The Aristotle Corporation Announces 2003 Second Quarter Results

Stamford, CT, August 1, 2003 - The Aristotle Corporation (NASDAQ: ARTL; ARTLP) announced today its results of operations for the second quarter of 2003. For financial reporting purposes, the merger of Nasco International, Inc. into The Aristotle Corporation ("Aristotle") on June 17, 2002 was accounted for as a reverse merger. As a result, the historical financial information for the periods up to June 17, 2002 is that of Nasco, and for the periods after June 17, 2002 is that of Aristotle.

For the three months ended June 30, 2003, net revenue was $43.0 million versus $43.3 million in the second quarter of 2002, while gross profit margins improved to 37.8% from 35.4%. Earnings before income taxes and extraordinary gain increased to $5.5 million from $4.8 million, and earnings before extraordinary gain increased to $3.3 million, compared to $2.8 million in the same quarter last year. Net income applicable to common shareholders in the second quarter of 2003 was $1.2 million or $.07 per common share, which includes the accretion of $2.2 million of preferred dividends on the Series I and Series J preferred stocks issued on June 17, 2002, $1.4 million of expense related to the non-cash provision for Federal income taxes and $0.2 million related to the non-cash provision for stock option expense. For the 2002 second quarter, net income applicable to common shareholders was $22.8 million, or $1.49 per common share; in that quarter, $0.3 million in preferred dividends had accreted because preferred shares were issued on June 17, 2002, the tax provision included $0.3 million related to the non-cash provision for Federal income taxes, and less than $0.1 million related to the non-cash provision for stock option expense. In the 2002 period, an extraordinary gain of $20.2 million ($1.33 per share) was also recorded, which primarily resulted from the recognition through purchase accounting of $30.7 million of tax benefits, partially offset by the elimination of Aristotle's pre-merger goodwill and long-term assets of $8.3 million.

For the six months ended June 30, 2003, net revenue was $78.4 million versus $77.8 million in the first six months of 2002. Gross profit margins improved to 37.6% from 35.4% in the prior year. Earnings before income taxes and extraordinary gain increased to $8.7 million from $7.1 million, and earnings before extraordinary gain increased to $5.3 million, compared to $4.3 million in the same year-to-date period last year. Net income applicable to common shareholders in the first six months of 2003 was $1.0 million or $.06 per common share, which includes the accretion of $4.3 million of preferred dividends on the Series I and Series J preferred stocks issued on June 17, 2002, $2.4 million of expense related to the non-cash provision for Federal income taxes and $0.3 million related to the non-cash provision for stock option expense. For the 2002 first six-month period, net income applicable to common shareholders was $24.2 million, or $1.60 per common share; in that period, $0.3 million in preferred dividends had accreted because preferred shares were issued on June 17, 2002, the tax provision included $0.3 million related to the non-cash provision for Federal income taxes, and less than $0.1 million related to the non-cash provision for stock option expense. The 2002 period also included the $20.2 million ($1.34 per share) extraordinary gain referred to above.

“While second quarter revenues experienced the continuing influence of state budget deficits in its educational segment, and difficult national and international economic conditions in its commercial segment, your Company has improved its gross profit margin by 240 basis points through creative product development, comprehensive product selections and effective purchasing practices,” noted Steven B. Lapin, Aristotle’s President and Chief Operating Officer. “Positively impacted by diligent and appropriate operating cost controls, earnings before the extraordinary gain improved 18% compared to last year’s second quarter. 2003’s second quarter earnings were aided by the full-period impact of Simulaids versus last year and the successful fulfillment by our Spectrum group of a significant tender from Ontario, Canada, offset, however, by an extraordinary increase in employee health insurance costs funded by your Company, and expected seasonal losses at Haan Crafts which was acquired at the end of May 2003. Although the state, national and international economic environment has yet to stabilize, management’s commitments to high quality products, responsive customer service and maximum operating efficiencies remain firm.”

“Cash flow from operations improved $1.8 million in the first six months of 2003 compared to the same period last year,” stated Dean T. Johnson, Aristotle’s Chief Financial Officer. “The improvement in cash flow from operations is attributable primarily to the growth in earnings from operations and the utilization of Federal net operating tax loss carryforwards. Aristotle’s June 30, 2003 balance sheet reflects Federal net operating tax loss carryforwards as a $25.2 million element of the $26.6 million deferred tax asset.”
