MANAGER'S COMMENTARY

Local consumption and confidence in Hong Kong are being affected by the outbreak of a severe form of pneumonia. Much depends on containing the virus.

Your managers visited over 50 companies last month, looking to take advantage of nervousness among investors and pick up some bargains. In Taiwan, we saw a number of companies whose growth is being driven by expansion in China. These include the paint maker Yung Chi, Taiwan's leading ERP software vendor DSC, packaging company Hon Chuan and casting maker China Metal. On the mainland, a number of our invested companies, such as People's Food, Chinadotcom, and electronics companies TCL and Proview, announced strong results. Prices of basic materials are putting pressure on the margins of processors and are likely to remain firm following a period of under-investment.

In Beijing, the National People's Congress passed off without hitch. Wen Jiabao took over from Zhu Rongji as head of the government (Hu Jintao had taken over from Jiang Zimin as head of the Communist Party last November). The government's commitment to keeping economic growth above 7% was shown by approval of a record budget deficit (2.9% of GDP). There was also further structural reorganisation, with a regulator established to monitor the banking industry and a commission established to manage state assets. Reform of the state-owned sector continues to be a priority, but additional emphasis will be given to improving the lot of China's farmers, whose income has fallen well behind that of workers in the cities.

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

Your Fund is 96.8% invested with holdings in 60 companies. During March, the discount between the price of the Fund and the net value of its assets narrowed as investors' interest in China continued to improve.

In March we reduced our large position in Fubon, as banking spreads in Taiwan continue to narrow under intense competition. Further reform in the financial sector is likely to be delayed until after next year's presidential election. We also took some profits on Zhejiang Expressway. We switched into Shenzhen Expressway, which is much cheaper and recently improved its growth prospects by selling off two old national roads.

Nervousness among investors was highlighted by their reaction to the interim earnings of one of China's largest agricultural concerns, Chaoda. The stock halved in two days after it announced a 6% fall in net profits. But analysis of the figures shows that sales grew by 41% and profits before tax by 10%, and that the fall was due entirely to a tax provision which we expect to be written back later in the year. On our estimates, based on repeated visits to the company, which needs to improve its public relations, the stock is trading on a P/E of 2.6X and yield of 11%. The Fund has started to build a stake in the company.

Following various policy measures to restructure State Owned Enterprises, interest in these is increasing. We are monitoring this trend carefully and want to see clear evidence that the regulatory changes are effective and stable. We will be very selective and will focus on companies that are stable financially and have capable management.

OBJECTIVE

The investment objective of the Fund is to achieve long term capital appreciation through investment in companies and other entities with significant assets, investments, production activities, trading or other business interests in China or which derive a significant part of their revenue from China.

The Board of Directors of the Fund has adopted an operating policy of the Fund, effective June 30, 2001, that the Fund will invest at least 80% of its assets in China companies. For this purpose, "China companies" are (i) companies for which the principal securities trading market is in China; (ii) companies for which the principal securities trading market is outside of China or in companies organised outside of China, that in both cases derive at least 50% of their revenues from goods or services sold or produced, or have a least 50% of their assets in China; and (iii) companies organized in China. Under the policy, China will mean the People's Republic of China, including Hong Kong, and Taiwan. The Fund will provide its stockholders with at least 60 days' prior notice of any change to the policy described above.

The fundamental policy, which applies to not less than 65% of the Fund's assets as set out in the Fund's prospectus dated July 10, 1992, remains in place. The fundamental policy is the same as the operating policy set out above, except that China only includes the People's Republic of China.
