Brean Capital, LLC and Subsidiaries
Notes to Consolidated Statement of Financial Condition
December 31, 2021

1. Organization and Basis of Presentation

Brean Capital, LLC (the “Company”) is a broker-dealer registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (“FINRA”), and the National Association of Securities Dealers Automated Quotations (“NASDAQ”) exchange. The Company operates as an introducing broker and has an agreement with a clearing broker to clear transactions, carry customers’ accounts on a fully-disclosed basis and perform recordkeeping functions and, consequently, operates under the exemptive provisions of SEC Rule 15c3-3 (k)(2)(ii). The Company engages in several classes of services including trading of U.S. government and federal agencies, federal agency mortgage-backed securities, corporate debt, municipals and other fixed income instruments. The Company operates out of its New York headquarters along with 12 branch offices throughout the United States. Its investment banking and syndicate underwriting business are primarily based in New York.

During 2019, the Company formed two special purpose entities, Nexus Reverse Investment Certificates LLC (“Nexus”), a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company, and Brean Asset Backed Securities, LLC (“BABS”), a wholly-owned subsidiary of Nexus, to serve as a depositor of purchased collateral associated with reverse mortgage loans from various originators and held with a participation agent trust that issues participation certificates to BABS which are then financed by a financial institution until securitization.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The Company prepares its consolidated financial statements on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with the Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) Accounting Standards Codification (“ASC”) Topic 940 Financial Services - Brokers and Dealers, which is the single source of authoritative United States Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (“GAAP”) and reporting standards specific to Brokers and Dealers, as well as with guidance issued by the SEC. Certain amounts in the prior period consolidated financial statements have been reclassified for consistency with the current year presentation. These reclassifications had no effect on the reported amount on the consolidated statement of financial condition.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of the consolidated financial statements in conformity GAAP requires management to make certain estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statement. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Principles of Consolidation

The consolidated statement of financial includes the activity of the Company and its wholly owned subsidiaries, Nexus and BABS. All intercompany transactions have been eliminated in consolidation.

Cash, Cash Equivalents and Restricted Cash

The Company considers all highly liquid instruments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents. At December 31, 2021, cash, cash equivalents and restricted cash of $90,603,318 were held at one financial institution which is $90,353,318 in excess of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation limit of $250,000. Restricted cash includes $1,206,993 of cash held in lieu of security deposits for its New York City and Boston offices.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (Continued)

Securities Owned

Securities transactions in regular-way trades are recorded on trade date, as if they had settled.

Amounts receivable and payable for securities transactions that have not reached their contractual settlement date are recorded net in receivable from broker-dealers and clearing organizations on the consolidated statement of financial condition.

The Company's securities inventory is primarily financed by third party clearing organizations and through repurchase agreements. The amount due to the clearing firm at December 31, 2021 is included in payable to broker-dealers and clearing organizations whereas the amount financed through repurchase agreements is included in securities and reverse mortgage loans sold under repurchase agreements in the consolidated statement of financial condition.

Furniture and Fixtures, Equipment and Leasehold Improvements

Furniture and fixtures, equipment and leasehold improvements are recorded at cost. Depreciation is recorded using the straight-line method over estimated useful lives of three to seven years. The cost of leasehold improvements is amortized over the lesser of the estimated useful life of the asset or the term of the lease.

Long-Lived Assets and Asset Impairment

Accounting Standards Update ("ASU") 360-10, Impairment and Disposal of Long-Lived Assets provides guidance for impairments of assets that are held for use, held for sale and to be disposed of by other means. ASC 360-10 requires the use of fair value measurements for impairment of assets that are unique and not widely traded. A long-lived asset (group) that is held and used should be reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of the long-lived asset (group) might not be recoverable, (i.e., information indicates that impairment might exist). As a result, entities are not required to perform an impairment analysis (i.e., test the asset (group) for recoverability and potentially measure an impairment loss) if indicators of impairment are not present. Instead, entities would assess the need for an impairment write-down only if an indicator of impairment (e.g., a significant decrease in the market value of a long-lived asset (group) is present. Entities are responsible for routinely assessing whether impairment indicators are present and should have systems or processes to assist in the identification of potential impairment indicators. During the year, the Company determined that no assets held for use were impaired.

Notes to Consolidated Statement of Financial Condition

Derivatives

Derivatives entered into by the Company include purchase and sale agreements of to-be-announced securities ("TBAs"), which are forward mortgage-backed securities for which collateral remains "to be announced" until just prior to the trade settlement, along with futures and options. Options and futures are record at fair value whereas TBA financial instruments are recorded at the change in fair value in the consolidated statement of financial condition and are included within both securities owned and securities sold, not yet purchased. When a forward contract exists for securities purchased and sold on a when-issued basis ("when-issued securities"), such as a TBA security that provides a choice of settlement dates and delivery is made in the second nearest month or later, the TBA forward contract is accounted for as a derivative. The settlement of these transactions is not expected to have a material effect upon the Company's consolidated financial statements. Derivatives involve varying degrees of off-balance sheet risk, whereby changes in the level or volatility of interest rates or market values of the underlying financial instruments may result in changes in the value of a particular financial instrument in excess of its carrying amount. In addition, in order to mitigate exposure to market risk, the Company enters into various options and futures contracts.

Leases

In accordance with FASB Accounting Standard Codification (ASC Topic 842), Leases, the Company has included on its consolidated statement of financial condition an asset (right of use asset) and liability (lease obligation) arising from operating leases. The Company has established policies and procedures to assist in determining whether a contract contains a lease. The Company separates non-lease components from lease components in lease contracts and accounts for non-lease components based on other U.S. GAAP. Lease components in lease contracts are accounted for following the guidance in ASC Topic 842 for the capitalization of long-term leases. The amount of the lease liability was calculated as the present value of remaining lease payments discounted using the current funding rate charged by the Company's clearing organization that finances the Company's inventory. The amount of the right of use asset also reflects the present value of unpaid lease payments, but may also reflect any initial direct costs, prepaid lease payments, straight-line adjustments and lease incentives. Consequently, the amount of the lease asset may not equal the amount of lease liability. For leases with a maximum possible term (including any options to extend) of 12 months or less, the Company recognizes the lease payments on a straight-line basis over the lease term and variable payments in the period in which the obligation for those payments is incurred. The Company records a single monthly lease expense, combining the unwinding of the discount on the lease liability with the amortization of the right of use asset, on a straight-line basis.

State Filing Fees, Local Income Taxes and Other

The Company is a limited liability company subject to partnership tax laws. Accordingly, there is no provision for federal income taxes. The taxable income or loss of the Company, on the Federal and State levels, are included on the income tax returns of its members. The Company is subject to New York City Unincorporated Business Tax ("UBT") which is four percent of net income excluding a provision for state filing fees and local income taxes after adjusting for non-deductible compensation to members and certain exclusions. In addition, the Company is subject to various states' partnership income taxes where it conducts business.

Brean Capital, LLC and Subsidiaries
Notes to Consolidated Statement of Financial Condition
December 31, 2021

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (Continued)

The Company is required to disclose unrecognized tax benefits or liabilities resulting from uncertain tax positions. At December 31, 2021, the Company did not have any unrecognized tax benefits or liabilities. The Company is no longer subject to such tax examinations by taxing authorities for years prior to the three-year statute of limitations.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In January 2020, the FASB issued ASU 2020-01, Investments - Equity Securities (Topic 321), Investments-Equity Method and Joint Ventures (Topic 323), and Derivatives and Hedging (Topic 815). The statement clarifies the subsequent measurement when there is a change in level of ownership or degree of influence. The investment in common stock of an investee that was previously accounted for on other than the equity method may become qualified for use of the equity method by an increase in the level of ownership may add the cost of acquiring the additional interest in the investee to the current basis of the investor's previously held interest and adopt the equity method of accounting as of the date the investment becomes qualified for equity method accounting. Conversely, an investment in voting stock of an investee may fall below the level of ownership from the sale of a portion of an investment, or other transactions and the investor may thereby lose the ability to influence policy should discontinue accruing its share of the earnings or losses of the investee for an investment that no longer qualifies for the equity method. The earnings or losses that relate to the stock retained by the investor and that were previously accrued shall remain as a part of the carrying amount of the investment. The investment account shall not be adjusted retroactively. The standard becomes effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2021 for non-public entities. The Company has not evaluated the potential impact of the new provisions on the Company's consolidated financial statements.

In June 2016, FASB issued ASU 2016-13, Financial Instruments - Credit Losses (Topic 326): Measurement of Credit Losses on Financial Instruments. The new standard requires a financial asset (or a group of financial assets) measured at amortized cost basis to be presented at the net amount expected to be collected. The allowance for credit losses valuation account should be deducted from the amortized cost basis of the financial asset(s) and presented at net carrying value. The measurement of expected credit losses is based on relevant information about past events, including historical experience, current conditions, and reasonable and supportable forecasts that affect the collectability of the reported amount. An entity must use judgment in determining the relevant information and estimation methods that are appropriate in its circumstances. The standard becomes effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2021. The Company does not expect the adoption of ASU 2016-13 to have a material impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements.

In October 2018, the FASB issued ASU 2018-16, Derivatives and Hedging (Topic 815): Inclusion of the Secured Overnight Financing Rate (SOFR) Overnight Index Swap (OIS) rate as a benchmark interest rate for hedging accounting purposes. The amendments in this Update permit the OIS rate based on SOFR as a U.S. benchmark interest rate. Including the OIS rate based on SOFR as an eligible benchmark interest rate during the early stages of the marketplace transition will facilitate the LIBOR to SOFR transition and provide sufficient lead time for entities to prepare for changes to interest rate risk hedging strategies for both risk management and hedge accounting purposes. The ASU amendments became effective concurrently with adoption of ASU 2017-12, Derivatives and Hedging (Topic 815): Targeted Improvements to Accounting for Hedging Activities. The adoption of this standard did not have a material impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements.

3. Receivable From/Payable to Broker-Dealers and Clearing Organizations

The Company maintains master netting clearing agreements that settles its trading receivables and payables on a net basis. Amounts receivable from broker-dealers and clearing organizations and at December 31, 2021 consist of the following:

	Receivable	Payable
Clearing and margin deposits - cash	$ 13,565,105	$ -
Payable to clearing organizations	-	185,101,832
	$ 13,565,105	$ 185,101,832

4. Fair Value Measurements

FASB ASC 820 defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value, and establishes a fair value hierarchy. Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset, or paid to transfer a liability, in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. A fair value measurement assumes that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability occurs in the principal market for the asset or liability or, in the absence of a principal market, the most advantageous market. Valuation techniques that are consistent with the market, income or cost approach, as specified by FASB ASC 820, are used to measure fair value.

The fair value hierarchy prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value into three broad levels:

Level 1 inputs are quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities the Company can access at the measurement date.

Level 2 inputs are inputs other than quoted prices included within level 1, which are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly.

Level 3 are unobservable inputs for the asset or liability and rely on management's own assumptions about the assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability. The unobservable inputs are developed based on the best information available in the circumstances and may include the Company's own data.

The availability of observable inputs can vary from security to security and is affected by a wide variety of factors, including for example, the type of security, the liquidity of the markets, the interest rate environment and other characteristics of the security or issuer. To the extent that valuation is based on models or inputs that are less observable or unobservable in the market, the determination of fair value requires more judgment. As a result, the degree of judgment used in determining fair value is greatest for securities categorized as level 3. When multiple inputs are used in determining fair value, the security is included in the hierarchy based upon the lowest level of input.

Level 1 - Unadjusted quoted prices in active market for identical assets or liabilities. Level 1 assets and liabilities consist of U.S. government treasury securities and federal agencies that are highly liquid and are actively traded in OTC markets. Level 1 also includes TBAs which are traded in an actively quoted market.

Brean Capital, LLC and Subsidiaries
Notes to Consolidated Statement of Financial Condition

4. Fair Value Measurements (Continued)

Level 2 - Observable inputs other than Level 1 prices, such as quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities, quoted market prices in markets that are not active, or other inputs that are observable or can be corroborated by observable market data for substantially the full term of the assets or liabilities. Level 2 assets and liabilities include commercial mortgage-backed securities, corporate asset-backed debt, corporate obligations, federal agency mortgage-backed securities, asset backed securities with recent sales activity, investment grade and asset backed corporate bonds and municipal bonds. Also included are interest rate futures.

Level 3 - Unobservable inputs that are supported by limited or no market activity and that are significant to the overall fair value of the assets or liabilities. Level 3 assets and liabilities include financial instruments for which the determination of the fair value requires significant management judgement or estimation. The fair value for such assets and liabilities is generally determined using pricing models and other observable inputs including applicable forward interest rate curves that incorporate the assumption a market participant would use in pricing the asset or liability. Level 3 assets consist of interests in reverse mortgage loans, non-investment grade corporate obligations and commercial mortgage-backed securities with par values of less than 95, and equity stocks and warrants along with non-marketable municipal bonds.

The following table presents the Company's fair value hierarchy for those assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis as of December 31, 2021:

	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Balance at December 31, 2021

The fair value of securities issued by states and municipalities is generally determined based upon recently executed transactions, interest rates and credit worthiness of the issuer. These securities are characterized predominantly in Level 2.

US Government and federal agency bonds

The fair value of securities backed by a pool of residential mortgages, U.S. government treasury securities and TBAs is generally determined based upon recent transaction prices for the same bond or bonds with comparable underlying characteristics, prepayment speeds, duration and yields of similar bonds. Principal and interest of these securities are guaranteed by the US government. TBAs are traded in active quoted market and therefore generally classified as Level 1. All other U.S. government and federal agency bonds including Small Business Association loans, which are valued at cost, are characterized in Level 2.

Interests in Reverse Mortgage Loans

A reverse mortgage is a mortgage loan, usually secured by a residential property, that enables the borrower to access the unencumbered value of the property. Interests in reverse mortgage loans are held at cost plus accretion of interest. These securities are characterized in Level 3.

Based on the above criteria, securities owned that are traded on a national stock exchange (or reported on the NASDAQ national market) are generally valued at the last reported sales price on the primary securities exchange on which such security traded on the date of valuation. Securities owned that are offered and sold on the over the counter market ("OTCBB") are generally valued at the closing bid price as reported on the OTCBB on the date of valuation. In cases where such over the counter securities have limited trading volume and are considered to be "thinly traded," management may apply a discount to the closing bid price to arrive at an estimate of fair value.

Litigation, Indemnifications and Other Contingencies

In the normal course of business, the Company may be involved in litigation matters. These include litigations, arbitration and other proceedings initiated by private parties and arising from underwriting, financial advisory, securities trading or other transactional activities for client accounts, and employment matters. The Company does not believe that any current litigation, proceeding or other matter which it is a party to or otherwise involved with will have a material adverse effect on its financial position, results of operations and cash flows.

14. Commitments and Contingencies (Continued)

The Company indemnifies and guarantees certain service providers, such as clearing and custody agents, against specified potential future losses in connection with their acting as an agent of, or providing services to, the Company or its affiliates in the normal course of business. Such specified potential future losses, if they ever occur, cannot be estimated. However, the Company believes that it is unlikely it will have to make any material payments under these arrangements and has not recorded any contingent liability in the consolidated financial statements for these indemnifications.

15. Financial Instruments with Off-Balance Sheet Risk

The Company enters into various transactions involving derivatives and other off-balance sheet financial instruments. These financial instruments include TBAs and when-issued securities. These derivative financial instruments are used to meet the needs of customers, conduct trading activities, and manage market risks and are, therefore, subject to varying degrees of market and credit risk. Derivative transactions, including interest rate options and futures, are entered into for trading purposes or to economically hedge other positions or transactions.

TBAs and when-issued securities provide for the delayed delivery of the underlying instrument. The contractual or notional amounts related to these financial instruments reflect the volume and activity and do not reflect the amounts at risk. The credit risk for TBAs and when-issued securities is limited to the unrealized fair valuation gains and losses recorded in the consolidated statement of financial condition. Market risk is substantially dependent upon the value of the underlying financial instruments and is affected by market forces such as volatility and changes in interest and foreign exchange rates.

In addition, the Company has sold securities that it does not currently own and will therefore be obligated to purchase such securities at a future date. The Company has recorded these obligations in the consolidated financial statements at December 31, 2021 at fair values of the related securities and will incur a loss if the fair value of the securities increases subsequent to December 31, 2021.

In the normal course of business, the Company's customer activities involve the execution, settlement and financing of various securities transactions. These activities may expose the Company to off-balance sheet risk in the event the customer or other broker is unable to fulfill its contracted obligations and the Company has to purchase or sell the underlying financial instrument at a loss.

The Company's customer securities activities are transacted on either a cash or margin basis. In margin transactions, the Company's clearing broker extends credit to the customer, subject to various regulatory and internal margin requirements, collateralized by cash and/or securities in the customer's account. As a result of guaranteeing customer margin balances carried by the clearing broker, the Company may be exposed to off-balance sheet risk in the event margin requirements are not sufficient to fully cover losses which the customer may incur. There are no other margin accounts guaranteed by the Company other than just described at December 31, 2021.

Additionally, the Company is exposed to off-balance sheet risk of loss on transactions during the period from the trade date to the settlement date, which is generally two business days. If the customer fails to satisfy its contractual obligations to the clearing broker, the Company may have to purchase or sell financial instruments at prevailing market prices in order to fulfill the customer's obligations. Settlement of these transactions did not have a material effect on the Company's financial position.

15. Financial Instruments with Off-Balance Sheet Risk (Continued)

The Company seeks to control the risks associated with its customer activities by requiring customers to maintain margin collateral in compliance with various regulatory and clearing broker guidelines. The Company's clearing organization monitors required margin levels daily and pursuant to such guidelines, require the customers to deposit additional collateral or to reduce positions, when necessary.

16. Concentrations of Credit Risk

The Company is engaged in various trading and brokerage activities in which the counterparties primarily include broker-dealers, banks and other financial institutions. In the event counterparties do not fulfill their obligations, the Company may be exposed to risk. The risk of default depends on the creditworthiness of the counterparty or issuer of the instrument. It is the Company's policy to review, as necessary, the credit standing of each counterparty.

17. Subsequent Events

The Company evaluated the possibility of subsequent events that may impact the consolidated financial statements through February 28, 2022, the date the consolidated financial statements were available to be issued. The Company has determined that there are no material events other than as noted in Note 6 that would require adjustments to or disclosure in its consolidated financial statements.
