INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Members
Ideas In Motion, LLC

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of Ideas In Motion, LLC as of December 31, 2001, and the related statements of income, changes in liabilities subordinated to claims of general creditors, changes in stockholders' equity and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Ideas In Motion, LLC as of December 31, 2001, and its results of operations and cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

Our audit has been made primarily for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the financial statements taken as a whole. The supplementary information is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is information required by Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subjected to the procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

IDEAS IN MOTION, LLC

Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2001

NOTE 1 - ORGANIZATION

The Company was organized April 15, 1998. The Company is a broker-dealer and an electronic member of the Pacific Exchange; the Company trades in equity securities. The Company does not carry customer accounts as defined in rule 15c3-3 of the Securities Act.

NOTE 2 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Revenue Recognition - Securities transactions, commissions and expenses are recorded on trade date.

Mark-to-Market - Securities owned and securities sold, not yet purchased are recorded at market value on trade date.

Cash and Cash Equivalents - For financial statement purposes, all highly liquid debt instruments with a maturity of three months or less at date of acquisition are considered to be cash equivalents.

Depreciation - Depreciation is recorded using accelerated methods over the useful life of the related assets.

Management's Use of Estimates - The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Income Taxes - The Company is treated as a partnership under the Internal Revenue Code. The Company allocates taxable income or loss to the Members of the Company, who are responsible for reporting the taxes thereon. Accordingly, no income tax provision has been included in the determination of net income.

NOTE 3 - FAIR VALUE OF FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

Substantially all of the Company's assets and liabilities are considered financial instruments as defined by Statement of Financial Accounting Standard No. 107 and, except for joint back office stock, are either already reflected at fair values, or are short-term or replaceable on demand. Therefore, their carrying amounts approximate their fair values.

IDEAS IN MOTION, LLC

Notes to Financial Statements (Continued)
December 31, 2001

NOTE 4 - NOTE PAYABLE

The Company has entered into a loan agreement with a member. At December 31, 2001 the amount borrowed was $250,000; the loan bears interest at 15% and is due January 2002.

NOTE 5 - COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

The Company leased office space under an agreement expiring in 2003. Approximate minimum lease payments under this agreement, exclusive of executory costs, are as follows:

2002	$ 14,400
2003	14,400
Total	$ 28,800

Office rental expense was $17,053 for 2001.

There were no contingent liabilities at the statement date.

NOTE 6 - FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS WITH OFF-BALANCE-SHEET
RISK AND CONCENTRATIONS OF CREDIT RISK

In the normal course of business, the Company enters into transactions in financial instruments with varying degrees of off-balance-sheet risk. These financial instruments include corporate securities. The trading of these financial instruments is conducted with other registered broker-dealers. The Company's exposure to credit risk associated with counterparty nonperformance on the above financial instruments is limited to the amounts reflected in the statement of financial condition.

Upon occasion the Company enters into short sale transactions. Securities sold, not yet purchased represent obligations of the Company to deliver specified securities at the contracted price, and thereby create a liability to repurchase the securities in the market at prevailing prices. These transactions may result in off-balance-sheet risk as the Company's ultimate obligation to satisfy its obligation for securities sold, not yet purchased may exceed the amount recognized in the statement of financial condition.

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS 60605

To the Members
Ideas In Motion, LLC
Schaumburg, Illinois

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Ideas In Motion, LLC for the year ended December 31, 2000, we considered its internal control structure in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities Exchange Commission, we made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the company in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and the procedures for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. We did not review the practices and procedures followed by the company in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13 or in complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under section 8 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, because the company does not carry security accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities.

The management of the company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control structure and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, management is required to make estimates and judgments to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal control structure policies and procedures and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the Commission's above-mentioned objectives. The objective of an internal control structure and of the practices and procedures is to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance (1) that assets for which the company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and (2) that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control structure or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or irregularities may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operations may deteriorate.

Our consideration of the internal control structure would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control structure that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the AICPA. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control structure elements does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or irregularities in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. Due to the limited size of the company and number of personnel involved in the accounting function, conditions exist that do not permit the separation of duties or certain other controls and procedures for reliance or implementation of a detailed system of internal controls. However, we noted no matters involving the internal control structure that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objective referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the Commission to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objective in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2000, to meet the Commission's objective.

This report is intended solely for the use of management, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Pacific Exchange, and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and should not be used for any other purpose.
