Notwithstanding anything contained in the accompanying prospectus supplement or product supplement to the contrary, the notes will be issued under the senior indenture dated March 31, 2009, between HSBC USA Inc., as Issuer, and Wells Fargo Bank, National Association, as trustee. Such indenture will have substantially the same terms as the indenture described in the accompanying prospectus supplement and product supplement. Selected Purchase Considerations

- APPRECIATION POTENTIAL — The notes provide the opportunity to participate in the appreciation of the reference asset at maturity. If a knock-out event has not occurred, in addition to the principal amount, you will receive at maturity at least the contingent minimum return of 0.00% on the notes, or a minimum payment at maturity of $1,000 for every $1,000 principal amount note. Even if a knock-out event has occurred, if the final level is greater than the initial level, in addition to the principal amount, you will receive at maturity a return on the notes equal to the reference return. Because the notes are our senior unsecured obligations, payment of any amount at maturity is subject to our ability to pay our obligations as they become due.
- LIMITED PROTECTION AGAINST LOSS — If a knock-out event has occurred, you will lose 1.00% of the principal amount for every 1.00% decline of the level of the reference asset during the observation period. If a knock-out event has occurred and the reference return is -100.00%, you will lose your entire investment.
- DIVERSIFICATION OF THE HANG SENG CHINA ENTERPRISES INDEX® — The return on the notes is linked to the Hang Seng China Enterprises Index®. For additional information about the reference asset, see the information set forth under “Description of the Reference Asset” herein.
- TAX TREATMENT — There is no direct legal authority as to the proper tax treatment of the notes, and therefore significant aspects of the tax treatment of the notes are uncertain, as to both the timing and character of any inclusion in income in respect of the notes. Under one approach, the notes should be treated as executory contracts with respect to the reference asset. We intend to treat the notes consistent with this approach. Pursuant to the terms of the notes, you agree to treat the notes under this approach for all U.S. federal income tax purposes. Notwithstanding any disclosure in the accompanying product supplement to the contrary, our special U.S. tax counsel in this transaction is Sidley Austin LLP. Subject to the limitations described therein, and based on certain factual representations received from us, in the opinion of our special U.S. tax counsel, Sidley Austin LLP, it is reasonable to treat the notes as executory contracts with respect to the reference asset. Pursuant to this approach, we do not intend to report any income or gain with respect to the notes prior to their maturity or an earlier sale or exchange and we intend to treat any gain or loss upon maturity or an earlier sale or exchange as long-term capital gain or loss, provided that you have held the note for more than one year at such time for U.S. federal income tax purposes.

We will not attempt to ascertain whether any of the entities whose stock is included in the reference asset would be treated as a passive foreign investment company ("PFIC") for U.S. federal income tax purposes. If one or more of the entities whose stock is included in the reference asset were so treated, certain adverse U.S. federal income tax consequences might apply. You should refer to information filed with the SEC and other authorities by the entities whose stock is included in the reference asset and consult your tax advisor regarding the possible consequences to you if one or more of the entities whose stock is included in the reference asset is or becomes a PFIC.

For a further discussion of U.S. federal income tax consequences related to the notes, see the section "Certain U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations" in the accompanying product supplement.

Selected Risk Considerations

An investment in the notes involves significant risks. Investing in the notes is not equivalent to investing directly in the reference asset or any of the component securities of the reference asset. These risks are explained in more detail in the "Risk Factors" sections of the accompanying product supplement and prospectus supplement.

- SUITABILITY OF NOTES FOR INVESTMENT — A person should reach a decision to invest in the notes after carefully considering, with his or her advisors, the suitability of the notes in light of his or her investment objectives and the information set out in this pricing supplement. Neither the Issuer nor any dealer participating in the offering makes any recommendation as to the suitability of the notes for investment.
- YOUR INVESTMENT IN THE NOTES MAY RESULT IN A LOSS — The notes do not guarantee any return of principal. The return on the notes at maturity is linked to the performance of the reference asset and will depend on whether a knock-out event has occurred and whether, and the extent to which, the reference return is positive or negative. If the official closing level has declined, as compared to the initial level, by more than the knock-out buffer amount of 30.00% at any time during the observation period, a knock-out event has occurred, and the protection provided by the knock-out buffer amount will terminate. IF A KNOCK-OUT EVENT OCCURS, YOU MAY LOSE UP TO 100.00% OF YOUR INVESTMENT.
- CREDIT RISK OF HSBC USA INC. — The notes are senior unsecured debt obligations of the issuer, HSBC, and are not, either directly or indirectly, an obligation of any third party. Any payment to be made on the notes, including any principal protection at maturity, depends on the ability of HSBC to satisfy its obligations as they come due. As a result, the actual and perceived creditworthiness of HSBC may affect the market value of the notes and, in the event HSBC were to default on its obligations, you may not receive the amounts owed to you under the terms of the notes.
- YOUR PROTECTION MAY TERMINATE AT ANY TIME DURING THE TERM OF THE NOTES — If the official closing level at any time during the observation period declines from the initial level by more than the knock-out buffer amount of 30.00%, you will at maturity be fully exposed to any decline in the level of the reference asset. We refer to this feature as a contingent buffer. Under these circumstances, if the final level is less than the initial level, you will lose 1.00% of the principal amount of your investment for every 1.00% decrease in the final level as compared to the initial level. You will be subject to this potential loss of principal even if the level of reference asset subsequently increases such that the official closing level is less than the initial level by not more than the knock-out buffer amount of 30.00%, or is equal to or greater than the initial level. As a result, you may lose some or all of your investment. Your return on the notes may not reflect the return you would receive on a conventional fixed or floating rate debt instrument with a comparable term to maturity issued by HSBC or any other issuer with a similar credit rating.
- YOUR ABILITY TO RECEIVE THE CONTINGENT MINIMUM RETURN MAY TERMINATE AT ANY TIME DURING THE TERM OF THE NOTES — If the official closing level at any time during the observation period declines from the initial level by more than the knock-out buffer amount of 30.00%, you will not be entitled to receive the protection provided by the contingent minimum return on the notes. Under these circumstances, you may lose some or all of your investment at maturity and will be fully exposed to any decline in the level of the reference asset.

- CERTAIN BUILT-IN COSTS ARE LIKELY TO ADVERSELY AFFECT THE VALUE OF THE NOTES PRIOR TO MATURITY — While the payment at maturity described in this pricing supplement is based on the full principal amount of your notes, the original issue price of the notes includes the placement agent's commission and the estimated cost of hedging our obligations under the notes through one or more of our affiliates. As a result, the price, if any, at which HSBC Securities (USA) Inc. will be willing to purchase notes from you in secondary market transactions, if at all, will likely be lower than the original issue price, and any sale of notes by you prior to the maturity date could result in a substantial loss to you. The notes are not designed to be short-term trading instruments. Accordingly, you should be able and willing to hold your notes to maturity.
- NO INTEREST OR DIVIDEND PAYMENTS OR VOTING RIGHTS — As a holder of the notes, you will not receive interest payments, and you will not have voting rights or rights to receive cash dividends or other distributions or other rights that holders of securities composing the reference asset would have.
- LACK OF LIQUIDITY — The notes will not be listed on any securities exchange. HSBC Securities (USA) Inc. intends to offer to purchase the notes in the secondary market but is not required to do so and may cease making such offers at any time. Because other dealers are not likely to make a secondary market for the notes, the price at which you may be able to trade your notes is likely to depend on the price, if any, at which HSBC Securities (USA) Inc. is willing to buy the notes. Even if there is a secondary market, it may not provide enough liquidity to allow you to trade or sell the notes easily.
- POTENTIAL CONFLICTS — We and our affiliates play a variety of roles in connection with the issuance of the notes, including acting as calculation agent and hedging our obligations under the notes. In performing these duties, the economic interests of the calculation agent and other affiliates of ours are potentially adverse to your interests as an investor in the notes. We will not have any obligation to consider your interests as a holder of the notes in taking any corporate action that might affect the level of the reference asset and the value of the notes.
- THE NOTES ARE NOT INSURED BY ANY GOVERNMENTAL AGENCY OF THE UNITED STATES OR ANY OTHER JURISDICTION — The notes are not deposit liabilities or other obligations of a bank and are not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other governmental agency or program of the United States or any other jurisdiction. An investment in the notes is subject to the credit risk of the Issuer, and in the event that the Issuer is unable to pay its obligations as they become due, you may not receive the full payment at maturity of the notes. This debt is not guaranteed under the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation's Temporary Liquidity Guarantee Program.
- MANY ECONOMIC AND MARKET FACTORS WILL IMPACT THE VALUE OF THE NOTES — In addition to the level of the reference asset on any day, the value of the notes will be affected by a number of economic and market factors that may either offset or magnify each other, including:
 - the expected volatility of the reference asset;
 - the time to maturity of the notes;
 - whether a knock-out event has occurred;
 - the dividend rate on the equity securities underlying the reference asset;
 - interest and yield rates in the market generally;
 - a variety of economic, financial, political, regulatory or judicial events; and
 - our creditworthiness, including actual or anticipated downgrades in our credit ratings.

What Is the Total Return on the Notes at Maturity Assuming a Range of Performance for the Reference Asset?

The following table and graph illustrate the hypothetical total return at maturity on the notes. The “total return” as used in this pricing supplement is the number, expressed as a percentage, that results from comparing the payment at maturity per $1,000 principal amount note to $1,000. The hypothetical total returns set forth below reflect the initial level of 11,612.18, the knock-out buffer amount of 30.00% and the contingent minimum return on the notes of 0.00%. The hypothetical total returns set forth below are for illustrative purposes only and may not be the actual total returns applicable to a purchaser of the notes. The numbers appearing in the following table and examples have been rounded for ease of analysis.

Hypothetical Examples of Amounts Payable at Maturity

The following examples illustrate how the total returns set forth in the table above are calculated.

Example 1: A knock-out event has not occurred, and the level of the reference asset decreases from the initial level of 11,612.18 to a final level of 9,870.35. Because a knock-out event has not occurred and the reference return of -15.00% is less than the contingent minimum return of 0.00%, the investor benefits from the contingent minimum return and receives a payment at maturity of $1,000 per $1,000 principal amount note.

Example 2: A knock-out event has not occurred, and the level of the reference asset increases from the initial level of 11,612.18 to a final level of 12,773.40. Because a knock-out event has not occurred the reference return of 10.00% is greater than the contingent minimum return of 0.00%, the investor receives a payment at maturity of $1,100 per $1,000 principal amount note, calculated as follows:

$$$1,000 + ($1,000 \times 10.00\%) = $1,100$$

Example 3: A knock-out event has occurred, and the level of the reference asset decreases from the initial level of 11,612.18 to a final level of 10,450.96. Because a knock-out event has occurred, and the reference return is -10.00%, the investor is exposed to the performance of the reference asset and receives a payment at maturity of $900 per $1,000 principal amount note, calculated as follows:

$$$1,000 + ($1,000 \times -10.00\%) = $900$$

Example 4: A knock-out event has occurred, and the level of the reference asset increases from the initial level of 11,612.18 to a final level of 13,354.01. Because a knock-out event has occurred and the reference return is 15.00%, the investor receives a payment at maturity of $1,150 per $1,000 principal amount note, calculated as follows:

$$$1,000 + ($1,000 \times 15.00\%) = $1,150$$

The Hang Seng China Enterprises Index[®]

HSI Services Limited publishes the index.

The index is compiled, published and managed by HSI Services Limited and was first calculated and published on August 8, 1994. The index was launched as a market-capitalization weighted index, consisting of all the Hong Kong listed H-shares of Chinese enterprises one year after the first H share company was listed on the Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Ltd. H-shares are Hong Kong listed shares, traded in Hong Kong dollars, of Chinese state-owned enterprises. With the launch of the 200-stock Hang Seng Composite Index (“HSCI”) on October 3, 2001, the index became part of the Hang Seng Composite Index Series (the “HSCI Series”). Since then, constituents of the index comprise only the largest H-share companies which are included in the 200-stock HSCI. The index had a base index of 1,000 at launch, but on October 3, 2001 with the launch of the HSCI Series, the index was rebased with a value of 2,000 at January 3, 2000 to align with the HSCI Series. The index is reviewed semi-annually together with the HSCI Series. H-Share companies joining or leaving the HSCI are automatically included or excluded from the index.

To be included in the HSCI and be eligible for inclusion in the index, a stock must have a primary listing on the main board of the Stock Exchange of Hong Kong and the issuer must not have a secondary listing in Hong Kong, stocks listed on the Growth Enterprises Market, or preference shares, debt securities, or other derivatives. A stock is removed from the HSCI if (a) it had more than 20 trading days without turnover over the past 12 months, excluding days when the stock is suspended from trading, or (b) if the stock’s 12-month average market capitalization ranks fall to the 240th position or below. Stocks with less than one year listing history will be counted on a pro-rata basis. A stock is added to HSCI if (a) it has had less than 20 trading days without turnover over the past 12 months, excluding days when the stock is suspended from trading, and (b) the stock’s 12-month average market capitalization ranks rises to the 160th position or better. The number of constituent stocks in the HSCI is fixed at 200, so the next highest ranking stock will be added or the next lowest ranking constituents will be removed if the numbers of stocks that leave and join the HSCI are not the same.

The calculation methodology of the index changed on March 6, 2006 to a free float-adjusted market capitalization methodology. This free float adjustment aims to exclude from the index calculation long-term core shareholdings that are not readily available for trading. A free float-adjusted factor, which represents the proportion of shares that are free-floating as a percentage of issued shares, is now used to adjust the number of shares for index calculation. A 15% cap on individual stock weights is also applied to assure no one stock dominates the index.

Calculation of the Index

As of March 6, 2006 the index uses a freefloat-adjusted market capitalization weighting calculation methodology. Under this calculation methodology, the following shareholdings are viewed as strategic in nature and excluded for calculation:

- (1) shares held by strategic shareholders who individually or collectively control more than 30% of the shareholdings;
- (2) shares held by directors who individually control more than 5% of the shareholdings;

(3) shares held by a Hong Kong-listed company which controls more than 5% of the shareholdings as investments; and

(4) shares held by shareholders who individually or collectively represent more than 5% of the shareholdings in the company and with a publicly disclosed lock-up arrangement.

A Freefloat – Adjusted Factor (“FAF”), representing the proportion of shares that are free floated as a percentage of the issued shares, is rounded up to the nearest multiple of 5% for the calculation of the index.

A Cap Factor (“CF”) of 15% is calculated in each regular half-yearly constituent implementation, such that no constituent has a weighting exceeding 15%.

The index is calculated using the following formula:

Where P_t is the current price at day t , P_{t-1} is the closing price at day $(t-1)$, IS is the issued H-shares, FAF is the free float adjusted factor, and CF is the Cap Factor. The FAF , which is adjusted every six months, represents the proportion of shares that are free floated as a percentage of the issued H-shares. The FAF is between 0 and 1 and is rounded up to the nearest multiple of 5% for index calculation. The CF is also adjusted every six months and is calculated so that no constituent stock has a weighting that exceeds 15%.
