INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

Investment Management Corporation
Salt Lake City, Utah

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial condition of Investment Management Corporation as of December 31, 2001 and 2000 and the related statements of operations, retained earnings, and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Investment Management Corporation as of December 31, 2001, and 2000 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2001 AND 2000

NOTE 1 - SUMMARY OF ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The summary of accounting policies of Investment Management Corporation is presented to assist in understanding the Company's financial statements. The accounting principles conform to generally accepted accounting principles and have been consistently applied in the preparation of the financial statements.

History And Dividend Policy

The Company was incorporated under the laws of the State of Nevada on August 18, 1994 under the name of Kunz & Cline Management, Inc., changed its domicile to Utah on January 11, 1999, and changed its name to Investment Management Corporation on October 14, 1999. The Company was in the development stage as of December 31, 1994. The Company commenced planned principal operations on January 1, 1995. The Company has at the present time not paid any dividends and any dividends that may be paid in the future will depend upon the financial requirements of the Company and other relevant factors.

Business

The Company engages in the business of a securities broker/dealer and operates as a fully disclosed correspondent broker.

Accounting Method

The Company's financial statements are prepared on the accrual method of accounting. Customers' securities and commodities transactions are recorded on a settlement date basis with related commissions and expenses recorded on a trade date basis. Marketable securities are valued at market value. The resulting difference between cost and market is included in income.

Cash And Cash Equivalents

For the purposes of the cash flow statement, the Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with a maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Income Taxes

The Company accounts for income taxes under the provisions of SFAS No. 109, "Accounting for Income Taxes." SFAS No. 109 requires recognition of deferred income tax assets and liabilities for the expected future income tax consequences, based on enacted tax laws, of temporary differences between the financial reporting and tax bases of assets and liabilities.

Pervasiveness of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Reclassifications

Certain reclassifications have been made in the 2000 financial statements to conform with the 2001 presentation.

Furniture, Equipment and Organizational Costs

Furniture and equipment are stated at cost. Depreciation and amortization are computed using the straight-line method over the estimated economic useful lives of the related assets as follows:

Office furniture and equipment	5-10 years
--------------------------------	------------

Upon sale or other disposition of property and equipment, the cost and related accumulated depreciation or amortization are removed from the accounts and any gain or loss is included in the determination of income or loss.

Expenditures for maintenance and repairs are charged to expense as incurred. Major overhauls and betterments are capitalized and depreciated over their estimated economic useful lives.

NOTE 2 - RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

The Company entered into a lease agreement for office equipment with an officer of the corporation. See note 4.

NOTE 3 - NET CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1 (and the rule of the "applicable" exchange also provides that equity capital may not be withdrawn or cash dividends paid if the resulting net capital ratio would exceed 10 to 1). At December 31, 2001 and 2000, the Company had net capital of $44,799 and $41,501 which was $39,799 and $36,501 in excess of its required net capital of $5,000 for 2001 and 2000, respectively. At December 31, 2001 and 2000, the Company's net capital ratio was .58 and .21, respectively.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2001 AND 2000

NOTE 4 - RENT AND LEASE EXPENSE

The Company utilizes office equipment under a cancelable lease between the corporation and an officer of the corporation. The equipment lease is based on the profitability of the Company and is negotiated monthly. The amount due under this lease may not exceed $1,000 per month. As of December 31, 2001 no lease payments for equipment under this lease have been paid or accrued, nor are any amounts due.

The Company occupies offices under an operating lease beginning January 1, 2001 and ending February 28, 2002, and beginning February 1, 2002 and ending January 31, 2007.

The minimum future lease payments under these leases for the next five years are:

Year Ended December 31,	Real Property	Equipment
2002	$ 24,766	$ -
2003	21,898	-
2004	22,774	-
2005	23,685	-
2006	24,633	-
	$ 117,756	$ -
Total minimum future lease payments	$ 117,756	$ -

The leases generally provides that insurance and maintenance expenses are obligations of the Company. It is expected that in the normal course of business, leases that expire will be renewed or replaced by leases on other properties.

NOTE 5 - INCOME TAX

At December 31, 2001, the Company has a net operating loss carryforward totaling approximately $26,000 that may be offset against future taxable income. The loss carryforward expires in years beginning 2009 if not used. A tax benefit has not been reported in the accompanying financial statements, however, because the Company is uncertain as to the likelihood of utilization of the carryforward. Accordingly, the approximate tax benefit loss carryforward has been offset by a valuation allowance.

NOTE 8 - CONTINGENCIES

In the normal course of business activities, the Company is subject to various regulatory agencies who review the Company's operations. At the conclusion of a review by the National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD), the NASD began an investigation of the company for alleged securities violations in regard to the private placement of securities of a third party issuer in which the Company acted as agent. The NASD 3RD District Business Conduct Committee ("DBCC"), following a hearing has proposed the certain fines and other sanctions. The Company appealed the DBCC's decision to the National Adjudicatory Council ("NAC"). The NAC made its decision on July 7, 1999. The NAC affirmed the decision of the BDCC on three of four caused and reversed the DBCC's decision on one cause. The NAC proposed fines and other sanctions as follows: the Company and Kevin Kunz would be fined jointly and severally in the amount of $20,000 plus $2,597 in court costs, Kevin Kunz would be fined individually in the amount of $5,000, Kevin Kunz would be suspended for 15 days in a registered capacity with the NASD and one year in a principal capacity, and Mr. Kunz would be required to requalify as a principal and registered representative by examination. The Company appealed the NAC's decision to the U.S. Securities & Exchange Commission (SEC). On January 16, 2002 the SEC made its order sustaining the both the disciplinary action taken and the assessment of costs imposed by the NASD. The Company has 60 days from the date of the Order to file a petition with the United states Court of Appeals requesting that the Order be modified or set aside in whole or in part . There is no automatic stay of execution upon filing of the petition. However, a stay may be sought from the SEC or the United States Court of Appeals. The Company intends to file the petition and seek a stay of execution. No prediction can be made as of December 31, 2001 as to the outcome of this matter.

The NASD commenced a disciplinary action against the Company with the NASD Office of Hearing Officers. The Complaint alleges the Company (a) conducted a securities business while failing to maintain the minimum required net capital; (b) failed to maintain accurate books and records; (c) filed inaccurate quarterly financial or "FOCUS" reports; (d) filed an incomplete and materially inaccurate notice with the United States Securities & Exchange Commission; (e) failed to file required information with the NASD; (f) permitted an inactive person to function in a capacity requiring registration; and (g) maintained inadequate supervisory procedures. The Company answered the Complaint and denied each of the material allegations. The case is set for hearing on April 8-9, 2002. No prediction can be made as of December 31, 2001 as to the outcome of this matter.

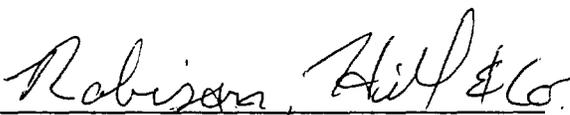

The Company is aware that the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) is conducting its own investigation into the facts and circumstances surrounding the offer and sale of securities by the third party issuer referred to above. Although the Company has supplied information to the SEC, the Company is not aware of the scope or the objectives of the investigation by the SEC.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON INTERNAL ACCOUNTING CONTROL REQUIRED
BY SEC RULE 17A-5

Investment Management Corporation
Salt Lake City, Utah

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Investment Management Corporation for the year ended December 31, 2001 we considered its internal control structure, including procedures for safe-guarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

We also made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and the procedures for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. We did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13 or in complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under section 8 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, because the Company does not carry security accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities. The Company operates as a fully disclosed broker.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control structure and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal control structure policies and procedures and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the Commission's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of an internal control structure and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control structure or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or irregularities may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of the internal control structure would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control structure that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control structure elements does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or irregularities in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving the internal control structure, including procedures for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

During our study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, in complying with the conditions of the exemption under rule 15c3-3, no matters came to our attention indicating that such conditions of the exemption were not complied with during the audit period.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the Commission to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2001, to meet the Commission's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of management, the Securities and Exchange Commission, and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and should not be used for any other purpose.
