Comerica Securities, Inc.

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of Comerica Securities, Inc. as of December 31, 2001, and the related statements of income, changes in shareholder's equity, and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Comerica Securities, Inc. at December 31, 2001, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States.

Comerica Securities, Inc.

Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2001

1. Organization

Comerica Securities, Inc. (the Company) is a self-clearing broker and dealer. The Company is engaged primarily in the retail and institutional brokerage business and is registered as a broker and dealer in securities under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The Company is a wholly-owned, indirect subsidiary of Comerica Incorporated.

2. Significant Accounting Policies

Cash Equivalents

Short-term investments with initial maturities of less than 90 days when purchased, including money market investments, are considered to be cash equivalents.

Trading Securities

Trading securities are carried at market value and at December 31, 2001 consist primarily of municipal bonds.

Premises and Equipment

Equipment is carried at historical cost, less accumulated depreciation. The provision for depreciation is computed on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful life of the equipment. Leasehold improvements are amortized over the terms of respective leases or the estimated useful lives of the improvements, whichever is shorter.

Income Taxes

The Company files a consolidated federal income tax return with Comerica Incorporated. The Company records an income tax expense (credit), which results from including its income and expenses in the consolidated federal tax return. Settlement with Comerica Bank (subsidiary of Comerica Incorporated) for federal income taxes is made on a basis as if the Company filed a separate return.

Comerica Securities, Inc.

2. Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principals generally accepted in the United States requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts in the financial statements and accompanying notes. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

3. Related Party Transactions

In the normal course of business, the Company has transactions with Comerica Bank and Comerica Incorporated. Fees paid to related parties in 2001 included $8,423,311 for property rental and $11,846,040 for operating, accounting and administrative services.

Comerica Bank also pays certain expenses on behalf of the Company and is subsequently reimbursed for such payments. Included in other liabilities are amounts due to Comerica Bank of approximately $7,197,654 at December 31, 2001. Also included in other liabilities are federal income taxes payable of $2,745,464 due to Comerica Bank.

At December 31, 2001 the Company had $11,559,493 on deposit in interest and non-interest bearing accounts with Comerica Bank.

4. Financial Instruments with Off-Balance Sheet Risk

In the normal course of business, the Company enters into various commitments to purchase municipal bond securities from underwriters and sell such securities to customers. These commitments have settlement terms of up to 45 days. These transactions are not reflected in the Company's balance sheet and involve, to varying degrees, elements of credit and market risk. Credit risk results from the possible inability of the counterparty to the transaction to deliver or take delivery of the securities in accordance with the agreement. Market risk is represented by the potential loss the Company may incur from having to purchase these securities in the open market at prevailing market prices in order to fulfill its obligation in the event of non-delivery of customer securities. At December 31, 2001, there were no outstanding commitments to purchase securities.

Comerica Securities, Inc.

4. Financial Instruments with Off-Balance Sheet Risk (continued)

In the process of making commitments to purchase and sell securities, the Company may become contingently liable to purchase its prorated share of that portion of a pool of municipal bond issues not sold by participating underwriters. At December 31, 2001, no contingent liability existed.

5. Net Capital Requirements

The Company is subject to the Securities & Exchange Commission's Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1). Based on the provisions of this rule, the Company must currently maintain net capital equivalent to the greater of $250,000 or 1/15th of aggregate indebtedness as defined.

As of December 31, 2001, the Company's net capital was $36,825,674 and its required net capital was $479,310. The ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital (which may not exceed 15 to 1) was .20 to 1.

6. Special Reserve Account for Benefit of Customers

Investment securities and cash have been segregated in a special reserve account for the exclusive benefit of customers pursuant to federal regulations under Rule 15c3-3 of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

7. Estimated Fair Values of Financial Instruments

Accounting principles generally accepted in the United States currently require disclosure of estimated fair market values of financial instruments. The Company may use present value techniques to determine the estimated values of its financial instruments where quoted market values are not available. These techniques require judgment, and the estimates may be significantly affected by the assumptions made. The Company's financial instruments, other than trading securities, are short-term and therefore carrying amounts approximate fair value. Trading securities are carried at quoted market value or the market value for comparable securities, which represents estimated fair value.

Comerica Securities, Inc.

8. Income Taxes

The current and deferred components of the provision for income taxes for the year ended December 31, 2001 were a current provision of $1,575,356 and a deferred benefit of $(268,856), respectively. The principal component of the deferred tax asset as of December 31, 2001 was employee benefits. Included in the provision for income taxes on the Statement of Income are other state and local taxes of $416,688.

9. Merger of Comerica Securities, Incorporated with Imperial Securities Corporation and Subsidiary

On July 31, 2002, Imperial Securities Corporation and Subsidiary ("Imperial Securities"), a wholly-owned indirect subsidiary of Comerica Incorporated, was merged into Comerica Securities, Inc. This combination of entities under common control was accounted for in a manner similar to a pooling-of-interest, and accordingly the assets and liabilities of Imperial Securities were recorded on the books of the Company at historical values and the accompanying statement of income, cash flows and changes in shareholders' equity include all transactions of Imperial Securities for the year ended December 31, 2001. All of the outstanding shares of common stock of Imperial Securities were cancelled and retired. Total assets and liabilities transferred were $14,284,000 and $3,754,000, respectively.

Independent Auditors' Supplementary Report on Internal Control

Board of Directors
Comerica Securities, Inc.:

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Comerica Securities, Inc. (the Company), for the year ended December 31, 2001, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the criteria stated in rule 17a-5(g), in the following:

1. Making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and the reserve required by rule 15c3-3(e)
2. Making the quarterly securities examination, counts, verifications, and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System
4. Obtaining and maintaining physical possession or control of all fully paid and excess margin securities of customers as required by rule 15c3-3

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls, and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned criteria. Two of the criteria of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional criteria of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, misstatement due to errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of internal control to future periods are subject to the risk that internal control may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the effectiveness of its design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that meet the criteria referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not meet such criteria in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2001, to meet the SEC's criteria.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
