MANAGER'S COMMENTARY

The markets in China became more volatile in September. In Hong Kong, investors took profits on 'H' shares, which have performed well since May. They switched to Hong Kong property developers and banks, in response to improved sentiment locally. The 'A' share market has been one of the world's worst performers this year — down by 15% since its high in April. And yet the growth in earnings of underlying companies has been good, with an increase in profit at the interim of 31% for the market as a whole and 25% in terms of earnings per share.

As we anticipated, the financial sector in Taiwan has started to outperform the tech sector. We believe that trend will continue in the fourth quarter of 2003. There are three reasons for our positive view. The first is the return of loan growth — specifically corporate loan growth. Also, the financial sector is under-held by foreign investors. With the change in the MSCI's weighting looming, we expect foreign buying of the financial sector to increase sharply. Finally, Taiwan New Dollars will continue to appreciate and the investors will buy into a sector that owns the most Taiwan New Dollars assets.

The rise in the yen following the G7 meeting has strengthened our conviction about appreciation of the Renminbi and Taiwan New Dollars. The authorities are now seeking ways, short of revaluation, to increase demand for the US$ and decrease demand for Renminbi. Following cuts in VAT rebates to exporters and allowing locals to change more currency to travel abroad, further steps are expected. These include allowing Chinese exporters to keep earnings in US$ offshore and allowing Chinese qualified domestic institutional investors (QDI) to invest abroad.

September was the month for investment conferences in China. Judging by the number and mood of attendees, and the general upbeat presentations by Chinese corporations, I would be surprised not to see good fund flows into this region this autumn. We visited Inner Mongolia Yili (600887 CH), the leading producer of ice cream and milk in China, in early September. We intend to visit 'A' share-listed Lhasa Brewery (000752 CH) in Tibet in early October.

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

Your fund is 97.8% invested with holdings in 57 companies, of which 2 are unlisted.

Given our bullish view on the Renminbi and Taiwan New Dollars, we have become stricter about avoiding exporters and choosing only those stocks which will benefit from, or be immune from, currency appreciation. We bought shares in China Telecom, the largest fixed line operator in China, as the capex in China's telecom sector shows signs of recovery and its parent company will inject more valuable assets shortly. We added Ocean Grand Chemicals, one of the few licensed electroplating chemical manufacturers in China. The company is benefiting from expansion of capacity and huge demand. We also added to Natural Beauty, whose business has seen a quick recovery after SARS. In Taiwan we switched Ho Tung Chemical into Softworld.

DIRECT INVESTMENT MANAGER'S COMMENTARY

The PRC and greater China economies are showing strong growth and there are signs that business expansion projects which had been put on hold due to SARS are now being accelerated. The Fund's Direct Investments are all now performing ahead of budget. There is also increasing demand for expansion funds by good companies. The recent moves by the People's Bank of China to strengthen reserve requirements and reduce imprudent lending are increasing the bargaining power of private equity investors to gain attractive valuations and favorable deal terms and we expect to see this reflected in the level of investment activity in the China private equity market.

OBJECTIVE

The investment objective of the Fund is to achieve long term capital appreciation through investment in companies and other entities with significant assets, investments, production activities, trading or other business interests in China or which derive a significant part of their revenue from China.

The Board of Directors of the Fund has adopted an operating policy of the Fund, effective June 30, 2001, that the Fund will invest at least 80% of its assets in China companies. For this purpose, "China companies" are (i) companies for which the principal securities trading market is in China; (ii) companies for which the principal securities trading market is outside of China or in companies organised outside of China, that in both cases derive at least 50% of their revenues from goods or services sold or produced, or have a least 50% of their assets in China; and (iii) companies organized in China. Under the policy, China will mean the People's Republic of China, including Hong Kong, and Taiwan. The Fund will provide its stockholders with at least 60 days' prior notice of any change to the policy described above.

The fundamental policy, which applies to not less than 65% of the Fund's assets as set out in the Fund's prospectus dated July 10, 1992, remains in place. The fundamental policy is the same as the operating policy set out above, except that China only includes the People's Republic of China.
