Summary

The Coupon-Bearing Notes Linked to the Common Stock of Apple Inc., due April 1, 2013 (the “notes”), are senior unsecured debt securities issued by HSBC USA Inc. (“HSBC”) and are not, either directly or indirectly, an obligation of any third party. The notes offered hereunder are not deposit liabilities or other obligations of a bank and are not guaranteed or insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other governmental agency of the United States or any other jurisdiction and include investment risks including possible loss of amounts invested due to the credit risk of HSBC USA Inc. The notes will rank equally with all our other senior unsecured debt obligations. Any payment to be made on the notes, including any interest payments or any repayment of principal, depends on the credit risk of HSBC and its ability to satisfy its obligations as they come due. The notes provide quarterly interest payments and, if the Ending Value of the Underlying Stock is at or above the Threshold Value, you will receive on the maturity date the Original Offering Price per unit. If the Ending Value of the Underlying Stock is less than the Threshold Value, the amount you will receive on the maturity date (the “Redemption Amount”) will be less than the Original Offering Price per unit and will be based on the percentage decrease in the price of the Underlying Stock from the Starting Value to the Ending Value below the Threshold Value. Investors must be willing to forgo participation in possible increases in the price of the Underlying Stock and accept a Redemption Amount at maturity that is limited to the Original Offering Price of the notes. Investors must also be willing to accept a Redemption Amount that is less, and potentially significantly less, than the Original Offering Price if the Ending Value is less than the Threshold Value.

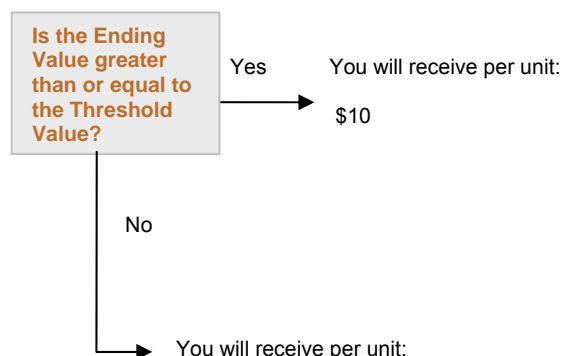

Capitalized terms used but not defined in this term sheet have the meanings set forth in the product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1. Unless otherwise indicated or unless the context requires otherwise, all references in this document to “we,” “us,” “our,” or similar references are to HSBC.

Terms of the Notes

Issuer:	HSBC USA Inc (“HSBC”)
Original Offering Price:	$10 per unit
Term:	Approximately one year and one week
Underlying Stock:	The common stock of Apple Inc. (the “Underlying Company”) (NASDAQ symbol: AAPL)
Starting Value:	584.53 (the Volume Weighted Average Price on the pricing date)
Volume Weighted Average Price:	The volume weighted average price (rounded to two decimal places) shown on page “AQR” on Bloomberg L.P. for trading in shares of the Underlying Stock taking place from approximately 9:30 a.m. to 4:05 p.m. on all U.S. exchanges.
Ending Value:	The Closing Market Price of the Underlying Stock on the Valuation Date, multiplied by the Price Multiplier
Valuation Date:	March 22, 2013, subject to postponement as described on page S-18 of product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1 if it is determined that the scheduled valuation date is not a trading day or if a Market Disruption Event occurs on the scheduled valuation date.
Interest:	The notes will bear interest at the rate of 7% of the Original Offering Price per year. We will pay interest on the notes quarterly in cash in arrears on July 2, 2012, October 1, 2012, January 2, 2013 and the Maturity Date. Interest will be computed on the basis of a 360-day year of twelve 30-day months.

Price Multiplier:	1, subject to adjustment for certain corporate events relating to the Underlying Stock described beginning on page S-21 of product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1.

Redemption Amount Determination

In addition to interest payable, on the maturity date, you will receive the Redemption Amount, a payment per unit calculated as follows:

In this case, you will receive a payment that is less, and possibly significantly less, than the Original Offering Price per unit.

Hypothetical Payments at Maturity

Set forth below are three hypothetical examples of payment calculations related to the notes. These examples have been prepared for purposes of illustration only. Your actual return will depend on the actual Starting Value, Threshold Value, Ending Value and term of your investment. These examples are based on:

- 1) a Starting Value of 100.00;
- 2) a Threshold Value of 92.40 (equal to 92.40% of the Starting Value);
- 3) the term of the notes of from March 21, 2012 to April 1, 2013; and
- 4) interest payable quarterly in arrears at the rate of 7% of the Original Offering Price per unit per year (in each case, with the final interest payment on the notes being made on the Maturity Date).

The hypothetical Starting Value of 100.00 used in these examples has been chosen for illustrative purposes only. The actual Starting Value is 584.53, which was the volume weighted average price of the Underlying Stock on the pricing date. For recent actual prices of the Underlying Stock, see the section "The Underlying Stock" beginning on page TS-6.

Example 1

The Ending Value is 115.00 (115% of the Starting Value)

The Ending Value of the Underlying Stock is greater than the Starting Value. Consequently, you will receive the Redemption Amount per unit on the maturity date, which will be equal to $10.00. You will receive the quarterly interest payments, but you will not participate in the increase in the value of the Underlying Stock.

Example 2

The Ending Value is 98.00 (98% of the Starting Value)

The Ending Value of the Underlying Stock is less than the Starting Value but greater than the Threshold Value. Consequently, you will receive the quarterly interest payments. The Redemption Amount per unit on the maturity date will be equal to $10.00.

Example 3

The Ending Value is 80.00 (80% of the Starting Value)

The Ending Value of the Underlying Stock is less than the Threshold Value. You will receive the quarterly interest payments. However, you will have downside exposure on a 1-for-1 basis to the percentage decrease of the Underlying Stock below the Threshold Value. The Redemption Amount per unit will equal:

$$$10 - \left[$10 \times \left(\frac{92.40 - 80.00}{100.00} \right) \right] = $8.76$$

On the maturity date, you will receive the Redemption Amount per unit of $8.76.

Summary of the Hypothetical Examples	Example 1	Example 2	Example 3
	The Ending Value is greater than or equal to the Starting Value and the Threshold Value	The Ending Value is less than the Starting Value and greater than or equal to the Threshold Value	The Ending Value is less than the Threshold Value
Starting Value	100.00	100.00	100.00
Ending Value	115.00	98.00	80.00
Threshold Value	92.40	92.40	92.40
Interest Rate (per annum)	7.00%	7.00%	7.00%
Redemption Amount per Unit	10.00	10.00	8.76
Total Return of the Underlying Stock ⁽¹⁾	15.00%	-2.00%	-20.00%
Total Return on the Notes ⁽²⁾	7.19%	7.19%	-5.21%

- (a) a percentage change in the price of the Underlying Stock that equals the percentage change in the price of the Underlying Stock from the Starting Value to the Ending Value;
- (b) a constant dividend yield of 0.00% per annum; and
- (c) no transaction fees or expenses.

⁽²⁾ The total return on the notes includes interest paid on the notes from March 21, 2012 to April 1, 2013, the term of the notes.

Investor Considerations

You may wish to consider an investment in the notes if:

- You anticipate that the Closing Market Price of the Underlying Stock on the Valuation Date will be greater than or equal to the Threshold Value.
- You seek interest payments on your investment.
- You are willing to accept that the maximum return on the notes is limited to the sum of the quarterly interest payments, and that you will have no opportunity to participate in possible increases in the price of the Underlying Stock.
- You accept that your investment will result in a loss, which could be significant, if the price of the Underlying Stock decreases from the Starting Value to an Ending Value that is less than the Threshold Value.
- You seek exposure to the Underlying Stock with no expectation of dividends or other benefits of owning shares of the Underlying Stock.
- You are willing to accept that a trading market is not expected to develop for the notes. You understand that secondary market prices for the notes, if any, will be affected by various factors, including our actual and perceived creditworthiness and their market value may be less than their Original Offering Price
- You are willing to make an investment, the payments on which depend on our creditworthiness, as the issuer of the notes.

The notes may not be an appropriate investment for you if:

- You anticipate that the price of the Underlying Stock on the valuation date will be less than the Threshold Value.
- You anticipate that the price of the Underlying Stock will increase from the Starting Value to the Ending Value and seek to participate in that increase.
- You seek 100% return of principal at maturity.
- In addition to interest payments, you seek an additional return at a premium above the principal amount of the notes.
- You seek to receive dividends or other distributions paid on the Underlying Stock.
- You seek assurances that there will be a liquid market if and when you want to sell the notes prior to maturity.
- You are unwilling or are unable to assume the credit risk associated with us, as the issuer of the notes.

Supplement to the Plan of Distribution and Role of MLPF&S

We will deliver the notes against payment therefor in New York, New York on a date that is greater than three business days following the pricing date. Under Rule 15c6-1 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, trades in the secondary market generally are required to settle in three business days, unless the parties to any such trade expressly agree otherwise. Accordingly, purchasers who wish to trade the notes more than three business days prior to the original issue date will be required to specify alternative settlement arrangements to prevent a failed settlement.

The notes will not be listed on any securities exchange. In the original offering of the notes, the notes will be sold in minimum investment amounts of 100 units.

MLPF&S will participate as selling agent in the distribution of the notes. Under our distribution agreement with MLPF&S, MLPF&S will purchase the notes from us as principal at the public offering price indicated on the cover of this term sheet, less the indicated underwriting discount. In connection with hedging our obligations under the notes, we will enter into a hedge transaction with an affiliate of MLPF&S, which will include a charge of up to $0.075 per unit representing an estimated profit credited to MLPF&S through the hedge transaction. The public offering price you pay for the notes includes this charge and the underwriting discount. This charge and fee reduce the economic terms of the notes. In arranging the hedge transaction for the notes, MLPF&S seeks competitive terms from third parties, which could include one of our affiliates. Additional profits and losses may be realized by the hedge providers from these hedging transactions. For further information regarding how these fees and hedging costs may affect the price at which you will be able to sell the notes in secondary market transaction and conflicts of interest, see "Risk Factors—General Risks Relating to the Notes" beginning on page S-8 and "Use of Proceeds" on page S-16 in product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1.

If you place an order to purchase the notes, you are consenting to MLPF&S acting as a principal in effecting the transaction for your account. MLPF&S may repurchase and resell the notes, with repurchases and resales being made at prices related to then-prevailing market prices or at negotiated prices. MLPF&S may act as principal or agent in these market-making transactions; however it is not obligated to engage in any such transactions.

The distribution of the Note Prospectus in connection with these offers or sales will be solely for the purpose of providing investors with the description of the terms of the notes that was made available to investors in connection with their initial offering. Secondary market investors should not, and will not be authorized to, rely on the Note Prospectus for information regarding HSBC or for any purpose other than that described in the immediately preceding sentence.

Summary Tax Consequences

You should consider the U.S. federal income tax consequences of an investment in the notes, including the following:

- You agree with us (in the absence of an administrative determination, or judicial ruling to the contrary) to characterize and treat the notes for all tax purposes as income-bearing pre-paid executory contracts linked to the Underlying Stock that requires you to pay us at inception an amount equal to the purchase price of the notes and that entitles you to receive the stated periodic interest payments as well as, at maturity, an amount in cash linked to the value of the Underlying Stock.
- Under this characterization and tax treatment of the notes, we intend to take the position that the stated periodic interest payments constitute taxable ordinary income to you, and, upon receipt of a cash payment at maturity or upon a sale or exchange of the notes prior to maturity (other than amounts representing accrued stated periodic interest payments), you generally will recognize capital gain or loss. This capital gain or loss generally will be long-term capital gain or loss if you hold the notes for more than one year.

U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations

Set forth below is a summary of the U.S. federal income tax considerations relating to an investment in the notes. The following summary is not complete and is qualified in its entirety by the discussion under the section entitled “U.S. Federal Income Tax Summary” beginning on page S-30 of the product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1, which you should carefully review prior to investing in the notes.

General. Although there is no statutory, judicial, or administrative authority directly addressing the characterization of the notes, we intend to treat the notes for all tax purposes as income-bearing pre-paid executory contracts linked to the Underlying Stock that requires you to pay us at inception an amount equal to the purchase price of the notes and that entitles you to receive the stated periodic interest payments as well as, at maturity, an amount in cash linked to the value of the Underlying Stock. Under the terms of the notes, we and every investor in the notes agree, in the absence of an administrative determination or judicial ruling to the contrary, to treat the notes as described in the preceding sentence. This discussion assumes that the notes constitute income-bearing pre-paid executory contracts linked to the Underlying Stock for U.S. federal income tax purposes. If the notes do not constitute income-bearing pre-paid executory contracts, the tax consequences described below would be materially different.

This characterization of the notes is not binding on the Internal Revenue Service (“IRS”) or the courts. No statutory, judicial, or administrative authority directly addresses the characterization of the notes or any similar instruments for U.S. federal income tax purposes, and no ruling is being requested from the IRS with respect to their proper characterization and treatment. Due to the absence of authorities on point, significant aspects of the U.S. federal income tax consequences of an investment in the notes are not certain, and no assurance can be given that the IRS or any court will agree with the characterization and tax treatment described in product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1. Accordingly, you are urged to consult your tax advisor regarding all aspects of the U.S. federal income tax consequences of an investment in the notes, including possible alternative characterizations. The discussion in this section and in the section entitled “U.S. Federal Income Tax Summary” beginning on page S-30 of product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1 assume that there is a significant possibility of a significant loss of principal on an investment in the notes.

Stated Periodic Interest Payments. Although the U.S. federal income tax treatment of the stated periodic interest payments on the notes is uncertain, we intend to take the position, and this discussion assumes, that the stated periodic interest payments constitute taxable ordinary income to a U.S. Holder (as defined in product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1) at the time received or accrued in accordance with the U.S. Holder’s regular method of accounting. As discussed in the section entitled “U.S. Federal Income Tax Summary” beginning on page S-30 of product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1, we will withhold U.S. federal income tax at a 30% rate (or at a lower rate under an applicable tax treaty) on the entire amount of the stated periodic interest payments made to Non-U.S. Holders (as defined in product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1).

Settlement at Maturity or Sale or Exchange Prior to Maturity. Assuming that the notes are properly characterized and treated as income-bearing pre-paid executory contracts linked to the Underlying Stock for U.S. federal income tax purposes, upon receipt of a cash payment at maturity or upon a sale or exchange of the notes prior to maturity, a U.S. Holder generally will recognize capital gain or loss equal to the difference between the amount realized (other than amounts representing accrued stated periodic interest payments, which would be taxed as described above under “– Stated Periodic Interest Payments”) and the U.S. Holder’s basis in the notes. This capital gain or loss generally will be long-term capital gain or loss if the U.S. Holder holds the notes for more than one year. The deductibility of capital losses is subject to limitations.

Possible Future Tax Law Changes. From time to time, there may be legislative proposals or interpretive guidance addressing the tax treatment of financial instruments such as the notes. We cannot predict the likelihood of any such legislation or guidance being adopted, or the ultimate impact on the notes. For example, on December 7, 2007, the IRS released Notice 2008-2 (“Notice”) seeking comments from the public on the taxation of financial instruments currently taxed as “prepaid forward contracts.” The scope of the Notice may extend to instruments similar to the notes. According to the Notice, the IRS and Treasury are considering whether a holder of such instruments should be required to accrue ordinary income on a current basis, regardless of whether any payments are made prior to maturity. It is not possible to determine what guidance the IRS and Treasury will ultimately issue, if any. Any such future guidance may affect the amount, timing, and character of income, gain, or loss in respect of the notes, possibly with retroactive effect. The IRS and Treasury are also considering additional issues, including whether additional gain or loss from such instruments should be treated as ordinary or capital, whether foreign holders of such instruments should be subject to withholding tax on any deemed income accruals, whether Section 1260 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, concerning certain “constructive ownership transactions,” generally applies or should generally apply to such instruments, and whether any of these determinations depend on the nature of the underlying asset. We urge you to consult your own tax advisors concerning the impact and the significance of the above considerations. We intend to continue treating the notes for U.S. federal income tax purposes in the manner described herein unless and until such time as we determine, or the IRS or Treasury determines, that some other treatment is more appropriate.

Withholding on Dividend Equivalents. A “dividend equivalent” payment is treated as a dividend from sources within the U.S. and such payments generally would be subject to a 30% withholding tax if paid to a Non-U.S. Holder (as defined in product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1). Under proposed U.S. Treasury Department regulations, certain payments that are contingent upon or determined by reference to U.S. source dividends, including payments reflecting adjustments for extraordinary dividends, with respect to equity-linked instruments, including the notes, may be treated as dividend equivalents. If enacted in their current form, the regulations may impose a withholding tax on payments made on the notes on or after January 1, 2013 that are treated as dividend equivalents. In that case, we (or the applicable paying agent) would be entitled to withhold taxes without being required to pay any additional amounts with respect to amounts so withheld. Further, Non-U.S. Holders may be required to provide certifications prior to, or upon the sale or maturity of the notes in order to minimize or avoid U.S. withholding taxes.

You should consult your own tax advisor concerning the U.S. federal income tax consequences to you of acquiring, owning, and disposing of the notes, as well as any tax consequences arising under the laws of any state, local, foreign, or other tax jurisdiction and the possible effects of changes in U.S. federal or other tax laws. See the discussion under the section entitled “U.S. Federal Income Tax Summary” beginning on page S-30 of product supplement Coupon-Bearing Notes-1.

Enhanced Income

MLPF&S classifies certain market-linked investments (the "Market-Linked Investments") into categories, each with different investment characteristics. The following description is meant solely for informational purposes and is not intended to represent any particular Enhanced Income Market-Linked Investment or guarantee any performance.

Enhanced Income Market-Linked Investments are short- to medium-term market-linked notes that offer you a way to enhance your income stream, either through variable or fixed-interest coupons, an added payout at maturity based on the performance of the linked asset, or both. In exchange for receiving current income, you will generally forfeit upside potential on the linked asset. Even so, the prospect of higher interest payments and/or an additional payout may equate to a higher return potential than you may be able to find through other fixed-income securities. Enhanced Income Market-Linked Investments generally do not include market downside protection. The degree to which your principal is repaid at maturity is generally determined by the performance of the linked asset. Although enhanced income streams may help offset potential declines in the asset, you can still lose part or all of your original investment.
