20 December 2001

Allied Domecq Espana, S.A. (a subsidiary of Allied Domecq PLC, Allied Domecq") announces that its tender offer for Bodegas y Bebidas, S.A. ("Bodegas y Bebidas") has been successful, having received acceptances of... 93.06%.

The settlement date for acceptances will be December 27, 2001.

As previously announced, upon conclusion of the Offer, Allied Domecq intends to de-list Bodegas y Bebidas from the Stock Exchange. Allied Domecq will apply for de-listing without a de-listing tender offer since it considers that the approved tender offer satisfies shareholders' interests, as evidenced by an independent valuation reviewed by the CNMV and incorporated into the offer documentation.

Philip Bowman, Allied Domecq's Chief Executive said:

"The acquisition of Bodegas y Bebidas is a further step towards the consolidation of Allied Domecq's position in the premium global wine market and represents a major addition to our international wine portfolio in Spain. We are delighted to have acquired the market leader, which fits so well with Allied Domecq's existing business, in a growing sector of the Spanish market."

ALLIED DOMEQCQ AND MILLER BREWING FORM COMMERCIAL PARTNERSHIP TO LAUNCH RANGE OF ALTERNATIVE MALT BEVERAGES

New Ready-to-Drink (RTD) Malt Products Extend Leading Brands Into Fast-Growing Alternative Malt Beverage Market

January 18, 2002 (New York) – Allied Domecq PLC (LSE: ALLD.L) and Milwaukee-based Miller Brewing Company today announced a commercial partnership to introduce a range of new alternative malt beverages, the first two of which will be based on Allied Domecq’s popular Stolichnaya vodka and Sauza tequila. These new drinks will reach U.S. adult consumers this spring through over 500,000 retail outlets serviced by Miller’s nationwide distributor network. As the market develops, both parties will explore further opportunities utilizing the Allied Domecq portfolio of core spirits brands.

Philip Bowman, Allied Domecq’s Chief Executive, said, “We will be the only player with a strong, premium brand presence across multiple categories of ready-to-drink malt beverages that legal-drinking-age consumers are demanding, thereby accelerating the fastest-growing segment of the industry. By leveraging Miller’s production capabilities, its broad distribution system and strong sales and marketing organization, and capitalizing on the strong brand equity of our products -- beginning with Stolichnaya and Sauza - we are moving into this category in an innovative way.” He added, “We intend to be a major player and we’re confident our intent to establish leadership in this category will be met with enthusiasm and success. Our beverages will be a hit with adult consumers.”

Miller’s CEO, John Bowlin, said, “Allied’s premium portfolio of brands represents a strong opportunity to provide our distributors and retailers a tremendous range of new tastes and choices to offer to consumers. I look forward to adding the Allied Domecq branded products to our portfolio in the company of leading brands Miller Lite, Miller High Life and Miller Genuine Draft.”

Mr. Bowlin added, "Miller's distributors will have the benefit of developing and winning in the category with great brands that promise to create broad, established adult consumer appeal."

The new Stolichnaya and Sauza ready-to-drink malt beverage products will be produced and distributed by Miller in the U.S. and available to consumers in late spring. The companies will initially invest up to $50 million in development, launch activity and marketing of these trademarks.

Mr. Bowman continued, "Allied Domecq's portfolio of premium brands appeals to a diverse range of adult consumers and drinking occasions. Making these brands available as an alternative malt beverage will enable legal-drinking-age consumers to enjoy them in a wider range of occasions. Our research indicates a strong appeal with adult consumers for these new flavors in alternative malt beverages. We will support our brands with strong advertising and creative marketing for both on and off premise."

Allied Domecq Trading Statement

Allied Domecq announces that recent decisions by the Mexican tax authorities now enable future Mexican excise duty rebates to be predicted more accurately. An accelerated earnings benefit of £110 million is forecast for the year to August, 2002.

Allied Domecq continues to make progress. Today's announcement of the launch of a range of ready-to-drink products in the USA in conjunction with Miller Brewing marks the first tangible step of the accelerated brand development and innovation programme. This programme of revitalising the brand portfolio, innovation and targeted advertising and promotion is expected to build on our ability to deliver shareholder returns.

The first four months of Allied Domecq's financial year have been a challenging and uncertain period for the world economy as a whole. However, we still anticipate that underlying earnings for the first half of the year will be up to previous expectations, before the net benefit of the Mexican excise rebate and the costs of reducing stocks in the US supply chain.

Brand advertising and promotion continues to increase in line with the number of attractive investment opportunities available to the company. The acquisitions completed during the last year are being integrated successfully to plan and are enhancing earnings.

The economic slowdown in the USA has affected the spirits market which, coupled with continued aggressive competition, will hold back top-line performance. However, recent steps to address the challenges in the USA are expected to enhance Allied Domecq's competitive position. As announced last October, we anticipate that this year's trading profit will be reduced by some £20 million from further reducing stocks in the US supply chain.

A good Christmas in the UK resulted in December market share growth in major retailers for all Allied Domecq's key brands. The market share of Ballantine's and Beefeater continued to grow in Spain.

Quick Service Restaurants continues to make good progress with Dunkin' Donuts growing market share and Baskin-Robbins maintaining the momentum developed in 2001.

The interim results for the six months to end February 2002, will be announced on 29 April.
