutional investors generally will not seek to sell these instruments to the general public, but instead will often depend on an efficient institutional market in which such unregistered securities can readily be resold or on an issuer's ability to honor a demand for repayment.

Therefore, the fact that there are contractual or legal restrictions on resale to the general public or certain institutions is not dispositive of the liquidity of such investments.

Rule 144A under the 1933 Act establishes a "safe harbor" from the registration requirements of the 1933 Act for resales of certain securities to qualified institutional buyers. The Funds may invest in Rule 144A securities that may or may not be readily marketable. Rule 144A securities are readily marketable if institutional markets for the securities develop that provide both readily ascertainable values for the securities and the ability to liquidate the securities when liquidation is deemed necessary or advisable. However, an insufficient number of qualified institutional buyers interested in purchasing a Rule 144A security held by a Fund could affect adversely the marketability of the security. In such an instance, the Fund might be unable to dispose of the security promptly or at reasonable prices.

Under the supervision of the Board of Trustees, the Adviser or sub-advisers determine the liquidity of the Trust's investments and, through reports from the Adviser or sub-advisers, the Board monitors investments in illiquid instruments. In determining the liquidity of a Fund's investments, the Adviser or sub-advisers may consider various factors including: (i) the frequency of trades and quotations; (ii) the number of dealers and prospective purchasers in the marketplace; (iii) dealer undertakings to make a market; (iv) the nature of the security (including any demand or tender features); and (v) the nature of the market place for trades (including the ability to assign or offset a Fund's rights and obligations relating to the investment). Investments currently considered by a Fund to be illiquid include repurchase agreements not entitling the holder to payment of principal and interest within seven days, over-the-counter options, and non-government stripped fixed-rate mortgage backed securities. Also, the Adviser or sub-advisers may determine some government-stripped fixed-rate mortgage backed securities, loans and other direct debt instruments, and swap agreements to be illiquid. However, with respect to over-the-counter options a Fund writes, all or a portion of the value of the underlying instrument may be illiquid depending on the assets held to cover the option and the nature and terms of any agreement a Fund may have to close out the option before expiration. In the absence of market quotations, illiquid investments are priced at fair value as determined in good faith by a committee appointed by the Board of Trustees. If, through a change in values, net assets or other circumstances, a Fund was in a position where more than 15% (10% for Cash Reserves Fund) of its net assets were invested in illiquid securities, it would seek to take appropriate steps to protect liquidity.

Securities Lending. A Fund may lend a portion of its total assets to broker-dealers or other financial institutions. It may then reinvest the collateral it receives in short-term securities and money market funds. If a Fund lends its securities, it will follow the following guidelines:

- The borrower must provide collateral at least equal to the market value of the securities loaned;
- The collateral must consist of cash, an irrevocable letter of credit issued by a domestic U.S. bank or securities issued or guaranteed by the U.S. government;
- The borrower must add to the collateral whenever the price of the securities loaned rises (i.e., the borrower "marks to the market" on a daily basis);
- The Fund must be able to terminate the loan at any time;
- The Fund must receive reasonable interest on the loan (which may include the Fund investing any cash collateral in interest bearing short-term investments); and
- The Fund must determine that the borrower is an acceptable credit risk.

These risks are similar to the ones involved with repurchase agreements. When a Fund lends securities, there is a risk that the borrower will become financially unable to honor its contractual obligations. If this happens, a Fund could:

- Lose its rights in the collateral and not be able to retrieve the securities it lent to the borrower; and
- Experience delays in recovering its securities.

Senior Securities. The term “senior security,” as defined in Section 18(g) of the Investment Company Act of 1940, means any bond, debenture, note, or similar obligation or instrument constituting a security and evidencing indebtedness, and any stock of a class having priority over any other class as to distribution of assets or payment of dividends; and “senior security representing indebtedness” means any senior security other than stock.

The term “senior security” shall not include any promissory note or other evidence of indebtedness issued in consideration of any loan, extension, or renewal thereof, made by a bank or other person and privately arranged, and not intended to be publicly distributed; nor shall such term include any such promissory note or other evidence of indebtedness in any case where such a loan is for temporary purposes only and in an amount not exceeding 5% of the value of the total assets of the issuer at the time when the loan is made. A loan shall be presumed to be for temporary purposes if it is repaid within sixty days and is not extended or renewed; otherwise it shall be presumed not to be for temporary purposes. Any such presumption may be rebutted by evidence.

Short Sales.

Description of Short Sales. A security is sold short when a Fund sells a security it does not own. To sell a security short, a Fund must borrow the security from someone else to deliver it to the buyer. The Fund then replaces the borrowed security by purchasing it at the market price at or before the time of replacement. Until it replaces the security, the Fund repays the person that lent it the security for any interest or dividends that may have accrued during the period of the loan. The Dwight Intermediate Fixed Income Fund will not engage in short sales.

A Fund typically sells securities short to:

- Take advantage of an anticipated decline in prices;
- Protect a profit in a security it already owns; and
- With respect to the Analytic U.S. Long/Short Fund, better enable the sub-adviser to underweight stocks versus its benchmark, the S&P 500 Index.

A Fund can lose money if the price of the security it sold short increases between the date of the short sale and the date on which the Fund replaces the borrowed security. Likewise, a Fund can profit if the price of the security declines between those dates.

To borrow the security, a Fund also may be required to pay a premium, which would increase the cost of the security sold. A Fund will incur transaction costs in effecting short sales. A Fund’s gains and losses will be decreased or increased, as the case may be, by the amount of the premium, dividends, interest, or expenses the Fund may be required to pay in connection with a short sale.

The broker will retain the net proceeds of the short sale to the extent necessary to meet margin requirements until the short position is closed out.

Short Sales Against the Box. In addition, a Fund may engage in short sales “against the box.” In a short sale against the box, a Fund agrees to sell at a future date a security that it either currently owns or has the right to acquire at no extra cost. A Fund will incur transaction costs to open, maintain and close short sales against the box.

Restrictions on Short Sales. A Fund will not short sell a security if:

- After giving effect to such short sale, the total market value of all securities sold short would exceed 33.3% of the value of a Fund’s net assets;
- The market value of the securities of any single issuer that have been sold short by a Fund would exceed 2% of the value of a Fund’s net assets; and
- Such securities would constitute more than 2% of any class of the issuer’s securities.

Whenever a Fund sells a security short, its custodian segregates an amount of cash or liquid securities equal to the difference between (a) the market value of the securities sold short at the time they were sold short and (b) any cash or U.S. Government securities the Fund is required to deposit with the broker in connection with the short sale (not including the proceeds from the short sale). The segregated assets are marked to market daily in an attempt to ensure that the amount deposited in the segregated account plus the amount deposited with the broker is at least equal to the market value of the securities at the time they were sold short.

Stand-By Commitments. When a Fund purchases municipal obligations, it may also acquire stand-by commitments from banks and broker-dealers with respect to such municipal obligations. A stand-by commitment is the equivalent of a put option acquired by the Fund with respect to a particular municipal obligation held in its portfolio. A stand-by commitment is a security independent of the municipal obligation to which it relates. The amount payable by a bank or dealer during the time a stand-by commitment is exercisable, absent unusual circumstances relating to a change in market value, would be substantially the same as the value of the underlying municipal obligation. A stand-by commitment might not be transferable by the Fund, although it could sell the underlying municipal obligation to a third party at any time.

Each Fund expects that stand-by commitments generally will be available without the payment of direct or indirect consideration. However, if necessary and advisable, a Fund may pay for stand-by commitments either separately in cash or by paying a higher price for portfolio securities which are acquired subject to such a commitment (thus reducing the yield to maturity otherwise available for the same securities). The total amount paid in either manner for outstanding stand-by commitments held by a Fund will not exceed 10% of the value of the Fund’s total assets calculated immediately after each stand-by commitment is acquired. A Fund will enter into stand-by commitments only with banks and broker-dealers that, in the judgment of the Adviser or sub-adviser, as the case may be, present minimal credit risks.

When-Issued and Delayed-Delivery Securities. When-issued and delayed-delivery securities are securities subject to settlement on a future date. For fixed income securities, the interest rate realized on when-issued or delayed-delivery securities is fixed as of the purchase date and no interest accrues to a Fund before settlement. These securities are subject to market fluctuation due to changes in market interest rates and will have the effect of leveraging a Fund’s assets. The Funds are permitted to invest in forward commitments or when-issued securities where such purchases are for investment and not for leveraging purposes. One or more segregated accounts will be established with the Custodian, and the Funds will maintain liquid assets in such accounts in an amount at least equal in value to each Fund's commitments to purchase when-issued securities. Only the Old Mutual Analytic U.S. Long/Short, Old Mutual Growth, Old Mutual Heitman REIT, Old Mutual Large Cap, Old Mutual Mid-Cap, Old Mutual Small Cap, Old Mutual Dwight Intermediate Fixed Income and Old Mutual Dwight Short Term Fixed Income Funds are permitted to invest in these securities. These Funds use segregated accounts to offset leverage risk.

Other Investments. Subject to prior disclosure to shareholders, the Board may, in the future, authorize the Funds to invest in securities other than those listed here and in the prospectuses, provided that such investment would be consistent with the respective Fund's investment objective and that it would not violate any fundamental investment policies or restrictions applicable to the Fund.

ADDITIONAL INVESTMENT INFORMATION

PORTFOLIO TURNOVER

Fund turnover will tend to rise during periods of economic turbulence and decline during periods of stable growth. A higher turnover rate increases transaction costs (e.g., brokerage commissions) and increases realized gains and losses. A 100% portfolio turnover rate would occur if all of the securities in the portfolio were replaced during the period. During the fiscal years ended March 31, 2005 and March 31, 2006, respectively, the portfolio turnover rate for each of the Funds was as follows:

Equity Funds	2005	2006
Old Mutual Analytic U.S. Long/Short Fund	173.71%	208.15%
Old Mutual Barrow Hanley Value Fund	20.03%	26.88%
Old Mutual Columbus Circle Technology and Communications Fund	63.05%	104.99%
Old Mutual Emerging Growth Fund	68.28%	157.70%
Old Mutual Focused Fund	192.04%	110.47%
Old Mutual Growth Fund	36.93%	102.94%
Old Mutual Heitman REIT Fund	82.58%	69.95%
Old Mutual Large Cap Fund	152.98%	77.33%
Old Mutual Large Cap Growth Fund	35.70%	110.59%
Old Mutual Large Cap Growth Concentrated Fund	41.95%	128.58%
Old Mutual Mid-Cap Fund	116.71%	81.91%
Old Mutual Select Growth Fund	141.68%	157.84%
Old Mutual Small Cap Fund	98.18%	116.13%
Old Mutual Strategic Small Company Fund	80.38%	148.73%
Old Mutual TS&W Small Cap Value Fund	27.69%	41.45%
Fixed Income Funds
Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund	N/A	N/A
Old Mutual Dwight Intermediate Fixed Income Fund	350.28%	435.30%
Old Mutual Dwight Short Term Fixed Income Fund	400.26%	196.42%

High rates of portfolio turnover necessarily result in correspondingly greater brokerage and portfolio trading costs, which are paid by the Fund. Trading in fixed-income securities does not generally involve the payment of brokerage commissions, but does involve indirect transaction costs. In addition to portfolio trading costs, higher rates of portfolio turnover may result in the realization of capital gains. To the extent net short-term capital gains are realized, any distributions resulting from such gains are considered ordinary income for federal income tax purposes.

PORTFOLIO HOLDINGS DISCLOSURE POLICY

The Trust and Old Mutual Capital have adopted a Holdings Communication Policy (the “Holdings Policy”) to safeguard Fund holdings information. Under the Holdings Policy, Fund holdings information related to each Fund, including the top holdings, will normally be made available to the general public at www.omfunds.com on the 15th calendar day after the end of each calendar quarter. Certain entities or individuals that provide services to the Trust or the Adviser may receive portfolio holdings information prior to and more frequently than the public disclosure of such information (“non-standard disclosure”), as described below.

As part of the normal investment activities of each Fund, non-public portfolio holdings information may be provided to the Trust’s service providers which have contracted to provide services to the Trust (including the Custodian, Administrator, Sub-Administrator, broker-dealers in connection with the purchase or sale of securities or requests for price quotations or bids, Counsel to the Trust or the independent Trustees, the Trust’s auditors, and certain others). These service providers are required to maintain the confidentiality of the information disclosed either by explicit agreement or by virtue of their respective duties to the Trust. Other entities and individuals that may receive non-standard disclosure of portfolio holdings information include the Trust’s independent Trustees, in connection with their regular duties, regulatory authorities and parties to litigation.

Under the Holdings Policy, non-standard disclosure of portfolio holdings information may also be provided to entities that provide a service to Old Mutual Capital, provided that the service is related to the investment advisory services that Old Mutual Capital provides to the Trust. Such disclosure may only be made subject to the following conditions:

- a written request for non-standard disclosure must be submitted to and approved in writing by either Old Mutual Capital’s chief compliance officer, general counsel or chief investment officer;
- the request must relate to an appropriate business purpose; and
- the holdings information is disclosed pursuant to the terms of a written confidentiality agreement between Old Mutual Capital and the recipient of the holdings information, unless such party is a regulatory or other governmental entity.

These conditions are intended to ensure that non-standard disclosure is only made when it is in the best interest of shareholders and to avoid any potential conflicts of interest. In addition, any conflicts of interest in granting a request to permit non-standard disclosure are mitigated by requiring the recipient to enter into a written confidentiality agreement prior to receipt of such information. In addition, conflicts of interest are further monitored by the fact that Old Mutual Capital regularly presents to the Trust’s Board of Trustees the list of recipients of non-standard disclosure of portfolio holdings information (other than regular service providers described above).

Old Mutual Capital, its affiliates and the Trust will not knowingly or intentionally enter into any arrangements with third-parties from which they derive consideration for the disclosure of non-public holdings information. If, in the future, Old Mutual Capital or its affiliates desire to make such arrangements, the appropriate party would seek prior Board approval and such arrangements would be disclosed in this SAI.

Listed below are the entities that currently receive non-standard disclosure of Fund holdings information. Neither the Trust, Old Mutual Capital, nor any other entity receives any compensation or other consideration in connection with each such arrangement.

SETTLEMENTS AND PENDING LITIGATION

In connection with a settlement by the Trust's former adviser of market timing and selective disclosure actions filed by the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") and New York Attorney General's Office ("NYAG"), the former adviser agreed to adopt additional compliance policies and procedures ("Compliance Undertakings") and meet certain corporate governance obligations. Many of the Compliance Undertakings are more extensive than that required by current regulations. Since these Compliance Undertakings represented protection to the Funds and the portfolios of the affiliated investment company, Old Mutual Insurance Series Fund, and their shareholders, the Adviser has contractually agreed to assume all such Compliance Undertakings. In addition, the Adviser has agreed to meet the following future obligations of the former adviser:

- (a) use its best efforts to obtain the agreement of the Trust to hold a meeting of the Trust's shareholders, not less than every fifth calendar year starting in 2005, at which the Board of Trustees will be elected;
- (b) maintain a compliance and ethics oversight infrastructure that includes a Code of Ethics Oversight Committee having responsibility for all matters relating to issues arising under the Adviser's Code of Ethics;
- (c) maintain an Internal Compliance Controls Committee, to be chaired by the Adviser's Chief Compliance Officer and include senior executives of the Adviser's operating businesses, which shall review compliance issues throughout the Adviser's business, endeavor to develop solutions to such issues, and oversee implementation of such solutions;
- (d) establish a corporate ombudsman to whom the Adviser's employees may communicate concerns about the Adviser's business matters that they believe implicate matters of ethics or questionable practices and the Adviser shall review such matters and solutions with the Trust's independent Trustees;

- (e) have its Chief Compliance Officer be responsible for matters related to conflicts of interest and to report to the Trust's independent Trustees any breach of fiduciary duty and/or federal securities law of which he or she becomes aware in the course of carrying out his or her duties;
- (f) retain an Independent Distribution Consultant to develop a distribution Plan to pay disgorgement and penalty amounts, and any interest earnings thereon. The Distribution Plan shall provide for investors to receive from the monies available for distribution, in order of priority, (i) their proportionate shares of losses suffered by the Trust due to market timing, and (ii) a proportionate share of advisory fees paid by the Trust's portfolios that suffered such losses during the period of such market timing;
- (g) retain an Independent Compliance Consultant to conduct a comprehensive review of the Adviser's supervisory, compliance and other policies and procedures designed to prevent and detect breaches of fiduciary duty, the Code of Ethics and the Federal securities laws by the Adviser and its employees;
- (h) obtain a report from the Independent Compliance Consultant of its findings of its review of the Adviser, and provide such report to the Trust's Board of Trustees and the SEC staff. In addition, the Adviser shall adopt all recommendations in the report of the Independent Compliance Consultant, or with respect to any recommendation the Adviser considers unnecessary or inappropriate, propose in writing an alternative policy, procedure or system designed to achieve the same objective or purpose;
- (i) undergo, every third year commencing in 2006, a compliance review by a third party who is not an interested person, as defined in the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, of the Adviser;
- (j) reduce management fees by at least $2 million, in the first of five years, from the management fees that would have been paid by the Trust's portfolios based on the management fees, expense reimbursement and assets under management as of December 31, 2003, and not revise its management fees for a period of five years;
- (k) not provide advisory services to the Trust or Old Mutual Insurance Series Fund (together, the "Old Mutual Funds") unless the Chairman of the Board of the Old Mutual Funds has no Impermissible Relationships, as defined below, with the former adviser or its affiliated persons and at least 75% of each Old Mutual Fund's Board are not "interested persons" (as defined in the 1940 Act) or former directors, officers or employees of the Trust's former adviser or any of its affiliates during the preceding 10 years;
- (l) allow a senior officer ("Senior Officer") hired by the Trust to assist the Trust's Board of Trustees in (i) establishing a process to ensure that proposed management fees to be charged to the Trust are reasonable and negotiated at "arms-length," and (ii) determining the reasonableness of the proposed management fees by: (a) supervising an annual competitive bidding process; or (b) preparing or directing the preparation of an annual written independent evaluation of the proposed management fees addressing a number of factors designated by the NYAG;

- (m) publicly disclose a reasonable summary of the evaluation provided by the Senior Officer with respect to management fees and the opinions or conclusions of the Board with respect thereto. The summary shall be posted on the Trust's website and accompany each portfolio's prospectus, and the availability of such summary shall also be displayed predominantly in periodic account statements furnished to Fund shareholders;
- (n) disclose with each periodic account statement sent to investors by the Adviser, its affiliates or a mutual fund for which the Adviser provides services: (i) the fees and costs in actual dollars, charged to each investor based upon the investor's most recent quarterly account balance; and (ii) the fees and costs, in actual dollars, that would be charged on a hypothetical investment of $10,000 held for 10 years and the impact of such fees and costs on fund returns for each year and cumulatively, assuming a 5% return for each year and continuation of the reduced management fee rates (such fees and costs based on $10,000 are the "Hypothetical Fee and Cost Information");
- (o) maintain a prominent posting on the Trust's website of a fee/cost calculator and the Hypothetical Fee and Cost Information; and
- (p) disclose the Hypothetical Fee and Cost Information in the Trust's applicable prospectuses.

Impermissible Relationships include, but are not limited to, any of the following types of relationships: commercial, banking, financial, legal, accounting, consulting, advisory, familial, charitable, employee, director, trustee or officer, provided that a charitable relationship shall not be deemed an Impermissible Relationship if the charitable relationship is disclosed to the Board of Trustees.

Under the NYAG settlement, if the terms and undertakings in that settlement as described above in points (k) through (m) are not met, the NYAG settlement stipulates that the Adviser shall promptly terminate its management of Old Mutual Advisor Funds II. In this event, Old Mutual Advisor Funds II Board of Trustees would be required to seek new management for the Funds or to consider other alternatives.

A list of pending civil lawsuits that involve one or more Funds, their investment adviser and/or certain other related parties and that are related to the settled actions filed by the SEC and/or the NYAG against various defendants may be found in Exhibit C.

The Board of Trustees has two standing committees: the Governance and Nominating Committee and the Audit Committee. Currently, the members of each Committee are John Bartholdson, Leigh Wilson, Jettie Edwards and Albert Miller, comprising all the disinterested Trustees.

Governance and Nominating Committee. The Governance and Nominating Committee selects and nominates those persons for membership on the Trust's Board of Trustees who would be disinterested trustees, reviews and determines compensation for the disinterested Trustees and selects independent legal counsel, as set forth in Rule 0-1(6), to provide the disinterested Trustees with legal advice as needed. During the Trust's fiscal year ended March 31, 2006, the Governance and Nominating Committee held 5 meetings.

The Governance and Nominating Committee shall consider nominees recommended in writing by a shareholder (other than shareholder recommendations of himself or herself) to serve as trustees, provided: (i) that such person is a shareholder of one or more series of the Trust at the time he or she submits such names and is entitled to vote at the meeting of shareholders at which trustees will be elected; and (ii) that the Governance and Nominating Committee or the Board, as applicable, shall make the final determination of persons to be nominated. The Governance and Nominating Committee shall evaluate nominees recommended by a shareholder to serve as trustees in the same manner as they evaluate nominees identified by the Committee.

A shareholder who desires to recommend a nominee shall submit a request in writing by regular mail or delivery service to the following address: Old Mutual Capital, Inc., 4643 South Ulster Street, 6th Floor, Denver, Colorado 80237, Attention: Secretary of Old Mutual Advisor Funds II. Such request shall contain (i) the name, address and telephone number of, and number of Trust shares owned by, the person or entity or group of persons or entities on whose behalf the recommendation is being made, and the related account name, number and broker or account provider name, and (ii) if any of such persons were not record owners of the Trust at the time the recommendation was submitted, verification acceptable in form and substance to the Trust of such person's ownership of the Trust at the time the recommendation was made.

Audit Committee. The Audit Committee oversees the financial reporting process for the Trust by monitoring the Trust's audit process and results. As part of this process, the Audit Committee recommends the selection of an independent audit firm for the approval of the entire Board of Trustees and evaluates the independent audit firm's performance, costs and financial stability. During the Trust's fiscal year ended March 31, 2006, the Audit Committee held 4 meetings.

THE INVESTMENT ADVISER, SUB-ADVISERS AND OTHER SERVICE PROVIDERS

The Adviser

Effective January 1, 2006, the Board of Trustees (the “Board”) approved Old Mutual Capital, Inc. (“Old Mutual Capital” or the “Adviser”), to serve as the investment adviser to each Fund, replacing Liberty Ridge Capital, Inc. (“Liberty Ridge”). This appointment became effective on April 19, 2006, for the Old Mutual Focused, Old Mutual Heitman REIT, Old Mutual Small Cap, Old Mutual Strategic Small Company, Old Mutual TS&W Small Cap Value, Old Mutual Dwight Intermediate Fixed Income and Old Mutual Dwight Short Term Fixed Income Funds and on May 17, 2006, for the Old Mutual Analytic U.S. Long/Short, Old Mutual Barrow Hanley Value, Old Mutual Columbus Circle Technology and Communications, Old Mutual Emerging Growth, Old Mutual Growth, Old Mutual Large Cap, Old Mutual Large Cap Growth, Old Mutual Large Cap Growth Concentrated, Old Mutual Mid-Cap, Old Mutual Select Growth and Old Mutual Cash Reserves Funds, when shareholders voted to approve the Management Agreement between the Trust and Old Mutual Capital. Prior to that, Liberty Ridge served as the Trust’s investment adviser. Between January 1, 2006 and the date shareholders approved the Management Agreement, Old Mutual Capital served as the investment adviser to each Fund under an interim investment advisory agreement approved by the Board.

The Adviser is an indirect, wholly-owned subsidiary of Old Mutual plc (“Old Mutual”). Old Mutual is an international financial services group based in London, with operations in life assurance, asset management, banking and general insurance. Old Mutual’s principal offices are located at Old Mutual Place, 2 Lambeth Hill, London, EC4V 4GG, United Kingdom. In addition to advising the Funds, the Adviser provides advisory services to Old Mutual Insurance Series Fund and Old Mutual Advisor Funds, registered investment companies that are affiliates of the Adviser. The principal business address of the Adviser is 4643 S. Ulster Street, 6th Floor, Denver, Colorado 80237.

Old Mutual Fund Services, the Trust’s Administrator, is an affiliate of the Adviser and an indirect wholly-owned subsidiary of the Adviser’s direct parent, Old Mutual (US) Holdings Inc. (please refer to “The Administrator” section of this SAI for more detail on Old Mutual Fund Services). Old Mutual Fund Services also serves as administrator to Old Mutual Insurance Series Fund and Old Mutual Advisor Funds. Old Mutual Investment Partners (which also does business as Old Mutual Fund Distributors), the Trust’s Distributor, is also an affiliate of the Adviser and an indirect wholly-owned subsidiary of the Adviser’s direct parent, Old Mutual (US) Holdings Inc. (please refer to “The Distributor” section of this SAI for more detail on Old Mutual Investment Partners). Old Mutual Investment Partners also serves as distributor to Old Mutual Insurance Series Fund and Old Mutual Advisor Funds.

The Management Agreement obligates the Adviser to: (i) provide a program of continuous investment management for the Funds in accordance with each Fund’s investment objectives, policies and limitations; (ii) make asset allocation and investment decisions for the Funds; and (iii) place orders to purchase and sell securities for the Funds, subject to the supervision of the Board. The Management Agreement also requires the Adviser to pay its overhead and employee costs and the compensation and expenses of all its partners, officers and employees who serve as officers and executive employees of the Trust. The Agreements provide that the Adviser is not responsible for other expenses of operating the Trust. In addition to these advisory services, Agreements obligate Old Mutual Capital to provide the following services: (i) compliance services designed to ensure the Trust’s compliance with applicable federal and state securities laws, rules and regulations; (ii) certain legal services, including without limitation preparing, reviewing and/or filing the Trust’s regulatory reports; and (iii) regular reporting to the Board on the activities of the Trust and the Sub-Advisers. The Management Agreement also requires Old Mutual Capital to oversee the sub-advisers employed to provide portfolio management services to the Funds, including: overseeing the investment decisions of each sub-adviser and conducting ongoing performance reviews and reviewing and monitoring the portfolio trading by each sub-adviser, including without limitation, trade allocation policies and procedures, best execution and the use of soft dollars. The Management Agreement provides certain limitations on the Adviser's liability, but also provide that the Adviser shall not be protected against any liability to the Trust, its Funds or its shareholders by reason of willful misfeasance, bad faith or gross negligence on its part in the performance of its duties or from reckless disregard of its obligations or duties thereunder.

The Management Agreement also includes an obligation that the Adviser perform the administrative services that were previously provided to the Funds by Old Mutual Fund Services under an administrative services agreement. These administrative services include: (i) overseeing the administration of the Trust's, and each Fund's, business and affairs; (ii) assisting the Trust in selecting, coordinating the activities of, supervising and acting as liaison with any other person or agent engaged by the Trust, excluding sub-advisers; (iii) assisting in developing, reviewing, maintaining and monitoring the effectiveness of the Trust's accounting policies and procedures; (iv) assisting in developing, implementing and monitoring the Trust's use of automated systems for purchase, sale, redemption and transfer of Fund shares and the payment of sales charges and services fees; (v) responding to all inquiries from Fund shareholders or otherwise answer communications from Fund shareholders if such inquiries or communications are directed to the Adviser; and (vi) furnishing such information, reports, evaluations, analyses and opinions relating to its administrative services as the Board may reasonably request.

The Management Agreement may be terminated (i) at any time without penalty by the Trust upon the vote of a majority of the Trustees or by vote of the majority of the Trust's outstanding voting securities upon 60 days' written notice to the Adviser or (ii) by the Adviser at any time without penalty upon 60 days' written notice to the Trust. The Management Agreement will also terminate automatically in the event of its assignment (as defined in the 1940 Act).

Under the Management Agreement, the Adviser is entitled to a management fee for providing both advisory and administrative services that is calculated daily and paid monthly at an annual rate of each Fund's average daily net assets. The Adviser has agreed to fee breakpoints for each Fund, as set forth in the table below. For assets between $0 and $300 million, management fees will be charged at their base level. Once assets of any Fund (other than the Fixed Income Funds) exceed $300 million, the management fees will be reduced by 0.05% from their base levels. Further fee breakpoints are triggered when a Fund's assets reach $500 million, $750 million, $1 billion, $1.5 billion and $2 billion. In each case, base level management fees are reduced by an additional 0.05%, for a possible 0.30% total fee reduction.

For the Fixed Income Funds, each breakpoint triggers an additional 0.025% reduction, for a possible 0.15% total fee reduction.

In the interest of limiting the expenses of the Funds during the current fiscal year, the Adviser signed an expense limitation agreement through December 31, 2008 with the Trust on behalf of the Funds (“Expense Limitation Agreement”), pursuant to which the Adviser has agreed to waive or limit a portion of its fee and to assume other expenses in an amount necessary to limit total annual operating expenses (but excluding fees and expenses incurred under the Trust’s Advisor Class Service Plan (“12b-1 fees”), if any, interest, taxes, brokerage commissions, dividend expenses on short sales, any expenditures that are capitalized in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and any extraordinary expenses not incurred in the ordinary course of the Fund's business) as set forth in the table below. The Adviser and the Funds' former adviser have agreed to not seek reimbursement of fees waived or expenses paid by the Funds' former adviser. Each Sub-Advisory Agreement shall terminate automatically and immediately in the event of its assignment as defined in the 1940 Act.

Pursuant to the Sub-Advisory Agreements, each Sub-Adviser is entitled to receive from Old Mutual Capital a sub-advisory fee, based on average daily net assets of the Fund or Funds sub-advised by the Sub-Adviser, at the rates set forth in the following table. Fee breakpoints for each Fund are set forth in the table below. For assets between $0 and $300 million, sub-advisory fees will be charged at their base level. Once assets of any Fund (other than the Old Mutual Growth Fund and Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund) exceed $300 million, the sub-advisory fees will be reduced by 0.05% from their base levels. Further fee breakpoints are triggered when a Fund's assets reach $500 million, $750 million, $1 billion, $1.5 billion and $2 billion. In each case, base level sub-advisory fees are reduced by an additional 0.05%, for a possible 0.30% total fee reduction.

The Distributor

Old Mutual Investment Partners (the "Distributor") and the Trust are parties to a distribution agreement (the "Distribution Agreement") dated July 16, 2004, pursuant to which the Distributor serves as principal underwriter for the Trust. The Distributor is an affiliate of the Adviser, and an indirect, wholly-owned subsidiary of the Adviser's parent, Old Mutual (US) Holdings, Inc. Prior to July 16, 2004, the Distributor was formerly named PBHG Fund Distributors. The Distributor receives no compensation for serving in such capacity, except as provided in separate Distribution Plans and Service Plans for the Trust's Class A, Class C shares and the Service Plan for the Trust's Advisor Class shares. The principal business address of the Distributor is 4643 South Ulster Street, 6th Floor, Denver, Colorado 80237. The Distributor is contractually required to continuously distribute the securities of the Trust.

The Distribution Agreement is renewable annually. The Distribution Agreement may be terminated by the Distributor, by a majority vote of the Trustees who are not interested persons and have no financial interest in the Distribution Agreement or by a majority vote of the outstanding securities of the Trust upon not more than sixty (60) days' written notice by either party or upon assignment by the Distributor.

The Distributor shall prepare and deliver written reports to the Board of Trustees of the Trust on a regular basis (at least quarterly) setting forth the payments made pursuant to the Distribution Plans and Service Plan, and the purposes for which such expenditures were made, as well as any supplemental reports as the Board of Trustees may from time to time reasonably request.

Class A and C Shares

The Trust has adopted a Distribution Plan for each of Class A and Class C pursuant to Rule 12b-1 under the 1940 Act to enable the Class A and Class C shares of a Fund to directly and indirectly bear certain expenses relating to the distribution of such shares. The Trust has also adopted a Service Plan to enable the Class A and Class C shares of a Fund to directly and indirectly bear certain expenses relating to the shareholder servicing and/or personal account maintenance of the holders of such shares. Each of the Distribution Plans and Service Plan are compensation plans, which means that they compensate the Distributor or third-party broker-dealer or financial intermediary regardless of the expenses actually incurred by such persons.

Pursuant to the Distribution Plans for Class A and Class C, the Trust shall pay to the Distributor a monthly fee at an annual aggregate rate not to exceed (i) 0.25% of the average net asset value of the Class A shares of each Fund and (ii) 0.75% of the average net asset value of the Class C shares of each Fund, as determined at the close of each business day during the month, which is to compensate the Distributor for services provided and expenses incurred by it in connection with the offering and sale of the Class A or Class C shares, which may include, without limitation, the payment by the Distributor to investment dealers of commissions on the sale of the Class A or Class C shares, as set forth in the then current prospectus or this statement of additional information with respect to the Class A and Class C shares and interest and other financing costs. The amount of such payments shall be determined by the Trust's disinterested Trustees from time to time. Currently, no Fund is paying fees pursuant to the Class A Distribution Plan.

Pursuant to the Service Plan for Class A and Class C, the Trust shall pay to the Distributor or other third-party financial intermediaries a fee at an annual aggregate rate not to exceed 0.25% of the average net asset value of each of the Class A and Class C shares, which is for maintaining or improving services provided to shareholders by the Distributor and investment dealers, financial institutions and 401(k) plan service providers. The amount of such payments shall be determined by the Trust's disinterested Trustees from time to time.

PORTFOLIO TRANSACTIONS

The Adviser and each Sub-Adviser is authorized to select brokers and dealers to effect securities transactions for the Funds. The Adviser and Sub-Advisers will seek to obtain the most favorable net results by taking into account various factors, including price, commission (if any), size of the transactions and difficulty of executions, the firm's general execution and operational facilities and the firm's risk in positioning the securities involved. While the Adviser and Sub-Advisers generally seek reasonably competitive spreads or commissions, the Trust will not necessarily be paying the lowest spread or commission available. The Adviser and Sub-Advisers seek to select brokers or dealers that offer the Funds best price and execution or other services that benefit the Fund. Only after a broker or dealer is deemed to be qualified and able to deliver best price and execution on a particular transaction, the Adviser and Sub-Advisers may then consider selecting a broker or dealer for one of the following reasons: (1) receipt of research or brokerage execution products and services; and (2) receipt of other services which are of benefit to the Funds. In the case of securities traded in the over-the-counter market, the Adviser and Sub-Advisers normally expect to select primary market makers. The Adviser and Sub-Advisers will not direct brokerage to a broker-dealer as compensation for the sale of Fund shares.

The Adviser and Sub-Advisers may, consistent with the interests of the Funds, select brokers on the basis of the research services they provide. These research services may include advice, either directly or through publications or writings, relating to: (1) the value of securities, the advisability of investing in, purchasing, or selling securities, and the availability of securities or purchasers or sellers of securities; (2) analyses and reports concerning issuers, securities or industries; (3) information on economic factors and trends; (4) portfolio strategy; (5) computer software used in security analyses; and (6) portfolio performance evaluation and technical market analyses. Information so received by the Adviser and Sub-Advisers will be in addition to and not in lieu of the services required to be performed by the Adviser and Sub-Advisers under the Advisory and Sub-Advisory Agreements. If, in the judgment of the Adviser or Sub-Adviser, a Fund or other accounts managed by the Adviser and Sub-Adviser will be benefited by supplemental research services, the Adviser or Sub-Advisers are authorized to pay brokerage commissions to a broker furnishing such services which are in excess of commissions which another broker may have charged for effecting the same transaction. The expenses of the Adviser or Sub-Advisers will not necessarily be reduced as a result of the receipt of such information, and such services may not be used exclusively, or at all, with respect to the Fund or account generating the brokerage, and there can be no guarantee that the Adviser or Sub-Advisers will find all of such services of value in advising the Funds.

The Adviser or Sub-Advisers are permitted to allocate portfolio transactions, which generate commissions or commission equivalents from certain accounts to brokers or dealers who provide services directly to or for the managed account. In some instances, these services provided by the broker or dealer may help offset expenses that the account would otherwise pay directly. The Adviser's trade allocation policy and procedures have been designed to ensure that buy and sell opportunities are allocated fairly among clients and that, over time, all clients are treated equitably. The trade allocation policy and procedures also seek to ensure reasonable efficiency in executing client transactions and to provide portfolio managers with flexibility to use allocation methodologies appropriate to their investment style and client base.

The Funds may request that the Adviser or Sub-Advisers direct the Funds' brokerage to offset certain expenses of the Funds. The Adviser or Sub-Advisers attempt to fulfill directed brokerage subject to achieving best execution. Although the Adviser and Sub-Advisers attempt to satisfy the Funds' direction requests, there can be no guarantee that they will be able to do so. In certain circumstances, the directed broker may not offer the lowest commission rate. This may cause the Funds to pay a higher rate of commission than might otherwise have been available had the Adviser or Sub-Advisers been able to choose the broker or dealer to be utilized.

By directing a portion of a Fund's generated brokerage commissions, the Adviser and Sub-Advisers may not be in a position to negotiate brokerage commissions on the Fund's behalf with respect to transactions effected by the directed broker or dealer, to freely negotiate commission rates or spreads on the basis of the list price and execution, or to commingle or "bunch" orders for purposes of execution with orders for the same securities for other accounts managed by the Adviser and Sub-Advisers. In cases where the Funds have instructed the Adviser and Sub-Advisers to direct brokerage to a particular broker or dealer, orders for the Funds may be placed after brokerage orders for accounts that do not impose such restrictions.

The Funds may execute brokerage or other agency transactions through the Distributor, which is a registered broker-dealer, for a commission in conformity with the 1940 Act, the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and rules promulgated by the SEC. Under these provisions, the Distributor is permitted to receive and retain compensation for effecting portfolio transactions for the Funds on an exchange if a written contract is in effect between the Distributor and the Fund expressly permitting the Distributor to receive and retain such compensation. These rules further require that commissions paid to the Distributor by the Fund for exchange transactions not exceed "usual and customary" brokerage commissions. The rules define "usual and customary" commissions to include amounts which are "reasonable and fair compared to the commission, fee or other remuneration received or to be received by other brokers in connection with comparable transactions involving similar securities being purchased or sold on a securities exchange during a comparable period of time." In addition, the Adviser or Sub-Advisers may direct commission business to one or more designated broker-dealers, including the Distributor, in connection with such broker-dealer's payment of certain of the Fund's, or the Trust's, expenses. The Trustees, including those who are not interested persons of the Trust, have adopted procedures for evaluating the reasonableness of commissions paid to the Distributor and will review these procedures periodically.

The Adviser and Sub-Advisers are not permitted to compensate a broker-dealer for selling Fund shares by directing a portfolio transaction to that broker-dealer and will not consider sales of a Fund's shares as a factor in the selection of broker-dealers to execute portfolio transactions for a Fund. Nonetheless, the fact that a broker-dealer sells Fund shares does not prohibit an Adviser or Sub-Adviser from doing business with that broker-dealer. Consistent with Rule 12b-1(h)(2) under the 1940 Act, Old Mutual Capital has adopted, and the Board has approved, policies and procedures reasonably designed to prevent (1) the persons responsible for selecting brokers and dealers to effect the Fund's portfolio securities transactions from taking into account the brokers' and dealers' promotion or sale of Fund shares or shares of any other registered investment company and (2) the Trust, its investment adviser and its principal underwriter from entering into any agreement (whether oral or written) or other understanding under which the company directs, or is expected to direct, portfolio securities transactions or other remuneration to a broker or dealer as compensation for the promotion or sale of Fund shares or shares of any other registered investment company.

The Board, the Adviser, the Sub-Advisers and the Distributor have each adopted a Code of Ethics pursuant to rule 17j-1 of the 1940 Act governing personal trading by persons who manage, or who have access to, trading activity by the Funds. The Codes of Ethics allow trades to be made in securities that may be held by a Fund. However, it prohibits a person from taking advantage of Fund trades or from acting on inside information. In addition, the Board reviews and approves the codes of ethics of the Adviser, Sub-Advisers and Distributor and any material amendments thereto. The Board also reviews annual reports on issues raised under the Adviser's, Sub-Adviser's, and Distributor's Codes of Ethics during the previous year.

PROXY VOTING

The Board has adopted Proxy Voting Guidelines (the “Guidelines”) in accordance with Rule 30b1-4 under the 1940 Act. The Guidelines are attached to this SAI as Exhibit A. In general, the Guidelines seek to vote proxies in a manner that maximizes the value of the Funds’ investments. The Guidelines generally assign proxy voting responsibilities for each Fund to the Sub-Adviser(s) responsible for the management of such Fund. If a Sub-Adviser to a Fund that invests in voting securities does not have a proxy voting policy that complies with the relevant portions of Rule 30b1-4 and the separate proxy voting rule under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, that Sub-Adviser will be required to follow the Trust’s Guidelines. Attached as Exhibit B to this SAI are the proxy voting policies for the Adviser and the Sub-Advisers.

DESCRIPTION OF SHARES

The Trust may issue an unlimited number of shares for each Fund and may create additional portfolios and additional classes of the Trust. Each share of a Fund represents an equal proportionate interest in that Fund with each other share. Shares are entitled upon liquidation to a pro rata share in the net assets of the Fund available for distribution to shareholders. Shareholders have no preemptive rights. All consideration received by the Trust for shares of any Fund and all assets in which such consideration is invested would belong to that Fund and would be subject to the liabilities related thereto.

Voting Rights, Shareholder Liability and Trustee Liability

Each share held entitles a shareholder to one vote for each dollar of NAV of shares held by the shareholder. Shareholders of each Fund of the Trust will vote separately on matters relating solely to it, such as approval of advisory agreements and changes in fundamental policies, and matters affecting some but not all Funds will be voted on only by shareholders of the affected Funds. Shareholders of all Funds of the Trust will vote together in matters affecting the Trust generally, such as the election of Trustees. Shareholders of each Class of the Trust will vote separately on matters relating solely to such Class and not on matters relating solely to any other Class or Classes of the Trust. The Trust is not required to hold annual meetings of shareholders but shareholder approval will be sought for certain changes in the operation of the Trust and for the election of Trustees. The Trust Agreement provides that the Trustees shall hold office during the existence of the Trust, except as follows: (a) any Trustee may resign or retire; (b) any Trustee may be removed by a vote of at least two-thirds of the outstanding shares of the Trust at a meeting, or at any time by written instrument signed by at least two-thirds of the Trustees and specifying when such removal becomes effective; (c) any Trustee who has become incapacitated and is unable to serve may be removed by a written instrument signed by a majority of the Trustees; or (d) any Trustee who has died shall be terminated upon the date of his or her death.

Under Delaware law, shareholders of a Delaware business trust are entitled to the same limitations of liability extended to shareholders of private for-profit corporations; however, there is a remote possibility that shareholders could, under certain circumstances, be held liable for the obligations of the Trust to the extent the courts of another state which does not recognize such limited liability were to apply the laws of such state to a controversy involving such obligations. However, the Trust Agreement disclaims shareholder liability for acts or obligations of the Trust and requires that notice of such disclaimer be given in each agreement, obligation or instrument entered into or executed by the Trust or the trustees to all parties, and each party thereto must expressly waive all rights of action directly against shareholders of the Trust. The Agreement and Declaration of Trust and the By-Laws (the “Governing Instruments”) provide for indemnification out of the property of a Fund for all losses and expenses of any shareholder of such Fund held liable on account of being or having been a shareholder. Thus, the risk of a shareholder incurring financial loss due to shareholder liability is limited to circumstances in which a Fund would be unable to meet its obligations and the complaining party was held not to be bound by the liability disclaimer.

The Governing Instruments provide indemnification for current and former trustees, officers, employees and agents of the Trust to the fullest extent permitted by Delaware law and other applicable law. Trustees may be personally liable to the Trust and its shareholders by reason of willful misfeasance, bad faith, or gross negligence in the performance of their duties or by reason of reckless disregard of their duties as trustees.

PURCHASE AND REDEMPTIONS OF SHARES

Purchases and redemptions may be made on any day on which the New York Stock Exchange (“NYSE”) is open for business (a “Business Day”). Currently, the following holidays are observed by the Trust: New Year’s Day, Presidents’ Day, Martin Luther King Jr. Day, Good Friday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day. Shares of the Funds are offered on a continuous basis.

Purchases of Class A and C

You may purchase Class A and Class C shares of each Fund through certain brokers, dealers or other financial institutions that are authorized to sell you shares of the Funds. Such financial institutions may charge you a fee for this service in addition to the Fund’s public offering price. Shares of each Fund are offered only to residents of states in which such shares are eligible for purchase.

The Trust, the Distributor and the Transfer Agent will not be responsible for any loss, liability, cost or expenses for acting upon wire instructions, or telephone instructions that it reasonably believes to be genuine. The Trust, the Distributor and the Transfer Agent will each employ reasonable procedures to confirm that instructions communicated by telephone are genuine including requiring a form of personal identification prior to acting upon instructions received by telephone and recording telephone instructions.

Each Fund reserves the right to reject any purchase order or to suspend or modify the continuous offering of its shares. For example, the investment opportunities for small or medium capitalization companies may from time to time be more limited than those in other sectors of the stock market. Therefore, in order to retain adequate investment flexibility, the Adviser may from time to time recommend to the Board of Trustees of the Trust that a Fund which invests extensively in such companies indefinitely discontinue the sale of its shares to new investors (other than Trustees, officers and employees of the Adviser, each of the sub-advisers and their affiliated companies). In such event, the Board of Trustees would determine whether such discontinuance is in the best interests of the applicable Fund and its shareholders.

Initial Sales Charges – Class A Shares

The initial sales charge is used to compensate the Distributor and selected dealers for their expenses incurred in connection with the distribution of the Funds’ shares. Each Fund (except Cash Reserves Fund) is grouped into one of the following three categories to determine the applicable initial sales charge for its Class A shares:

EQUITY FUNDS. Class A shares of the Equity Funds are currently sold with an initial sales charge ranging from 5.75% to 2.00% of the offering price on purchases of up to $1 million.

INVESTOR'S INITIAL SALES CHARGE – EQUITY FUNDS

FIXED INCOME FUNDS. Class A shares of the Fixed Income Funds (other than Cash Reserves Fund) are currently sold with an initial sales charge ranging from 4.75% to 2.00% of the offering price on purchases of up to $1 million.

INVESTOR'S INITIAL SALES CHARGE – FIXED INCOME FUNDS

Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund is not subject to an initial sales charge.

Large Purchases of Class A Shares

Investors who purchase $1,000,000 or more of Class A shares of any Fund do not pay an initial sales charge. However, such purchase may be subject to a 1% contingent deferred sales charge (“CDSC”) if the investor redeems those shares within one year after purchase, as described in the Funds’ prospectuses.

Class A Purchases Eligible for Reductions of Initial Sales Charges

The prospectus describes certain programs offered by the Funds to reduce initial sales charges for certain eligible investors. The following information supplements descriptions in the prospectus and further explains the conditions that investors must satisfy to qualify for a reduced initial sales charge under these programs. For purposes of determining the availability of reduced sales charges through letters of intent, rights of accumulation and concurrent purchases, the Distributor, in its discretion, may aggregate certain related accounts.

Letters of Intent

You may pay reduced initial sales charges by completing the appropriate section of the account application and by fulfilling the terms of a Letter of Intent ("LOI"). The LOI confirms your intention as to the total investment to be made in Class A shares of the Funds (except for Class A shares of the Cash Reserves Fund) within the following 13 consecutive months. By marking the LOI section on the account application and by signing the account application, you indicate that you understand and agree to the terms of the LOI and are bound by the provisions described below.

Each purchase of Class A shares of a Fund shares normally subject to an initial sales charge made during the 13-month period will be made at the public offering price applicable to a single transaction of the total dollar amount indicated by the LOI, as described under "Choosing a Share Class" in the Funds' prospectus. It is your responsibility at the time of purchase to specify the account number(s) that should be considered in determining the appropriate sales charge. The offering price may be reduced further as described under "Rights of Accumulation" (below) if you advise the Trust of all other accounts at the time of your investment. Shares acquired through reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions will not be applied to the LOI. At any time during the 13-month period after meeting the original obligation, you may revise your intended investment amount upward by submitting a written and signed request. Such a revision will not change the original expiration date. By signing an LOI, you are not making a binding commitment to purchase additional shares, but if purchases made within the 13-month period do not total the amount specified, you will pay the increased amount of sales charge as described below. Purchases made within 90 days before signing an LOI will be applied toward completion of the LOI. The LOI effective date will be the date of the first purchase within the 90-day period. The Fund's transfer agent will process necessary adjustments upon the expiration or completion date of the LOI. Purchases made more than 90 days before signing an LOI will be applied toward completion of the LOI based on the value of the shares purchased calculated at the public offering price on the effective date of the LOI.

To assure compliance with the provisions of the 1940 Act, out of the initial purchase (or subsequent purchases if necessary) you will pledge and the transfer agent will escrow in the form of shares an appropriate dollar amount (computed to the nearest full share). All dividends and any capital gain distributions on the escrowed shares will be credited to you. All shares purchased, including those escrowed, will be registered in your name. If the total investment specified under this LOI is completed within the 13-month period, the escrowed shares will be promptly released. If the intended investment is not completed, you will pay the transfer agent the difference between the sales charge on the specified amount and the amount actually purchased. If you do not pay such difference within 20 days of the expiration date, you irrevocably constitute and appoint the transfer agent as your agent to surrender for redemption any or all shares, to make up such difference within 60 days of the expiration date.

If at any time before completing the LOI program you wish to cancel the agreement, you must give written notice to the Distributor. If at any time before completing the LOI program you request the transfer agent to liquidate or transfer beneficial ownership of your total shares, a cancellation of the LOI will automatically be effected. If the total amount purchased is less than the amount specified in the LOI, the transfer agent will redeem an appropriate number of escrowed shares equal to the difference between the sales charge actually paid and the sales charge that would have been paid if the total purchases had been made at a single time.

Rights of Accumulation

You may qualify for reduced initial sales charges based upon your existing investment in shares of any Class A shares of the Funds (except for Class A shares of the Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund). To determine whether or not a reduced initial sales charge applies to a proposed purchase, the Distributor takes into account not only the money which you invest upon such proposed purchase, but also the value of all Class A shares of the Funds (except for Class A shares of the Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund) that you own, calculated at their then current public offering price. If you qualify for a reduced sales charge, the reduced sales charge applies to the total amount of money that you are then investing and not just to the portion that exceeds the breakpoint above which a reduced sales charge applies. For example, if you already own qualifying shares of any Fund with a value of $80,000 and wish to invest an additional $40,000 in a Fund with a maximum initial sales charge of 5.75%, the reduced initial sales charge of 4.50% will apply to the full $40,000 purchase and not just to the $20,000 in excess of the $100,000 breakpoint. To qualify for obtaining the discount applicable to a particular purchase, you or your dealer must furnish the Trust with a list of the account numbers and the names in which your accounts are registered at the time the purchase is made. In addition, the Trust may request account statements if it is unable to verify your account information.

Concurrent Purchases

You may combine purchases of all classes of shares of two or more Funds in the Trust to qualify for a reduced initial sales charge according to the initial sales charge schedule set forth in the Prospectus. Shares of Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund purchased through an exchange, reinvestment or cross-reinvestment from a fund having a sales charge also qualify. However, direct purchases of Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund are excluded.

Reinstatement Privilege

Within 90 days of a redemption, you may reinvest all or part of the redemption proceeds in Class A or Class C shares of any Fund (except Class A or Class C shares of the Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund) at the net asset value next computed after receipt by the Distributor of the proceeds to be reinvested. You must ask for such privilege at the time of reinvestment. A realized gain on the redemption is taxable, and reinvestment may alter any capital gains payable. If there has been a loss on the redemption and shares of the same Fund are repurchased, all of the loss may not be tax deductible, depending on the timing and amount reinvested. Each Fund may amend, suspend or cease offering this privilege at any time as to shares redeemed after the date of such amendment, suspension or cessation. This privilege may only be exercised once each year by a shareholder with respect to each Fund.

If you are assessed a contingent deferred sales charge in connection with the redemption of shares and you subsequently reinvest a portion or all of the value of the redeemed shares in shares of any Fund within 90 days after such redemption, such reinvested proceeds will not be subject to either an initial sales charge at the time of reinvestment or an additional contingent deferred sales charge upon subsequent redemption. In order to exercise this reinvestment privilege, you must notify the Trust of your intent to do so at the time of reinvestment.

Payments to Dealers

Purchases of Class A Shares over $1,000,000. The Distributor may make the following payments to selected dealers of record of purchases of Class A shares totaling over $1,000,000:

1% on amounts to $5 million, 0.50% on amounts over $4 million to $10 million, and 0.25% on amounts over $10 million.

The Distributor may elect to re-allow the entire initial sales charge on Class A shares to dealers for all sales with respect to which orders are placed with the Distributor during a particular period. The SEC takes the position that dealers to whom substantially the entire sales charge is re-allowed may be deemed to be “underwriters” as that term is defined under the Securities Act of 1933.

The Distributor may pay asset based sales commissions to dealers and institutions who sell Class C shares of a Fund at the time of such sale. Payments with respect to Class C shares will equal 1.00% of the purchase price of the Class C shares sold by the dealer or institution, and will consist of a sales commission equal to 0.75% of the purchase price of the Class C shares sold plus an advance of the first year service fee of 0.25% with respect to such shares. These payments are recouped by the Distributor through the Class C Distribution Plan and Service Plan. See “The Distributor.”

Purchases of Class C Shares

Class C shares of each Fund are sold at net asset value without an initial sales charge, but are subject to a contingent deferred sales charge of 1% if redeemed within twelve months.

Each Fund reserves the right to reject any purchase order or to suspend or modify the continuous offering of its shares.

MINIMUM INVESTMENTS

The minimum initial investment in each Fund is $2,500 for regular accounts and $2,000 for traditional or Roth IRAs. However, investors who establish a Systematic Investment Plan, as described below, with a minimum investment of $25 per month may at the same time open a regular account or traditional or Roth IRA with any Fund with a minimum initial investment of $500. There is no minimum for subsequent investments. The Distributor may waive the minimum initial investment amount at its discretion. No minimum applies to subsequent purchases effected by dividend reinvestment. As described below, subsequent purchases through the Trust’s Systematic Investment Plan must be at least $25. Minimum initial investment means the net amount you invest in a Fund after the deduction of any applicable initial sales charge.

GENERAL INFORMATION REGARDING PURCHASES

A purchase order will be effective as of the day received from your broker, dealer or financial advisor by the Transfer Agent if the Transfer Agent receives sufficient information to execute the order before 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time. Payment may be made by check or readily available funds. The price per share you will pay to invest in a Fund is its public offering price next calculated after the transfer agent or other authorized representative accepts your order. Purchases will be made in full and fractional shares of a Fund calculated to three decimal places. The Trust will not issue certificates representing shares of the Funds.

In order for your purchase order to be effective on the day you place your order with your broker-dealer or other financial institution, such broker-dealer or financial institution must (i) receive your order before 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time and (ii) promptly transmit the order to the Transfer Agent. See “Determination of Net Asset Value” below. The broker-dealer or financial institution is responsible for promptly transmitting purchase orders to the Transfer Agent so that you may receive the same day’s net asset value.

If a check received for the purchase of shares does not clear, the purchase will be canceled, and you could be liable for any losses or fees incurred by the Trust. The Trust reserves the right to reject a purchase order when the Trust determines that it is not in the best interests of the Fund or its shareholders to accept such an order.

REDEMPTIONS

You may sell (redeem) shares in your account by contacting your investment broker-dealer or financial institution. Your broker-dealer or financial institution may charge you a fee for this service. The redemption price of Class A shares and Class C shares subject to a contingent deferred sales charge will be reduced by any applicable contingent deferred sales charge. The contingent deferred sales charge may be deducted from your redemption proceeds or from your account balance. If no preference is stated at the time of redemption, the charge will be deducted from the redemption proceeds. Redemption orders received by the Transfer Agent prior to 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time on any Business Day will be effective that day. The redemption price of shares is the net asset value per share of a Fund next determined after the redemption order is effective less any applicable deferred sales charge. Payment of redemption proceeds will be made as promptly as possible and, in any event, within seven days after the redemption order is received, provided, however, that redemption proceeds for shares purchased by check (including certified or cashier's checks) or by ACH will be forwarded only upon collection of payment for such shares; collection of payment may take up to 15 days from the date of purchase.

In order for your redemption order to be effective on the day you place your redemption order with your broker-dealer or other financial institution, such broker-dealer or financial institution must (i) receive your order before 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time and (ii) promptly transmit the order to the Transfer Agent. See "Determination of Net Asset Value" below. The financial institution is responsible for promptly transmitting redemption orders to the Transfer Agent so that your shares are redeemed at the same day's net asset value per share.

It is currently the Trust's policy to pay all redemptions in cash. The Trust retains the right, however, to alter this policy to provide for redemptions in whole or in part by a distribution in-kind of securities held by the Funds in lieu of cash. Each Fund has made an election pursuant to Rule 18f-1 under the 1940 Act by which such Fund has committed itself to pay in cash all requests for redemption by any shareholder of record, limited in amount with respect to each shareholder during any 90-day period to the lesser of (1) $250,000 or (2) one percent of the net asset value of the Fund at the beginning of such 90-day period. Shareholders may incur brokerage charges on the sale of any such securities so received in payment of redemptions and will be exposed to market risk until the securities are converted to cash. In addition, in-kind distributions may include illiquid securities which shareholders may be unable to dispose of at the time or price desired.

The Trust reserves the right to suspend the right of redemption and/or to postpone the date of payment upon redemption for any period on which trading on the New York Stock Exchange is restricted, or during the existence of an emergency (as determined by the SEC by rule or regulation) as a result of which disposal or valuation of a Fund's securities is not reasonably practicable, or for such other periods as the SEC has by order permitted. The Trust also reserves the right to suspend sales of shares of a Fund for any period during which the New York Stock Exchange, the Adviser, the Administrator, Sub-Administrator, the Transfer Agent and/or the Custodian are not open for business.

You may receive redemption payments in the form of a check or by Federal Reserve wire or ACH transfer.

CDSCs Applicable to Redemption of Class A Shares

A CDSC applies to purchases of $1 million or more of Class A shares of each Fund that are redeemed within 12 months of the date of purchase. This charge will be based on the lesser of the value of the shares redeemed (excluding reinvested dividends and capital gain distributions) or the total original cost of such shares and will be charged at 1% of all purchases of $1 million or more. In determining whether a CDSC is payable, and the amount of any such CDSC, shares not subject to the CDSC are redeemed first (including shares purchased by reinvested dividends and capital gains distributions and amounts representing increases from capital appreciation), and then other shares are redeemed in the order of purchase. No such CDSC will be imposed upon exchanges unless the shares acquired by exchange are redeemed within 12 months of the date the shares were originally purchased.

CDSC Exception for Large Purchases of Class A Shares

The CDSC will be waived on redemptions of shares purchased by an investor in amounts of $1 million or more under the following circumstances:

- where such investor's dealer of record, due to the nature of the investor's account, notifies the Distributor prior to the time of investment that the dealer waives the payments otherwise payable to the dealer;
- on purchases made in connection with the reinvestment of dividends and distributions from a Fund;
- on exchanges of shares of certain other Funds (see "Purchases, Redemptions and Pricing of Shares - Exchange Privileges");
- on purchases subject to the reinstatement privilege (see "Purchases, Redemptions and Pricing of Shares - Class A Purchasers Eligible for Reductions of Initial Sales Charges"); or
- on purchases made in connection with a merger, consolidation or acquisition of assets of a Fund.

CDSC Applicable to Redemptions of Class C Shares

Class C shares may be redeemed on any Business Day at the net asset value per share next determined following receipt of the redemption order, less the contingent deferred sales charge of 1% if the shares are redeemed in the first year of purchase. No contingent deferred sales charge will be imposed (i) on redemptions of Class C shares following one year from the date such shares were purchased, (ii) on Class C shares acquired through reinvestment of dividends and distributions attributable to Class C shares, or (iii) on amounts that represent capital appreciation in the shareholder's account above the purchase price of the Class C shares.

In determining whether a contingent deferred sales charge is applicable, it will be assumed that a redemption is made: first, of any shares held in the shareholder's account that are not subject to such charge; second, of shares derived from reinvestment of dividends and distributions; third, of shares held for more than one year from the date such shares were purchased; and fourth, of shares held less than one year from the date such shares were purchased. The applicable sales charge will be applied against the lesser of the value of the shares redeemed or the total original cost of the redeemed shares.

The CDSC on Class C shares may be waived in certain circumstances, as described in the Funds' prospectuses.

CDSC Exceptions for Purchases of Class C Shares

The CDSC on Class C shares may be waived:

- on total or partial redemptions where the investor's dealer of record notified the Distributor prior to the time of investment that the dealer would waive the upfront payment otherwise payable to him;
- upon the death or post-purchase disability of the shareholder or plan participant;

- on required minimum distributions taken from retirement accounts upon the shareholder's attainment of age 70½;
- on redemptions through a Systematic Withdrawal Plan, provided that amounts withdrawn under such plan do not exceed on an annual basis 10% of the value of the shareholder's investment in Class C shares at the time the shareholder elects to participate in the Systematic Withdrawal Plan;
- on the liquidation of a shareholders account by the Trust for failure to maintain the required minimum account balance.

CLASS Z AND ADVISOR CLASS SHARES

You may purchase Class Z and Advisor Class shares of each Fund directly through DST Systems, Inc., the Trust's Transfer Agent. You may also purchase shares of each Fund through certain broker-dealers or other financial institutions that are authorized to sell shares of the Funds. Such financial institutions may charge a fee for this service in addition to the Fund's NAV. Shares of each Fund are offered only to residents of states in which such shares are eligible for purchase.

With respect to Class Z and Advisor Class shares, you may place orders by mail, wire, Automatic Clearing House ("ACH"), or telephone. If market conditions are extraordinarily active, or if severe weather or other emergencies exist, and you experience difficulties placing orders by telephone, you may wish to consider placing your order by other means, such as mail or overnight delivery.

The Trust, the Distributor and the Transfer Agent will not be responsible for any loss, liability, cost or expenses for acting upon wire instructions, or telephone instructions that it reasonably believes to be genuine. The Trust, the Distributor and the Transfer Agent will each employ reasonable procedures to confirm that instructions communicated by telephone are genuine including requiring a form of personal identification prior to acting upon instructions received by telephone and recording telephone instructions.

Each Fund reserves the right to reject any purchase order or to suspend or modify the continuous offering of its shares. For example, the investment opportunities for small or medium capitalization companies may from time to time be more limited than those in other sectors of the stock market. Therefore, in order to retain adequate investment flexibility, the Adviser may from time to time recommend to the Board that a Fund which invests extensively in such companies indefinitely discontinue the sale of its shares to new investors (other than Trustees, officers and employees of the Adviser, each of the Sub-Advisers and their affiliated companies). In such event, the Board would determine whether such discontinuance is in the best interests of the applicable Fund and its shareholders.

Minimum Investment

For Class Z and Advisor Class shares, the minimum investment is as follows:

	Initial	Additional
Regular Accounts	$2,500	no minimum
Uniform Gifts/Transfer To Minor Accounts	$500	no minimum
Traditional IRAs	$2,000	no minimum
Roth IRAs	$2,000	no minimum
Coverdell Education Savings Accounts	$500	no minimum
Systematic Investment Plans I ("SIP I") ⁽¹⁾	$500	$25
Systematic Investment Plans II ("SIP II") ⁽²⁾	no minimum	$50

- (1) If a SIP I is established, the minimum initial investment for the Fund is $500 with a monthly systematic additional investment of $25 or more. A SIP I may be established on any type of account.
- (2) An investor may establish a SIP II with no minimum initial investment if the monthly systematic additional investment is at least $50. A SIP II may be established on any type of account.

The Distributor may waive the minimum initial investment amount at its discretion. No minimum applies to subsequent purchases effected by dividend reinvestment.

Initial Purchases by Mail

An account may be opened by mailing a check or other negotiable bank draft payable to Old Mutual Advisor Funds II for at least the minimum initial amount specified above for regular and IRA accounts, and a completed Account Application to Old Mutual Advisor Funds II, P.O. Box 219534, Kansas City, Missouri 64121-9534. The Trust will not accept third-party checks, i.e., a check not payable to Old Mutual Advisor Funds II or a Fund, for initial or subsequent investments.

Initial Purchase by Wire

If you have an account with a commercial bank that is a member of the Federal Reserve System, you may purchase shares of the Funds by requesting your bank to transmit funds by wire. Before making an initial investment by wire, you must first telephone 1-800-433-0051 to receive an Account Application and be assigned an account number. The Account Application must be received prior to receipt of the wire. Your name, account number, taxpayer identification number or Social Security Number, and address must be specified in the wire. All wires must be received by 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time to be effective on that day. In addition, an original Account Application should be promptly forwarded to: Old Mutual Advisor Funds II, P.O. Box 219534, Kansas City, Missouri 64121-9534. All wires must be sent as follows: United Missouri Bank of Kansas City, N.A.; ABA #10-10-00695; for Account Number 98705-23469; Further Credit: name of Fund, your name, your social security number or tax ID number and your assigned account number.

Initial Purchase by ACH

If you have made this election, shares of each Fund may be purchased via ACH. Investors purchasing via ACH should complete the bank information section on the Account Application and attach a voided check or deposit slip to the Account Application. This option must be established on your account at least 15 days prior to your initiating an ACH transaction. The maximum purchase allowed through ACH is $100,000.

Additional Purchases by Phone (Telephone Purchases)

You may purchase additional shares by telephoning the Transfer Agent at 1-800-433-0051. The minimum telephone purchase is $1,000, and the maximum is five times the NAV of shares held by the shareholder on the day preceding such telephone purchase for which payment has been received. The telephone purchase will be made at the offering price next computed after the receipt of the call by the Transfer Agent. Payment for the telephone purchase must be received by the Transfer Agent within seven days. If payment is not received within seven days, you will be liable for all losses incurred by the Trust as a result of the cancellation of such purchase.

Additional Purchases by Wire

Additional investments may be made at any time through the wire procedures described above, which must include your name and account number. Your bank may impose a fee for investments by wire.

General Information Regarding Purchases

A purchase order will be effective as of the day received by the Transfer Agent if the Transfer Agent receives sufficient information to execute the order before 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time. Payment may be made by check or readily available funds. You may purchase shares of each fund directly through the Trust's transfer agent. Except for the Cash Reserves Fund, the price per share you will pay to invest in a Fund is its NAV per share next calculated after the transfer agent or other authorized representative accepts your order. If you purchase shares of the Cash Reserves Fund by wire transfer in the form of Federal Funds, the price per share you will pay is that Fund's next calculated NAV. If you purchase shares of the Cash Reserves Fund by check or other negotiable bank draft, the price per share you will pay is that Fund's NAV as calculated on the next business day after receipt of the check or bank draft. Purchases will be made in full and fractional shares of a Fund calculated to three decimal places. The Trust will not issue certificates representing shares of the Funds.

In order for your purchase order to be effective on the day you place your order with your broker-dealer or other financial institution, such broker-dealer or financial institution must (i) receive your order before 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time and (ii) promptly transmit the order to the Transfer Agent. See "Determination of Net Asset Value" below. The broker-dealer or financial institution is responsible for promptly transmitting purchase orders to the Transfer Agent so that you may receive the same day's NAV.

If a check received for the purchase of shares does not clear, the purchase will be canceled, and you could be liable for any losses or fees incurred by the Trust. The Trust reserves the right to reject a purchase order when the Trust determines that it is not in the best interests of the Fund or its shareholders to accept such an order.

Class Z and Advisor Class Redemptions

Redemption orders received by the Transfer Agent prior to 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time on any Business Day will be effective that day. The redemption price of shares is the NAV per share of a Fund next determined after the redemption order is effective. Payment of redemption proceeds will be made as promptly as possible and, in any event, within seven days after the redemption order is received, provided, however, that redemption proceeds for shares purchased by check (including certified or cashier's checks) or by ACH will be forwarded only upon collection of payment for such shares. Collection of payment may take up to 15 days from the date of purchase.

You may also redeem shares of each Fund through certain broker-dealers and other financial institutions at which you maintain an account. Such financial institutions may charge you a fee for this service.

In order for your redemption order to be effective on the day you place your redemption order with your broker-dealer or other financial institution, such broker-dealer or financial institution must (i) receive your order before 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time and (ii) promptly transmit the order to the Transfer Agent. See "Determination of Net Asset Value" below. The financial institution is responsible for promptly transmitting redemption orders to the Transfer Agent so that your shares are redeemed at the same day's NAV per share.

It is currently the Trust's policy to pay all redemptions in cash. The Trust retains the right, however, to alter this policy to provide for redemptions in whole or in part by a distribution in-kind of securities held by the Funds in lieu of cash. Each Fund has made an election pursuant to Rule 18f-1 under the 1940 Act by which such Fund has committed itself to pay in cash all requests for redemption by any shareholder of record, limited in amount with respect to each shareholder during any 90-day period to the lesser of (1) $250,000 or (2) one percent of the NAV of the Fund at the beginning of such 90-day period. Shareholders may incur brokerage charges on the sale of any such securities so received in payment of redemptions and will be exposed to market risk until the securities are converted to cash. In addition, in-kind distributions may include illiquid securities which shareholders may be unable to dispose of at the time or price desired.

The Trust reserves the right to suspend the right of redemption and/or to postpone the date of payment upon redemption for any period on which trading on the NYSE is restricted, or during the existence of an emergency (as determined by the SEC by rule or regulation) as a result of which disposal or valuation of a Fund's securities is not reasonably practicable, or for such other periods as the SEC has by order permitted. The Trust also reserves the right to suspend sales of shares of a Fund for any period during which the NYSE, the Adviser, Sub-Administrator, Transfer Agent, and/or Custodian are not open for business.

You may receive redemption payments in the form of a check or by Federal Reserve wire or ACH transfer.

The Funds charge a redemption/exchange fee on redemptions of most shares held less than 10 calendar days. The Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund does not charge a redemption/exchange fee. See the Prospectus for details of the redemption/exchange fee.

Redemptions by Mail

There is no charge for having a check for redemption proceeds mailed to you.

Redemptions by Telephone

Redemption orders may be placed by telephone, provided that this option has been selected. Shares held in IRA accounts are not eligible for this option and must be redeemed by written request. Neither the Trust nor the Transfer Agent will be responsible for any loss, liability, cost or expense for acting upon wire instructions or upon telephone instructions that it reasonably believes to be genuine. The Trust and the Transfer Agent will each employ reasonable procedures to confirm that instructions communicated by telephone are genuine, including requiring a form of personal identification prior to acting upon instructions received by telephone and recording telephone instructions. If reasonable procedures are not employed, the Trust and the Transfer Agent may be liable for any losses due to unauthorized or fraudulent telephone transactions.

If market conditions are extraordinarily active, or other extraordinary circumstances exist and you experience difficulties placing redemption orders by telephone, you may wish to consider placing your order by other means, such as mail or overnight delivery. The Trust will not accept redemption requests for an amount greater than $50,000 by telephone instruction, except for cases where the proceeds of the redemption request are transmitted by Federal wire to a pre-established checking account. Such redemption requests must be received in writing and be signature guaranteed.

Redemptions by Wire

The Transfer Agent will deduct a wire charge, currently $10.00, from the amount of a Federal Reserve wire redemption payment made at the request of a shareholder. Shareholders cannot receive proceeds from redemptions of shares of a Fund by Federal Reserve wire on federal holidays restricting wire transfers.

Redemptions by ACH

The Trust does not charge for ACH transactions; however, proceeds from such transactions will not be posted to your bank account until the second Business Day following the transaction. In order to process a redemption by ACH, banking information must be established on your account at least 15 days prior to initiating a transaction. A voided check or deposit slip must accompany requests to establish this option.

Check Writing (Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund Only)

Check writing service is offered free of charge to shareholders of the Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund. If you have an account balance of $5,000 or more, you may redeem shares by writing checks on your account for $250 or more. To establish this privilege, please call 1-800-433-0051 to request a signature card. Once you have signed and returned a signature card, you will receive a supply of checks. A check may be made payable to any person, and your account will continue to earn dividends until the check clears. Because of the difficulty of determining in advance the exact value of your account, you may not use a check to close your account. Your account will be charged a fee for stopping payment of a check upon your request, or if the check cannot be honored because of insufficient funds or other valid reasons.

GENERAL INVESTMENT POLICIES

Signature Guarantees

A signature guarantee is a widely accepted way to protect you by verifying the signature on certain redemption and other requests. The Fund requires medallion signature guarantees to be provided in the following circumstances: (1) requests for redemptions in excess of $50,000; (2) all written requests to wire redemption proceeds; (3) redemption requests that provide that the redemption proceeds should be sent to an address other than the address of record or to a person other than the registered shareholder(s) for the account; and (4) redemptions requesting proceeds be sent to a new address or an address that has been changed within the past 30 days. Signature guarantees are also required for requests to transfer the registration of shares to another owner, written requests to add telephone exchange and telephone redemption options to an account; and changes in previously designated wiring instructions. These requirements may be waived or modified upon notice of shareholders. See the prospectus for a list of the types of entities that offer medallion signature guarantees. The Trust does not accept signature guarantees from notaries public or organizations that do not provide reimbursement in the case of fraud.

Exchange Privileges

Once payment for your shares has been received (i.e., an account has been established) and your payment has been converted to Federal funds, you may exchange some or all of your shares for shares of the same class of other Funds of the Trust currently available to the public. See the "Trading Guidelines" section of the prospectus for limitations on exchanges. The Trust reserves the right to change the terms and conditions of the exchange privilege, or to terminate the exchange privilege, upon 60 days' notice. Exchanges will be made only after proper instructions in writing or by telephone are received for an established account by the Transfer Agent. The exchange privilege may be exercised only in those states where the shares of the new Fund may legally be sold.

Minimum Account Size

Due to the relatively high cost of maintaining smaller accounts, the Trust will impose an annual $12.00 minimum account charge and reserves the right to redeem shares in any non-retirement account if, as the result of redemptions, the value of any account drops below the minimum initial investment amount, specified above, for each Fund. See "Minimum Investment" and "Systematic Investment and Systematic Withdrawal Plans" for minimum investments. You will be allowed at least 60 days, after notice from the Trust, to make an additional investment to bring your account value up to at least the applicable minimum account size before the annual $12.00 minimum account fee is charged and/or the redemption of a non-retirement account is processed. The applicable minimum account charge will be imposed annually on any such account until the account is brought up to the applicable minimum account size.

INVESTMENT PLANS OFFERED BY THE TRUST

Shareholder Inquiries and Services Offered

If you have any questions about the Funds or the shareholder services described below, please call the Trust at 1-800-433-0051. Written inquiries should be sent to DST Systems, Inc., P.O. Box 219534, Kansas City, Missouri 64121-9534. The Trust reserves the right to amend the shareholder services described below or to change the terms or conditions relating to such services upon 60 days' notice to shareholders. You may, however, discontinue any service you select, provided that with respect to the Systematic Investment and Systematic Withdrawal Plans described below, the Trust's Transfer Agent receives your notification to discontinue such service(s) at least ten days before the next scheduled investment or withdrawal date.

Systematic Investment and Systematic Withdrawal Plans

For your convenience, the Trust provides plans that enable you to add to your investment or withdraw from your account(s) with a minimum of paperwork. You can utilize these plans by simply completing the appropriate section of the Account Application.

Systematic Investment Plan. The SIP is a convenient way for you to purchase shares in the Funds at regular monthly or quarterly intervals selected by you. The SIP enables you to achieve dollar-cost averaging with respect to investments in the Funds despite their fluctuating NAVs through regular purchases of a fixed dollar amount of shares in the Funds. Dollar-cost averaging brings discipline to your investing. Dollar-cost averaging results in more shares being purchased when a Fund's NAV is relatively low and fewer shares being purchased when a Fund's NAV is relatively high, thereby helping to decrease the average price of your shares. Investors who establish a SIP may open an account with a minimum balance of $500. Through the SIP, shares are purchased by transferring monies (minimum of $25 per transaction per Fund) from your designated checking or savings account. Your systematic investment in the Fund(s) designated by you will be processed on a regular basis at your option beginning on or about either the first or fifteenth day of the month or quarter you select. This SIP must be established on your account at least 15 days prior to the intended date of your first systematic investment.

Systematic Withdrawal Plan. The Systematic Withdrawal Plan provides a convenient way for you to receive current income while maintaining your investments in the Fund(s). The Systematic Withdrawal Plan permits you to have payments of $50 or more automatically transferred from your account(s) in the Fund(s) to your designated checking or savings account on a monthly, quarterly, or semi-annual basis. The Systematic Withdrawal Plan also provides the option of having a check mailed to the address of record for your account. In order to start this Plan, you must have a minimum balance of $5,000 in any account using this feature. Your systematic withdrawals will be processed on a regular basis beginning on or about either the first or fifteenth day of the month, quarter or semi-annual period you select.

Tax-Sheltered Retirement Arrangements

A variety of retirement plans, including traditional IRAs, Roth IRAs, SIMPLE IRAs, SIMPLE 401(k) plans, SEP-IRAs, self-employed "Keogh" plans, and employer-sponsored retirement plans, such as 401(k), profit-sharing, money purchase pension, 403(b) and 457 plans, may be invested in the Fund.

1. Traditional IRAs. You may save for your retirement and shelter your investment income from current taxes by either: (a) establishing a new traditional IRA; or (b) "rolling-over" to the Trust monies from other IRAs or lump sum distributions from certain retirement plans. In general, if you are between 18 and 70 1/2 years of age, you can use a traditional IRA to invest up to $4,000 per year (during 2005 through 2007) of your earned income in any of the Funds and you also may invest up to $4,000 per year in a spousal IRA if your spouse has no earned income. If you will attain age 50 or older by the end of the year, you may contribute an additional $500 ($1,000 in 2006 and thereafter) to an IRA. The IRA contribution limits may be reduced by your contributions to other arrangements, such as a Roth IRA. There is a $10.00 annual maintenance fee charged to traditional IRA investors. If you maintain IRA accounts in more than one Fund of the Trust, you will only be charged one fee. This fee can be prepaid or will be debited from your account if not received by the announced deadline. Please see the information below for changes to the annual contribution limit.

2. Roth IRAs. Roth IRAs are similar to traditional IRAs in many respects and provide a unique opportunity for qualifying individuals to accumulate investment earnings tax-free. Contributions to Roth IRAs are not tax-deductible (while contributions to traditional IRAs may be), however, if you meet the distribution requirements, you can withdraw your investments without paying any taxes on the earnings. In addition to establishing a new Roth IRA, you may be eligible to convert a traditional IRA into a Roth IRA. Maintenance fees charged for Roth IRAs are similar to those for traditional IRAs.

The current $4,000 annual contribution limit that applies to Traditional and Roth IRAs will increase to $5,000 in 2008. After 2008, the limit will be adjusted for inflation in $500 increments. In addition, individuals age 50 and over may make an additional $500 catch-up contribution to a Traditional or Roth IRA for 2005. In 2006, the annual catch-up contribution limit will increase to $1,000. The annual maximum IRA contribution must be made before annual catch-up contributions are made.

SIMPLE IRA or SIMPLE 401(k). An IRA or 401(k) plan sponsored by a small business employer under which each employee elects the portion of his or her compensation to be contributed to the IRA, and the employer is required to make additional contributions. "SIMPLE" stands for "Savings Incentive Match Plan for Employees."

SEP-IRAs. If you are a self-employed person, you can establish a Simplified Employee Pension Plan ("SEP-IRA"). A SEP-IRA is designed to provide persons with self-employed income (and their eligible employees) with many of the same tax advantages as a Keogh, but with fewer administrative requirements.

401(a) Keogh and Corporate Retirement Plans. Both a prototype money purchase pension plan and a profit sharing plan, which may be used alone or in combination, are available for self-employed individuals and their partners and corporations to provide tax-sheltered retirement benefits for individuals and employees.

401(k) Plans. Through the establishment of a 401(k) plan by a corporation of any size, employees can invest a portion of their wages in the Funds on a tax-deferred basis in order to help them meet their retirement needs.

403(b) Plans. Section 403(b) plans are custodial accounts which are available to employees of most tax-exempt organizations and public schools.

457 Plans. Section 457 plans are deferred compensation plans which may be available to employees of governmental employers, or to certain employees of tax-exempt organizations.

The legal and tax requirements applicable to IRAs and retirement plans are complex, and the information provided herein does not constitute legal or tax advice. Before participating in an IRA or a retirement plan, you should consult with your personal tax advisor.

Other Special Accounts

The Trust also offers the following special accounts to meet your needs:

1. Coverdell Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) (formerly known as Education IRAs). For taxable years beginning after December 31, 1997, Education IRAs were created exclusively for the purpose of paying qualified higher education expenses of designated beneficiaries. The contribution limit that applies to ESAs will increase to $2,000 starting in 2002, and in addition to college expenses, amounts may be used for elementary and secondary education expenses, including expenses incurred in the purchase of a computer system, educational software and Internet access for a child. The phase-out range for married couples filing a joint return for making contributions to these plans has been raised to adjusted gross income between $190,000 and $220,000. Like traditional and Roth IRAs, ESAs provide an opportunity for your investment to grow tax-free until distributed. Contributions to an ESA are not tax deductible, however, but withdrawals can be made tax-free if used to pay eligible education expenses. Contributions to an ESA can be made on behalf of a child under age 18. There is a $7.00 annual maintenance fee charged to ESAs. The fee can be prepaid or will be deducted from your account if not received by the announced deadline.

2. Uniform Gift to Minors/Uniform Transfers to Minors. By establishing a Uniform Gift to Minors Account/Uniform Transfers to Minors Account with the Trust you can build a fund for your children's education or a nest egg for their future and, at the same time, potentially reduce your own income taxes.

3. Custodial and Fiduciary Accounts. The Trust provides a convenient means of establishing custodial and fiduciary accounts for investors with fiduciary responsibilities.

DETERMINATION OF NET ASSET VALUE

The purchase and redemption price of the shares of a class of a Fund is based on the NAV attributable to such class. Each Fund, other than the Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund, calculates the NAV for each of its share classes by subtracting the liabilities from the total assets attributable to a class and dividing the result by the total number of shares outstanding of such a class. NAV per share is determined daily, normally as of the close of trading on the NYSE (normally 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time) on each Business Day. Each Fund (other than the Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund) that reaches a certain asset size, will have its NAV per share listed under Old Mutual Advisor Funds II in the mutual fund section of most major daily newspapers, including The Wall Street Journal.

The securities of each Fund are valued by the Sub-Administrator. The Sub-Administrator will use an independent pricing service to obtain valuations of securities. The pricing service relies primarily on prices of actual market transactions as well as trade quotations. The procedures of the pricing service and its valuations are reviewed by the officers of the Trust under the general supervision of the Board.

Fund securities listed on an exchange are valued at the last sales price. Fund securities quoted on a national market system are valued at the official closing price, or if there is none, at the last sales price. Other securities are quoted at the last bid price. In the event a listed security is traded on more than one exchange, it is valued at the official closing price, or if none, the last sale price on the exchange on which it is principally traded. If there are no transactions in a security during the day, it is valued at the most recent bid price. However, debt securities (other than short-term obligations), including listed issues, are valued on the basis of valuations furnished by a pricing service which utilizes electronic data processing techniques to determine valuations for normal institutional size trading units of debt securities, without exclusive reliance upon exchange or over-the-counter prices. Short-term obligations are valued at amortized cost. Securities and other assets held by the Trust for which market quotations are not readily available are valued at their fair value as determined in good faith by the Board.

Foreign securities are valued on the basis of quotations from the primary market in which they are traded, and are translated from the local currency into U.S. dollars using current exchange rates. In addition, if quotations are not readily available, or if the values have been materially affected by events occurring after the closing of a foreign market, assets may be valued by another method that the Board believes accurately reflects fair value.

The NAV per share of the Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund is calculated by adding the value of securities and other assets, subtracting liabilities and dividing by the number of outstanding shares. Securities will be valued by the amortized cost method which involves valuing a security at its cost on the date of purchase and thereafter (absent unusual circumstances) assuming a constant amortization to maturity of any discount or premium, regardless of the impact of fluctuations in general market rates of interest on the value of the instrument. While this method provides certainty in valuation, it may result in periods during which a security's value, as determined by this method, is higher or lower than the price the Fund would receive if it sold the instrument. NAV per share is determined daily as of 2:00 p.m. Eastern Time on each Business Day. During periods of declining interest rates, the daily yield of the Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund may tend to be higher than a like computation made by a company with identical investments utilizing a method of valuation based upon market prices and estimates of market prices for all of its portfolio securities. Thus, if the use of amortized cost by the Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund resulted in a lower aggregate portfolio value on a particular day, a prospective investor in the Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund would be able to obtain a somewhat higher yield than would result from investment in a company utilizing solely market values, and existing investors in the Fund would experience a lower yield. The converse would apply in a period of rising interest rates.

The use of amortized cost valuation by the Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund and the maintenance of the Fund's NAV at $1.00 are permitted by regulations set forth in Rule 2a-7 under the 1940 Act, provided that certain conditions are met. Under Rule 2a-7 as amended, a money market portfolio must maintain a dollar-weighted average maturity in the Fund of 90 days or less and not purchase any instrument having a remaining maturity of more than 397 days. In addition, money market funds may acquire only U.S. dollar denominated obligations that present minimal credit risks and that are "eligible securities" which means they are (i) rated, at the time of investment, by at least two nationally recognized security rating organizations (one if it is the only organization rating such obligation) in the highest short-term rating category or, if unrated, determined to be of comparable quality ("first tier security"), or (ii) rated according to the foregoing criteria in the second highest short-term rating category or, if unrated, determined to be of comparable quality ("second tier security"). The Adviser will determine that an obligation presents minimal credit risks or that unrated instruments are of comparable quality in accordance with guidelines established by the Board. The Board must approve or ratify the purchase of any unrated securities or securities rated by only one rating organization. In addition, investments in second tier securities are subject to the further constraints that (i) no more than 5% of the Fund's assets may be invested in such securities in the aggregate, and (ii) any investment in such securities of one issuer is limited to the greater of 1% of the Fund's total assets or $1 million. The regulations also require the Board to establish procedures which are reasonably designed to stabilize the NAV per share at $1.00 for the Fund. However, there is no assurance that the Fund will be able to meet this objective. The Fund's procedures include the determination of the extent of deviation, if any, of the Fund's current NAV per unit calculated using available market quotations from the Fund's amortized cost price per share at such intervals as the Board deems appropriate and reasonable in light of market conditions and periodic reviews of the amount of the deviation and the methods used to calculate such deviation. In the event that such deviation exceeds 1/2 of 1%, the Board is required to consider promptly what action, if any, should be initiated. If the Board believes that the extent of any deviation may result in material dilution or other unfair results to shareholders, the Board is required to take such corrective action as they deem appropriate to eliminate or reduce such dilution or unfair results to the extent reasonably practicable. In addition, if any Fund incurs a significant loss or liability, the Board has the authority to reduce pro rata the number of shares of that Fund in each shareholder's account and to offset each shareholder's pro rata portion of such loss or liability from the shareholder's accrued but unpaid dividends or from future dividends.

TAXES

The following summary of federal income tax consequences is based on current tax laws and regulations, which may be changed by legislative, judicial or administrative action. No attempt has been made to present a detailed explanation of the federal, state or local income tax treatment of the Funds or their shareholders. Accordingly, you are urged to consult your tax advisers regarding specific questions as to federal, state and local income taxes.

The following discussion of federal income tax consequences is based on the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), and the regulations issued thereunder as in effect on the date of this SAI. New legislation, as well as administrative changes or court decisions, may significantly change the conclusions expressed herein, and may have a retroactive effect with respect to the transactions contemplated herein.

Qualification as a Regulated Investment Company

Each Fund is treated as a separate entity for federal income tax purposes and is not combined with the Trust's other Funds. Each Fund intends to continue to qualify as a "regulated investment company" ("RIC") as defined under Subchapter M of the Code. In order to qualify for treatment as a RIC under the Code, each Fund must distribute annually to its shareholders at least the sum of 90% of its net interest income excludable from gross income plus 90% of its investment company taxable income (generally, net investment income plus net short-term capital gain) ("Distribution Requirement"). In addition to the Distribution Requirement, each Fund must meet several other requirements. Among these requirements are the following: (i) each Fund must derive at least 90% of its gross income in each taxable year from dividends, interest, certain payments with respect to securities loans, gains from the sale or other disposition of stock or securities or foreign currencies, other income (including but not limited to gains from options, futures or forward contracts derived with respect to the Fund's business of investing in such stock, securities or currencies) and (for Fund taxable years beginning after October 22, 2004) net income derived from certain qualified publicly traded partnerships (the "Income Requirement"); (ii) at the close of each quarter of the Fund's taxable year, (A) at least 50% of the value of its total assets must be represented by cash and cash items, U.S. Government securities, securities of other RICs and securities of other issuers, with such securities of other issuers limited, in respect to any one issuer, to an amount that does not exceed 5% of the value of the Fund's assets and that does not represent more than 10% of the outstanding voting securities of such issuer and (B) no more than 25% of the value of a Fund's total assets may be invested in the securities of any one issuer (other than U.S. Government securities and securities of other regulated investment companies) or of two or more issuers which the Fund controls and which are engaged in the same or similar trades or businesses, or, collectively, in securities of certain qualified publicly traded partnerships (for Fund taxable years beginning after October 22, 2004) ((A) and (B) collectively, the "Asset Diversification Test").

For purposes of the Asset Diversification Test, it is unclear under present law who should be treated as the issuer of forward foreign currency exchange contracts, of options on foreign currencies, or of foreign currency futures and related options. It has been suggested that the issuer in each case may be the foreign central bank or foreign government backing the particular currency. Consequently, a Fund may find it necessary to seek a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service on this issue or to curtail its trading in forward foreign currency exchange contracts in order to stay within the limits of the Asset Diversification Test.

Income derived from a partnership or a trust shall be treated as satisfying the Income Requirement only to the extent such income is attributable to items of income of the partnership or trust that would satisfy the Income Requirement if realized by the RIC in the same manner as realized by the partnership or trust. As a consequence of this rule and the one described above relating to certain qualified publicly traded partnerships, income derived from all publicly traded partnerships will satisfy the Income Requirement in Fund taxable years beginning after October 22, 2004. Foreign currency gains (including gains from options, futures or forward contracts on foreign currencies) that are not "directly related" to a Fund's principal business may, under regulations not yet issued, be excluded from qualifying income for purposes of the Income Requirement.

If a Fund fails to qualify as a RIC for any taxable year, it will be taxable at regular corporate rates on its net investment income and net capital gain without any deductions for amounts distributed to shareholders. In such an event, all distributions (including capital gains distributions) will be taxable as ordinary dividends to the extent of that Fund's current and accumulated earnings and profits and such distributions will generally be included in the qualified dividend income of individual and other non-corporate shareholders and be eligible for the dividends-received deduction.

Portfolio Distributions

Notwithstanding the Distribution Requirement described above, which requires only that a Fund distribute at least 90% of its annual investment company taxable income and does not require any minimum distribution of net capital gain (the excess of net long-term capital gain over net short-term capital loss), the Fund will be subject to a nondeductible 4% federal excise tax to the extent it fails to distribute by the end of any calendar year 98% of its ordinary income for that year and 98% of its capital gain net income (the excess of short- and long-term capital gains over short- and long-term capital losses) for the one-year period ending on October 31 of that calendar year, plus certain other amounts. Each Fund intends to make sufficient distributions prior to the end of each calendar year to avoid liability for the federal excise tax.

Treasury regulations permit a RIC in determining its investment company taxable income and undistributed net capital gain for any taxable year to elect to treat all or part of any net capital loss, any net long-term capital loss, or any net foreign currency loss incurred after October 31 as if it had been incurred in the succeeding year.

Each Fund will distribute all of its net investment income (including, for this purpose, net short-term capital gain) to shareholders. Dividends from net investment income will generally be taxable to shareholders as ordinary income whether received in cash or in additional shares. Dividends paid to individual and other non-corporate shareholders will be treated as qualified dividend income (subject to tax at a maximum rate of 15%) to the extent of the dividends received by the Fund in any taxable year from domestic corporations and certain qualified foreign corporations. However, if the qualified dividends received by the Fund are 95% (or more) of the Fund's gross income (exclusive of any net capital gain) in any taxable year, then all of the ordinary income dividends paid by the Fund for that taxable year will be treated as qualified dividend income. Dividends paid to corporate shareholders will qualify for the dividends-received deduction only to the extent of the dividends received by the Fund in any taxable year from domestic corporations. Any net capital gains realized by the Fund will be distributed annually as capital gain dividends and will be taxed to shareholders as long-term capital gains, regardless of how long the shareholder has held shares and regardless of whether the distributions are received in cash or in additional shares. The Funds will make annual reports to shareholders of the federal income tax status of all distributions, including the amount of dividends constituting qualified dividend income, the amount of dividends eligible for the dividends-received deduction and the amount of capital gain dividends.

Certain debt securities purchased by the Funds (such as U.S. Treasury STRIPS) are sold with original issue discount and thus do not make periodic cash interest payments. Each Fund will be required to include as part of its current net investment income the accrued discount on such obligations for purposes of the distribution requirement even though the Fund has not received any interest payments on such obligations during that period. Because a Fund distributes all of its net investment income to its shareholders, the Fund may have to sell portfolio securities to distribute such accrued income, which may occur at a time when the Adviser or sub-adviser would not have chosen to sell such securities and which may result in a taxable gain or loss.

Income received on direct U.S. obligations is exempt from income tax at the state level when received directly by a Fund and may be exempt, depending on the state, when received by a shareholder as income dividends from a Fund provided certain state-specific conditions are satisfied. Not all states permit such income dividends to be tax exempt and some require as a condition for exemption that a certain minimum percentage of an investment company's income be derived directly from interest that is exempt from state tax. Each Fund will inform shareholders annually of the percentage of income and distributions derived from direct U.S. obligations. You should consult your tax advisor to determine whether any portion of the income dividends received from a Fund is considered tax exempt in your particular state.

Dividends declared by a Fund in October, November or December of any year and payable to shareholders of record on a date in one of those months will be deemed to have been paid by the Fund and received by the shareholders on December 31 of that year, if paid by the Fund at any time during the following January.

Withholding

In certain cases, a Fund will be required to withhold, and remit to the U.S. Treasury, 28% of any distributions paid to a shareholder who (i) has failed to provide a correct taxpayer identification number, (ii) is subject to backup withholding by the Internal Revenue Service, or (iii) has not certified to the Fund that such shareholder is not subject to backup withholding.

Redemption or Exchange of Shares

Upon a redemption or exchange of shares, a shareholder will recognize a taxable gain or loss depending upon his or her basis in the shares. Unless the shares are disposed of as part of a conversion transaction, such gain or loss will be treated as capital gain or loss if the shares are capital assets in the shareholder's hands and will be long-term or short-term, depending upon the shareholder's holding period for the shares. Any loss recognized by a shareholder on the sale of Fund shares held six months or less will be treated as a long-term capital loss to the extent of any distributions of net capital gains received by the shareholder with respect to such shares.

Any loss recognized on a sale or exchange will be disallowed under the wash sale rules to the extent that Fund shares are sold and replaced within the 61-day period beginning 30 days before and ending 30 days after the disposition of such shares. In such a case, the basis of the shares acquired will be increased to reflect the disallowed loss. Shareholders should particularly note that this loss disallowance rule applies even where shares are automatically replaced under the dividend reinvestment plan.

Investment in Foreign Financial Instruments

Under Code Section 988, gains or losses from certain foreign currency forward contracts or fluctuations in currency exchange rates will generally be treated as ordinary income or loss. Such Code Section 988 gains or losses will increase or decrease the amount of a Fund's investment company taxable income available to be distributed to shareholders as ordinary income, rather than increasing or decreasing the amount of the Fund's net capital gains. Additionally, if Code Section 988 losses exceed other investment company taxable income during a taxable year, the Fund would not be able to pay any ordinary income dividends, and any such dividends paid before the losses were realized, but in the same taxable year, would be recharacterized as a return of capital to shareholders, thereby reducing the tax basis of Fund shares.

Hedging Transactions

Some of the forward foreign currency exchange contracts, options and futures contracts that the Funds may enter into will be subject to special tax treatment as "Section 1256 contracts." Section 1256 contracts are treated as if they are sold for their fair market value on the last Business Day of the taxable year, regardless of whether a taxpayer's obligations (or rights) under such contracts have terminated (by delivery, exercise, entering into a closing transaction or otherwise) as of such date. Any gain or loss recognized as a consequence of the year-end deemed disposition of Section 1256 contracts is combined with any other gain or loss that was previously recognized upon the termination of Section 1256 contracts during that taxable year. The net amount of such gain or loss for the entire taxable year (including gain or loss arising as a consequence of the year-end deemed sale of such contracts) is deemed to be 60% long-term and 40% short-term gain or loss. However, in the case of Section 1256 contracts that are forward foreign currency exchange contracts, the net gain or loss is separately determined and (as discussed above) generally treated as ordinary income or loss.

Generally, the hedging transactions in which the Funds may engage may result in "straddles" or "conversion transactions" for U.S. federal income tax purposes. The straddle and conversion transaction rules may affect the character of gains (or in the case of the straddle rules, losses) realized by the Funds. In addition, losses realized by the Funds on positions that are part of a straddle may be deferred under the straddle rules, rather than being taken into account in calculating the taxable income for the taxable year in which the losses are realized. Because only a few regulations implementing the straddle rules and the conversion transaction rules have been promulgated, the tax consequences to the Funds of hedging transactions are not entirely clear. The hedging transactions may increase the amount of short-term capital gain realized by the Funds (and, if they are conversion transactions, the amount of ordinary income) which is taxed as ordinary income when distributed to shareholders.

Each Fund may make one or more of the elections available under the Code which are applicable to straddles. If a Fund makes any of the elections, the amount, character, and timing of the recognition of gains or losses from the affected straddle positions will be determined under rules that vary according to the election(s) made. The rules applicable under certain of the elections may operate to accelerate the recognition of gains or losses from the affected straddle positions.

Transactions that may be engaged in by certain of the Funds (such as short sales "against the box") may be subject to special tax treatment as "constructive sales" under section 1259 of the Code if a Fund holds certain “appreciated financial positions” (defined generally as any interest (including a futures or forward contract, short sale or option) with respect to stock, certain debt instruments, or partnership interests if there would be a gain were such interest sold, assigned, or otherwise terminated at its fair market value). Upon entering into a constructive sales transaction with respect to an appreciated financial position, a Fund will be deemed to have constructively sold such appreciated financial position and will recognize gain as if such position were sold, assigned, or otherwise terminated at its fair market value on the date of such constructive sale (and will take into account any gain for the taxable year which includes such date).

Because application of the straddle, conversion transaction and constructive sale rules may affect the character of gains or losses, defer losses and/or accelerate the recognition of gains or losses from the affected straddle or investment positions, the amount which must be distributed to shareholders and which will be taxed to shareholders as ordinary income or long-term capital gain may be increased or decreased as compared to a fund that did not engage in such transactions.

Requirements relating to each Fund’s tax status as a RIC may limit the extent to which a Fund will be able to engage in transactions in options and futures contracts.

State Taxes

Distributions by a Fund to shareholders and the ownership of shares may be subject to state and local taxes.

Foreign Shareholders

Dividends from a Fund’s investment company taxable income and distributions constituting returns of capital paid to a nonresident alien individual, a foreign trust or estate, foreign corporation, or foreign partnership (a “foreign shareholder”) generally will be subject to U.S. withholding tax at a rate of 30% (or lower treaty rate) upon the gross amount of the dividend.

A foreign shareholder generally will not be subject to U.S. taxation on gain realized upon the redemption or exchange of shares of a Fund or on capital gain dividends. As a consequence of the enactment of the American Jobs Creation Act of 2004, a foreign shareholder will also generally be exempt from U.S. federal income tax on distributions that a Fund designates as “short-term capital gain dividends” or as “interest-related dividends” for Fund taxable years beginning after December 31, 2004 and before January 1, 2008. The aggregate amount that may be designated as short-term capital gain dividends for a Fund’s taxable year is equal to the excess (if any) of the Fund’s net short-term capital gain over its net long-term capital loss. The aggregate amount designated as interest-related dividends for any Fund taxable year is generally limited to the excess of the amount of “qualified interest income” of the Fund over allocable expenses. Qualified interest income is generally equal to the sum of a Fund’s U.S.-source income that constitutes (1) bank deposit interest; (2) short-term original issue discount that is exempt from withholding tax; (3) interest on a debt obligation which is in registered form, unless it is earned on a debt obligation issued by a corporation or partnership in which the Fund holds a 10-percent ownership interest or its payment is contingent on certain events; and (4) interest-related dividends received from another regulated investment company.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, if distributions by the Funds are effectively connected with a U.S. trade or business of a foreign shareholder, then dividends from such Fund’s investment company taxable income, capital gains, and any gains realized upon the sale of shares of the Fund will be subject to U.S. income tax at the graduated rates applicable to U.S. citizens or domestic corporations. For this purpose, effective for taxable years of the Old Mutual Heitman REIT Fund beginning after December 31, 2004 and before January 1, 2008, the portion (if any) of a capital gain dividend or short-term capital gain dividend received by a foreign shareholder that is attributable to gain from the sale or exchange of an interest in a REIT in which foreign persons have, at any time during the five-year period ending on the date of the sale or exchange, held 50% or more of the total value of the REIT's stock will be treated as income effectively connected with a U.S. trade or business and will be subject to income. Additionally, the foreign shareholder receiving such income will be required to file a United States federal income tax return.

Transfers by gift of shares of a Fund by a foreign shareholder who is a nonresident alien individual will not be subject to U.S. federal gift tax. An individual who, at the time of death, is a foreign shareholder will nevertheless be subject to U.S. federal estate tax with respect to shares at the graduated rates applicable to U.S. citizens and residents, unless a treaty exception applies. In the absence of a treaty, there is a $13,000 statutory estate tax credit. Estates of foreign shareholders dying after December 31, 2004 and before January 1, 2008 will be able to exempt from federal estate tax the proportion of the value of a Fund's shares attributable to "qualifying assets" held by the Fund at the end of the quarter immediately preceding the decedent's death (or such other time as the Internal Revenue Service may designate in regulations). Qualifying assets include bank deposits and other debt obligations that pay interest or accrue original issue discount that is exempt from withholding tax, debt obligations of a domestic corporation that are treated as giving rise to foreign source income, and other investments that are not treated for tax purposes as being within the United States. Shareholders will be advised annually of the portion of a Fund's assets that constituted qualifying assets at the end of each quarter of its taxable year.

The tax consequences to a foreign shareholder entitled to claim the benefits of an applicable tax treaty may be different from those described herein. Foreign shareholders are urged to consult their own tax advisors with respect to the particular tax consequences to them of an investment in any of the Funds.

Miscellaneous Considerations

The foregoing general discussion of federal income tax consequences is based on the Code and the regulations issued thereunder as in effect on March 31, 2006. Future legislative or administrative changes or court decisions may significantly change the conclusions expressed herein, and any such changes or decisions may have a retroactive effect with respect to the transactions contemplated herein.

Prospective shareholders are encouraged to consult their tax advisers as to the consequences of these and other U.S., state, local, and foreign tax rules affecting investments in the Fund.

PERFORMANCE ADVERTISING

From time to time, each Fund may advertise its yield and total return. These figures will be based on historical earnings and are not intended to indicate future performance. No representation can be made regarding actual future yields or returns. For Funds other than the Old Mutual Cash Reserves Fund, yield refers to the annualized income generated by an investment in the Fund over a specified 30 day period. The yield is calculated by assuming that the same amount of income generated by the investment during that period is generated in each 30 day period over one year and is shown as a percentage of the investment.

The performance shown for the Advisor Class of each Fund (other than the Old Mutual Growth Fund) is based on hypothetical performance using the actual performance and expenses of the Class Z, for the periods prior to the inception of the Advisor Class, adjusted to reflect the additional 0.25% service fee payable by the Advisor Class. The Funds' Advisor Class shares and Class Z shares would have similar returns because both classes are invested in the same portfolio of securities. Therefore, the performance of the two share classes will differ only to the extent they have different expenses.

CREDIT RATINGS

Moody’s Investors Service, Inc.

Preferred Stock Ratings

aaa	An issue which is rated “aaa” is considered to be a top-quality preferred stock. This rating indicates good asset protection and the least risk of dividend impairment within the universe of preferred stocks.
aa	An issue which is rated “aa” is considered a high-grade preferred stock. This rating indicates that there is a reasonable assurance the earnings and asset protection will remain relatively well-maintained in the foreseeable future.
a	An issue which is rated “a” is considered to be an upper-medium-grade preferred stock. While risks are judged to be somewhat greater than in the “aaa” and “aa” classification, earnings and asset protection are, nevertheless, expected to be maintained at adequate levels.
baa	An issue that which is rated “baa” is considered to be a medium-grade preferred stock, neither highly protected nor poorly secured. Earnings and asset protection appear adequate at present but may be questionable over any great length of time.
ba	An issue which is rated “ba” is considered to have speculative elements and its future cannot be considered well assured. Earnings and asset protection may be very moderate and not well safeguarded during adverse periods. Uncertainty of position characterizes preferred stocks in this class.
b	An issue which is rated “b” generally lacks the characteristics of a desirable investment. Assurance of dividend payments and maintenance of other terms of the issue over any long period of time may be small.
caa	An issue which is rated “caa” is likely to be in arrears on dividend payments. This rating designation does not purport to indicate the future status of payments.

ca	An issue which is rated “ca” is speculative in a high degree and is likely to be in arrears on dividends with little likelihood of eventual payments.
c	This is the lowest-rated class of preferred or preference stock. Issues so rated can thus be regarded as having extremely poor prospects of ever attaining any real investment standing.
plus (+) or minus (-)	Moody’s applies numerical modifiers 1, 2, and 3 in each rating classifications “aa through “bb.” The modifier 1 indicates that the security ranks in the higher end of its generic rating category; the modifier 2 indicates a mid-range ranking and the modifier 3 indicates that the issue ranks in the lower end of its generic rating category.

Debt Ratings – Taxable Debt & Deposits Globally

Aaa	Bonds which are rated “Aaa” are judged to be of the best quality. They carry the smallest degree of investment risk and are generally referred to as “gilt-edged.” Interest payments are protected by a large or by an exceptionally stable margin and principal is secure. While the various protective elements are likely to change, such changes as can be visualized are most unlikely to impair the fundamentally strong position of such issues.
Aa	Bonds which are rated “Aa” are judged to be of high quality by all standards. Together with the “Aaa” group they comprise what are generally known as high grade bonds. They are rated lower than the best bonds because margins of protection may not be as large as in Aaa securities or fluctuation of protective elements may be of greater amplitude or there may be other elements present which make the long-term risks appear somewhat larger than the Aaa securities.
A	Bonds which are rated “A” possess many favorable investment attributes and are to be considered as upper-medium-grade obligations. Factors giving security to principal and interest are considered adequate, but elements may be present which suggest a susceptibility to impairment some time in the future.
Baa	Bonds which are rated “Baa” are considered as medium-grade obligations, (i.e., they are neither highly protected nor poorly secured). Interest payments and principal security appear adequate for the present but certain protective elements may be lacking or may be characteristically unreliable over any great length of time. Such bonds lack outstanding investment characteristics and in fact have speculative characteristics as well.
Ba	Bonds which are rated “Ba” are judged to have speculative elements; their future cannot be considered as well-assured. Often the protection of interest and principal payments may be very moderate, and thereby not well safeguarded during both good and bad times over the future. Uncertainty of position characterizes bonds in this class.
B	Bonds which are rated “B” generally lack characteristics of the desirable investment. Assurance of interest and principal payments or of maintenance of other terms of the contract over any long period of time may be small.
Caa	Bonds which are rated “Caa” are of poor standing. Such issues may be in default or there may be present elements of danger with respect to principal or interest.
Ca	Bonds which are rated “Ca” represent obligations which are speculative in a high degree. Such issues are often in default or have other marked shortcomings.

C Bonds which are rated “C” are the lowest rated class of bonds, and issues so rated can be regarded as having extremely poor prospects of ever attaining any real investment standing.

Con. (...) (This rating applies only to U.S. Tax-Exempt Municipals) Bonds for which the security depends upon the completion of some act or the fulfillment of some condition are rated conditionally. These are bonds secured by (a) earnings of projects under construction, (b) earnings of projects unseasoned in operating experience, (c) rentals that begin when facilities are completed, or (d) payments to which some other limiting condition attaches. Parenthetical rating denotes probable credit stature upon completion of construction or elimination of basis of the condition.

Note: Moody’s applies numerical modifiers 1, 2 and 3 in each generic rating classification from Aa through Caa. The modifier 1 indicates that the obligation ranks in the higher end of its generic rating category; modifier 2 indicates a mid-range ranking; and the modifier 3 indicates a ranking in the lower end of that generic rating category.

Short-Term Prime Rating System – Taxable Debt & Deposits Globally

Moody’s short-term issue ratings are opinions of the ability of issuers to honor senior financial obligations and contracts. These obligations have an original maturity not exceeding one year, unless explicitly noted.

Moody’s employs the following three designations, all judged to be investment grade, to indicate the relative repayment ability of rated issuers:

Prime-1 Issuers rated Prime-1 (or supporting institution) have a superior ability for repayment of senior short-term debt obligations. Prime-1 repayment ability will often be evidenced by many of the following characteristics:

- Leading market positions in well-established industries.
- High rates of return on funds employed.
- Conservative capitalization structure with moderate reliance on debt and ample asset protection.
- Broad margins in earnings coverage of fixed financial charges and high internal cash generation.
- Well-established access to a range of financial markets and assured sources of alternate liquidity.

Prime-2 Issuers rated Prime-2 (or supporting institutions) have a strong ability for repayment of senior short-term debt obligations. This will normally be evidenced by many of the characteristics cited above but to a lesser degree. Earnings trends and coverage ratios, while sound, may be more subject to variation. Capitalization characteristics, while still appropriate, may be more affected by external conditions. Ample alternate liquidity is maintained.

Prime-3 Issuers rated Prime-3 (or supporting institutions) have an acceptable ability for repayment of senior short-term obligation. The effect of industry characteristics and market compositions may be more pronounced. Variability in earnings and profitability may result in changes in the level of debt protection measurements and may require relatively high financial leverage. Adequate alternate liquidity is maintained.

Not Prime Issuers rated Not Prime do not fall within any of the Prime rating categories.

Standard & Poor's Ratings Services

Long-Term Issue Credit Ratings

Issue credit ratings are based, in varying degrees, on the following considerations:

- (i.) Likelihood of payment-capacity and willingness of the obligor to meet its financial commitment on an obligation in accordance with the terms of the obligation;
- (ii.) Nature of and provisions of the obligation; and
- (iii.) Protection afforded by, and relative position of, the obligation in the event of bankruptcy, reorganization, or other arrangement under the laws of bankruptcy and other laws affecting creditors' rights.

The issue rating definitions are expressed in terms of default risk. As such, they pertain to senior obligations of an entity. Junior obligations are typically rated lower than senior obligations, to reflect the lower priority in bankruptcy, as noted above. Accordingly, in the case of junior debt, the rating may not conform exactly with the category definition.

AAA	An obligation rated 'AAA' has the highest rating assigned by Standard & Poor's. The obligor's capacity to meet its financial commitment on the obligation is extremely strong.
AA	An obligation rated 'AA' differs from the highest rated obligations only in small degree. The obligor's capacity to meet its financial commitment on the obligation is very strong.
A	An obligation rated 'A' is somewhat more susceptible to the adverse effects of changes in circumstances and economic conditions than obligations in higher rated categories. However, the obligor's capacity to meet its financial commitment on the obligation is still strong.
BBB	An obligation rated 'BBB' exhibits adequate protection parameters. However, adverse economic conditions or changing circumstances are more likely to lead to a weakened capacity of the obligor to meet its financial commitment on the obligation. Obligations rated 'BB', 'B', 'CCC', 'CC' and 'C' are regarded as having significant speculative characteristics. 'BB' indicates the least degree of speculation and 'C' the highest. While such obligations will likely have some quality and protective characteristics, these may be outweighed by large uncertainties or major risk exposures to adverse conditions.
BB	An obligation rated 'BB' is less vulnerable to nonpayment than other speculative issues. However, it faces major ongoing uncertainties or exposures to adverse business, financial, or economic conditions which could lead to the obligor's inadequate capacity to meet its financial commitment on the obligation.

B	An obligation rated 'B' is more vulnerable to nonpayment than obligations rated 'BB', but the obligor currently has the capacity to meet its financial commitment on the obligation. Adverse business, financial, or economic conditions will likely impair the obligor's capacity or willingness to meet its financial commitment on the obligation.
CCC	An obligation rated 'CCC' is currently vulnerable to nonpayment, and is dependent upon favorable business, financial, and economic conditions for the obligor to meet its financial commitment on the obligation. In the event of adverse business, financial, or economic conditions, the obligor is not likely to have the capacity to meet its financial commitment on the obligations.
CC	An obligation rated 'CC' is currently highly vulnerable to nonpayment.
C	A subordinated debt or preferred stock obligation rated 'C' is currently highly vulnerable to nonpayment. The 'C' rating may be used to cover a situation where a bankruptcy petition has been filed or similar action taken, but payments on this obligation are being continued. A 'C' will also be assigned to a preferred stock issue in arrears on dividends or sinking fund payments, but that is currently paying.
D	An obligation rated 'D' is in payment default. The 'D' rating category is used when payments on an obligation are not made on the date due even if the applicable grace period has not expired, unless Standard & Poor's believes that such payments will be made during such grace period. The 'D' rating also will be used upon the filing of a bankruptcy petition or the taking of a similar action if payments on an obligation are jeopardized.
Plus (+) or minus (-):	The ratings from 'AA' to 'CCC' may be modified by the addition of a plus or minus sign to show relative standing within the major rating categories.

Short-Term Issue Credit Ratings

A-1	A short-term obligation rated 'A-1' is rated in the highest category by Standard & Poor's. The obligor's capacity to meet its financial commitment on the obligation is strong. Within this category, certain obligations are designated with a plus sign (+). This indicates that the obligor's capacity to meet its financial commitment on these obligations is extremely strong.
A-2	A short-term obligation rated 'A-2' is somewhat more susceptible to the adverse effects of changes in circumstances and economic conditions than obligations in higher rating categories. However, the obligor's capacity to meet its financial commitment on the obligation is satisfactory.
A-3	A short-term obligation rated 'A-3' exhibits adequate protection parameters. However, adverse economic conditions or changing circumstances are more likely to lead to a weakened capacity of the obligor to meet its financial commitment on the obligation.
B	A short-term obligation rated 'B' is regarded as having significant speculative characteristics. The obligor currently has the capacity to meet its financial commitment on the obligation; however, it faces major ongoing uncertainties which could lead to the obligor's inadequate capacity to meet its financial commitment on the obligation.
C	A short-term obligation rated 'C' is currently vulnerable to nonpayment and is dependent upon favorable business, financial, and economic conditions for the obligor to meet its financial commitment on the obligation.

D	A short-term obligation rated 'D' is in payment default. The 'D' rating category is used when payments on an obligation are not made on the date due even if the applicable grace period has not expired, unless Standard & Poor's believes that such payments will be made during such grace period. The 'D' rating also will be used upon the filing of a bankruptcy petition or the taking of a similar action if payments on an obligation are jeopardized.

Fitch Ratings

International Long-Term Credit Ratings

Investment Grade

AAA	Highest credit quality. "AAA" ratings denote the lowest expectation of credit risk. They are assigned only in case of exceptionally strong capacity for timely payment of financial commitments. This capacity is highly unlikely to be adversely affected by foreseeable events.
AA	Very high credit quality. "AA" ratings denote a very low expectation of credit risk. They indicate very strong capacity for timely payment of financial commitments. This capacity is not significantly vulnerable to foreseeable events.
A	High credit quality. "A" ratings denote a low expectation of credit risk. The capacity for timely payment of financial commitments is considered strong. This capacity may, nevertheless, be more vulnerable to changes in circumstances or in economic conditions than is the case for higher ratings.
BBB	Good credit quality. "BBB" ratings indicate that there is currently a low expectation of credit risk. The capacity for timely payment of financial commitments is considered adequate, but adverse changes in circumstances and in economic conditions are more likely to impair this capacity. This is the lowest investment-grade category.

Speculative Grade

BB	Speculative. "BB" ratings indicate that there is a possibility of credit risk developing, particularly as the result of adverse economic change over time; however, business or financial alternatives may be available to allow financial commitments to be met. Securities rated in this category are not investment grade.
B	Highly speculative. "B" ratings indicate that significant credit risk is present, but a limited margin of safety remains. Financial commitments are currently being met; however, capacity for continued payment is contingent upon a sustained, favorable business and economic environment.
CCC,CC,C	High default risk. Default is a real possibility. Capacity for meeting financial commitments is solely reliant upon sustained, favorable business or economic developments. A "CC" rating indicates that default of some kind appears probable. "C" ratings signal imminent default.

DDD,DD,D	Default. The ratings of obligations in this category are based on their prospects for achieving partial or full recovery in a reorganization or liquidation of the obligor. While expected recovery values are highly speculative and cannot be estimated with any precision, the following serve as general guidelines. “DDD” obligations have the highest potential for recovery, around 90%-100% of outstanding amounts and accrued interest. “D” indicates potential recoveries in the range of 50%-90%, and “D” the lowest recovery potential, i.e., below 50%. Entities rated in this category have defaulted on some or all of their obligations. Entities rated “DDD” have the highest prospect for resumption of performance or continued operation with or without a formal reorganization process. Entities rated “DD” and “D” are generally undergoing a formal reorganization or liquidation process; those rated “DD” are likely to satisfy a higher portion of their outstanding obligations, while entities rated “D” have a poor prospect for repaying all obligations.

International Short-Term Credit Ratings

F1	Highest credit quality. Indicates the strongest capacity for timely payment of financial commitments; may have an added “+” to denote any exceptionally strong credit feature.
F2	Good credit quality. A satisfactory capacity for timely payment of financial commitments, but the margin of safety is not as great as in the case of the higher ratings.
F3	Fair credit quality. The capacity for timely payment of financial commitments is adequate; however, near-term adverse changes could result in a reduction to non-investment grade.
B	Speculative. Minimal capacity for timely payment of financial commitments, plus vulnerability to near-term adverse changes in financial and economic conditions.
C	High default risk. Default is a real possibility. Capacity for meeting financial commitments is solely reliant upon a sustained, favorable business and economic environment.
D	Default. Denotes actual or imminent payment default.

NOTES

“+” or “-” may be appended to a rating to denote relative status within major rating categories. Such suffixes are not added to the ‘AAA’ long-term rating category, to categories below ‘CCC’, or to short-term ratings other than ‘F’. Fitch uses the same ratings for municipal securities as described above for Institutional short-Term Credit Ratings.

OLD MUTUAL ADVISOR FUNDS II OLD MUTUAL INSURANCE SERIES FUND

PROXY VOTING GUIDELINES

These Proxy Voting Guidelines (the “Guidelines”) are being adopted by the Board of Trustees of the Old Mutual Advisor Funds II and the Old Mutual Insurance Series Fund (collectively, “the Trust”) in accordance with Rule 30b1-4 of the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the “Rule”). The Trust recognizes that proxies have an economic value and in voting proxies, the Trust seeks to maximize the value of our investments and our shareholders’ assets. We believe that the voting of proxies is an economic asset that has direct investment implications. Moreover, we believe that each portfolio’s investment adviser is in the best position to assess the financial implications presented by proxy issues and the impact a particular vote may have on the value of a security. Consequently, the Trust generally assigns proxy voting responsibilities to the investment manager responsible for the management of each respective Trust portfolio. In supervising this assignment, the Trustees will periodically review the voting policies of each investment adviser or sub-adviser that manages a fund of the Trust that invests in voting securities. If an investment adviser to a fund of the Trust who invests in voting securities does not have a proxy policy which complies with the relevant portions of the Rule and the proxy voting rule under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, that adviser will be required to follow these Guidelines.

Disclosure of General Proxy Voting Guidelines

In evaluating proxy issues, information from various sources may be considered including information from company management, shareholder groups, independent proxy research services, and others. In all cases, however, each proxy vote should be cast in a manner that seeks to maximize the value of the funds’ assets.

The Trust’s Guidelines as they relate to certain common proxy proposals are summarized below along with the Trust’s usual voting practice. As previously noted, an adviser or sub-adviser to the Trust will only be required to follow these Guidelines if they do not have a proxy voting policy which complies with applicable regulatory requirements.

Other Situations

No Proxy Voting Guideline can anticipate all potential proxy voting issues that may arise. Consequently, other issues that appear on proxies are reviewed on a case-by-case basis and our vote is cast in a manner that we believe is in the best interest of the applicable Trust and its shareholders.

Conflicts of Interest

The Trust recognizes that conflicts of interest exist, or may appear to exist, in certain circumstances when voting proxies. Since under normal circumstances the adviser or sub-adviser will be responsible for voting proxies related to securities held in the Trust, the Trusts themselves will not have a conflict of interest with fund shareholders in the voting of proxies. The Trust expects each adviser and sub-adviser responsible for voting proxies to adopt policies that address the identification of material conflicts of interest that may exist and how such conflicts are to be resolved to ensure that voting decisions are based on what is in the best interest of each respective Trust and its shareholders and is not influenced by any conflicts of interest that the adviser or sub-adviser may have.

Disclosure of Proxy Voting Guidelines and Record

The Trust will fully comply with all applicable disclosure obligations under the Rule. These include the following:

- Disclosure in shareholder reports that a description of the Fund's Proxy Voting Guideline is available upon request without charge and information about how it can be obtained (e.g. the Trust website, SEC web site, and toll free phone number).
- Disclosure in the Fund Statement of Additional Information (SAI) the actual policies used to vote proxies.
- Disclosure in shareholder reports and in the SAI that information regarding how Old Mutual voted proxies during the most recent twelve month period ended June 30 is available without charge and how such information can be obtained.

The Trust will file all required reports regarding the Fund's actual proxy voting record on Form N-PX on an annual basis as required by the Rule. This voting record will also be made available to shareholders.

The Trust will respond to all requests for guideline descriptions or proxy records within three business days of such request.

Maintenance of Proxy Voting Records

The Trust's administrator, adviser, and sub-advisers will be responsible for maintaining all appropriate records related to the voting of proxies held in the Trust as required by the Rule. These records include proxy ballots, share reconciliation reports, recommendation documentation, and other pertinent supporting documentation relating to a particular proxy. Applicable records shall be maintained for a period of six years.

Review of Proxy Voting Guideline

This guideline as well as the proxy voting guidelines of all advisers and sub-advisers to the Trust will be reviewed at least annually. This review will include, but will not necessarily be limited to, any proxy voting issues that may have arisen or any material conflicts of interest that were identified and the steps that were taken to resolve those conflicts.

OLD MUTUAL CAPITAL, INC.

PROXY VOTING POLICY AND PROCEDURES

Introduction

Old Mutual Capital, Inc. (“OM Capital”) recognizes that proxies have an economic value and OM Capital seeks to maximize that economic value by ensuring that votes are cast in a manner that it believes to be in the best interest of the affected client(s). Proxies are considered client assets and are to be managed with the same care, skill and diligence as all other client assets. While OM Capital generally delegates proxy voting authority and responsibility to sub-advisers, such sub-advisers are expected to adhere to this Policy, relevant securities laws, as well as their own internal proxy voting policies.

Proxy Oversight Committee

OM Capital has established a Proxy Oversight Committee (the “Committee”), consisting of the Investment Officer, General Counsel, Chief Compliance Officer and Treasurer. The Committee is primarily responsible for:

- ◆ Approving OM Capital’s Proxy Voting Policy (the “Policy”) and related Procedures;
- ◆ Reviewing the proxy voting policies of sub-advisers; and
- ◆ Acting as a resource for sub-advisers on proxy matters, when requested.

The Committee reviews each sub-adviser’s proxy voting policy to ensure that such policies are complicit with relevant securities laws and to ensure that they have established reasonable controls designed to identify and resolve material conflicts of interest. The Committee is also available to serve as a potential resource for the sub-advisers in determining how to resolve material conflicts of interest when voting a proxy for a client of OM Capital, Inc. Sub-advisers are not mandated to use the Committee in this capacity.

Disclosure to Clients

OM Capital’s Form ADV will include a description of this Policy and, upon request; OM Capital will provide clients a copy of the complete Policy. OM Capital will also provide to clients, upon request, information on how their securities were voted.

ANALYTIC INVESTORS, INC.

PROXY VOTING POLICY AND PROCEDURE

Analytic Investors assumes a fiduciary responsibility to vote proxies in the best interest of its clients. In addition, with respect to benefit plans under the Employee Retirement Income Securities Act (ERISA), Analytic Investors acknowledges its responsibility as a fiduciary to vote proxies prudently and solely in the best interest of plan participants and beneficiaries. So that it may fulfill these fiduciary responsibilities to clients, Analytic Investors has adopted and implemented these written policies and procedures reasonably designed to ensure that it votes proxies in the best interest of clients.

PROXY OVERSIGHT COMMITTEE

Analytic Investors acknowledges that it has a duty of care to its clients that requires it to monitor corporate events and vote client proxies. Analytic Investors has established a Proxy Oversight Committee (the “Committee”), to oversee the proxy voting process. The Committee consists of the Chief Investment Officer, the Compliance Officer, and the Proxy Coordinator. The Committee seeks to develop, recommend, and monitor policies governing proxy voting. The adopted guidelines for proxy voting have been developed to be consistent, wherever possible, with enhancing long-term shareholder value and leading corporate governance practices. Analytic Investors has a policy not to be unduly influenced by representatives of management or any public interest or other outside groups when voting proxies. To this end, Analytic Investors has contracted with an independent proxy voting service (the “Proxy Service”).

PROXY VOTING SERVICE

The role of the Proxy Service includes researching proxy matters, executing the voting process, maintaining a record of all proxies voted on behalf of Analytic Investors, advising Analytic Investors of any material conflicts of interest (see below), and providing Analytic Investors with documentation of the voting record. Analytic Investors has opted to delegate all proxy voting to the Proxy Service except for those instances when a conflict of interest (see below) prevents the Proxy Service from voting according to its guidelines. A copy of the voting policy guidelines of the Proxy Service is attached.

CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Occasions may arise during the voting process in which the best interest of clients might conflict with the Proxy Service’s interests. A conflict of interest would generally include (i) business relationships where the Proxy Service has a substantial business relationship with, or is actively soliciting business from, a company soliciting proxies, or (ii) personal or family relationships whereby an employee of the Proxy Service has a family member or other personal relationship that is affiliated with a company soliciting proxies, such as a spouse who serves as a director of a public company, or (iii) if a substantial business relationship exists with a proponent or opponent of a particular initiative. At times of such conflict of interest, the Proxy Service will recuse itself from voting a proxy and notify the Analytic Investors Proxy Coordinator. Upon notification the Proxy Service’s recusal from voting, Analytic Investors’ Proxy Coordinator will prepare a report to the Proxy Committee that identifies (i) the details of the conflict of interest, (ii) whether or not the conflict is material; and (iii) procedures to ensure that Analytic Investors makes proxy voting decisions based on the best interest of clients, and (iv) a copy of the voting guidelines of the Proxy Service. At least two members of Analytic Investors’ Proxy Committee will then vote the proxy, adhering to the original voting policy guidelines provided by the Proxy Service. Analytic Investors’ Proxy Committee will not override the voting guidelines of the Proxy Service. A record of the voting by the Proxy Committee will be retained by the Proxy Coordinator.

VOTING GUIDELINES

Analytic Investors has reviewed the Proxy Service's voting recommendations and have determined that the policy provides guidance in the best interest of our clients. A copy of these guidelines is attached.

The Proxy Coordinator will maintain a record containing the following information regarding the voting of proxies: (i) the name of the issuer, (ii) the CUSIP number, (iii) the shareholder meeting date, (iv) number of shares voted, (v) a brief description of the matter brought to vote; (vi) whether the proposal was submitted by management or a shareholder, (vii) how the Service voted the proxy (for, against, abstained), and (viii) whether the proxy was voted for or against management.

- The Proxy Oversight Committee includes Portfolio Managers James Barrow, Richard Englander and Jane Gilday and Proxy Coordinator, Clare Burch.

Conflicts of Interest

- All proxies will be voted uniformly in accordance with BHMS's policies. This includes proxies of companies who are also clients, thereby eliminating potential conflicts of interest.

- BHMS sends a daily electronic transfer of all stock positions to ISS (Institutional Shareholder Services).
- ISS identifies all accounts eligible to vote for each security and posts the proposals and research on its website.

- BHMS's guidelines addressing specific issues are available upon request by calling 214-665-1900 or by emailing clientservices@barrowhanley.com.

- If a material conflict of interest exists, the proxy coordinator will determine whether it is appropriate to disclose the conflict to the affected clients, to give the clients an opportunity to vote the proxies themselves, or to address the voting issue through other objective means such as voting in a manner consistent with a predetermined voting policy or receiving an independent third party voting recommendation.
- BHMS will maintain a record of the voting resolution of any conflict of interest.
- The proxy coordinator shall retain the following proxy records in accordance with the SEC's five-year retention requirement:
 - These policies and procedures and any amendments;
 - Each proxy statement that BHMS receives;
 - A record of each vote that BHMS casts;
 - Any document BHMS created that was material to making a decision how to vote proxies, or that memorializes that decision including periodic reports to the Proxy Oversight Committee; and
 - A copy of each written request from a client for information on how BHMS voted such client's proxies and a copy of any written response.

3. Responsibility

Clare Burch is responsible for the implementation and monitoring of our proxy voting policy, procedures, disclosures and record keeping, including outlining our voting guidelines in our procedures.

CASTLEARK MANAGEMENT, LLC

PROXY VOTING POLICY AND PROCEDURES

CastleArk Management, LLC (“CastleArk”) views seriously its responsibility to exercise voting authority over securities which form part of its clients’ portfolios. Proxy statements increasingly contain controversial issues involving shareholder rights and corporate governance, among others, which deserve careful review and consideration.

In voting proxies, CastleArk will consider, on a case-by-case basis, factors that may affect the value of managed investments on behalf of the beneficial owners. Beneficial owners include both clients for whom CastleArk acts as investment manager and the beneficial owners of our client’s investments. While our proxy voting policy serves as a guideline, our fiduciary duty to the beneficial owners requires us to examine each resolution offered in the context in which it applies. For this reason, there may be instances in which the shares may not be voted in strict adherence to these guidelines.

CastleArk will review each proxy statement separately and base its voting decision exclusively on its judgment of what will best serve the financial interests of the beneficial owners of the security. Nonetheless, a number of recurring issues can be identified with respect to the governance of a company and actions proposed by that company’s board. CastleArk follows proxy voting procedures that allow us to vote on these issues in a uniform manner.

Routine proxy matters are generally considered by CastleArk’s proxy designee, who is responsible for determining that all proxies are voted in accordance with these policies. That person will cast his or her votes in accordance with this Proxy Voting Policy and the Proxy Voting Procedures. Any non-routine matters are referred to the Senior Portfolio Manager for the portfolio that holds the security at issue.

Votes cast by CastleArk are recorded by the Proxy Designee. Any client who requests it, may obtain CastleArk’s record as to such votes for shares owned by that client.

Key Proxy Voting Issues

- Election of Directors and Appointment of Accountants

We vote for management’s proposed directors in uncontested elections. For contested elections, we vote for candidates that best serve shareholders’ interests. We vote to ratify management’s appointment of independent auditors.

- Increase Authorized Capital

We vote for these proposals in the absence of unusual circumstances.

- Preference Shares

We will carefully review proposals to authorize new issues of preference shares or increase the shares authorized for existing issues. Generally we will not oppose proposals to authorize the issuance of preferred shares. We will, however, scrutinize any such proposals which give the Board the authority to assign disproportionate voting rights at the time the shares are issued.

- Dual Capitalization, other Preferential Voting Rights

We will generally vote against proposals to divide share capital into two or more classes or to otherwise create classes of shares with unequal voting and dividend rights. We are concerned that the effect of these proposals, over time, is to consolidate voting power in the hands of relatively few insiders, disproportionate to their percentage ownership of the company's share capital as a whole. This concentration of voting power can effectively block any takeover which management opposes and dilute accountability to shareholders.

- Mergers and acquisitions

All proposals are reviewed on a case by case basis by taking the following into consideration:

- whether the proposed acquisition price represents fair value
- whether shareholders could realize greater value through other means
- whether shareholders receive fair treatment under the merger acquisition terms

- Restructuring and Recapitalization

All proposals are reviewed on a case-by-case basis taking the following into consideration:

- whether the proposed restructuring or recapitalization is the best means of enhancing shareholder values
- whether the company's long term prospects will be positively affected by the proposal.

- To Provide Director Indemnification

We will generally vote for proposals to provide corporate indemnification for directors.

- Share Option Plans

We will generally vote against proposals that authorize:

- (i) More than 10% of the company's outstanding shares to be reserved for the award of share options; or
- (ii) The award of share options to employees or non-employees of the company (for instance, outside directors and consultants) if the exercise price is less than the share's fair market value at the date of the grant of the options and does not carry relevant performance hurdles for exercise; or
- (iii) The exchange of outstanding options for new ones at lower exercise prices.

Shareholder Proposals - Corporate Governance Issues

- Majority Independent Board

We will generally vote for proposals calling for a majority outside board.

- Executive Compensation

We will generally vote against proposals to restrict employee compensation. We feel that the specific amounts and types of employee compensation are within the ordinary business responsibilities of the Board of Directors and company management; provided, however, that share option plans meet our guidelines for such plans as set forth herein.

On a case by case basis, we will vote for proposals requesting more detailed disclosure of employee compensation, especially if the company does not have a majority outside board.

All other matters

- We will vote matters not described above on a case-by-case basis, using the guidelines outlined above.

Conflicts of interest

- By prohibiting our adviser representatives from serving as directors of publicly traded companies, we limit the circumstances where conflicts of interest may arise. Nevertheless, we recognize that on rare occasions, we may be responsible for a proxy vote in which our interests might be affected. On those occasions CastleArk will consider whether the interests of our clients and beneficial shareholders are in conflict with our own. If there is no potential conflict we will vote in accordance with the policies outlined above. Where there appears to be a conflict between our interests and those of our clients or their beneficial owners, we will vote in the interests of them and against our own. We will document our conclusions as to votes that appear to affect our own interests.

COLUMBUS CIRCLE INVESTORS

I. Procedures

Columbus Circle Investors (Columbus Circle) is generally authorized by its clients, as a term of its Investment Advisory Agreement, the authority to vote and give proxies for the securities held in clients' investment accounts. At their election, however, clients may retain this authority, in which case Columbus Circle will consult with clients regarding proxy voting decisions as requested.

For those clients for whom Columbus Circle Investors (Columbus Circle) has undertaken to vote proxies, Columbus Circle retains the final authority and responsibility for such voting subject to any specific restrictions or voting instructions by clients.

In addition to voting proxies for clients, Columbus Circle:

- 1) provides clients with a concise summary of its proxy voting policy, which includes information describing how clients may obtain a copy of this complete policy and information regarding how specific proxies related to each respective investment account are voted. Columbus Circle delivered a copy of this summary to all clients as of August 6, 2003, and provides it to all new clients as part of its Form ADV, Part II disclosure brochure;
- 2) applies its proxy voting policy according to the following voting policies and keeps records of votes for each client through Institutional Shareholder Services;
- 3) keeps records of proxy voting available for inspection by each client or governmental agencies - to both determine whether the votes were consistent with policy and to determine all proxies were voted;
- 4) monitors such voting for any potential conflicts of interest and maintains systems to deal with these issues appropriately;
- 5) and this written proxy voting policy, which may be updated and supplemented from time to time;

Frank Cuttita, Columbus Circle's Chief Administrative Officer, will maintain Columbus Circle's proxy voting process. Clients with questions regarding proxy voting decisions in their accounts should contact Mr. Cuttita.

II. Voting Guidelines

Keeping in mind the concept that no issue is considered "routine," outlined below are general voting parameters on various types of issues when there are no extenuating circumstances, i.e., company specific reason for voting differently. The Operating Committee of Columbus Circle has adopted the following voting parameters.

To assist in its voting process, Columbus Circle has engaged Institutional Shareholder Services (ISS), an independent investment advisor that specializes in providing a variety of fiduciary level proxy related services to institutional investment managers, plan sponsors, custodians, consultants, and other institutional investors. ISS also provides Columbus Circle with reports that reflect proxy voting activities for Columbus Circle's client portfolios which provide information for appropriate monitoring of such delegated responsibilities.

Columbus Circle has delegated to ISS the authority to vote Columbus Circle's clients' proxies consistent with the following parameters. ISS further has the authority to determine whether any extenuating specific company circumstances exist that would mandate a special consideration of the application of these voting parameters. If ISS makes such a determination, the matter will be forwarded to Mr. Frank Cuttita for review. Likewise, ISS will present to Columbus Circle any specific matters not addressed within the following parameters for consideration.

A. Management Proposals:

1. When voting on ballot items that are fairly common management sponsored initiatives certain items are generally, although not always, voted affirmatively.

- "Normal" elections of directors
- Approval of auditors/CPA
- Directors' liability and indemnification
- General updating/corrective amendments to charter
- Elimination of cumulative voting
- Elimination of preemptive rights

2. When voting items that have a potential substantive financial or best interest impact, certain items are generally, although not always, voted affirmatively:

- Capitalization changes that eliminate other classes of stock and voting rights
- Changes in capitalization authorization for stock splits, stock dividends, and other specified needs.
- Stock purchase plans with an exercise price of not less than 85% FMV
- Stock option plans that are incentive based and not excessive
- Reductions in supermajority vote requirements
- Adoption of antigreenmail provisions

3. When voting items which have a potential substantive financial or best interest impact, certain items are generally not voted in support of the proposed management sponsored initiative:

- Capitalization changes that add classes of stock that are blank check in nature or that dilute the voting interest of existing shareholders
- Changes in capitalization authorization where management does not offer an appropriate rationale or that are contrary to the best interest of existing shareholders
- Anti-takeover and related provisions which serve to prevent the majority of shareholders from exercising their rights or effectively deter appropriate tender offers and other offers
- Amendments to bylaws that would require super-majority shareholder votes to pass or repeal certain provisions
- Classified or single-slate boards of directors
- Reincorporation into a state that has more stringent anti-takeover and related provisions
- Shareholder rights plans that allow appropriate offers to shareholders to be blocked by the board or trigger provisions which prevent legitimate offers from proceeding.

- Excessive compensation or non-salary compensation related proposals, always company specific and considered case-by-case
- Change-in-control provisions in non-salary compensation plans, employment contracts, and severance agreements that benefit management and would be costly to shareholders if triggered
- Amending articles to relax quorum requirements for special resolutions
- Re-election of director(s) directly responsible for a company's fraudulent or criminal act
- Re-election of director(s) who holds offices of chairman and CEO
- Re-election of director(s) who serve on audit, compensation and nominating committees
- Election of directors with service contracts of three years, which exceed best practice and any change in control provisions
- Adoption of option plans/rants to directors or employees of related companies Lengthening internal auditors' term in office to four years

B. Shareholder Proposals:

Traditionally shareholder proposals have been used mainly for putting social initiatives and issues in front of management and other shareholders. Under ERISA, it is inappropriate to use (vote) plan assets to carry out such social agendas or purposes. Thus, shareholder proposals are examined closely for their relationship to the best interest of shareholders, i.e., beneficiaries, and economic impact.

1. When voting shareholder proposals, in general, initiatives related to the following items are supported:

- Auditors should attend the annual meeting of shareholders
- Election of the board on an annual basis
- Equal access to proxy process
- Submit shareholder rights plan poison pill to vote or redeem
- Undo various anti-takeover related provisions
- Reduction or elimination of super-majority vote requirements
- Anti-greenmail provisions
- Submit audit firm ratification to shareholder votes
- Audit firm rotations every five or more years
- Requirement to expense stock options

- Establishment of holding periods limiting executive stock sales
 - Report on executive retirement benefit plans
 - Require two-thirds of board to be independent
 - Separation of chairman and chief executive posts
2. When voting shareholder proposals, in general, initiatives related to the following items are not supported:
- Requiring directors to own large amounts of stock before being eligible to be elected
 - Restoring cumulative voting in the election of directors
 - Reports which are costly to provide or which would require duplicative efforts or expenditures which are of a non-business nature or would provide no pertinent information from the perspective of ERISA shareholders
 - Restrictions related to social, political or special interest issues which impact the ability of the company to do business or be competitive and which have a significant financial or best interest impact, such as specific boycotts or restrictions based on political, special interest or international trade considerations; restrictions on political contributions; and the Valdez principles.
 - Restrictions banning future stock option grants to executives except in extreme cases
3. Additional shareholder proposals require case-by-case analysis
- Prohibition or restriction of auditors from engaging in non-audit services (auditors will be voted against if non-audit fees are greater than audit and audit-related fees, and permitted tax fees combined)
 - Requirements that stock options be performance-based
 - Submission of extraordinary pension benefits for senior executives under a company's SERP for shareholder approval
 - Shareholder access to nominate board members
 - Requiring offshore companies to reincorporate into the United States

Another expression of active involvement is the voting of shareholder proposals. Columbus Circle evaluates and supports those shareholder proposals on issues that appropriately forward issues of concern to the attention of corporate management. Historically, many shareholder proposals received very little support, often not even enough to meet SEC refiling requirements in the following year although the SEC is considering relaxing the standards for the placement of shareholder initiatives on ballots. Support of appropriate shareholder proposals is becoming a more widespread and acknowledged practice and is viewed by many as a direct expression of concern on an issue to corporate management. It is noted, however, that the source (and motivation of the shareholder proposal proponent) can affect outcome on a shareholder proposal vote.

Columbus Circle has not, to date, actively considered filing shareholder proposals, writing letters to companies on a regular basis, or engaging numerous companies in a dialogue. These activities and others that could be considered expressions of activism are not under consideration at this time. Should a particular equity company's policy become of concern, the evaluation and voting process will continue to be the first level of monitoring and communication. Columbus Circle's staff participates in national forums and maintains contacts with corporate representatives.

III. Conflicts of Interest

Columbus Circle will monitor its proxy voting process for material conflicts of interest. It is not anticipated that material conflicts of interest will be impact Columbus Circle's proxy voting process. By maintaining the above-described proxy voting process, most votes are made based on overall voting parameters rather than their application to any particular company thereby eliminating the effect of any potential conflict of interest.

Columbus Circle has reviewed its business, financial and personal relationships to determine whether any conflicts of interest exist, and will at least annually assess the impact of any conflicts of interest. As of the date of this policy, Columbus Circle may have a conflict of interest related to voting certain securities of publicly held companies to which the firm provides investment advisory services.

In the event of a vote involving a conflict of interest that does not meet the specific outlined parameters above and requires additional company-specific decision-making, Columbus Circle will contact each client for which it would be authorized to vote such security for consent to vote the proxy in a recommended manner. Columbus Circle expects that this will happen only rarely, if at all.

COPPER ROCK CAPITAL PARTNERS, LLC

PROXY VOTING POLICY AND PROCEDURES

Copper Rock Capital Partners, LLC. (“Copper Rock”) acknowledges it has a duty of care to its clients that requires it to monitor corporate events and vote client proxies. Copper Rock has adopted and implemented policies and procedures reasonably designed to ensure that it votes proxies in the best interest of our clients. Copper Rock recognizes that it (i) has a fiduciary responsibility under the Employee Retirement Income Securities Act (ERISA) to vote proxies prudently and solely in the best interest of plan participants and beneficiaries (ii) will vote stock proxies in the best interest of the client (non-ERISA) when directed (together, our “clients”). Copper Rock has developed its policy to be consistent with, wherever possible, enhancing long-term shareholder value and adhering to leading corporate governance practices. Our general policy regarding the voting of proxies is as follows:

1) Proxy Voting Policies

- Routine and/or non-controversial, general corporate governance issues are normally voted with management; these would include such items as: Election of Directors and Approval of Independent Auditors.
- Occasionally, Copper Rock may vote against management’s proposal on a particular issue; such issues would generally be those deemed likely to reduce shareholder control over management, entrench management at the expense of shareholders, or in some way diminish shareholders’ present or future value. From time to time Copper Rock will receive and act upon the client’s specific instructions regarding proxy proposals. Copper Rock reserves the right to vote against any proposals motivated by political, ethical or social concerns. Copper Rock will examine each issue solely from an economic perspective.
- Non-Routine or Controversial Issues, Copper Rock requires that the portfolio manager and/or analyst review each issue. Copper Rock believes that smaller capitalization securities warrant increased attention paid to the proxy process. Therefore, Copper Rock reviews each non-routine or controversial issue on a case by case basis. The justification for each vote will be documented via the comment section of the proxy edge system or by a separate analysis.
- Occasions may arise during the voting process in which the best interest of the clients conflicts with Copper Rock’s interests. Conflicts of interest generally include (i) business relationships where Copper Rock has a substantial business relationship with, or is actively soliciting business from, a company soliciting proxies (ii) personal or family relationships whereby an employee of Copper Rock has a family member or other personal relationship that is affiliated with a company soliciting proxies, such as a spouse who serves as a director of a public company. A conflict could also exist if a substantial business relationship exists with a proponent or opponent of a particular initiative. If Copper Rock determines that a material conflict of interest exists, Copper Rock will disclose the conflict to its client(s) and vote the proxy as directed by the client(s).

2) Proxy Voting Procedures

a) Process

For most stocks Copper Rock uses Proxy Edge, an electronic proxy voting system. Through Proxy Edge we receive electronic ballots for a majority of the accounts we vote. With this system we are able to keep records of which accounts are voted, how accounts are voted, and how many shares are voted. For proxies not received through Proxy Edge, the same procedures and processes are followed. Records are kept electronically and ballots are voted manually and sent by means of the U.S. postal service.

Upon timely receipt of proxy materials from the client's Custodian or through Proxy Edge:

- Copper Rock will receive the initial proxy information and will monitor the voting process throughout.
- A member of Copper Rock will review all proposals, vote routine issues and will consult with Copper Rock's Investment managers on non-routine or controversial issues.
- The decision and rationale concerning non-routine or controversial issues will be documented in the comment section of the Proxy Edge system or by separate analysis.
- The Chief Compliance Officer is responsible for ensuring that the proxies are transmitted for voting in a timely fashion and maintaining a record of the vote, which will be made available to clients upon request.
- All proxies will be voted solely in the interest of clients.
- Copper Rock reserves the right not to vote proxies if the cost of voting exceeds the expected benefit to the client.

All tender offers are reviewed and treated in a similar manner.

b) Records & Reports

- The proxy information kept by Copper Rock will include the following: (i) name of the issuer, (ii) the exchange ticker symbol, (iii) the CUSIP number, (iv) the shareholder meeting date, (v) a brief description of the matter brought to vote; (vi) whether the proposal was submitted by management or a shareholder, (vii) how Copper Rock voted the proxy (for, against, abstained) and (viii) whether the proxy was voted for or against management.
- A copy of how Copper Rock voted on securities held is available free of charge upon request from our clients or by calling (617) 369-7100.

DWIGHT ASSET MANAGEMENT COMPANY
PROXY VOTING POLICY AND PROCEDURES

Dwight Asset Management Company (“Dwight”) is a registered investment adviser specializing in fixed income and stable value strategies. As a stable value and fixed income manager, Dwight generally does not purchase voting securities on behalf of its clients. To the extent that a proxy voting situation arises, Dwight assumes a fiduciary responsibility to vote proxies in the best interest of its clients. In addition, with respect to employee benefit plans governed by the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (“ERISA”) with respect to which Dwight has been granted voting discretion, Dwight is responsible as a fiduciary to vote proxies prudently and solely in the best interest of plan participants and beneficiaries. So that Dwight may fulfill these fiduciary responsibilities, Dwight has adopted and implemented these written policies and procedures which are designed to ensure that it votes proxies in the best interest of its clients.

Proxy Oversight Committee

Dwight has established a Proxy Oversight Committee (the “Committee”), consisting of the Chief Investment Officer, Head of Credit and the Chief Compliance Officer. The Committee is primarily responsible for:

- ◆ Approving Dwight’s Proxy Voting Policy and Procedure.
- ◆ Reviewing proxy voting requests and determining the appropriate response.
- ◆ Seeking to identify and properly address conflicts of interest, or potential conflicts of interest, that may arise in the context of voting proxies.
- ◆ Reporting to the Investment and Risk Management Committee on a periodic basis.

The Committee has also authorized the Chief Compliance Officer or his or her designee to coordinate, execute and maintain appropriate records related to the proxy voting process.

Proxy Voting Guidelines

Dwight acknowledges it has a duty of care that requires it to monitor corporate actions and vote client proxies. If a client’s custodian notifies Dwight of a proxy that requires voting on behalf of a client, Dwight will vote the proxy in accordance with these guidelines and any written guidelines or instructions from our clients. In the event a client’s written guidelines or instructions conflict with what is contained in this Policy, the client’s written guidelines or instructions will prevail.

These guidelines are not rigid policy positions. Dwight will consider each corporate proxy statement on a case-by-case basis, and may vote in a manner different from that contemplated by these guidelines when deemed appropriate. There may be occasions when Dwight determines that not voting a proxy may be in the best interest of a client, for example, when the cost of voting the proxy exceeds the expected benefit to the client. Dwight may change these guidelines from time to time without providing notice of these changes to its clients.

Dwight’s general proxy voting policy is described below along with Dwight’s intended voting practices.

1. General: It is Dwight’s policy to review each proxy statement on an individual basis and to base its voting decision on its judgment of what will serve the financial interests of its clients, the beneficial owners of the security. Economic and any other pertinent considerations will be evaluated.

2. Management Proposals: In general, it is Dwight's intention to vote on proposals introduced by company management in accordance with management's recommendations on the following types of management proposals:
 - Election of Directors
 - Approval of Independent Auditors
 - Executive Compensation Plans
 - Corporate Structure and Shareholder Rights
3. Shareholder Proposals: At times shareholders will submit proposals that generally seek to change some aspect of a company's corporate governance structure or its business operations. Dwight will examine each issue solely from an economic perspective. Generally Dwight will vote with management in opposition to shareholder resolutions which could negatively impact the company's ability to conduct business, and support the shareholder initiatives concerning the maximization of shareholder value.
4. Other Situations: No proxy voting policy can anticipate all potential proxy voting issues that may arise or address all the potential intricacies that may surround individual proxy votes, and for that reason, actual proxy votes may differ from the guidelines presented here. Consequently, other issues that appear on proxies are reviewed on a case-by-case basis and Dwight's vote is cast in a manner that we believe is in the best interest of the affected client(s).

Conflicts of Interest

Occasions may arise during the voting process in which a client's financial interests conflict with Dwight's interests. A conflict of interest may exist, for example, if Dwight has a business relationship with, or is actively soliciting business from, either (i) the company soliciting the proxy, or (ii) a third party that has a material interest in the outcome of a proxy vote or that is actively lobbying for a particular outcome of a proxy vote. A business relationship includes, but is not limited to, employees serving as a director of the company or Dwight managing a company's pension fund. If Dwight is aware of a conflict of interest, Dwight will disclose the conflict to its client(s) and will vote the proxy as directed by the client(s).

Voting Process

Dwight has charged its Chief Compliance Officer or his or her designee with responsibility for acting as liaison with clients' custodian banks and assisting in the coordination and voting of proxies. After the Chief Compliance Officer or designee is notified of a proxy that requires voting, he or she will submit the proxy to the Proxy Oversight Committee for voting in-line with these procedures. The Chief Compliance Officer or designee is also responsible for ensuring that the proxies are transmitted for voting in a timely fashion and maintaining a record of the voting record to be made available to clients upon request.

Recordkeeping

Pursuant to Rule 204-2 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, Dwight will maintain the following records for five years from the end of the fiscal year during which the record was created in an easily accessible place, the first two years in its office:

- Dwight's proxy voting policies and procedures, and any amendments thereto;
- Proxy statements received regarding client securities;
- Records of votes cast on behalf of clients;
- Records of written client requests for voting information;

- Records of written responses from Dwight to both written and verbal client requests; and
- Any other documents prepared that were material to Dwight's decision to vote a proxy or that memorialized the basis for the decision.

Obtaining a Voting Proxy Report

Clients may request additional copies of these policies and procedures and/or a report on how their individual securities were voted by calling or writing Chris Bolton, Compliance Officer, at 100 Bank St., Suite 800, Burlington, VT 05401 / (802) 862-4170.

August 2003

As amended December 2005

EAGLE ASSET MANAGEMENT, INC.

PROXY VOTING POLICY AND PROCEDURES

The exercise of proxy voting rights is an important element in the successful management of clients' investments. Eagle Asset Management recognizes its fiduciary responsibility to vote proxies solely in the best interests of both its ERISA and non-ERISA clients. We have therefore adopted the following proxy voting guidelines as a part of our overall goal of maximizing the growth of our clients' assets.

Eagle generally votes proxies in furtherance of the long-term economic value of the underlying securities. We consider each proxy proposal on its own merits, and we make an independent determination of the advisability of supporting or opposing management's position. We believe that the recommendations of management should be given substantial weight, but we will not support management proposals which we believe are detrimental to the underlying value of our clients' positions.

We usually oppose proposals which dilute the economic interest of shareholders, and we also oppose those that reduce shareholders' voting rights or otherwise limit their authority. With respect to takeover offers, Eagle calculates a "going concern" value for every holding. If the offer approaches or exceeds our value estimate, we will generally vote for the merger, acquisition or leveraged buy-out.

The following guidelines deal with a number of specific issues, particularly in the area of corporate governance. While they are not exhaustive, they do provide a good indication of Eagle's general approach to a wide range of issues. A list of Eagle's detailed voting guidelines is attached as appendix A and incorporates routine and non-routine proxy issues. On occasion we may vote a proxy otherwise than suggested by the guidelines, but departures from the guidelines will be rare, and we will explain the basis for such votes in our reports to clients.

If you have any questions about these guidelines, or about how we voted, or may vote, on a particular issue, please contact our Compliance Department at 1-800-237-3101.

I. Directors and Auditors

Eagle generally supports the management slate of directors, although we may withhold our votes if the board has adopted excessive anti-takeover measures. (App. R1)

We favor inclusion of the selection of auditors on the proxy as a matter for shareholder ratification. As a general rule, in the absence of any apparent conflict of interest, we will support management's selection of auditors. (App. R8)

II. Corporate Governance

In the area of corporate governance, Eagle will generally support proxy measures which we believe tend to increase shareholder rights.

- A. Confidential Voting. We generally support proposals to adopt confidential voting and independent vote tabulation practices, which we believe lessen potential management pressure on shareholders and thus allow shareholders to focus on the merits of proxy proposals. (App S31)

- B. Greenmail. Unless they are part of anti-takeover provisions, we usually support anti-greenmail proposals because greenmail tends to discriminate against shareholders other than the greenmailer and may result in a decreased stock price. (App S23)
- C. Indemnification of Directors. We usually vote in favor of charter or by-law amendments which expand the indemnification of directors or limit their liability for breaches of care, because we believe such measures are important in attracting competent directors and officers. (App R4)
- D. Cumulative Voting Rights. We usually support cumulative voting as an effective method of guaranteeing minority representation on a board. (App N17, S24)
- E. Opt Out of Delaware. We usually support by-law amendments requiring a company to opt out of the Delaware takeover statute because it is undemocratic and contrary to the principle that shareholders should have the final decision on merger or acquisition. (App S15, S46)
- F. Increases in Common Stock. We will generally support an increase in common stock of up to three times the number of shares outstanding and scheduled to be issued, including stock options, provided the increase is not intended to implement a poison pill defense. (App R18)

Eagle generally votes against the following anti-takeover proposals, as we believe they diminish shareholder rights.

- A. Fair Price Amendments. We generally oppose fair price amendments because they may deter takeover bids, but we will support those that consider only a two year price history and are not accompanied by a supermajority vote requirement. (App N3)
- B. Classified Boards. We generally oppose classified boards because they limit shareholder control. (App N4)
- C. Blank Check Preferred Stock. We generally oppose the authorization of blank check preferred stock because it limits shareholder rights and allows management to implement anti-takeover policies without shareholder approval. (App N2)
- D. Supermajority Provisions. We usually oppose supermajority-voting requirements because they often detract from the majority's rights to enforce its will. (App N5, S32)
- E. Golden Parachutes. We generally oppose golden parachutes, as they tend to be excessive and self-serving, and we favor proposals which require shareholder approval of golden parachutes and similar arrangements. (App S18)
- F. Poison Pills. We believe poison pill defenses tend to depress the value of shares. Therefore, we will vote for proposals requiring (1) shareholder ratification of poison pills, (2) sunset provision for existing poison pills, and (3) shareholder vote on redemption of poison pills. (App N1)
- G. Reincorporation. We oppose reincorporation in another state in order to take advantage of a stronger anti-takeover statute. (App S15)
- H. Shareholder Rights. We oppose proposals which would eliminate, or limit, the rights of shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent because they detract from basic shareholder authority. (App S26-S30)

Eagle generally votes on other corporate governance issues as follows:

- A. Other Business. Absent any compelling grounds, we usually authorize management to vote in its discretion. (App R22)
- B. Differential Voting Rights. We usually vote against the issuance of new classes of stock with differential voting rights, because such rights can dilute the rights of existing shares. (App N27)
- C. Directors-Share Ownership. While we view some share ownership by directors as having a positive effect, we will usually vote against proposals requiring directors to own a specific number of shares. (App S5)
- D. Independent Directors. While we oppose proposals which would require that a board consist of a majority of independent directors, we may support proposals which call for some independent positions on the board. (App S11)
- E. Preemptive Rights. We generally vote against preemptive rights proposals, as they may tend to limit share ownership, and they limit management's flexibility to raise capital. (App N21, S25)
- F. Employee Stock Ownership Plans (ESOPs). We evaluate ESOPs on a case-by-case basis. We usually vote for unleveraged ESOPs if they provide for gradual accumulation of moderate levels of stock. For leveraged ESOPs, we examine the company's state of incorporation, existence of supermajority vote rules in the charter, number of shares authorized for ESOP and number of shares held by insiders. We may also examine where the ESOP shares are purchased and the dilutive effect of the purchase. We vote against leveraged ESOPs if all outstanding loans are due immediately upon a change in control or if the ESOP appears to be primarily designed as an anti-takeover device. (App R21)

III. Compensation and Stock Option Plans

We review compensation plan proposals on a case-by-case basis. We believe that strong compensation programs are needed to attract, hold and motivate good executives and outside directors, and so we generally tend to vote with management on these issues. However, if the proposals appear excessive, or bear no rational relation to company performance, we may vote in opposition.

With respect to compensation plans which utilize stock options or stock incentives, our analyses generally have lead us to vote with management. However, if the awards of options appear excessive, or if the plans reserve an unusually large percentage of the company's stock for the award of options, we may oppose them because of concerns regarding the dilution of shareholder value. Compensation plans that come within the purview of this guideline include long-range compensation plans, deferred compensation plans, long-term incentive plans, performance stock plans, and restricted stock plans and share option arrangements. (App N7)

IV. Social Issues

Eagle has a fiduciary duty to vote on all proxy issues in furtherance of the long-term economic value of the underlying shares. Consistent with that duty, we have found that management generally analyzes such issues on the same basis, and so we generally support management's recommendations on social issue proposals. (App S40—S65)

Examples of proposals in this category include:

1. Anti - Abortion.
2. Affirmative Action.
3. Animal Rights.
 - a. Animal Testing.
 - b. Animal Experimentation.
 - c. Factory Farming.
4. Chemical Releases.
5. El Salvador.
6. Environmental Issues.
 - a. CERES Principles.
 - b. Environmental Protection.
7. Equal Opportunity.
8. Discrimination.
9. Government Service.
10. Infant Formula.
11. Israel.
12. Military Contracts.
13. Northern Ireland.
 - a. MacBride Principles.
14. Nuclear Power.
 - a. Nuclear Waste.
 - b. Nuclear Energy Business.
15. Planned Parenthood Funding.
16. Political Contributions.
17. South Africa.
 - a. Sullivan Principles.
18. Space Weapons.
19. Tobacco-Related Products.
20. World Debt.

VII. Conflicts of Interest

Investment advisers who vote client proxies may, from time to time, be faced with situations which present the adviser with a potential conflict of interest. For example, a conflict of interest could exist where Eagle, or an affiliate, provides investment advisory services, or brokerage or underwriting services, to a company whose management is soliciting proxies, and a vote against management could harm Eagle's, or the affiliate's, business relationship with that company. Potential conflicts of interest may also arise where Eagle has business or personal relationships with other proponents of proxy proposals, participants in proxy contests, or corporate directors or candidates for directorships.

Eagle addresses the potential conflict of interest issue primary by voting proxies in accordance with the predetermined set of Guidelines described above. With very few exceptions, Eagle's proxy votes are cast as prescribed by our guidelines. On the rare occasion where a portfolio manager may recommend a vote contrary to Eagle's Guidelines, Eagle's Compliance Department will review the proxy issue and the recommended vote to ensure that the vote is cast in compliance with Eagle's overriding obligation to vote proxies in the best interests of clients and to avoid conflicts of interest. By limiting the discretionary factor in the proxy voting process, Eagle is confident that potential conflicts of interest will not affect the manner in which proxy voting rights are exercised.

VIII. Record Keeping

The following documents related to Proxy Voting are kept by Eagle Compliance in accordance with Rule 204-2 of the Investment Advisers Act.

- Copy of each proxy statement received.
- Record of each vote cast.
- Copy of any documents created by Eagle that was material to making a decision how to vote proxies on behalf of a client or that memorializes the basis for that decision.
- Copy of each written client request for information on how Eagle voted proxies on behalf of the client.
- Copy of all written responses by Eagle to client who requested (written or oral) information on how the Eagle voted proxies on behalf of the client.

Attached is appendix A which details Eagle's proxy voting guidelines for Routine, Non-Routine and Non-Routine Shareholder proposals.

HEITMAN REAL ESTATE SECURITIES, LLC

PROXY VOTING POLICY AND PROCEDURES

Heitman Real Estate Securities LLC (“Heitman”) provides investment advisory services to its clients with respect to publicly traded real estate securities. It is Heitman’s general policy that with respect to all clients where Heitman has authority to vote proxies, such proxies will always be voted, or not voted, in all cases in the best interest of such clients.

Heitman utilizes the services of an independent unaffiliated proxy firm, Institutional Shareholder Services (“ISS”). ISS is responsible for: notifying Heitman in advance of the shareholder meeting at which the proxies will be voted; providing the appropriate proxies to be voted; providing independent research on corporate governance, proxy and corporate responsibility issues; recommending actions with respect to proxies which are always deemed by ISS to be in the best interests of the shareholders; and maintaining records of proxy statement received and votes cast.

Heitman will consider each corporate proxy statement on a case-by-case basis, and may vote a proxy in a manner different from that recommended by ISS when deemed appropriate by Heitman. There may also be occasions when Heitman determines, contrary to the ISS voting recommendation for a particular proxy, that not voting such proxy may be more in the best interest of clients, such as (i) when the cost of voting such proxy exceeds the expected benefit to the client or (ii) if Heitman is required to re-register shares of a company in order to vote a proxy and that re-registration process imposes trading and transfer restrictions on the shares, commonly referred to as “blocking.”

Heitman has established a Proxy Policies and Procedures Oversight Committee (the “Proxy Committee”), consisting of Heitman’s Chief Investment Officer, Chief Financial Officer, General Counsel and Compliance Officer. The Proxy Committee is responsible for (i) designing and reviewing from time to time these Policies and Procedures and (ii) reviewing and addressing all instances where a Heitman portfolio manager determines to respond to an issue in a proxy in a manner inconsistent with this Policy and/or identifies actual or perceived potential conflicts of interests in the context of voting proxies.

As a general rule, Heitman’s Proxy Voting Clerk votes all U.S. and non-U.S. proxies to which Heitman is entitled to vote. Heitman’s proxy voting policy is as follows:

- (a) Heitman’s Proxy Voting Clerk will print a Proxy Analysis Report containing a compilation of “FOR”, “AGAINST”, “ABSTAIN”, and “WITHHOLD” recommendations received from ISS with respect to the issues on a particular proxy;
- (b) Heitman’s Proxy Voting Clerk will send the Proxy Analysis Report to the portfolio manager within Heitman who is responsible for review of the company conducting the proxy;
- (c) In reviewing the recommendations to determine how to respond to the proxy in the best interest of clients, the Heitman portfolio manager may consider information from various sources, such as another Heitman portfolio manager or research analyst, management of the company conducting the proxy, and shareholder groups, as well as the possibility of any actual or perceived potential conflicts of interest between Heitman and its clients with respect to such proxy;
- (d) The Heitman portfolio manager will return the Proxy Analysis Report to Heitman’s Proxy Voting Clerk indicating his or her recommendation as to how to respond to such proxy, as well as a description and explanation of any actual or perceived potential conflicts of interest between Heitman and its clients with respect to such proxy. Instances where the Heitman portfolio manager recommends responding to a particular proxy contrary to the general voting guidelines provided in this Policy or contrary to the ISS recommendation with respect to such proxy, and/or perceives an actual or potential conflict of interests are considered “exceptions;”

- (e) With respect to any proxy, Heitman’s Proxy Voting Clerk will compile all exceptions in a written Proxy Vote Exception Report and forward it promptly to the members of Heitman’s Proxy Committee.
- (f) Heitman’s Proxy Committee may confirm or overturn any recommendations by Heitman’s portfolio manager. In instances where potential conflicts of interest have been highlighted in the Proxy Voting Exception Report, Heitman’s Proxy Committee will evaluate whether an actual or potential material conflict of interests exists and, if so, how it should be addressed in voting or not voting the particular proxy;
- (g) In all instances where a Proxy Vote Exception Report has been generated, Heitman’s Compliance Officer or another member of Heitman’s Proxy Committee will inform Heitman’s Proxy Voting Clerk in writing of the Proxy Committee’s determination as to how to respond to such proxy promptly after such Proxy Committee has reached its conclusions (a “Proxy Committee Report”);
- (h) Wherever a Proxy Committee Report has been generated for a particular proxy, Heitman’s Proxy Voting Clerk will respond to the proxy in question in accordance with such Report except to the extent in a non-conflicts of interest situation that a particular Heitman client has advised Heitman in writing that the particular proxy or proxies of that type should be responded to in a particular fashion, in which circumstance Heitman’s Proxy Voting Clerk will respond to the proxy in question in accordance with such advice;
- (i) In all other cases, Heitman’s Proxy Voting Clerk will respond to the proxy in accordance with the recommendations of ISS; and
- (j) The Proxy Voting Clerk will prepare a Proxy Voting Summary for the Proxy Committee on a periodic basis containing all ISS proxy vote recommendations that were overridden during the period and also highlighting any proxy issues that were identified as presenting actual and/or potential conflicts of interest and how they were addressed.

The Proxy Committee may decide to take one of the following courses of action with respect to actual or potential conflicts of interest: (1) independently determine that no material conflict of interest exists or will likely potentially exist, (2) respond to such proxy in strict accordance with the recommendations of ISS or (3) take another course of action that, in the opinion of the Proxy Committee, adequately addresses the issue.

The following proxy materials and records are maintained by Heitman for a period of five years in an easily accessible place, the first two years in Heitman’s office:

- o These policies and procedures, and any amendments thereto;
- o Each proxy statement (maintained on the ISS website);
- o Record of each vote cast and each abstention (maintained on the ISS website);

- Documentation, if any, created by Heitman that was material to making a decision how to respond to proxies memorializing the basis for that decision;.
- Any other reports or memorializations prepared according to the above procedures; and
- Each written client request for information and a copy of any written response by Heitman to a client's written or oral request for information.

Clients may request a copy of these policies and procedures and/or a report on how their individual securities were voted by calling Heitman's Compliance Officer at 1-800-225-5435, ext. 4150. The report will be provided free of charge.

LIBERTY RIDGE CAPITAL, INC.

Introduction

Liberty Ridge Capital, Inc. (“LRC”) recognizes that proxies have an economic value. In voting proxies, we seek to maximize the economic value of our clients’ assets by casting votes in a manner that we believe to be in the best interest of the affected client(s). Proxies are considered client assets and are managed with the same care, skill and diligence as all other client assets. When voting proxies, we adhere to this Policy and Procedures and any written guidelines or instructions from our clients. In the event a client’s written guidelines or instruction conflict with what is contained in this Policy and Procedures, the client’s written guidelines or instructions will prevail.

Proxy Oversight Committee

LRC has established a Proxy Oversight Committee (the “Committee”), consisting of the Chief Investment Officer (“CIO”), Chief Administrative Officer, Deputy Chief Investment Officer, Vice President – Director of Sales and Marketing, Vice President - Institutional Marketing & Service, General Counsel, and the Chief Compliance Officer (“CCO”). The Committee is primarily responsible for:

- ◆ Approving LRC’s Proxy Voting Policy (the “Policy”) and related Procedures;
- ◆ Reviewing reports of proxy votes cast;
- ◆ Reviewing proxies that are voted in a manner that is inconsistent with the recommendations of a designated, independent third-party proxy research provider;
- ◆ Seeking to identify and properly address material conflicts of interest that may arise in the context of voting proxies;
- ◆ Reviewing the proxy voting policies of sub-advisers;
- ◆ Acting as a resource for investment personnel on proxy matters when needed.

The Committee has authorized the appointment of an independent third-party to provide research on proxy matters and voting recommendations generally consistent with this Policy. The Committee has also authorized the appointment of a Proxy Voting Clerk to coordinate, execute and maintain appropriate records related to the proxy voting process and to maintain records of differences, if any, between this Policy and the actual votes cast.

Other Situations

No Proxy Voting Policy can anticipate all potential proxy voting issues that may arise. Consequently, other issues that appear on proxies are reviewed on a case-by-case basis and our vote is cast in a manner that we believe is in the best interest of the affected client(s).

Conflict of Interest Identification and Resolution

LRC seeks to minimize the potential for conflict by utilizing the services of an independent, third-party to provide voting recommendations that are consistent with this Policy as well as relevant requirements of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA) and the U.S. Department of Labor's interpretations thereof. Occasions may arise during the voting process in which the best interest of clients might conflict with the third-party vendor's interests. The third-party vendor has developed an insulated wall ("chinese wall") as security between its proxy recommendation service and the other services it provides to clients who may also be a portfolio company for which proxies are solicited. Furthermore, the third-party vendor will periodically provide a periodic update for LRC's consideration in evaluating the third-party vendors' recommendations

While it is generally expected that most proxies will be voted consistent with the research providers recommendation, there may be instances where the investment analyst believes that under the circumstances, an issue should be voted in a manner which differs from the recommended vote. These instances are considered an "Override" and all such overrides must be approved by the CIO and CCO and subsequently reported to the Committee. In approving any such Override, the CIO and CCO will use their best judgment to ensure that the spirit of this Policy is being followed and the vote is cast in the best interest of the affected client(s).

In an effort to ensure that material conflicts of interest or potential conflicts of interest have been identified in Override situations, LRC has developed a Proxy Vote Watch List (the "Watch List"). The Watch List, which is maintained by the CCO, summarizes public companies with whom LRC may have a material conflict of interest with a client in voting a proxy. These may include the following situations:

- Public companies with whom LRC has a current or prospective material business relationship;
- Public companies for whom LRC directly or indirectly provides investment advisory services (e.g. a separate account client, a wrap sponsor);
- Public companies where a LRC employee, or spouse of a LRC employee, is a senior officer, director or has a material business relationship;
- Other situations that may arise from time-to-time and will be evaluated based on specific facts and circumstances and added to the Watch List if deemed appropriate.

All Overrides approved by the CIO and CCO that related to companies for which a potential conflict of interest has been identified are reviewed by the General Counsel, or his designate. The General Counsel, or his designate, will refer the matter to the Committee for their evaluation and input as to how the conflict of interest should be resolved. If a member of the Committee themselves are the source of the conflict, they will not participate in the decision on how to resolve the conflict or determine how to vote the proxy.

In resolving a conflict, the Committee may decide to take one of the following courses of action: (1) determine that the conflict or potential conflict is not material, (2) request that disclosure be made to clients for whom proxies will be voted to disclose the conflict of interest and the recommended proxy vote and to obtain consent from such clients, (3) engage an independent third-party or fiduciary to determine how the proxies should be voted, (4) abstain from voting or (5) take another course of action that, in the opinion of the Committee, adequately addresses the potential for conflict.

Duty of Employees

Employees are required to report to the CCO any improper influence regarding proxy voting.

Disclosure to Clients

Liberty Ridge's Form ADV will include a description of this Policy and, upon request, Liberty Ridge Capital, Inc. will provide clients a copy of the complete Policy. LRC will also provide to clients, upon request, information on how their securities were voted. LRC will provide a report to the PBHG Funds' Board of any identified proxy voting conflict and how they were resolved.

Proxy Voting Operational Procedures

Reconciliation Process

Upon LRC's receipt of proxy materials, the Proxy Voting Clerk reconciles the number of shares to be voted as of the record date set forth in the proxy materials against the number of shares as of the record date set forth in LRC's records. Because LRC is committed to resolving all share number discrepancies, the Proxy Voting Clerk uses every reasonable effort to reconcile any share number discrepancy with the appropriate custodian bank. If LRC no longer holds shares in the company on whose behalf proxy votes are being solicited, the Proxy Voting Clerk does not vote those proxies.

Voting Identified Proxies

A proxy is identified when it is reported through a third-party vendor's automated system or when a custodian bank notifies LRC of its existence. As a general rule, the Proxy Voting Clerk votes all U.S. and non-U.S. proxies to which LRC is entitled to vote that are identified within the solicitation period. Consistent with Department of Labor Interpretative Bulletin 94-2 relating to ERISA proxy voting, LRC may apply a cost-benefit analysis to determine whether to vote a non-U.S. proxy. For example, if LRC is required to re-register shares of a company in order to vote a proxy and that re-registration process imposes trading and transfer restrictions on the shares, commonly referred to as "blocking," the Proxy Voting Clerk generally abstains from voting that proxy. Although not necessarily an exhaustive list, other instances in which LRC may be unable or may determine not to vote a proxy are as follows: (1) situations where the underlying securities have been lent out pursuant to a client's securities lending program; (2) instances when proxy materials are not delivered in a manner that provides sufficient time to analyze the proxy and make an informed decision by the voting deadline.

Proxy Voting Clerk Procedures

The Proxy Voting Clerk generally votes proxies, as follows:

- (a) The Proxy Voting Clerk prints the Proxy Analysis Report. This report is a compilation of "FOR", "AGAINST", "ABSTAIN", and "WITHHOLD" recommendations received from the third-party proxy research provider with respect to the issues on a particular proxy;
- (b) The Proxy Voting Clerk compares outstanding proxies against a list of the third-party vendor's clients, supplied periodically by the third-party vendor, to determine whether a potential for conflict may exist.

- (c) The Proxy Voting Clerk sends the Proxy Analysis Report to the research analyst who covers the company for his/her review along with a determination as to whether there is a potential conflict of interest on behalf of the third-party vendor;
- (d) In reviewing the recommendations to determine how to vote the proxy in the best interest of clients, the research analyst may consider information from various sources, such as a portfolio manager, another research analyst, management of the company conducting the proxy, shareholder groups, and other relevant sources;
- (e) If the analyst is voting all items on the ballot in a manner that is consistent with the proxy research provider's recommendations, he/she checks the appropriate box on the Proxy Voting Materials cover sheet, signs where indicated and returns it to the Proxy Voting Clerk. In instances where the analyst disagrees with the research provider's recommended vote and decides to vote an item differently, the analyst's recommended vote will be considered an "Override". All Overrides must be discussed with, and approved by, the CIO and the CCO. The CIO, CCO, and the analyst must sign the Proxy Voting Materials cover sheet and return it to the Proxy Voting Clerk with a brief explanation that documents the rationale for their decision;
- (f) The Proxy Voting Clerk compiles all overridden recommendations in a Proxy Vote Override Report. The Overrides are then compared to the Proxy Vote Watch List to identify potential conflict situations.
- (g) If a proxy being overridden is a company for which a potential conflict of interest has been identified, the Proxy Voting Clerk will promptly forward the proxy to the General Counsel, or his designate. The General Counsel, or his designate, reviews the Overrides and may confirm the Overrides in consultation with the CIO and CCO. The General Counsel, or his designate, will refer the matter to the full Committee for their evaluation and input as to how the conflict of interest should be resolved.
- (h) Upon resolution by the Committee or otherwise, the CCO will return the Proxy Override Report to the Proxy Voting Clerk indicating how the matter should be voted.
- (i) The Proxy Voting Clerk votes the proxies as instructed in the Proxy Analysis Report and the Proxy Vote Override Report; and
- (j) The Proxy Voting Clerk prepares a Proxy Voting Record Report for the Committee on a periodic basis. The Proxy Voting Record Report includes all proxies that were voted during a period of time.
- (k) The Proxy Voting Clerk also prepares a Proxy Override Summary Report that documents all vote recommendations received from the proxy research provider that were overridden during the period. The Proxy Override Summary Report describes the potential conflicts of interest that have been identified and their resolution. These reports are periodically reviewed by the Committee.

Maintenance of Proxy Voting Records

The following records are maintained for a period of six years, with records being maintained for the first two years on site:

- These policy and procedures, and any amendments thereto;
- Each proxy statement (maintained on a third-party automated system);
- Record of each vote cast (maintained on a third-party automated system);
- Documentation, if any, created by LRC that was material to making a decision how to vote proxies on behalf of a client or that memorializes the basis for a decision;
- Various reports related to the above procedures; and
- Each written client request for information and a copy of any written response by LRC to a client's written or oral request for information.

MUNDER CAPITAL MANAGEMENT
PROXY VOTING POLICY AND PROCEDURES

THE MUNDER FUNDS*

I Introduction

Munder Capital Management, including its index management division, World Asset Management (the “Advisor”), is an investment advisor registered under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the “Advisers Act”). The Munder Funds are registered as investment companies pursuant to the Investment Company Act of 1940. Pursuant to the investment advisory agreements with respect to the Munder Funds, the Board of Trustees of the Munder Funds has delegated to the Advisor discretionary investment management authority with respect to the assets of the Munder Funds (which includes proxy voting authority) and directed that the Advisor implement these Policies and Procedures in exercising that authority, as applicable to the Munder Funds. Set forth below is the Advisor’s policy on voting shares owned by advisory clients over which it has discretionary voting authority. These policies may be revised from time to time (but with respect to the Munder Funds, only with approval of the Board of Trustees of the Munder Funds).

II General Principle

The Advisor has adopted and implements these Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures (“Policies and Procedures”) as a means reasonably designed to ensure that the Advisor votes any proxy or other beneficial interest in an equity security over which the Advisor has discretionary proxy voting authority prudently and solely in the best interest of advisory clients and their beneficiaries considering all relevant factors and without undue influence from individuals or groups who may have an economic interest in the outcome of a proxy vote.

The Advisor will accept directions from clients to vote their proxies in a manner that may result in their proxies being voted differently than we might vote proxies of other clients over which the Advisor has full discretionary authority. For example, some labor unions may instruct the Advisor to vote proxies for their accounts in accordance with the AFL-CIO Proxy Voting Standards, and religious institutions may instruct us to vote their proxies in a manner consistent with standards they establish. With respect to those clients desiring AFL-CIO Proxy Voting, the Advisor has retained Proxy Voter Services (“PVS”), a division of International Shareholder Services Inc. (“ISS”), to recommend how to vote such proxies. Similarly, ISS has worked with the Advisor to develop custom guidelines for certain religious organizations. These Policies and Procedures do not generally discuss PVS or other customized proxy voting guidelines, as the Advisor believes such guidelines are client selected guidelines. The Advisor will generally not override ISS’s recommendations with respect to voting proxies for accounts subject to PVS and other custom guidelines absent further client direction or authorization.

* The term “Munder Funds” shall include, and these Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures shall also be approved by the Board of Trustees of, and shall be applicable with respect to, Munder Series Trust, Munder Series Trust II and The Munder @Vantage Fund.

III The Proxy Committee

The members of the Proxy Committee are set forth on Exhibit A. The Proxy Committee has authorized and approved these Policies and Procedures. The Proxy Committee meets as needed to administer the Advisor's proxy review and voting process and revise and update these Policies and Procedures as new issues arise. In instances of business combinations, such as proposed mergers or similar corporate actions, the Proxy Committee or its delegates also may consult with the applicable portfolio manager or portfolio management team of the accounts holding the relevant security to determine whether the business combination is in the best interest of the client. The Proxy Committee may cause the Advisor to retain one or more vendors to review, monitor and recommend how to vote proxies in client accounts in a manner consistent in all material respects with these Policies and Procedures and then ensure that such proxies are voted on a timely basis.

IV ERISA Fiduciary Duties and Proxy Voting

The voting of proxies on securities held in employee benefit plan investment portfolios is governed by the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 ("ERISA"). Accordingly, those who vote such proxies are subject to ERISA's fiduciary duty provisions. In general, an ERISA fiduciary who votes proxies has a duty of loyalty, a duty of prudence, a duty to comply with plan documents and a duty to avoid prohibited transactions. The Proxy Committee reasonably believes that these Policies and Procedures satisfy ERISA's fiduciary duty requirements generally and, in particular, the Department of Labor's 1994 interpretive bulletin discussing ERISA's fiduciary duty provisions in the proxy voting context. IB 94-2 (29 CFR §2509.94-2).

V Process

In order to apply the general policy noted above in a timely and consistent manner, the Advisor has retained ISS to review proxies received by client accounts and recommend how to vote them. ISS has established voting guidelines that are consistent in all material respects with the policies and the process noted herein. A summary of ISS's general Proxy Voting Guidelines is attached hereto as Exhibit B. Furthermore, with respect to those clients that have directed the Advisor to follow ISS's PVS Proxy Voting Policy Statement and Guidelines, a summary of such statement and guideline is attached hereto as Exhibit C. The PVS and other client-selected voting guidelines may result in votes that differ from votes cast pursuant to these Policies and Procedures. At least annually, the Proxy Committee will review ISS's general Proxy Voting Guidelines to confirm that they are consistent in all material respects with these Policies and Procedures.

The Advisor will review selected ISS's recommendations at least monthly (as described in Subsection D below) as part of its fiduciary duty to ensure that it votes proxies in a manner consistent with the best interest of its clients. Recommendations are communicated through ISS's website. Absent a determination to override ISS's recommendation as provided elsewhere in these Policies and Procedures, client proxies will be voted in accordance with applicable ISS guidelines and recommendations. Because different client accounts may be voted in accordance with different guidelines, client accounts could be voted differently on the same matter. The Advisor has also retained ISS for its turnkey voting agent service to administer its proxy voting operation. As such, ISS is responsible for ensuring that all proxies are submitted in a timely manner.

ISS will automatically vote all client proxies in accordance with its recommendations, unless the Advisor determines to override such recommendation. The criteria for reviewing ISS's recommendations are generally set forth in Subsections A - C below. As described below, in certain instances, the Advisor has determined that the nature of the issues raised by the proxy proposal together with the costs of reviewing ISS's recommendations with respect to a particular security outweigh the potential benefits to clients from the Advisor's review of ISS's advice and recommendations. In each instance where the Advisor does not separately review ISS's recommendations, the Advisor will always vote client proxies consistent with ISS's recommendations. In each instance where the Advisor does separately review ISS's recommendation, the Advisor may vote differently from ISS's recommendation, if, based upon the criteria set forth in Subsections A-C below, the Advisor determines that such vote is in clients' best interests (as described in Subsection E below).

A. Routine Corporate Administrative Items

Philosophy: The Advisor generally is willing to vote with recommendations of management on matters of a routine administrative nature. The Advisor's position is that management should be allowed to make those decisions that are essential to the ongoing operation of the company and that are not expected to have a major economic impact on the corporation and its shareholders. Examples of issues on which the Advisor will normally vote with management's recommendation include:

1. appointment or election of auditors, unless the auditor is not independent fees for non-audit services are excessive or there is reason to believe that the auditor has rendered an opinion which is neither accurate nor fairly indicative of the corporation's financial position;
2. increases in authorized common or preferred shares (unless the amounts are excessive, the number of shares of a class of stock with superior voting rights is to be increased, or management intends to use the additional authorized shares to implement a takeover defense, in which case the Advisor will analyze the proposal on a case-by-case basis as set forth in section C below);
3. directors' liability and indemnification; unless:
 - the proposal would entirely eliminate directors' liability for violating the duty of care; or
 - the proposal would expand coverage beyond mere reimbursement of legal expenses to acts such as negligence, that are more serious violations of fiduciary obligations;provided, however, that the Advisor will ordinarily vote with management's recommendation to expand coverage in cases when a director's legal defense was unsuccessful if: (a) the director was found to have acted in good faith and in a manner that he reasonably believed was in the best interests of the corporation; and (b) only the director's legal expenses were covered;
4. name changes; or
5. the time and location of the annual meeting.

The Advisor generally opposes minimum share ownership requirements for directors on the basis that a director can serve a company well regardless of the extent of his share ownership. The election or re-election of unopposed directors is reviewed on a case-by-case basis. The Advisor will generally vote against an item denoting "such other business as may come before the meeting" because the Advisor will not vote "for" or "against" issues of which the Advisor is not aware.

B. Special Interest Issues

Philosophy: While there are many social, religious, political, and other special interest issues that are worthy of public attention, the Advisor believes that the burden of social responsibility rests with management. Because the Advisor's primary responsibility in voting proxies is to provide for the greatest shareholder value, the Advisor is generally opposed to special interest proposals that involve an economic cost to the corporation or that restrict the freedom of management to operate in the best interest of the corporation and its shareholders. However, the Advisor may vote for disclosure reports seeking additional information on a topic, particularly when it appears companies have not adequately addressed related shareholder concerns. Accordingly, except as provided in the prior sentence, the Advisor will generally either refrain from voting on shareholder proposals, or vote with management's recommendation, on issues such as:

1. restrictions on military contracting,
2. restrictions on the marketing of controversial products,
3. restrictions on corporate political activities,
4. restrictions on charitable contributions,
5. restrictions on doing business with foreign countries,
6. a general policy regarding human rights,
7. a general policy regarding employment practices,
8. a general policy regarding animal rights,
9. a general policy regarding nuclear power plants, and
10. rotating the location of the annual meeting among various cities.

Client accounts utilizing ISS's PVS Proxy Voting Policies and Guidelines, ISS's Proxy Voting Guidelines for religious institutions or other customized guidelines may attribute additional shareholder value to one or more of the foregoing matters, and thus ISS or other client guidelines may, on a case-by-case analysis, recommend voting in favor of such shareholder proposals or issues for the applicable client accounts.

C. Issues Having the Potential for Major Economic Impact

Philosophy: The Advisor is not willing to vote with management on proposals that have the potential for major adverse economic impact on the corporation and the long-term value of its shares without independent analysis. The Advisor believes that the owners of the corporation should carefully analyze and decide such issues on a case-by-case basis. The following are examples of the issues that the Advisor believes have the potential for major economic impact on shareholder value:

1. Executive Compensation Plans

Stock-based incentive plans are among the most economically significant issues upon which shareholders are entitled to vote. Approval of these plans may result in large transfers of shareholders' equity out of the company to plan participants as awards vest and are exercised. The cost associated with such transfers should be measured if incentive plans are to be managed properly. Accordingly, the Advisor has delegated to ISS the estimation of the cost of a company's stock-based incentive program. An estimated dollar value for each award is determined by factoring into an option-pricing model the number of shares reserved, the exercise price, the award term, the vesting parameters, and any performance criteria. The Advisor believes that this approach affords the board adequate flexibility to structure incentive programs to meet the needs of its employees, while shareholders are ensured that the costs associated with a proposed plan are reasonable and linked to performance. A proposed stock-based incentive plan is evaluated in conjunction with all previously adopted plans to provide an overall snapshot of the company's compensation system. The aggregate value of the compensation system is then expressed as a percentage of the company's market capitalization. An allowable cap is determined by reference to the average amount paid by companies performing in the top quartile of their industry-specific peer groupings and adjusted based on differing market capitalizations.

2. Prevention of Greenmail

These proposals seek to prevent the practice of "greenmail," or accumulating large blocks of common stock for the purpose of pressuring corporations into repurchasing the stock at above market prices in order to avoid a takeover proxy fight. In general, the Advisor opposes greenmail. The Advisor believes that, if a corporation offers to buy back its stock, the offer should be made to all shareholders, not just a select group or individual.

3. Cumulative Voting of Directors

Cumulative voting allows a shareholder with sufficient stock ownership to cast all his share votes for one director and assure election of that director to the board. The Advisor believes that, if a person owns a significant portion of a company, he ought to be able to elect a director of his choosing, and the Advisor will therefore generally support cumulative voting in the election of directors.

4. Super-Majority Provisions

These corporate charter amendments generally require that a very high percentage of share votes (70-85%) be cast affirmatively to approve a merger or other business combinations, unless the board of directors has approved it in advance. These provisions have the potential to give management "veto power" over merging with another company, even though a majority of shareholders may favor the merger. In most cases, the Advisor believes that requiring super-majority approval of mergers places too much veto power in the hands of management and other minority shareholders at the expense of the majority shareholders, and the Advisor will generally vote against such provisions.

5. Fair Price Provisions

These provisions are directed toward discouraging two-tier acquisitions where an interested shareholder (who owns 10% or more of the common stock) makes a partial tender offer at one price to gain control of the company and then completes the merger by paying the remaining shareholders a lower price or different consideration. Shareholders who pass on the first offer may be forced to accept the later offer at an unattractive price. Fair price provisions require a super-majority vote (generally 70-85% of outstanding shares) to approve a merger involving an interested stockholder, unless either a minimum "fair price" (often defined as the highest price the interested shareholder paid for his shares in a given time period preceding his tender offer) is paid to all shareholders or the merger is approved by a majority of the continuing directors. Fair price provisions will generally be analyzed on a case-by-case basis. Factors to be considered include the vote required to approve the proposed acquisition, the vote required to repeal the fair price provision, and the mechanism used to calculate the fair price. The Advisor will typically oppose a fair price provision, if the proposal requires a vote of greater than a majority of disinterested shares to repeal the provision.

6. Defensive Strategies

The Advisor analyzes these proposals on a case-by-case basis to determine the effect on shareholder value. The Advisor's decision will be based on whether the Advisor believes that the proposal enhances long-term economic value for shareholders. Examples of the types of proposals governed by this paragraph include, without limitation, those that:

- a. create (which generally opposed to approving, unless it cannot be used as a take-over defense) or eliminate "blank check preferred" shares;
- b. classify or stagger the board of directors (which the Advisor is generally opposed to approving) or eliminate such classification or staggering (which the Advisor typically agrees should be eliminated);
- c. establish or redeem "poison pills" that make it financially unattractive for a shareholder to purchase more than a small percentage of the company's shares;
- d. change the size of the board; or
- e. authorize or prevent the repurchase of outstanding shares.

7. Business Combinations or Restructuring

The Advisor analyzes these proposals on a case-by-case basis to determine the effect on shareholder value. The Advisor's decision will be based on whether the Advisor believes that the proposal enhances long-term economic value for shareholders.

D. Voting in Foreign Markets

Corporate governance standards, disclosure requirements, and voting mechanics vary greatly among the markets outside the United States in which client accounts may invest. The Advisor will evaluate issues presented to shareholders for each client's foreign holdings in the context of the guidelines described above, as well as local market standards and best practices. The Advisor will vote proxies in foreign markets in a manner generally consistent with these guidelines, while taking into account differing practices by market. In addition, there may be instances when the Advisor elects not to vote as described below.

Many foreign markets require that securities be blocked or reregistered to vote at a company's meeting. The Advisor generally will not subject client accounts to the loss of liquidity imposed by these requirements. In addition, the costs of voting (e.g., custodian fees, vote agency fees) in foreign markets may be higher than for U.S. holdings. As such, the Advisor may limit its voting proxies on foreign holdings in instances where the issues presented are unlikely to have a material impact on shareholder value.

E. Review of ISS Recommendations

On a regular basis, but no less frequently than monthly, the Proxy Committee will review selected ISS recommendations for upcoming shareholder meetings. The Advisor has determined that the costs of reviewing ISS's advice and recommendations with respect to a particular security outweigh the potential benefits to clients from the Advisor's review of ISS's advice and recommendations, unless:

1. Complex, Unusual or Significant. ISS's recommendation relates to proxy proposals that are complex or unusual or that raise significant issues (e.g., anti-takeover provisions or business combinations and/or restructurings), and
2. Client Holdings are Meaningful. For these purposes, the holding of a particular issuer would be considered to be meaningful if
 - a. the particular issuer soliciting proxies or to whom the proxy solicitation relates represents at least one percent (1%) of the fair market value of any client account and the fair market value of the portfolio holding is at least one million dollars ($1,000,000); or
 - b. all client accounts with respect to which the Advisor holds full discretionary authority to vote a client's proxies hold, in the aggregate, at least one percent (1%) of the outstanding voting shares of the issuer.

As a result of the foregoing, the Advisor will generally vote proxies consistent with ISS's recommendations without independent review, unless the subject matter of the proxy solicitation raises complex, unusual or significant issues and the cost of reviewing ISS's advice and recommendations with respect to a particular proxy do not outweigh the potential benefits to clients from its review of ISS's advice and recommendations.

Minutes will not be kept of Proxy Committee meetings. However, any determinations by the Proxy Committee and the Legal/Compliance Department to vote proxies differently from the applicable ISS recommendation, as described more fully below, shall be documented and retained as a record of the Advisor and/or the Munder Funds as specified in Section VIII hereof.

E. Overriding ISS Recommendations

From time to time a portfolio manager, an analyst or a member of the Proxy Committee may disagree with ISS's recommendation on how to vote client proxies for one or more resolutions. However, because the Advisor may have business interests that exposes it to pressure to vote a proxy in a manner that may not be in the best interest of its clients, all requests to vote differently from the ISS recommendation with respect to a particular matter must be given to the Proxy Manager (who is identified in Exhibit A) or, in the absence of the Proxy Manager, another member of the Proxy Committee for independent review by the Proxy Committee. Following receipt of such request, the Proxy Manager or Proxy Committee member will follow the following process:

1. Complete a Proxy Override Request Form which contains: (a) information regarding the resolution in question; (b) the rationale for not following ISS's recommendation; and (c) the identification of any actual or potential conflicts between the interests of the Advisor and those of one or more of its clients (or sought-after clients) with respect to the voting of a proxy.
 - a. In identifying all actual or potential conflicts of interest, the Proxy Manager or other Proxy Committee member shall take steps that the Proxy Committee believes are reasonably designed to determine whether the Advisor has any business interest or relationship or any executive of the Advisor has any business or personal interest or relationship that might influence the Advisor to vote in a manner that might not be in its clients' best interests, considering the nature of the Advisor's business and its clients, the issuer, the proposal, and any other relevant circumstances.

- b. A conflict of interest may exist where, for example:
 - (i) The Advisor manages or is actively seeking to manage the assets (including retirement plan assets) of a company whose securities are held in client accounts;
 - (ii) A client or a client-supported interest group actively supports a proxy proposal; or
 - (iii) The Advisor or senior executives of the Advisor may have personal or other business relationships with participants in proxy contests, corporate directors, and candidates for corporate directorships, or in any other matter coming before shareholders – for example, an executive of the Advisor may have a spouse or other close relative who serves as a director of a company or executive of the company.

2. The completed Proxy Override Request Form is then submitted to the Proxy Committee and the Legal/Compliance Department for review and approval. Both the Proxy Committee and the Legal/Compliance Department must approve an override request for it to be implemented.

- a. The Proxy Committee will first review the Proxy Override Request Form and supporting documentation to determine whether the requested override is in the best interests of clients holding the proxy. If the requested override is approved by a majority of the available voting members of the Proxy Committee, assuming that at least two voting members of the Policy Committee are available, the requested override and supporting documentation shall be forwarded to the Legal/Compliance Department for their review of any potential or actual conflicts of interest.
- b. The Legal/Compliance Department may approve any override request approved by the Proxy Committee only if:
 - (i) No Conflict. No conflict of interest is identified.
 - (ii) Immaterial or Remote Conflict. If a potential or actual conflict of interest is identified, but such conflict, in the reasonable judgment of the Legal/Compliance Department, is so clearly immaterial or remote as to be unlikely to influence any determination made by the Proxy Committee.
 - (iii) Material Conflict. If a potential or actual conflict of interest appears to be material, the Legal/Compliance Department may approve the override only with the written approval for the override request from its applicable clients.¹ Such request for approval for an override shall be accompanied by a written disclosure of the conflict. With respect to shares held by one or more Munder Funds, approval of the override may be sought from the Board Process and Compliance Oversight Committee or a designated member of that Committee. If an override request is approved by the Board Process and Compliance Oversight Committee (or its designated member), the Legal/Compliance Department may approve the override with respect to all applicable clients without seeking or obtaining additional approval from each of them. However, to the extent the Advisor receives instructions from any client, the Advisor will vote such client's shares in accordance with its instructions. If no instructions are received from clients in such circumstance and approval is not obtained from the Board Process and Compliance Oversight Committee, the Advisor will vote the shares in accordance with ISS's recommendation. Examples of material conflicts include: (A) situations where the company soliciting the proxy, or a person known to be an affiliate of such company, is a client of the Advisor and the override proposes to change the vote to favor such client or its management² and (B) situations where the company soliciting the proxy, or a person known to be an affiliate of such company is, to the knowledge of any employee of the Advisor involved in reviewing or advocating the potential override, being actively solicited to be either a client of the Advisor and the override proposes to change the vote to favor such potential client or its management.

3. If both the Proxy Committee and the Legal/Compliance Department approve the request to override ISS's recommendation for one or more accounts, the authorizing person(s) will memorialize their approval on the Proxy Override Request Form and provide the approved Proxy Override Request Form to the Proxy Manager for communication of the revised voting instruction to ISS.
4. The Proxy Manager will preserve a copy of each submitted Proxy Override Request Form, whether or not approved, any supporting documentation, and any client consents, with the records of the Proxy Committee and in accordance with the recordkeeping requirements contained herein.

VI Disclosure of Vote

A. Public and Client Disclosures

Except to the extent required by applicable law or otherwise approved by the Advisor's general counsel or chief legal officer, we will not disclose to third parties how we (or ISS) voted a proxy or beneficial interest in a security. Conversely, upon request from an appropriately authorized individual, we will disclose to our advisory clients or the entity delegating the voting authority to us for such clients (such as a trustee or consultant retained by the client), how we voted such client's proxy or beneficial interest in securities it held. Furthermore, we will describe these Policies and Procedures in our Form ADV, upon request furnish a copy of these Policies and Procedures to the requesting client, and advise clients how they can obtain information on how the Advisor caused their proxies to be voted. The Advisor shall take such action as may be necessary to enable the Munder Funds to further comply with all disclosure obligations imposed by applicable rules and regulations.

B. Mutual Fund Board of Trustees

Every decision to vote on a resolution in a proxy solicited by a company held by a Munder Fund in a manner different from the recommendation of ISS shall be disclosed to the Munder Fund's Board of Trustees at its next regularly scheduled meeting along with an explanation for the vote.

VII Reconciliation

The Proxy Manager shall seek to reconcile on a regular basis all proxies received against holdings of all client accounts over which the Advisor has voting authority to ensure that all shares held on the record date, and for which a voting obligation exists, are voted.

VIII Recordkeeping

The Advisor shall, with respect to those clients over which it has discretionary proxy voting authority, make and retain the following:³

- A. Copies of all proxy voting policies and procedures required by section 206(4)-6 of the Advisers Act.
- B. A copy of each proxy statement it receives regarding client securities.⁴
- C. A record of each vote cast by the Advisor (or its designee, such as ISS) on behalf of a client.⁵
- D. A copy of any document created by the Advisor that was material to making a decision as to how to vote proxies on behalf of a client or that memorializes the basis for that decision.⁶
- E. A record of each written client request for information on how the Advisor voted proxies on behalf of the client, and a copy of any written response by the Advisor to any (written or oral) client request for information on how the Advisor voted proxies on behalf of the requesting client.

All books and records required to be maintained hereunder, shall be maintained and preserved in an easily accessible place, which may include ISS's offices, for a period of not less than five years from the end

⁴ The Advisor may satisfy this requirement by relying on a third party (such as ISS) to make and retain on the Advisor's behalf, a copy of a proxy statement (provided the Advisor has obtained an undertaking from the third party to provide a copy of the proxy statement promptly upon request) or may rely on obtaining a copy of a proxy statement from the SEC EDGAR system at www.sec.gov.

of the fiscal year during which the last entry was made on such record, the first two years in an appropriate office of the Advisor (or ISS).

THOMPSON, SIEGEL & WALMSLEY, INC.

PROXY VOTING POLICY AND PROCEDURES

Thompson, Siegel & Walmsley, Inc. (TS&W) acknowledges it has a duty of care to its clients that requires it to monitor corporate events and vote client proxies. TS&W has adopted and implemented written policies and procedures reasonably designed to ensure that it votes proxies in the best interest of our clients. TS&W recognizes that it (i) has a fiduciary responsibility under the Employee Retirement Income Securities Act (ERISA) to vote proxies prudently and solely in the best interest of plan participants and beneficiaries (ii) will vote stock proxies in the best interest of the client (non-ERISA) when directed (together, our “clients”). TS&W has developed its policy to be consistent with, wherever possible, enhancing long-term shareholder value and leading corporate governance practices. Our general policy regarding the voting of proxies is as follows:

Proxy Voting Guidelines:

- Routine and/or non-controversial, general corporate governance issues are normally voted with management; this would include the Approval of Independent Auditors.
- Occasionally, TS&W may vote against management’s proposal on a particular issue; such issues would generally be those deemed likely to reduce shareholder control over management, entrench management at the expense of shareholders, or in some way diminish shareholders’ present or future value. From time to time TS&W will receive and act upon the client’s specific instructions regarding proxy proposals. TS&W reserves the right to vote against any proposals motivated by political, ethical or social concerns. TS&W will examine each issue solely from an economic perspective.
- Occasions may arise during the voting process in which the best interest of the clients conflicts with TS&W’s interests. Conflicts of interest generally include (i) business relationships where TS&W has a substantial business relationship with, or is actively soliciting business from, a company soliciting proxies (ii) personal or family relationships whereby an employee of TS&W has a family member or other personal relationship that is affiliated with a company soliciting proxies, such as a spouse who serves as a director of a public company. A conflict could also exist if a substantial business relationship exists with a proponent or opponent of a particular initiative. If TS&W determines that a material conflict of interest exists, TS&W will disclose the conflict to its client(s) and vote the proxy as directed by the client(s).

Proxy Voting Process:

For most stocks we use ProxyEdge, an electronic proxy voting system. Through ProxyEdge we receive electronic ballots for a majority of the accounts we vote. With this system we are able to keep records of which accounts are voted, how accounts are voted, and how many shares are voted. For proxies not received through ProxyEdge, we will make a best efforts attempt to receive ballots from the clients’ custodian and follow the same procedures and processes as stated above. Records are kept electronically and ballots are voted manually via electronic means @www.proxyvote.com. TS&W also utilizes proxy proposal research and voting recommendations through Egan-Jones Proxy Services.

Upon timely receipt of proxy materials from the client’s Custodian or through ProxyEdge:

- The Proxy Coordinator will receive the initial proxy information and will monitor the voting process throughout.
- A Research Associate will receive proxy proposal research and voting recommendations from Egan-Jones Proxy Services and reviews all proposals, vote routine issues and will consult with TS&W's Investment Policy Committee or products managers on non-routine issues.
- The Research Associate will notify the Proxy Coordinator how the proxy is to be voted. The Proxy Coordinator is also responsible for ensuring that the proxies are transmitted for voting in a timely fashion and maintaining a record of the vote, which will be made available to clients upon request.
- All proxies will be voted solely in the interest of clients.
- TSW generally abstains from voting shares if they are sold between record and meeting dates.
- TSW reserves the right not to vote proxies if the cost of voting exceeds the expected benefit to the client.
- All tender offers are reviewed and treated in a similar manner.

Proxy Voting Records & Reports

- The proxy information kept by the Proxy Coordinator will include the following: (i) name of the issuer, (ii) the exchange ticker symbol, (iii) the CUSIP number, (iv) the shareholder meeting date, (v) a brief description of the matter brought to vote; (vi) whether the proposal was submitted by management or a shareholder, (vii) how TS&W voted the proxy (for, against, abstained) and (viii) whether the proxy was voted for or against management.
- Clients will be notified annually of their ability to request a copy of our proxy policies and procedures. A copy of how TS&W voted on securities held is available free of charge upon request from our clients or by calling toll free (800) 697-1056.

TURNER INVESTMENT PARTNERS, INC.
PROXY VOTING POLICY AND PROCEDURES

Proxy Voting Policy and Procedures

Turner Investment Partners, Inc., as well as its two investment advisory affiliates, Turner Investment Management, LLC and Turner Investment Advisors, LLC (collectively, Turner), act as fiduciaries in relation to their clients and the assets entrusted by them to their management. Where the assets placed in Turner's care include shares of corporate stock, and except where the client has expressly reserved to itself or another party the duty to vote proxies, it is Turner's duty as a fiduciary to vote all proxies relating to such shares.

Duties with Respect to Proxies:

Turner has an obligation to vote all proxies appurtenant to shares of corporate stock owned by its client accounts in the best interests of those clients. In voting these proxies, Turner may not be motivated by, or subordinate the client's interests to, its own objectives or those of persons or parties unrelated to the client. Turner will exercise all appropriate and lawful care, skill, prudence and diligence in voting proxies, and shall vote all proxies relating to shares owned by its client accounts and received by Turner. Turner shall not be responsible, however, for voting proxies that it does not receive in sufficient time to respond.

Delegation:

In order to carry out its responsibilities in regard to voting proxies, Turner must track all shareholder meetings convened by companies whose shares are held in Turner client accounts, identify all issues presented to shareholders at such meetings, formulate a principled position on each such issue and ensure that proxies pertaining to all shares owned in client accounts are voted in accordance with such determinations.

Consistent with these duties, Turner has delegated certain aspects of the proxy voting process to Institutional Shareholder Services, and its Proxy Voting Service (PVS) subsidiary. PVS is a separate investment adviser registered under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended. Under an agreement entered into with Turner, PVS has agreed to vote proxies in accordance with recommendations developed by PVS and overseen by Turner, except in those instances where Turner has provided it with different direction.

Review and Oversight:

Turner has reviewed the methods used by PVS to identify and track shareholder meetings called by publicly traded issuers throughout the United States and around the globe. Turner has satisfied itself that PVS operates a system reasonably designed to identify all such meetings and to provide Turner with timely notice of the date, time and place of such meetings. Turner has further reviewed the principles and procedures employed by PVS in making recommendations on voting proxies on each issue presented, and has satisfied itself that PVS's recommendations are: (i) based upon an appropriate level of diligence and research, and (ii) designed to further the interests of shareholders and not serve other unrelated or improper interests. Turner, either directly or through its duly-constituted Proxy Committee, shall review its determinations as to PVS at least annually.

Notwithstanding its belief that PVS's recommendations are consistent with the best interests of shareholders and appropriate to be implemented for Turner's client accounts, Turner has the right and the ability to depart from a recommendation made by PVS as to a particular vote, slate of candidates or otherwise, and can direct PVS to vote all or a portion of the shares owned for client accounts in accordance with Turner's preferences. PVS is bound to vote any such shares subject to that direction in strict accordance with all such instructions.

Turner, through its Proxy Committee, reviews on a monthly basis the overall shareholder meeting agenda, and seeks to identify shareholder votes that warrant further review based upon either (i) the total number of shares of a particular company stock that Turner holds for its clients accounts, or (ii) the particular subject matter of a shareholder vote, such as board independence or shareholders' rights issues. In determining whether to depart from a PVS recommendation, the Turner Proxy Committee looks to its view of the best interests of shareholders, and provides direction to PVS only where in Turner's view departing from the PVS recommendation appears to be in the best interests of Turner's clients as shareholders. The Proxy Committee keeps minutes of its determinations in this regard.

Conflicts of Interest:

Turner stock is not publicly traded, and Turner is not otherwise affiliated with any issuer whose shares are available for purchase by client accounts. Further, no Turner affiliate currently provides brokerage, underwriting, insurance, banking or other financial services to issuers whose shares are available for purchase by client accounts.

Where a client of Turner is a publicly traded company in its own right, Turner may be restricted from acquiring that company's securities for the client's benefit. Further, while Turner believes that any particular proxy issues involving companies that engage Turner, either directly or through their pension committee or otherwise, to manage assets on their behalf, generally will not present conflict of interest dangers for the firm or its clients, in order to avoid even the appearance of a conflict of interest, the Proxy Committee will determine, by surveying the Firm's employees or otherwise, whether Turner, an affiliate or any of their officers has a business, familial or personal relationship with a participant in a proxy contest, the issuer itself or the issuer's pension plan, corporate directors or candidates for directorships. In the event that any such relationship is found to exist, the Proxy Committee will take appropriate steps to ensure that any such relationship (or other potential conflict of interest), does not influence Turner's or the Committee's decision to provide direction to PVS on a given vote or issue. Further to that end, Turner will adhere to all recommendations made by PVS in connection with all shares issued by such companies and held in Turner client accounts, and, absent extraordinary circumstances that will be documented in writing, will not subject any such proxy to special review by the Proxy Committee. Turner will seek to resolve any conflicts of interests that may arise prior to voting proxies in a manner that reflects the best interests of its clients.

Obtaining Proxy Voting Information:

To obtain information on how Turner voted proxies, please contact:

Andrew Mark, Director of Operations and Technology Administration
c/o Turner Investment Partners, Inc.

Recordkeeping:

Turner shall retain its (i) proxy voting policies and procedures; (ii) proxy statements received regarding client statements; (iii) records or votes it casts on behalf of clients; (iv) records of client requests for proxy voting information, and (v) any documents prepared by Turner that are material in making a proxy voting decision. Such records may be maintained with a third party, such as PVS, that will provide a copy of the documents promptly upon request.

WELLINGTON MANAGEMENT, LLP

Introduction

Wellington Management Company, LLP (“Wellington Management”) has adopted and implemented policies and procedures that it believes are reasonably designed to ensure that proxies are voted in the best economic interests of its clients around the world.

Wellington Management’s Proxy Voting Guidelines, attached as Exhibit A to these Proxy Policies and Procedures, set forth the guidelines that Wellington Management uses in voting specific proposals presented by the boards of directors or shareholders of companies whose securities are held in client portfolios for which Wellington Management has voting discretion. While the Proxy Voting Guidelines set forth general guidelines for voting proxies, each proposal is evaluated on its merits. The vote entered on a client’s behalf with respect to a particular proposal may differ from the Proxy Voting Guidelines.

Statement of Policies

As a matter of policy, Wellington Management:

1. Takes responsibility for voting client proxies only upon a client’s written request.
2. Votes all proxies in the best interests of its clients as shareholders, i.e., to maximize economic value.
3. Develops and maintains broad guidelines setting out positions on common proxy issues, but also considers each proposal in the context of the issuer, industry, and country or countries in which its business is conducted.
4. Evaluates all factors it deems relevant when considering a vote, and may determine in certain instances that it is in the best interest of one or more clients to refrain from voting a given proxy ballot.
5. Identifies and resolves all material proxy-related conflicts of interest between the firm and its clients in the best interests of the client.
6. Believes that sound corporate governance practices can enhance shareholder value and therefore encourages consideration of an issuer’s corporate governance as part of the investment process.
7. Believes that proxy voting is a valuable tool that can be used to promote sound corporate governance to the ultimate benefit of the client as shareholder.
8. Provides all clients, upon request, with copies of these Proxy Policies and Procedures, the Proxy Voting Guidelines, and related reports, with such frequency as required to fulfill obligations under applicable law or as reasonably requested by clients.
9. Reviews regularly the voting record to ensure that proxies are voted in accordance with these Proxy Policies and Procedures and the Proxy Voting Guidelines; and ensures that procedures, documentation, and reports relating to the voting of proxies are promptly and properly prepared and disseminated.

Responsibility and Oversight

Wellington Management has a Global Corporate Governance Committee, established by action of the firm’s Executive Committee that is responsible for the review and approval of the firm’s written Proxy Policies and Procedures and its Proxy Voting Guidelines, and for providing advice and guidance on specific proxy votes for individual issuers. The firm's Legal Services Department monitors regulatory requirements with respect to proxy voting on a global basis and works with the Global Corporate Governance Committee to develop policies that implement those requirements. Day-to-day administration of the proxy voting process at Wellington Management is the responsibility of the Global Corporate Governance Group within the Corporate Operations Department. In addition, the Global Corporate Governance Group acts as a resource for portfolio managers and research analysts on proxy matters, as needed.

Statement of Procedures

Wellington Management has in place certain procedures for implementing its proxy voting policies.

General Proxy Voting

Authorization to Vote. Wellington Management will vote only those proxies for which its clients have affirmatively delegated proxy-voting authority.

Receipt of Proxy. Proxy materials from an issuer or its information agent are forwarded to registered owners of record, typically the client's custodian bank. If a client requests that Wellington Management vote proxies on its behalf, the client must instruct its custodian bank to deliver all relevant voting material to Wellington Management or its voting agent. Wellington Management, or its voting agent, may receive this voting information by mail, fax, or other electronic means.

Reconciliation. To the extent reasonably practicable, each proxy received is matched to the securities eligible to be voted and a reminder is sent to any custodian or trustee that has not forwarded the proxies as due.

Research. In addition to proprietary investment research undertaken by Wellington Management investment professionals, the firm conducts proxy research internally, and uses the resources of a number of external sources to keep abreast of developments in corporate governance around the world and of current practices of specific companies.

Proxy Voting. Following the reconciliation process, each proxy is compared against Wellington Management's Proxy Voting Guidelines, and handled as follows:

- Generally, issues for which explicit proxy voting guidance is provided in the Proxy Voting Guidelines (i.e., "For", "Against", "Abstain") are reviewed by the Global Corporate Governance Group and voted in accordance with the Proxy Voting Guidelines.
- Issues identified as "case-by-case" in the Proxy Voting Guidelines are further reviewed by the Global Corporate Governance Group. In certain circumstances, further input is needed, so the issues are forwarded to the relevant research analyst and/or portfolio manager(s) for their input.
- Absent a material conflict of interest, the portfolio manager has the authority to decide the final vote. Different portfolio managers holding the same securities may arrive at different voting conclusions for their clients' proxies.

Material Conflict of Interest Identification and Resolution Processes. Wellington Management's broadly diversified client base and functional lines of responsibility serve to minimize the number of, but not prevent, material conflicts of interest it faces in voting proxies. Annually, the Global Corporate Governance Committee sets standards for identifying material conflicts based on client, vendor, and lender relationships, and publishes those standards to individuals involved in the proxy voting process. In addition, the Global Corporate Governance Committee encourages all personnel to contact the Global Corporate Governance Group about apparent conflicts of interest, even if the apparent conflict does not meet the published materiality criteria. Apparent conflicts are reviewed by designated members of the Global Corporate Governance Committee to determine if there is a conflict, and if so whether the conflict is material.

If a proxy is identified as presenting a material conflict of interest, the matter must be reviewed by designated members of the Global Corporate Governance Committee, who will resolve the conflict and direct the vote. In certain circumstances, the designated members may determine that the full Global Corporate Governance Committee should convene. Any Global Corporate Governance Committee member who is himself or herself subject to the identified conflict will not participate in the decision on whether and how to vote the proxy in question.

Other Considerations

In certain instances, Wellington Management may be unable to vote or may determine not to vote a proxy on behalf of one or more clients. While not exhaustive, the following list of considerations highlights some potential instances in which a proxy vote might not be entered.

Securities Lending. Wellington Management may be unable to vote proxies when the underlying securities have been lent out pursuant to a client's securities lending program. In general, Wellington Management does not know when securities have been lent out and are therefore unavailable to be voted. Efforts to recall loaned securities are not always effective, but, in rare circumstances, Wellington Management may recommend that a client attempt to have its custodian recall the security to permit voting of related proxies.

Share Blocking and Re-registration. Certain countries require shareholders to stop trading securities for a period of time prior to and/or after a shareholder meeting in that country (i.e., share blocking). When reviewing proxies in share blocking countries, Wellington Management evaluates each proposal in light of the trading restrictions imposed and determines whether a proxy issue is sufficiently important that Wellington Management would consider the possibility of blocking shares. The portfolio manager retains the final authority to determine whether to block the shares in the client's portfolio or to pass on voting the meeting.

In certain countries, re-registration of shares is required to enter a proxy vote. As with share blocking, re-registration can prevent Wellington Management from exercising its investment discretion to sell shares held in a client's portfolio for a substantial period of time. The decision process in blocking countries as discussed above is also employed in instances where re-registration is necessary.

Lack of Adequate Information, Untimely Receipt of Proxy Materials, or Excessive Costs. Wellington Management may be unable to enter an informed vote in certain circumstances due to the lack of information provided in the proxy statement or by the issuer or other resolution sponsor, and may abstain from voting in those instances. Proxy materials not delivered in a timely fashion may prevent analysis or entry of a vote by voting deadlines. In addition, Wellington Management's practice is to abstain from voting a proxy in circumstances where, in its judgment, the costs exceed the expected benefits to clients.

Additional Information

Wellington Management maintains records of proxies voted pursuant to Section 204-2 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the "Advisers Act"), the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended ("ERISA"), and other applicable laws.

Wellington Management's Proxy Policies and Procedures may be amended from time to time by Wellington Management. Wellington Management provides clients with a copy of its Proxy Policies and Procedures, including the Proxy Voting Guidelines, upon written request. In addition, Wellington Management will make specific client information relating to proxy voting available to a client upon reasonable written request.

WELLINGTON MANAGEMENT COMPANY, LLP

EXHIBIT A PROXY VOTING GUIDELINES

Introduction

Upon a client's written request, Wellington Management Company, LLP ("Wellington Management") votes securities that are held in the client's account in response to proxies solicited by the issuers of such securities. Wellington Management established these Proxy Voting Guidelines to document positions generally taken on common proxy issues voted on behalf of clients.

These Guidelines are based on Wellington Management's fiduciary obligation to act in the best economic interest of its clients as shareholders. Hence, Wellington Management examines and votes each proposal so that the long-term effect of the vote will ultimately increase shareholder value for our clients. Wellington Management's experience in voting proposals has shown that similar proposals often have different consequences for different companies. Moreover, while these Proxy Voting Guidelines are written to apply globally, differences in local practice and law make universal application impractical. Therefore, each proposal is evaluated on its merits, taking into account its effects on the specific company in question, and on the company within its industry. It should be noted that the following are guidelines, and not rigid rules, and Wellington Management reserves the right in all cases to vote contrary to guidelines where doing so is judged to represent the best economic interest of its clients.

Following is a list of common proposals and the guidelines on how Wellington Management anticipates voting on these proposals. The "(SP)" after a proposal indicates that the proposal is usually presented as a Shareholder Proposal.

INTERNATIONAL SHAREHOLDER SERVICES, INC.

PROXY VOTING GUIDELINES SUMMARY

The following is a condensed version of all proxy voting recommendations contained in The International Shareholder Services, Inc. (“ISS”) Proxy Voting Manual.

OPERATIONAL ITEMS

ADJOURN MEETING

Generally vote AGAINST proposals to provide management with the authority to adjourn an annual or special meeting absent compelling reasons to support the proposal.

AMEND QUORUM REQUIREMENTS

Vote AGAINST proposals to reduce quorum requirements for shareholder meetings below a majority of the shares outstanding unless there are compelling reasons to support the proposal.

AMEND MINOR BYLAWS

Vote FOR bylaw or charter changes that are of a housekeeping nature (updates or corrections).

CHANGE COMPANY NAME

Vote FOR proposals to change the corporate name.

CHANGE DATE, TIME, OR LOCATION OF ANNUAL MEETING

Vote FOR management proposals to change the date/time/location of the annual meeting unless the proposed change is unreasonable. Vote AGAINST shareholder proposals to change the date/time/location of the annual meeting unless the current scheduling or location is unreasonable.

RATIFYING AUDITORS

Vote FOR proposals to ratify auditors, unless any of the following apply:

- An auditor has a financial interest in or association with the company, and is therefore not independent
- Fees for non-audit services are excessive, or
- There is reason to believe that the independent auditor has rendered an opinion which is neither accurate nor indicative of the company’s financial position.

Vote CASE-BY-CASE on shareholder proposals asking companies to prohibit or limit their auditors from engaging in non-audit services. Vote FOR shareholder proposals asking for audit firm rotation, unless the rotation period is so short (less than five years) that it would be unduly burdensome to the company.

TRANSACT OTHER BUSINESS

Vote AGAINST proposals to approve other business when it appears as voting item.

2. BOARD OF DIRECTORS

VOTING ON DIRECTOR NOMINEES IN UNCONTESTED ELECTIONS

Votes on director nominees should be made on a CASE-BY-CASE basis, examining the following factors: composition of the board and key board committees, attendance at board meetings, corporate governance provisions and takeover activity, long-term company performance relative to a market index, directors' investment in the company, whether the chairman is also serving as CEO, and whether a retired CEO sits on the board. However, there are some actions by directors that should result in votes being withheld. These instances include directors who:

- Attend less than 75 percent of the board and committee meetings without a valid excuse
- Implement or renew a dead-hand or modified dead-hand poison pill
- Ignore a shareholder proposal that is approved by a majority of the shares outstanding
- Ignore a shareholder proposal that is approved by a majority of the votes cast for two consecutive years
- Failed to act on takeover offers where the majority of the shareholders tendered their shares
- Are inside directors or affiliated outsiders and sit on the audit, compensation, or nominating committees
- Are inside directors or affiliated outsiders and the full board serves as the audit, compensation, or nominating committee or the company does not have one of these committees
- Are audit committee members and the non-audit fees paid to the auditor are excessive.

In addition, directors who enacted egregious corporate governance policies or failed to replace management as appropriate would be subject to recommendations to withhold votes.

AGE LIMITS

Vote AGAINST shareholder proposals to impose a mandatory retirement age for outside directors.

BOARD SIZE

Vote FOR proposals seeking to fix the board size or designate a range for the board size. Vote AGAINST proposals that give management the ability to alter the size of the board outside of a specified range without shareholder approval.

CLASSIFICATION/DECLASSIFICATION OF THE BOARD

Vote AGAINST proposals to classify the board. Vote FOR proposals to repeal classified boards and to elect all directors annually.

CUMULATIVE VOTING

Vote AGAINST proposals to eliminate cumulative voting. Vote proposals to restore or permit cumulative voting on a CASE-BY-CASE basis relative to the company's other governance provisions.

DIRECTOR AND OFFICER INDEMNIFICATION AND LIABILITY PROTECTION

Proposals on director and officer indemnification and liability protection should be evaluated on a CASE-BY-CASE basis, using Delaware law as the standard. Vote AGAINST proposals to eliminate entirely directors' and officers' liability for monetary damages for violating the duty of care.

Vote AGAINST indemnification proposals that would expand coverage beyond just legal expenses to acts, such as negligence, that are more serious violations of fiduciary obligation than mere carelessness.

Vote FOR only those proposals providing such expanded coverage in cases when a director's or officer's legal defense was unsuccessful if both of the following apply:

- The director was found to have acted in good faith and in a manner that he reasonably believed was in the best interests of the company, and
- Only if the director's legal expenses would be covered.

ESTABLISH/AMEND NOMINEE QUALIFICATIONS

Vote CASE-BY-CASE on proposals that establish or amend director qualifications. Votes should be based on how reasonable the criteria are and to what degree they may preclude dissident nominees from joining the board. Vote AGAINST shareholder proposals requiring two candidates per board seat.

FILLING VACANCIES/REMOVAL OF DIRECTORS

Vote AGAINST proposals that provide that directors may be removed only for cause.

Vote FOR proposals to restore shareholder ability to remove directors with or without cause.

Vote AGAINST proposals that provide that only continuing directors may elect replacements to fill board vacancies.

Vote FOR proposals that permit shareholders to elect directors to fill board vacancies.

INDEPENDENT CHAIRMAN (SEPARATE CHAIRMAN/CEO)

Vote on a CASE-BY-CASE basis shareholder proposals requiring that the positions of chairman and CEO be held separately. Because some companies have governance structures in place that counterbalance a combined position, the following factors should be taken into account in determining whether the proposal warrants support:

- Designated lead director appointed from the ranks of the independent board members with clearly delineated duties
- Majority of independent directors on board

- All-independent key committees
- Committee chairpersons nominated by the independent directors
- CEO performance reviewed annually by a committee of outside directors
- Established governance guidelines
- Company performance.

MAJORITY OF INDEPENDENT DIRECTORS/ESTABLISHMENT OF COMMITTEES

Vote FOR shareholder proposals asking that a majority or more of directors be independent unless the board composition already meets the proposed threshold by ISS's definition of independence.

Vote FOR shareholder proposals asking that board audit, compensation, and/or nominating committees be composed exclusively of independent directors if they currently do not meet that standard.

STOCK OWNERSHIP REQUIREMENTS

Generally vote AGAINST shareholder proposals that mandate a minimum amount of stock that directors must own in order to qualify as a director or to remain on the board. While ISS favors stock ownership on the part of directors, the company should determine the appropriate ownership requirement.

TERM LIMITS

Vote AGAINST shareholder proposals to limit the tenure of outside directors.

3. PROXY CONTESTS

VOTING FOR DIRECTOR NOMINEES IN CONTESTED ELECTIONS

Votes in a contested election of directors must be evaluated on a CASE-BY-CASE basis, considering the following factors:

- o Long-term financial performance of the target company relative to its industry;
- management's track record

- Background to the proxy contest
- Qualifications of director nominees (both slates)
- Evaluation of what each side is offering shareholders as well as the likelihood that the proposed objectives and goals can be met; and stock ownership positions.

REIMBURSING PROXY SOLICITATION EXPENSES

8. EXECUTIVE AND DIRECTOR COMPENSATION

Votes with respect to compensation plans should be determined on a CASE-BY-CASE basis. Our methodology for reviewing compensation plans primarily focuses on the transfer of shareholder wealth (the dollar cost of pay plans to shareholders instead of simply focusing on voting power dilution). Using the expanded compensation data disclosed under the SEC's rules, ISS will value every award type. ISS will include in its analyses an estimated dollar cost for the proposed plan and all continuing plans. This cost, dilution to shareholders' equity, will also be expressed as a percentage figure for the transfer of shareholder wealth, and will be considered long with dilution to voting power. Once ISS determines the estimated cost of the plan, we compare it to a company-specific dilution cap.

Our model determines a company-specific allowable pool of shareholder wealth that may be transferred from the company to executives, adjusted for:

- Long-term corporate performance (on an absolute basis and relative to a standard industry peer group and an appropriate market index),
- Cash compensation, and
- Categorization of the company as emerging, growth, or mature.

These adjustments are pegged to market capitalization. ISS will continue to examine other features of proposed pay plans such as administration, payment terms, plan duration, and whether the administering committee is permitted to reprice underwater stock options without shareholder approval.

Vote AGAINST proposals seeking a report on the health and environmental effects of GMOs and the company's strategy for phasing out GMOs in the event they become illegal in the United States. If made illegal in the United States, genetically modified crops would automatically be recalled and phased out.

DESCRIPTION OF COMPENSATION STRUCTURE

Analytic

Analytic's compensation structure for professional employees consists of an industry median base salary (based on independent industry information) and an annual discretionary bonus. Bonus amounts are determined using the following factors: the overall success of the firm in terms of profitability; the overall success of the department or team; and an individual's contribution to the team, based on goals established during the performance period. Compensation based on investment strategy performance is not tied to individual account performance, but rather each strategy as a whole. Strategy performance information is based on pre-tax calculations for the prior calendar year. No portfolio manager is directly compensated a portion of an advisory fee based on the performance of a specific account. Members of Analytic's senior management team and investment management professionals may also have a deferred component to their total compensation (with a three-year vesting period) that is invested in the firm's investment products to tie the interests of the individual to the interests of the firm and our clients. Portfolio managers' base salaries are typically reviewed on an annual basis determined by each portfolio manager's anniversary date of employment. Discretionary bonuses are determined annually, upon analysis of information from the prior calendar year.

Barrow Hanley

In addition to base salary, all Barrow Hanley portfolio managers and analysts share in a bonus pool that is distributed semi-annually. The amount of bonus compensation is based on quantitative and qualitative factors. Analysts and portfolio managers are rated on their value added to the team-oriented investment process. Compensation is not tied to a published or private benchmark. It is important to understand that contributions to the overall investment process may include not recommending securities in an analyst's sector if there are no compelling opportunities in the industries covered by that analyst.

In addition, many of our employees, including all portfolio managers and analysts, have equity ownership in the firm through "phantom stock" in Barrow Hanley, as well as participation in a long-term incentive plan with Old Mutual Asset Management (US). Also, all partners of the firm receive, on a quarterly basis, a share of the firm's profits, which are, to a great extent, related to the performance of the entire investment team.

CastleArk

The compensation package for CastleArk portfolio managers consists of three elements: a fixed base salary, an annual bonus, and the option to participate in a deferred compensation program. The firm may elect to pay the premiums for life insurance policies for portfolio managers who are principals of the firm.

- Base Salary. Portfolio managers are paid a fixed base salary which varies based upon investment management experience, level of responsibility and seniority. Portfolio managers who are principals of firm also automatically participate in the profits of firm.
- Annual Bonus. Portfolio managers who are not principals of the firm are eligible for bonus compensation. Bonus compensation is based upon the performance of the investment strategy for which the portfolio manager is responsible and the role the Portfolio manager plays in that performance, plus the value to the firm that the strategy the Portfolio manager has provided. Value to the firm is related to the assets under management that employ the portfolio manager's strategy as well as the part that success and the portfolio manager personally play in overall firm success. Portfolio managers who are eligible for bonus compensation are assessed annually at the end of the year. These assessments take the portfolio manager's cumulative performance into account for as many as five previous years. The assessments measure performance against relevant benchmarks and peer groups. Value to the firm can arise by growth in the assets under management that employ the portfolio manager's investment style and in other ways, including the role the portfolio manager personally plays in firm development and the like.
- Deferred Compensation. Portfolio managers who are eligible for bonus compensation may elect to receive deferred compensation in the form of a right to participate in future profits of the firm, either by taking a profits ownership interest in the firm, or by taking a revised salary structure. Such a revised salary structure would compensate the portfolio manager as if he were receiving profits, but would be in the form of salary rather than profits distributions.

Columbus Circle

Columbus Circle seeks to maintain a competitive compensation program based on investment management industry standards to attract and retain superior investment professionals. Compensation structure is comprised of the following:

- Base Salary. Each portfolio manager is paid a fixed base salary, which varies among portfolio managers depending on the experience and responsibilities of the portfolio manager. The firm's goal is to maintain competitive base salaries through an annual review process, which includes an analysis of industry standards, market conditions, and salary surveys.
- Bonus. Each portfolio manager is eligible to receive an annual bonus. Targeted bonus amounts vary among portfolio managers based on the experience level and responsibilities of the portfolio manager. Bonus compensation is based upon the performance of the investment strategy for which the portfolio manager is responsible and the role the portfolio manager plays in that performance, plus the value to the firm that the strategy the portfolio manager has provided. Value to the firm is related to the assets under management that employ the portfolio manager's strategy as well as the part that success and the portfolio manager personally play in overall firm success. Portfolio managers who are partners receive quarterly bonus compensation based upon overall revenue generated by the products for which they are responsible.

- Equity Payments. Portfolio managers who are partners of CCI receive quarterly distributions based upon their equity ownership share and firm profitability. We believe this structure allows us to retain highly qualified portfolio managers, as it provides the opportunity to share directly in the success of the business.

Each portfolio manager is eligible to participate in a competitive benefits package including health and retirement benefits (in the form of a 401(k) plan), which are available to all of Columbus Circle employees.

Copper Rock

Copper Rock is committed to retaining all members of its senior management team by offering a competitive salary, broad distribution of equity, and partnership bonuses.

- Base Salary. Each investment professional is paid a fixed base salary, which varies among investment professional depending on the experience and responsibilities of the portfolio manager as well as the market forces at the time the portfolio manager is hired or upon any renewal period.
- Bonus. Each investment professional is eligible to receive an annual bonus. Bonus amounts are principally tied to firm profitability and the individual's contribution to the team. Greater emphasis is placed on investment performance and a smaller portion of the bonus is based on qualitative factors, which may include marketing and client service activities.
- Equity Distribution. The majority of all investment professionals have a substantial equity stake in the firm.

Dwight

Dwight compensates investment professionals through a competitive base salary and an annual profit-sharing bonus, and certain key investment and senior management personnel are eligible to participate in a Long Term Incentive Program ("LTIP") that vests over a number of years. For investment professionals, total compensation is based on client retention and investment performance. Research analysts are compensated based on the quality of their recommendations.

Senior management and investment personnel receive a competitive base salary (50-80% of compensation) and participate in an annual profit-sharing bonus (20-50% of compensation). The portion of bonus based on investment performance is approximately 70%. Performance is measured based on the excess returns generated by individual sector portfolio management teams, and the research team is measured on its credit successes. The portion of bonus based on subjective criteria is approximately 30%.

Eagle

The compensation package for Eagle portfolio managers consists of three elements: a fixed base salary, an annual bonus, and the option to participate in a deferred compensation program. Portfolio managers receive benefits from Eagle's parent company, Raymond James Financial (RJF), including a 401(k) program, profit sharing and an Employee Stock Purchase Plan.

- Base Salary. Portfolio managers are paid a base salary that is competitive with other Portfolio managers in the industry, based on industry surveys.
- Revenue Sharing Program. Portfolio managers participate in a revenue-sharing program that provides incentives to build a successful investment program over the long-term. Each portfolio manager's revenue-sharing is based on the revenues earned in their specific investment program(s). A portion of Mr. McCalliser's and Ms. Thomas' annual revenue sharing bonus is paid in the form of restricted stock in RJF. This stock vests three years after its award.
- Non-qualified Stock Option Program. Portfolio managers participate in a non-qualified stock option program that vests at the end of the seventh year following the date of the grant, and a portion of the options vest based upon investment performance.
- Deferred Compensation Program. Mr. McCallister and Ms. Thomas receive additional compensation in the form of a deferred cash compensation arrangement with the firm.

Portfolio manager's compensation is based upon all accounts managed and performance is evaluated annually. Performance is evaluated on the entire composite of accounts and is pre-tax and account weighted.

Heitman

The portfolio managers are a part of the 19 senior employees of Heitman and Heitman LLC who hold a 50% equity interest in the business. The expansion of the firm's equity ownership group was done to accomplish two goals: to put in place incentives for peak client service and portfolio performance and to provide the basis for retention of key personnel. The total compensation of these partners is tied directly to the performance of the investments under their individual management and the degree to which client objectives have been met.

Compensation for the portfolio management team is aligned with the interests of Heitman's clients. Compensation comes in the form of salaries, set to market at least annually, and bonus compensation drawn from the profits of the enterprise. Bonuses for Heitman's publicly traded real estate securities investment professionals are determined according to the following criteria:

- Performance versus benchmark;
- Performance versus peer group managers;
- Stock selection ability; and
- Subjective review of performance.

These measures are evaluated over one and three year periods and the resulting bonuses have typically ranged from 0% to 150% of base salary. Heitman participates in several annual compensation surveys including, the McClagan, NAREIM and FPL surveys. Based on these studies, Heitman's compensation structure is competitive with the industry standard.

Liberty Ridge

Liberty Ridge seeks to maintain a compensation program that is competitive relative to investment management industry standards to attract and retain superior investment professionals. For each portfolio manager, Liberty Ridge's compensation structure includes the following components: base salary, annual bonus, annual cash payments relating to interests under a phantom equity plan, deferred profit sharing, and the ability to participate in a voluntary income deferral plan. Each of these components of compensation is described below.

- Base Salary. Each portfolio manager is paid a fixed base salary, which varies among portfolio managers depending on the experience and responsibilities of the portfolio manager as well as the market forces at the time the portfolio manager is hired or upon any renewal period.
- Bonus. Each portfolio manager is eligible to receive an annual bonus. Targeted bonus amounts vary among portfolio managers based on the experience level and responsibilities of the portfolio manager. Bonus amounts are principally tied to investment performance versus appropriate peer groups and benchmarks (with respect to the Portfolios, the Portfolios' primary benchmarks are used) and are based on pre-tax performance over varying periods. Greater emphasis is placed on returns for periods longer than one year and lesser emphasis on one-year returns, which serves to align the compensation of portfolio managers with longer-term positive investment performance. A smaller portion of the bonuses is based on qualitative factors, which may include marketing and client service activities.
- Phantom Equity Plan. Each portfolio manager is eligible to receive equity incentives in the form of "phantom equity." Phantom equity gives the portfolio managers the right (subject to certain terms and conditions) to participate in the future growth of Liberty Ridge, as if the portfolio managers were the owners of shares of Liberty Ridge's common stock. Phantom equity units vest over time, so as to create retention incentives.
- Deferred Profit Sharing. All employees are eligible to receive annual profit sharing contributions under a qualified profit sharing plan, subject to IRS limitations. Discretionary contributions are made on an annual basis at the sole discretion of the Adviser.
- Deferred Compensation Plan. Portfolio managers meeting certain requirements are also eligible to participate in a voluntary, nonqualified deferred compensation plan that allows participants to defer a portion of their income on a pre-tax basis and potentially earn tax-deferred returns.

Each portfolio manager is eligible to participate in benefit plans and programs available generally to all employees of Liberty Ridge.

Munder

The compensation package for the Munder portfolio managers consists of three elements: a fixed base salary, short-term incentives in the form of an annual bonus, and long-term incentives in the form of firm equity interests. The firm also provides a competitive benefits package including health and welfare benefits and retirement benefits in the form of a 401(k) plan.

- Base Salary. Munder offers industry competitive salaries based on the skills and experience of the portfolio manager as well as responsibilities of the position. Salaries are compared at least annually with investment industry benchmark compensation surveys.
- Annual Bonus. Portfolio managers are eligible to earn a performance bonus. Bonuses for portfolio managers are influenced by the profitability of the firm and performance of the aggregate group of accounts managed by the portfolio managers. Target bonuses for portfolio managers typically range from 50% to 100% of base salary. Actual bonuses are completely discretionary and can range from 0% to over 200% of base salary. In determining portfolio manager bonuses, the firm considers a variety of factors, including qualitative elements such as leadership, team interaction and results, client satisfaction, and overall contribution to the firm's success, as well as the profitability of the firm and the performance of the aggregate group of accounts managed by the portfolio manager. With respect to each account managed by the portfolio manager, performance is measured relative to that account's benchmark index for the most recent one-year and three-year periods.
- Equity Plan. Portfolio managers are also eligible for long-term incentives in the form of options to purchase shares of Munder Group LLC, an employee-owned minority partner of Munder Capital Management. Options shares typically vest ratably over a three-to-five year period. The firm's option plan provides incentive to retain key personnel and serves to align portfolio manager's interests with those of the firm directly, and, indirectly, the accounts managed by the firm.

TS&W

For each portfolio manager, TS&W's compensation structure includes the following components: base salary, annual bonus, deferred profit sharing and the ability to participate in a voluntary income deferral plan.

- Base Salary. Each portfolio manager is paid a fixed base salary, which varies among portfolio managers depending on the experience and responsibilities of the portfolio manager as well as the strength or weakness of the employment market at the time the portfolio manager is hired or upon any renewal period.
- Bonus. Each portfolio manager is eligible to receive an annual bonus. Targeted bonus amounts vary among portfolio managers based on the experience level and responsibilities of the portfolio manager. Bonus amounts are discretionary tied to overall performance versus individual objectives. Performance versus peer groups and benchmarks are taken into consideration. For capacity constrained products, like small cap value, the small cap portfolio manager has an incentive program tied to the revenue generated in that products area.
- Deferred Profit Sharing. All employees are eligible to receive annual profit sharing contributions under a qualified profit sharing plan, subject to IRS limitations. Discretionary contributions are made on an annual basis at the sole discretion of TS&W.
- Deferred Compensation Plan. Portfolio managers meeting certain requirements are also eligible to participate in a voluntary, nonqualified deferred compensation plan that allows participants to defer a portion of their income on a pre-tax basis and potentially earn tax-deferred returns.

Each portfolio manager is eligible to participate in benefit plans and programs available generally to all employees of TS&W.

Turner

Turner's investment professionals receive a base salary commensurate with their level of experience. Turner's goal is to maintain competitive base salaries through review of industry standards, market conditions, and salary surveys. Bonus compensation, which is a multiple of base salary, is based on the performance of each individual's sector and portfolio assignments relative to appropriate market benchmarks. In addition, each employee is eligible for equity ownership and equity owners share the firm's profits. Most of the members of the Investment Team and all Portfolio Managers for The Funds, are equity owners of Turner. This compensation and ownership structure provides incentive to attract and retain highly qualified people, as each member of the firm has the opportunity to share directly in the accomplishments of the business.

The objective performance criteria noted above accounts for 90% of the bonus calculation. The remaining 10% is based upon subjective, "good will" factors including teamwork, interpersonal relations, the individual's contribution to overall success of the firm, media and client relations, presentation skills, and professional development. Portfolio managers/analysts are reviewed on an annual basis. The Chief Investment Officer is responsible for setting base salaries, bonus targets, and making all subjective judgments related to an investment professionals' compensation. The CIO is also responsible for identifying investment professionals that should be considered for equity ownership on an annual basis.

OTHER MANAGED ACCOUNTS

Certain of the Funds' portfolio managers also manage other mutual funds for which the Sub-Adviser acts as adviser, other pooled investment vehicles that are not registered mutual funds, and other accounts managed for organizations and individuals. The following chart reflects accounts other than the Funds for which each portfolio manager has day-to-day management responsibilities as of March 31, 2006, unless otherwise indicated. Accounts are grouped into three categories: (i) mutual funds, (ii) other pooled investment vehicles, and (iii) other accounts. To the extent that any of these accounts pay advisory fees that are based on performance of the account ("performance-based fees"), that information is specifically identified.

CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Actual or apparent conflicts of interest may arise when a portfolio manager has responsibility for managing more than one Fund or other account. In managing the Funds, the portfolio managers may be presented with the following conflicts of interest:

- The management of multiple Funds and/or other accounts may result in a portfolio manager devoting unequal time and attention to the management of each Fund and/or other accounts. Certain Sub-Advisers seek to mitigate these conflicts by having portfolio managers focus on a distinct investment discipline and reviewing composite performance for dispersion in investment performance among accounts within the same composites.
- The management of an account that charges a performance based fee creates a conflict of interest because the portfolio manager may have greater incentive to allocate his or her best investment ideas, including Initial Public Offerings (IPOs), to such account. This is because performance-based fees give the Adviser the opportunity to substantially increase fees it earns as a result of account performance or profits, a portion of which profits are paid to the portfolio manager. Sub-Advisers may attempt to manage these types of conflicts through their trade allocation and IPO allocation policies and by monitoring the trade activity of portfolio managers who manage accounts that charge a performance based fee.
- Fund managers are permitted to purchase and sell securities for their own personal accounts or the personal accounts of family members (through a broker or otherwise), which could potentially influence the portfolio managers' decisions with respect to purchasing or selling the same securities for the Funds. To mitigate this potential conflict of interest. The Code of Ethics of certain Sub-Advisers require portfolio managers to pre-clear purchases and sales of securities that they beneficially own with an authorized compliance officer of the Sub-Adviser. The Code of Ethics of these Sub-Advisers may also require portfolio managers to regularly report to the Sub-Adviser the securities that the portfolio manager beneficially owns so that the Sub-Adviser's compliance staff can monitor the Funds' trade activities in those securities. If a portfolio manager identifies an investment opportunity that may be suitable for more than one Fund or other account, the Fund may not be able to take full advantage of that opportunity due to there being an insufficient number of securities available to fill the portfolio manager orders. Certain Sub-Advisers have instituted a trade allocation policy that attempts to treat all clients of the Sub-Adviser equitably in such an event.
- The Sub-Advisers have discretion to select brokers for the execution of trades for the Funds, subject to their duty to seek best execution. However, certain of the Sub-Adviser's clients may direct the Sub-Adviser to use certain brokers to execute transactions for that client's account. A conflict could result from the Sub-Adviser having to place separate, non-simultaneous transactions for a Fund and another account that could negatively affect the market price of the Fund security or the execution of the transaction.

Barrow Hanley

Actual or potential conflicts of interest may arise when a portfolio manager has management responsibilities to more than one account including mutual fund accounts. Barrow Hanley manages potential conflicts between funds or with other types of accounts through allocation policies and procedures, internal review processes and oversight by directors and independent third parties to ensure that no client, regardless of type or fee structure, is intentionally favored at the expense of another. Allocation policies are designed to address potential conflicts in situations where two or more funds or accounts participate in investment decisions involving the same securities. Barrow Hanley does not manage any private accounts.

CastleArk

CastleArk's trade and IPO allocation policies also attempt to manage performance based fee conflicts by monitoring the trade activity of portfolio managers who manage accounts that charge a performance based fee and by treating all trade orders equally, without regard to whether the account affected is one that may pay an incentive fee. In addition, if one of CastleArk's portfolio managers identifies an investment opportunity that may be suitable for more than one portfolio, it is possible that not all suitable portfolios would be able to take full advantage of that opportunity due to there being an insufficient number of securities available to fill the portfolio manager orders. CastleArk's trade allocation policy attempts to treat all clients of the Sub-Adviser equitably in such an event. CastleArk also informs its clients who choose to direct some of their brokerage that CastleArk's ability to obtain best execution for directed trades may be affected because directed trades may have to be executed after other trades by CastleArk in the same security.

Copper Rock

Copper Rock's investment personnel may be part of portfolio management teams serving numerous accounts for multiple clients of Copper Rock. These client accounts may include registered investment companies, other types of pooled accounts, and separate accounts (i.e., accounts managed on behalf of individuals or public or private institutions). Portfolio managers, research analysts and trading desk personnel (collectively, "portfolio management team") provide services for multiple clients simultaneously. A summary of certain potential conflicts of interest is provided below. Please note, however, that this summary is not intended to describe every possible conflict of interest that members of the portfolio management teams may face.

Copper Rock may receive differential compensation from different advisory clients and each advisory client may be more or less profitable to Copper Rock than other advisory clients (e.g. clients also may demand different levels of service or have larger, smaller or multiple relationships with Copper Rock). Portfolio management team personnel also may make personal investments in accounts they manage or support.

Copper Rock's portfolio management team may not be able to acquire enough of a certain security to fill all the orders across all the client portfolios. Copper Rock has a written procedure that requires the available shares to be distributed on a pro-rata basis across the appropriate portfolios.

Eagle

When a portfolio manager has responsibility for managing more than one account, potential conflicts of interest may arise. Those conflicts could include preferential treatment of one account over others in terms of allocation of resources or of investment opportunities. Eagle has adopted policies and procedures designed to address these potential material conflicts. For instance, portfolio managers within Eagle are normally responsible for all accounts within a certain investment discipline, and do not, absent special circumstances, differentiate among the various accounts when allocating resources. Additionally, Eagle and its advisory affiliates utilize a system for allocating investment opportunities among portfolios that is designed to provide a fair and equitable allocation.

The officers and employees of Eagle and accounts in which affiliated persons have an investment interest, may at times buy or sell and have positions in securities which may be those recommended for purchase or sale to investment advisory clients. In addition, Eagle and its related persons may also give advice and take action in the performance of their duties to clients, which may differ from, or be similar to the advice given, or the timing and nature of action taken, with respect to their own accounts. Eagle may combine transaction orders placed on behalf of clients, including accounts in which affiliated persons of Eagle have an investment interest. Eagle seeks to ensure that the firm and its employees do not personally benefit from the short-term market effects of recommendations to or actions for clients through personal securities policies and procedures under our firm Code of Ethics.

Eagle compensates its portfolio managers based primarily on the scale and complexity of their portfolio responsibilities and the performance of managed funds and accounts. Each portfolio manager is evaluated based on the composite performance of funds and accounts in each product for which the individual serves on the portfolio management team. This evaluation may afford differing weights to specific funds, accounts or products based on a portfolio manager's contribution or responsibility to the team. This weighting process is based on the overall size of a given fund or investment product and portfolio manager responsibility and/or contribution and may provide incentive for a portfolio manager to favor another account over the fund. Eagle has established procedures to mitigate this conflict including review of performance dispersion across all firm managed accounts, policies to monitor trading and best execution for all managed accounts and funds and annual review of the compensation weighting process by senior management to ensure incentives are properly aligned for the benefit of all Eagle clients and accounts.

Munder

Munder Capital Management's ("Munder") personnel may be part of portfolio management teams serving numerous accounts for multiple clients of Munder and of its subsidiary Pierce Street Advisors, LLC ("Pierce Street"). These client accounts may include registered investment companies, other types of pooled accounts (e.g., hedge funds, private funds or collective investment funds), and separate accounts (i.e., accounts managed on behalf of individuals or public or private institutions). Portfolio managers, research analysts and trading desk personnel (collectively, "portfolio management teams") may provide services for clients of both Munder and Pierce Street simultaneously. A summary of certain potential conflicts of interest is provided below. Please note, however, that this summary is not intended to describe every possible conflict of interest that members of the portfolio management teams may face.

Munder and/or Pierce Street may receive differential compensation from different advisory clients (e.g., some clients, such as hedge funds, may pay higher management fees than are paid by other advisory clients and/or incentive compensation based on the investment performance of the clients) and each advisory client may be more or less profitable to Munder or Pierce Street than other advisory clients (e.g. clients also may demand different levels of service or have larger, smaller or multiple relationships with Munder and/or its affiliates). Munder and Pierce Street may compensate portfolio management team personnel differently depending on the nature of the a client's account (e.g., personnel participating in the portfolio management process for hedge funds and other incentive fee accounts may receive compensation that reflects, at least in part, the revenues generated by, including the incentive fees paid by, those funds and other accounts to reward superior performance). Portfolio management team personnel also may make personal investments in accounts (including hedge funds) they manage or support.

If other advisory clients utilize a management fee structure that could result in higher fees or are otherwise possibly more profitable relationships for Munder and/or Pierce Street than the Fund, or if the management of such clients could result in potentially higher compensation to the portfolio management team members ("Advisor Compensatory Accounts"), or if the portfolio management teams makes personal investments in certain client accounts (such as hedge funds), the portfolio management team members may have the incentive to direct a disproportionate amount of: (i) their attention: (ii) limited investment opportunities, such as less liquid securities or initial public offerings; and/or (iii) desirable trade allocations, to such accounts. The portfolio manager also may have an incentive to trade Adviser Compensatory Accounts or personal investments before (i.e., front run) or after the Fund in order to seek to take advantage of the potential upward or downward pressure on the market price of certain investments resulting from the Fund's trading activity. In addition, if the portfolio management team engages in short sales of securities for Adviser Compensatory Accounts or personal investments that are contemporaneously owned by other client accounts, the portfolio management team's use of short sales may be harmful to the performance of other clients that own that security.

Munder is a majority-owned subsidiary of Comerica Incorporated. Comerica is engaged through its subsidiaries in a wide variety of banking, insurance, broker-dealer, asset management, and other activities. Comerica and its subsidiaries therefore have business relationships with or may be in competition with many issuers of securities. If a portfolio management team knows of these relationships or thinks that they may exist, the team members may have an incentive to purchase or sell these securities, vote securities held or otherwise manage client accounts in a manner designed to benefit Comerica.

Even if there is no financial or other advantage to members of the portfolio management team, Munder or Comerica, portfolio management teams managing assets for multiple clients must make decisions that could be deemed to benefit some clients more than others, or benefit some clients to the detriment of others. For example, a portfolio management team managing assets using different investment strategies will need to allocate limited resources, such as their attention, investment opportunities and/or desirable trade allocations, among clients with different or competing interests. In addition, a portfolio manager may be in a position to make an investment that is appropriate for one client, but not appropriate for or against the interests of another client. For example, certain clients may seek more speculative investments that would not be appropriate for some other clients.

Although Munder does not track the time or attention each portfolio manager devotes to his or her advisory accounts, Munder does monitor the performance of all client accounts and periodically assesses whether each portfolio manager has adequate resources to effectively manage all of the accounts for which he or she is responsible.

Munder and Pierce Street have adopted and implemented numerous compliance policies and procedures, including Codes of Ethics and brokerage and trade allocation policies and procedures, which seek to address the conflicts associated with managing multiple accounts for multiple clients. Munder also has established an Investment Conflicts Committee to oversee potential issues relating to conflicts of interest that Munder, Pierce Street and the portfolio management teams may face. In addition, Munder and Pierce Street each have a designated Chief Compliance Officer (selected in accordance with the federal securities laws) as well as dedicated compliance staff whose activities are focused on monitoring the compliance policies and procedures of Munder and Pierce Street in order to detect and address potential and actual conflicts of interest. Furthermore, senior personnel of Munder periodically review the performance of all portfolio managers. However, there can be no assurance that the Investment Conflicts Committee and the compliance programs of Munder or Pierce Street will achieve their intended result.

Turner

As is typical for many money managers, potential conflicts of interest may arise related to Turner's management of accounts including the Fund where not all accounts are able to participate in a desired IPO, or other limited opportunity, relating to use of soft dollars and other brokerage practices, related to the voting of proxies, employee personal securities trading, and relating to a variety of other circumstances. In all cases, however, Turner believes it has written policies and procedures in place reasonably designed to prevent violations of the federal securities laws and to prevent material conflicts of interest from arising.

Please also see Turner's Form ADV, Part II for a description of some of its policies and procedures in this regard.

TS&W

Mr. Reichel manages the TS&W Microcap Value Fund, LLC, in addition to being the lead portfolio manager for the small cap value product. In that capacity a possible conflict could occur when allocating investment opportunities between micro cap and small cap ideas as there is some overlap in the market capitalization of the two products. The two products are prohibited from owning the same security.
