ASIA PACIFIC FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT GROUP, INC.
(a Guam Corporation)

Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2022

1. Organization and Nature of Business

Asia Pacific Financial Management Group, Inc. (APFMG or the Company), previously named Asia Pacific Investors Services, was incorporated under the laws of the Territory of Guam on March 2, 1993 with the filing of its incorporation documents at the Government of Guam Department of Revenue and Taxation. The Company is registered as a broker-dealer in securities under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and as an investment adviser under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. APFMG renders investment management and broker-dealer services in mutual funds, corporate stocks and fixed income securities on both an agency and principal basis to its Guam located customers on a fully disclosed basis through other broker-dealers. APFMG is exempt from the reserve requirement under SEC rule 15c3-3(k)(2)(ii) since it does not handle or carry customer securities and cash. Non-covered company activities or other eligible activities are not required to comply with the requirements of SEC rule 15c3-3 by reason of the SEC's guidance set forth on Footnote 74 of the SEC Release No. 34-70073.

2. Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Accounting

The Company utilizes the accrual method of accounting. Security transactions and related commission revenue and expense are recorded on a trade date basis.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the statement of financial condition and the statement of cash flows, cash is defined as cash on hand, money market accounts, cash due from banks and brokerage accounts, and cash on deposit with banks.

Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable primarily represent management and consulting fees due for financial and investment advisory services. The Company's customers are primarily individuals and businesses located in Guam, but the funds are invested primarily in large U.S. companies. The

Company has a geographic concentration. If all of the investment firms that Company deals with were unable to meet their obligations, the Company would experience a loss equal to the balance of accounts receivable reflected in the accompanying statement of financial condition.

Revenue Recognition

Significant Judgments

Revenue from contracts with customers includes commission income and fees from asset management services. The recognition of revenue is based on the assessment of individual contract terms. Significant judgment is required to determine whether performance obligations are satisfied at a point in time or over time; how to allocate transaction prices where multiple performance obligations are identified; when to recognize revenue based on the appropriate measure of the Company's progress under the contract; and whether constraints on variable consideration should be applied due to uncertain future events.

Commissions

Brokerage commissions. The Company buys and sells securities on behalf of its customers. Each time a customer enters into a buy or sell transaction, the Company charges a commission. Commissions and related clearing expense are recorded on the trade date (the date that the Company fills the trade order by finding and contracting with a counterparty and confirms the trade with the customer). The Company believes that the performance obligation is satisfied on the trade date because that is when the underlying financial instrument or purchaser is identified, the pricing is agreed upon and the risks and rewards of ownership have been transferred to/from the customer.

Life insurance commissions. The Company sells life insurance as a broker. The Company recognizes revenue for the commissions it earns over time as the premiums are collected.

Interest Revenue. The Company earns interest revenue principally from client money market and margin accounts. This income is included in Income.

Mutual fund 12b-1 fees. Consist primarily of commissions paid directly to the Company by mutual fund stockholders at the time of sale (front-end commissions) and fees paid to the broker/dealer by the mutual fund over a period of time referred to as 12b-1 fees.

ASIA PACIFIC FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT GROUP, INC.
(a Guam Corporation)

Notes to Financial Statements, continued

Annuity commissions. The Company sells annuities to customers and earns commissions on the initial sale as well as residual commissions based on the amount invested.

Asset Management

Investment advisory fees. The Company provides investment advisory services on a daily basis. The Company believes the performance obligation for providing advisory services is satisfied over time because the customer is receiving and consuming the benefits as they are provided by the Company.

Fee arrangements are based on a percentage applied to the customer's assets under management. Fees are received monthly and are recognized as revenue at that time as they relate specifically to the services provided in that period, which are distinct from the services provided in other periods.

Costs to Obtain or fulfill a Contract with a Customer

The Company does not incur significant costs to obtain contracts with customers, such as commissions paid to employees for obtaining new contracts. The Company has therefore not recorded an asset for such costs.

Property, Equipment and Leasehold Improvements

Property, equipment and leasehold improvements are recorded at cost or estimated net book value at the date of transfer. Depreciation of property and equipment, and amortization of leasehold improvements, which is included in depreciation expense, is based on the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets. Leasehold improvements are amortized over the lives of the respective lease or the service lives of the improvements.

Income Taxes

The Territory of Guam has adopted the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) as the local income tax, on a "mirror image" basis.

(a Guam Corporation)

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences attributable to temporary differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases and operating loss and tax credit carryforwards.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in income in the period that includes the enactment date.

The Company does not have any unrecognized tax benefits at December 31, 2022 that would affect the annual effective tax rate. The Company evaluates its tax positions and will provide for an uncertainty if it is probable that the position would not be sustainable. The Company's policy is to reflect penalties and interest separately from the income tax provision

The Company files its corporate income tax return in the Territory of Guam. With few exceptions, the Company is no longer subject to Guam income tax examinations by tax authorities for years before 2019. The Company does not have any unrecognized tax benefits at December 31, 2022 that would affect the annual effective tax rate.

The Company recognizes interest accrued related to unrecognized tax benefits as interest expense and recognizes penalties in operating expenses. The Company did not recognize any interest or penalties in the year ended December 31, 2022, related to unrecognized tax benefits.

Advertising

The costs of non-direct response advertising are charged to expense as incurred.

4. Fair Value

Fair Value Hierarchy

FASB ASC 820 defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value, and establishes a hierarchy of fair value inputs. Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. A fair value measurement assumes that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability occurs in the principal market for the asset or liability or, in the absence of a principal market, the most advantageous market. Valuation techniques that are consistent with the market, income or cost approach, as specified by FASB ASC 820, are used to measure fair value.

ASIA PACIFIC FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT GROUP, INC.
(a Guam Corporation)

December 31, 2022

4. Fair Value, continued

The fair value hierarchy prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value into three broad levels:

- Level 1. Quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company can access at the measurement date.
- Level 2. Inputs other than quoted prices included within level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability either directly or indirectly.
- Level 3. Unobservable inputs for the asset or liability.

The availability of observable inputs can vary from security to security and is affected by a wide variety of factors, including, for example, the type of security, the liquidity of markets, and other characteristics particular to the security. To the extent that valuation is based on models or inputs that are less observable or unobservable in the market, the determination of fair value requires more judgment. Accordingly, the degree of judgment exercised in determining fair value is greatest for instruments categorized in level 3.

The inputs used to measure fair value may fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, for disclosure purposes, the level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement falls in its entirety is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety.

Processes and Structure

The Board of Directors is responsible for the Company's fair value valuation policies, processes, and procedures. The Board implements valuation control processes to validate the fair value of the Company's financial instruments measured at fair value, including those derived from pricing models. These control processes are designed to assure that the values used for financial reporting are based on observable inputs wherever possible. In the event that observable inputs are not available, the control processes are designed to assure that the valuation approach utilized is appropriate and consistently applied and that the assumptions are reasonable.

Fair value is a market-based measure considered from the perspective of a market participant rather than an entity-specific measure. Therefore, even when market assumptions are not readily available, the Company's own assumptions are set to reflect those that the Company believes market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability at the measurement date.

ASIA PACIFIC FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT GROUP, INC.
(a Guam Corporation)

December 31, 2022

A description of the valuation techniques applied to the company's major categories of assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis follows:

Cash and cash equivalents, and deposits with clearing organizations are essentially cash and are therefore valued at fair value. The fair value of amounts receivable from brokers, prepaid expenses, accounts payable, accrued expenses, and commissions payable are approximately the same as their carrying values, due to the short-term nature of the accounts.

Exchange-Traded Equity Securities. Exchange-traded equity securities are generally valued based on quoted prices from the exchange. To the extent these securities are actively traded, valuation adjustments are not applied, and they are categorized in level 1 of the fair value hierarchy; otherwise, they are categorized in level 2 or level 3 of the fair value hierarchy.

The following table presents the Company's fair value hierarchy for those assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis as of December 31, 2021:

Level 1

Corporate equities	$245,301
Exchange traded products	163,125
Total	$408,426

The investments carried at fair value above are included with a cash equivalent of $167,699 in the accompanying statement of financial condition as "Funds held in trading securities account" at a total of $576,125.

Management determines the appropriate classification of investment securities at the time they are acquired and evaluates the appropriateness of such classifications at each balance sheet date. Investments in securities with a readily determinable fair value, not accounted for under the equity method, are recorded at that value with unrealized gains and losses included in earnings. For equity securities without a readily determinable fair value, the investment is recorded at cost, less any impairment, plus or minus adjustments related to observable transactions for the same or similar securities, with unrealized gains and losses included in earnings. Debt securities held to maturity are carried at amortized cost and unamortized gains and losses are not recognized. Realized gains and losses are included in other income or expense in the statement of operations on a specific-identification basis.

ASIA PACIFIC FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT GROUP, INC.
(a Guam Corporation)

December 31, 2022

4. Fair Value, continued

Fair Value Option

FASB ASC 825, Financial Instruments, provides a fair value option election that allows entities to irrevocably elect fair value as the initial and subsequent measurement attribute for certain financial assets and liabilities. Changes in fair value are recognized in earnings as they occur for those assets and liabilities for which the election is made. The election is made on an instrument-by-instrument basis at initial recognition of an asset or liability or upon an event that gives rise to a new basis of accounting for that instrument. The fair value option has not been elected as of December 31, 2022.

5. Accounting Pronouncements

In May 2014, the FASB issued ASU 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Topic 606). This ASU introduced a comprehensive, principles-based framework for recognizing revenue that supersedes the revenue recognition requirements contained in FASB ASC 605 Revenue Recognition and virtually all industry-specific revenue recognition guidance. The ASU provides a framework to address revenue recognition issues, create more consistency and comparability of revenue recognition practices, and improve the usefulness of financial information provided to the users of the financial statements through additional disclosures.

The FASB has issued several ASUs subsequent to the issuance of ASU 2014-09 to provide further clarification. The subsequent ASUs have the same effective date as that of ASU 2014-09.

In August 2015 the original effective dates of ASU 2014-09 were deferred by one year through the issuance of ASU 2015-14, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Topic 606): Deferral of the Effective Date. The effective date of ASU 2014-09 is therefore for annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2017 (for public entities). The Company adopted ASU 2014-09 under the modified retrospective approach, applying the amendments to prospective reporting periods. Results for reporting periods beginning after January 1, 2019, are presented under Topic 606, while prior period amounts are not adjusted and continue to be reported in accordance with the historic accounting under Topic 605. The implementation of the standard did not change the amounts of revenue recognized by the Company, nor did it require a cumulative adjustment to reported earnings. The implementation of the standard resulted in expanded disclosures of the types of revenue recognized by the Company.

5. Accounting Pronouncements, continued

In February 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-02, Leases (Topic 842). This ASU was issued to increase transparency and comparability among organizations by recognizing lease assets and lease liabilities on the statement of financial condition and disclosing key information about leasing arrangements. This ASU became effective for public entities for years beginning after December 15, 2018. The Company implemented this ASU as of January 1, 2019.
