ITEM 5. OTHER EVENTS

On November 25, 2003 the company issued a press release announcing several organizational changes including appointment of Directors and Officers and a corporate name change.

The Company's name has changed from Quad Metals Corporation to DataJungle Software Inc. and its stock is quoted on the OTC BB under the stock symbol "DJSW."

Along with this name change, the company announced the appointment of Directors and Officers. Edward Munden assumes the role of Chairman of the Board and becomes President and CEO. Denes Bartakovich, co-founder of DataJungle, is appointed a member of the Board and Executive Vice President of Products and Marketing. Don Carter is appointed as a member of the Board and Vice President of Data Vendor Sales.

Joining the Board are two outside directors: Thomas Parkinson, Senior Vice President and Chief Technology Officer of on-line grocery pioneer Peapod; and Robert Lendvai, Vice President of Marketing and Communications for manufacturing intelligence software maker EMT Inc.

Other appointments to the management team include: Robert Poole (co-founder) becomes Vice President of Strategic Alliances and Business Development; Larry Bruce becomes Vice President of Finance; and Faustino Sanchez becomes Vice President of Sales.

DataJungle is a software company that develops and markets Web-based enterprise-class business intelligence software solutions that translate business data into interactive tables, charts and maps. These solutions can be deployed on a standalone basis or as extensions to the products of leading vendors such as Cognos. The Company has four major commercially available product lines: Matrix -- a "dashboard" application that allows users to define multiple views of key business metrics; Annotator-an application that provides collaboration and annotation capabilities to Cognos PowerPlay (the world's most widely deployed business intelligence software); Reporter -- a toolset of software reporting modules that can be assembled to the specific requirements of the customer; and AMMO-an application developed specifically to meet market analysis needs in the automotive sector.
