Board of Directors and Standing Committees

Regular meetings of the Board of Directors are held four times a year, normally in the first month of each quarter. During 2001, the Board held a total of four regular meetings. All directors attended at least 75% of all meetings of the Board and Board committees on which they served during 2001.

The Board of Directors has established three standing committees: an Executive Committee, an Audit Committee and a Compensation Committee, which are described below. Members of these committees are elected annually at the regular Board meeting held in conjunction with the annual stockholders' meeting. The Board of Directors presently does not have a nominating committee.

Executive Committee. The Executive Committee is comprised of Messrs. Jay Stein (Chairman) and Williams, plus any one outside director. Subject to the limitations specified by the Florida Business Corporation Act, the Executive Committee is authorized by the Company's bylaws to exercise all of the powers of the Board of Directors when the Board of Directors is not in session. The Executive Committee held no meetings during 2001.

Audit Committee. The Audit Committee is comprised of Messrs. Winston (Chairman), Rose and Ms. Farthing, none of whom is an officer of the Company. During 2001, the Audit Committee held three meetings. The Audit Committee, which operates under a written charter adopted by the Board of Directors, is appointed by the Board to assist the Board in monitoring (1) the integrity of the financial statements of the Company, (2) the compliance by the Company with legal and regulatory requirements and (3) the independence and performance of the Company's internal and external auditors.

Compensation Committee. The Compensation Committee is comprised of Messrs. Carpenter (Chairman), Legler and Winston. During 2001, the Compensation Committee held four meetings. This Committee has the responsibility for approving the compensation arrangements for senior management of the Company, including annual bonus compensation. It also recommends to the Board of Directors adoption of any compensation plans in which officers and directors of the Company are eligible to participate. The Compensation Committee also serves as the Option Committee and makes grants of stock options under the Company's 2001 Omnibus Plan.

AUDIT COMMITTEE REPORT

The purpose of the Audit Committee is to assist the Board of Directors in its oversight of management's conduct of the Company's financial reporting process. During the fiscal year ended February 2, 2002, the Audit Committee was comprised of James H. Winston, Linda McFarland Farthing and Michael D. Rose, each of whom is "independent" under Nasdaq Stock Market® rules.

For the fiscal year ended February 2, 2002, the Audit Committee:

Reviewed and discussed the Company's fiscal 2001 financial statements with management and representatives of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, the Company's independent public accountants;

Discussed with PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP the matters concerning communications with audit committees required to be discussed by Statement on Auditing Standards No. 61; and

Received and reviewed the written report and disclosures and the letter from PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP required by Independence Standards Board Standard No. 1, and discussed with PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP its independence.

In performing the functions described above and its other functions, the Committee acts only in an oversight capacity and necessarily relies on the work and assurances of the Company's management and independent auditors, who, in their report, express an opinion on the conformity of the Company's annual financial statements to generally accepted accounting principles. Based on, and in reliance upon, the foregoing review, discussions and disclosures, the Audit Committee recommended to the Board of Directors that the Company's audited financial statements for the fiscal year ended February 2, 2002, be included in the Company's annual report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year.

COMPENSATION COMMITTEE REPORT TO SHAREHOLDERS

Compensation Philosophy

The Compensation Committee believes that the Company should continue to emphasize its philosophy of rewarding performance within the Company, and of encouraging a long-term view by all the Company's officers and other managerial personnel.

The Company's 2001 fiscal year was a difficult year for the Company, as well as virtually all other retailers of similar merchandise. The Company experienced a decrease in net income from $39.357 million for the prior year to $15.354 million for 2001. At the same time, the Committee believes that the Company's management did an excellent job of managing the Company in the face of the recession and the events of September 11, 2001.

Nevertheless, the Committee continues to believe it preferable to have the bonuses applicable to the Company's principal officers be quantitatively driven, applying factors which the Company believes would positively impact the profitability of the Company. This year, the Compensation Committee continued that trend while approving bonuses for the five most highly-paid officers of the Company generally based upon the formulas in effect for calculating bonuses for each of those officers.

Employee Stock Ownership

The Compensation Committee determined that the Company's philosophy on focusing on long-term value through the grant of stock options and involving employees in direct ownership of the Company's shares would contribute materially to the Company's success in the long run. The Committee was concerned that options should reflect the periodic changes in the Company's performance and therefore approved a one-time grant of 150,000 options to key vice-presidents and executive officers and directed management to establish a formal annual stock option grant program to be driven by a formula based on the Company's performance.

Senior Executives

During 2001, the Company's Chairman, Jay Stein, had reduced his duties and agreed to reduce his annual base compensation from $600,000 per year to $300,000 per year. John H. Williams, Jr. at the same time assumed the responsibilities of Chief Executive Officer of the Company and his annual base compensation was accordingly increased from $575,000 to $600,000. As noted above, the Company's 2001 fiscal year was a difficult one. Accordingly, the Committee agreed with the recommendation of Messrs. Stein and Williams that no raises be given to them for the forthcoming year.

During 2001, Michael Fisher was promoted to President of the Company. The Committee approved a merit increase in base compensation from $500,000 to $525,000. The Company's Chief Merchandising Officer, Gwen Manto, also received a merit increase in base compensation from $475,000 to $500,000 in recognition of the excellent job she had performed in dealing with the inventory reductions necessitated by the terrorist's attacks of September 11, 2001.

The bonuses applicable to the Company's Chairman and the Company's Chief Executive Officer provided a possible bonus equal to 100% of base salary, with 70% of the possible bonus being pro rata, as the Company's earning per share increase from 95% of the earnings per share for the prior year to 140% for the current year, and with 30% being discretionary based upon the Compensation Committee's review of the success of the executive officers in achieving their stated goals each year.

For the current year, the Committee implemented those concepts as follows:

1. Jay Stein, the Company's Chairman, received no change in his annual base compensation which remained at $300,000. The quantitative portion of the bonus formula produced no bonus. The Committee determined that no bonus should be granted of the possible 30% discretionary bonus. As a result, the Chairman received no bonus as to fiscal 2001.

2. John H. Williams, Jr., the Company's Chief Executive Officer, received no change in his annual base compensation which remained at $600,000. The quantitative portion of the bonus formula produced no bonus. The Committee determined that no bonus should be granted of the possible 30% discretionary bonus. As a result, the Chief Executive Officer received no bonus as to fiscal 2001.

3. Michael D. Fisher, the Company's President, was awarded an increase in base salary of $25,000 constituting a 5% increase, bringing his total compensation to $525,000. As is true with other executive officers of the Company, his bonus compensation as the Executive Vice President of Stores was driven by a quantitative formula. As a result of the application of that formula to the Company's performance for the year 2001, Mr. Fisher was awarded a bonus of $60,000.

4. Gwen Manto, the Company's Executive Vice President of Merchandising was awarded an increase in base salary of $25,000 constituting a 5% increase, bringing her total compensation to $500,000. As is true with other executive officers of the Company, the Executive Vice President of Merchandising bonus compensation was driven by a quantitative formula. However, in accordance with Ms. Manto's employment understanding, she received the minimum bonus of $50,000.

5. James G. Delfs, the Company's Chief Financial Officer, received an increase in base salary of $10,000, constituting a 4.5% increase, bringing his total compensation to $230,000. The Company's Chief Financial Officer's bonus is discretionary and based on the performance of the Company and the recommendations of the Company's Chairman and its Vice Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. The Committee approved a bonus of $30,000.

Long-Term Incentive Compensation

The Company has in effect Stock Option and Employee Stock Purchase Plans for the Company's employees. The Compensation Committee believes that these plans are a principal vehicle for motivating management to work toward long-term growth in stockholder value. Consistent with the Company's philosophy of providing incentives to key employees at all levels, options are awarded to a relatively broad base of employees, down through store managers. Options have been awarded based on positions within the Company, ability to contribute to the Company's profitability, and prior tenure with the Company. For additional information as to the options held by executive officers, see the Option Table under "Executive Compensation" attached to this report.

The employee stock options reflect the Company's philosophy that officers' and employees' incentive compensation should reflect the same long-term interests as the Company's shareholders. To encourage continued service with the Company, the options become exercisable ratably on the third, fourth and fifth anniversary dates of grant. Additional increases in the value of the Company's common stock, which benefit all shareholders, will best serve as the primary incentive to its executive officers.

CEO Compensation

The Compensation Committee's policies with respect to the Chief Executive Officer, John H. Williams, Jr., were essentially the same as for the Company's other executive officers. In addition, and consistent with the approach to other executive officers, the Committee determined to continue the bonus formula in effect for the prior year for the forthcoming year, including 70% based upon a comparison of the Company's earnings per share for the current year to the earnings per share for the prior year, all as more fully described above, and 30% being discretionary to the Compensation Committee. Moreover, in view of John H. Williams, Jr.'s continuing substantial ownership of shares of the Company's common stock, the Committee believed that Mr. William's primary motivation remained that of stock ownership, which is most aligned with the interests of other shareholders of the Company.

Certain Tax Matters

Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code, enacted in 1993, precludes a public corporation from deducting compensation of more than $1 million each, for its chief executive officer or for any of its four other highest paid officers. Certain performance-based compensation is exempt from this limitation. Compensation in the form of options under the Company's Employee Stock Plan is exempt. Although the Company's other compensation plans (including the 2001 Omnibus Plan) are designed to relate compensation to performance, certain elements of the plans do not meet the tax law's requirements because they allow the Compensation Committee to exercise discretion in setting compensation. The Compensation Committee is of the opinion that it is better to retain discretion in determining executive compensation. However, the Compensation Committee will continue to monitor the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code to determine what actions, if any, should be taken with respect to Section 162(m).

Outside directors are reimbursed for out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with attending meetings. Pursuant to the Company's director stock option plan, upon coming a director, each outside director receives non-qualified options to purchase 4,000 shares of common stock of the Company. Certain Transactions; Compensation Committee Interlocks and Insider Participation

The Audit Committee of the Board of Directors is responsible for evaluating the appropriateness of all related-party transactions.

Set forth below are various transactions involving the Company and members of the Board of Directors or their related parties. The Audit Committee of the Board of Directors does not believe that the relationships and transactions described below regarding members of the Board of Directors adversely affect the performance by the members of their duties.

Mr. Mitchell W. Legler. Mr. Legler, who is a member of the Compensation Committee, is the majority shareholder of Kirschner & Legler, P.A., general counsel to the Company since April 2001. From August 1995 to April 2001, Mr. Legler was the sole shareholder of the law firm of Mitchell W. Legler, P.A., which served as general counsel to the Company. Legal fees received by Kirschner & Legler, P.A. for fiscal year 2001 were $55,000 and legal fees for fiscal year 2001 received by Mitchell W. Legler, P.A. were $16,500.

Mr. Martin E. Stein, Jr. Mr. Stein is Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Regency Centers Corporation, a real estate investment trust, through which the Company leases eight locations owned by Regency Centers Corporation for approximately $1.8 million in base rent annually. The Board of Directors believes that rents paid for leased space are competitive with amounts that would be paid to a third party to lease similar space.

COMPARATIVE STOCK PERFORMANCE

The following graph compares the cumulative total stockholder return on the Company's common stock with the cumulative total return on The Nasdaq Stock Market® and The Nasdaq Stock Market® Retail Trades Stock Index for the last five years ended February 2, 2002. The comparison assumes $100 was invested at the beginning of the five year period in Stein Mart, Inc. stock and in each of the indices shown and assumes reinvestment of any dividends.

INDEPENDENT CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS

According to the timetable specified in the Audit Committee Charter, the independent certified public accountants for the Company for the upcoming fiscal year ending February 1, 2003 have not been selected. However, at this time, the Company has no reason to believe that PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP will not continue in that capacity for the fiscal year ending February 1, 2003. That firm has served as the auditor for the Company since 1983. Representatives of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP are expected to be present at the annual meeting of stockholders and will be accorded the opportunity to make a statement, if they so desire, and to respond to appropriate questions.

The following table provides information relating to the fees billed to the Company by PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP for the fiscal year ended February 2, 2002.

Audit Fees	$120,500
Financial Information Systems Design and Implementation Fees	$ -0-
All Other Fees (All other fees related to tax advisory and compliance services and services related to benefit plans. No fees related to general consulting)	$241,463

The Audit Committee discussed the non-audit services with PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP and determined that their provision would not impair that firm's independence.

OTHER MATTERS

The Board of Directors does not know of any other matters to come before the meeting; however, if any other matters properly come before the meeting it is the intention of the persons designated as proxies to vote in accordance with their best judgment on such matters. If any other matter should come before the meeting, action on such matter will be approved if the number of votes cast in favor of the matter exceeds the number opposed.

STOCKHOLDER PROPOSALS

Regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission require proxy statements to disclose the date by which stockholder proposals must be received by the Company in order to be included in the Company's proxy materials for the next annual meeting. In accordance with these regulations, stockholders are hereby notified that if they wish a proposal to be included in the Company's proxy statement and form of proxy relating to the 2003 annual meeting, a written copy of their proposal must be received at the principal executive offices of the Company no later than January 2, 2003. To ensure prompt receipt by the Company, proposals should be sent certified mail return receipt requested. Proposals must comply with the proxy rules relating to stockholder proposals in order to be included in the Company's proxy materials.

If any shareholder proposals are submitted to the Company but are not requested to be included in the Company proxy materials for the 2003 annual meeting, the persons named in proxies solicited by the Board of Directors for the 2003 annual meeting may exercise discretionary voting power with respect to any such proposal that the Company receives after March 18, 2003.
