Overview of FrontFour Capital

FrontFour employs a disciplined value-oriented approach to investing. Through our investment process, FrontFour engages in constructive dialogue with company management regarding their strategic plan and business outlook. In instances where it is clear management and the board are not acting in the best interest of all shareholders, we have successfully been an agent for change driving value and improving corporate governance for all shareholders; specifically within the broader general industrial and chemicals industries.

FrontFour’s track record of success has driven strong results for all shareholders:

Ferro Corporation
- Elected to Board
- Cost restructuring plan of $100mm+
- Divested multiple businesses for ~$290mm of proceeds
- Acquired $110mm+ of accretive businesses
- Improved corporate governance
- Stock appreciated ~162% subsequent to FrontFour’s public involvement

Sensient Technologies
- FrontFour pressure led to positive change
- Company announced significant cost restructuring plan
- Announced capital allocation strategy of ~$110mm stock buyback
- Improved corporate governance
- Stock appreciated ~28% subsequent to FrontFour’s public involvement

Zoltek Companies
- FrontFour along with investor group drove favorable change
- Company engaged J.P. Morgan to evaluate strategic alternatives to maximize shareholder value
- Company acquired by Toray Industries for $16.75 per share
- Stock appreciated ~90% subsequent to FrontFour’s public involvement

FrontFour owns 5.9% of OM Group, Inc. (“OM Group”, “OMG” or the “Company”) and is committed to maximizing value for all Shareholders.
Overview of OM Group

OM Group is a technology-driven global diversified industrial company serving end markets that include automotive systems, electronic devices, aerospace and defense, general industrial and renewable energy.

- Three distinct business platforms: Magnetic Technologies, Battery Technologies and Specialty Chemicals
- Key customers include some of the world’s best-known companies – BMW, BorgWarner, Continental, General Electric, Siemens, Boeing, Raytheon, Sherwin-Williams
- For the fiscal year ended 2014, the Company’s reported revenues and Adjusted EBITDA were ~$1,068 million and ~$108 million, resulting in margins of 10%
  - Adjusted EBITDA excl. Advanced Materials was ~$113 million

OM Group’s Diverse Product Suite Includes:

- Choke for Body Sensing in Airbags
- Choke for Electric Power Assisted Steering
- Coating Additives
- Specialty Medical Batteries
- Defense Missile Batteries
- Electric Meters
Stock Price Underperformance
- OMG has consistently underperformed versus its proxy self-defined peer group (the “Self-Defined Peer Group” or the “Peer Group”), the S&P 500 Index, the Russell 2000 Index and the S&P 500 Specialty Chemicals Index
- Since the CEO’s arrival on June 13, 2005, the stock has underperformed its Self-Defined Peer Group by 458%.

Weak Financial Performance
- EBITDA margins below the Self-Defined Peer Group driven by poor gross margins & high SG&A
- Working capital management is poor with significant cash trapped

Poor Capital Allocation
- The Company has engaged in a haphazard, value destructive M&A strategy as it has spent ~$1.5 billion for acquisitions versus the current enterprise value of ~$750 million (based on 1/8/15 closing price which is the date prior to FrontFour’s public involvement)
- Returns on equity (“ROE”) & returns on invested capital (“ROIC”) – significantly lag peers
- The Company is overcapitalized with minimal debt

Flawed Strategy
- After destroying $750 million on acquisitions its time to reassess this flawed strategy
- Three distinct platforms create opportunity for portfolio rationalization
- We believe there would be strong interest from both strategic and financial buyers willing to pay attractive multiples for all or parts of the Company
Culture Of Excessive Executive Compensation
- 4 straight years of missed compensation targets - yet CEO and executive pay continues to increase
- Executive team compensated in excess of better performing Self-Defined Peer Group
- Shareholders previously rejected executive compensation scheme
- The Company continues to receive cautious and negative commentary from governance firms

Board Of Directors - Poor Track Record, Weak Corporate Governance and De Minimis Stock Ownership
- Destruction of value during each of the eight (8) Director’s respective tenures as indicated by total shareholder return (“TSR”) versus Self-Defined Peer Group
- Weak compensation oversight - lack of accountability
- Independent directors own just 0.25% of shares outstanding
- Classified Board structure
- Limitations on shareholder rights - shareholders prohibited from calling special meetings or acting by written consent

Management & Board Lack Initiative And Are Reactionary
- Only after FrontFour’s announced plan for change do they announce restructuring efforts
- The Company’s plan lacks transparency and detail
- Lack of urgency persists as plan doesn’t address significant opportunity and asks shareholders to wait until the end of 2017
FrontFour Has A Clear Value Creation Plan
- FrontFour is one of the largest shareholders of OM Group and its interests are directly aligned with the interests of all shareholders
- We believe a clear path to value creation exists through a cost-cutting opportunity of at least $50 million, the release of $30 million in working capital and a $250 million stock buyback (net of cash restructuring costs)

Fresh Perspective Is Needed and FrontFour’s Nominees Are Ready To Provide It
- The right skill-set, knowledge and background to oversee a turnaround
- Operational, strategic and corporate governance expertise
- Relentless focus on cost optimization, growth repositioning, corporate governance
- Our nominees will work diligently and with a sense of urgency to drive value for all shareholders

- David A. Lorber: Co-founder/Portfolio Manager of FrontFour Capital Group LLC and Co-founder/Principal of FrontFour Capital Corp. Mr. Lorber currently sits on the Board of Ferro Corporation.

- Thomas R. Miklich: Has significant CFO, operating and M&A experience. Mr. Miklich currently sits on the Board of Quality Distribution and Noranda Aluminum Holding Corporation.

- Allen A. Spizzo: Has significant CFO, operating and M&A experience. Mr. Spizzo was the CFO and Head of Strategic Planning & Business Development for Hercules Incorporated prior to its sale to Ashland Inc. for $3.3 billion.

Board Has Been Reactionary, NOT Proactive – And Lacks A Cohesive Strategy

Cost optimization initiatives to achieve $30-$40 million annual cost savings by the end of 2017
- We have significant concerns regarding management’s ability to execute and the board’s ability to effectively oversee the Company’s largest restructuring effort in a decade
- This plan is in reaction to FrontFour’s proposal and is not aggressive enough as we strongly believe the Company could achieve at least $50 million in annual cost savings in the next 24 months

Realizing an asset impairment charge of $190-$200 million in Magnetic Technologies
- These impairment charges are the latest in a string of material charges and support FrontFour’s claim that the Company grossly overpaid for acquisitions and mismanaged businesses once acquired. As a result significant value has been destroyed.

Without a change of leadership and strategic direction we are concerned that the current value destructive path will continue and that shareholder capital will remain at risk
“…Considering the absence of value creation track record, we believe the activist that recently filed a 13-D has some legitimate arguments…”
Chris Kapsch, Topeka Capital Markets, 1/21/15

“…We are not surprised to see activists become more aggressive as we previously mentioned OMG is a prime candidate for activism given it has no leverage, a soft margin/high cost profile, and minimal synergies between segments…”
Kevin Hocevar, Northcoast Research, 1/13/15

“…The concerns stated by FrontFour Capital are in line with our view on the Company that there are opportunities to unlock significant shareholder value…..”
Ivan M. Marcuse, KeyBanc Capital Markets, 1/9/15

“…We see several different opportunities by which OMG can generate value and improve the different businesses…”
Ivan M. Marcuse, KeyBanc Capital Markets, 9/30/14
Weak Financial Performance
Adjusted EBITDA guidance has been revised downward multiple times and management recently reduced its long-term expected growth rate

Consistently Unreliable Guidance and Missed Targets

Weak Financial Performance Compared to Peers

Over the past 5 years, OM Group has underperformed its Self-Defined Peer Group across most key metrics.

2. The comparisons are performed on OM Group reported financials versus the average of Peer Group for the fiscal year ended 2014 compared to the fiscal year ended 2010.
Bloated and Inefficient Cost Structure

- Management has an apparent chronic dependence on adjusted, non-GAAP figures (i.e. Adjusted EBITDA) which has helped to portray their execution as better than reality and has also aided in masking a severely bloated cost structure.

- Significant cost rationalization opportunities are available, both at the corporate and segment levels.
  - We believe there are at least $50 million of cost savings opportunities within the Company

- The Company’s efficiency metrics are disastrous and support a greater restructuring effort.

SG&A Percentage of Sales Has Grown Progressively Worse

The Company’s SG&A levels have remained elevated and have become further disconnected with peers - its SG&A % of sales is 550+ basis points higher than peers.

Source: Company Filings, Bloomberg.
OM Group’s SG&A Expenses

- Bloated corporate overhead, inefficient operations, stranded costs, improperly integrated acquisitions and excessive compensation have driven OMG’s chronically inflated cost structure.

OM Group’s lack of cost discipline and inefficient SG&A structure have resulted in uncompetitive EBITDA Margins.
EBITDA margins down over 600 basis points since 2010 as a result of lack of execution and a flawed acquisition strategy.

Source: Company Filings, Bloomberg.

OMG’s comparatively low margins are driven by weak execution and excessive compensation.
Culture of Poor Capital Allocation
Despite asset sales and debt pay down shareholders have not realized value.
A History of Poor Capital Allocation

OM Group’s Acquisitions\(^{(1)}\) & Capital Spending

- Over the past 5 years, virtually every financial metric is worse off
  - Revenues, EBITDA, margins and financial returns are all significantly lower
  - The stock has a negative TSR over this time period
- Cumulative capex since Joe Scaminace became CEO has been ~$336 million, or ~$11 per share
- Cumulative acquisitions (excl. UPC sale) since Joe Scaminace became CEO has been ~$1.6 billion, or ~$50 per share

We strongly believe the Company’s shares are currently discounting shareholders’ fears that cash will be deployed into further value destructive acquisitions.
Increased Manufacturing Footprint Has Led to Inefficiencies

OM Group’s Revenues per Square Foot

Revenue per square foot continues to trend lower and is significantly below Self-Defined Peer Group

Source: Bloomberg, Company Filings.
Note: Calculations for 2013 and 2014 exclude Advanced Materials.
Poor & Uncompetitive Returns

- Weak standalone and comparative return metrics are, in our view, a direct result of poor operational oversight and lack of undisciplined capital allocation strategy

Simply writing down assets $500+ million over time to boost ROIC is not a proper value creation strategy

Source: Company Filings, Bloomberg.
Note: ROIC calculations assume OM Group and proxy peers corporate tax rate of 35% for comparability purposes.
Long History of Significant Asset Write-Downs and Charges

Cumulative charges and asset sale losses over the past 5 years represent close to 70% of the Company’s current value.

Joe Scaminace, CEO on Financial Guidance: "We have turned the page from a very successful 2013 and are now clearly and totally focused on performing well in 2014 and beyond. And to repeat Chris’ words, we are in an enviable position. We’ve worked hard to transform our portfolio, and we now have three value-added platforms that we’re confident that we could grow. These businesses are more predictable and sustainable, which is reflected in our 2014 EBITDA forecast that shows year-over-year improvement over our 2013 results."

Joe Scaminace, CEO on VAC Acquisition: “Just as importantly, it meets and exceeds our financial criteria for acquisitions, including among other things a business which delivers attractive, sustainable margins from value added products and a track record of generating strong cash flow from operations...I believe this represents a significant enhancement to our investment proposition and the ability to increase long-term value for our shareholders.”

Bloomberg VAC Acquisition Call (7/5/11) Transcript

Reality:
The Company overpaid for VAC and in process destroyed significant value for shareholders. Management also acquired a business doing north of 20% EBITDA margins and recently revised margin guidance downward in the range of 12-17%. STOCK DOWN 30% SINCE.
However, Mr. Scaminace’s Pay Has Increased Significantly Since 2005

- Mr. Scaminace’s total compensation growth has grown inversely to the performance of OM Group and now stands at 3.5% of EBITDA

  Even as one of the worst performers, as shown in a prior slide, Scaminace has collected north of $40 million in total compensation

Strangely and on top of already lavish compensation certain executive officers receive annual cash payments of $25,000 - $30,000 in lieu of perquisites.
Proxy Advisory Firms Have Raised Concerns About OMG’s Poor Compensation Practices

“...Given the company's -49.1 percent TSR in 2011, it may seem unreasonable to give the CEO a salary bump in 2012. Furthermore, the CEO's current salary is 17.1 percent above that of ISS-selected peer median....”

“...The exclusion of the CEO's target performance shares is unusual and undermines the transparency of full disclosure in the Summary Compensation Table, upon which shareholders rely heavily....”

ISS 2013 report

“...ISS' quantitative pay-for-performance screen indicates a medium level of concern due to total CEO pay over the last three years somewhat outranking company TSR during the same period, relative to a group of companies similar in industry and size....”

ISS 2014 report

In 2013, proxy advisory firm ISS expressed concerns regarding executive officers’ compensation; in 2012, ISS recommended a vote AGAINST this proposal.
“...The Company has been deficient in linking executive pay to corporate performance, as indicated by the "D" grade received by the Company in Glass Lewis' pay-for-performance model. Shareholders should be concerned with this disconnect...”

“...we believe that there are several issues that merit shareholder concern...”

“...we remain seriously concerned by the sustained failure to align pay and performance...”

Glass Lewis 2014 report

Since 2011, Glass Lewis has consistently given OM Group’s compensation practices a grade of D or worse.
The Time For Change is Now

FrontFour Has A Clear Value Creation Plan
FrontFour’s Nominees If Elected Will Seek to Address All Fundamental Issues

EXECUTION
- Board has failed to create shareholder value over both the short and long-term
- Board has approved value destructive acquisitions
- Cost structure and margin profile are amongst the worst in Peer Group
- Free cash flow has declined
- Balance sheet overcapitalized and working capital mismanaged

CULTURE
- Lack of ownership interest by management and the Board creates misalignment of interests
- Pay for performance culture is severely lacking
- Compensation targets have chronically been missed
- Stock has generated a negative annualized return over the past decade

GOVERNANCE
- Management has received excessive compensation despite missing performance targets
- Company did not receive approval from shareholders on executive compensation in 2012
- For years proxy advisory firms have raised concerns about compensation practices and related disclosures

Current Situation
- Focus on cost structure & margin improvement to drive profitability
- Take decisive actions to improve SG&A structure
- Drive efficient use of working capital through better inventory management
- Return shareholder capital in a disciplined manner
- Position the Company for profitable organic and acquisition growth

FrontFour Position
- Introduce a culture that is accountable and performance-driven
- Work with management to set ambitious but realistic targets and hold management accountable to those targets
- Create an environment where employees are compensated and promoted based on performance
- Re-energize the Board with experienced executives who are independent, cost focused value creators
- Push for state of the art corporate governance practices, including declassification of the Board
- Align pay with performance and drive a high performance culture of accountability
FrontFour’s Value Creation Plan

Comprehensive Cost Restructuring & Margin Improvement Opportunity
- Target $50 million of cost savings over the next 24 months
- Drive additional cost savings and revenue enhancement initiatives

Working Capital Efficiency

Working capital inefficiency persists and an unexploited opportunity exists.
Aggressive Cost Discipline is Needed

OM Group’s SG&A/Gross Profit

- This ratio highlights the Company’s ineffective SG&A structure as it measures the ability of the Company to leverage each dollar of gross profit into bottom line earnings.

OM Group’s SG&A as a Percent of Gross Profit Remains Elevated and Shareholders are Losing 87% of Gross Profit to Bloated SG&A Expenses.

The rationalization of SG&A will quickly translate into significant earnings leverage.
