The Board of Directors
Webster Investment Services, Inc.:

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental financial schedules of Webster Investment Services, Inc. (a wholly owned subsidiary of Webster Bank) (the Company), for the year ended December 31, 2001, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons
2. Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2001 to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of management, Duff & Phelps, LLC, the SEC, and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered broker dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

Independent Auditors' Report

The Board of Directors
Webster Investment Services, Inc.:

We have audited the accompanying statements of condition of Webster Investment Services, Inc. (a wholly-owned subsidiary of Webster Bank) as of December 31, 2001 and 2000, and the related statements of income, changes in shareholder's equity, and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Webster Investment Services, Inc. as of December 31, 2001 and 2000 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The audit was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The supplementary information included in schedules 1, 2 and 3 is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by Rule 17a-5 of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2001 and 2000

(1) Organization

Webster Investment Services, Inc. (the "Company") is a wholly owned subsidiary of Webster Bank (the "Parent Company"), which is a wholly owned subsidiary of Webster Financial Corporation. The Company's primary business is providing securities services including brokerage and investment advice and is a registered investment advisor ("RIA").

Prior to June 24, 1999, the Company offered brokerage services through an independent third party. On June 24, 1999, the Company registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") as a broker-dealer and became a member of the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. ("NASD").

The Company's customer transactions are cleared through a third party broker-dealer on a fully disclosed basis. Accordingly, the Company does not carry customer accounts and is exempt from SEC Rule 15c3-3 pursuant to provision k(2)(ii) of such rule.

In June 2000, Webster Financial Corporation acquired MECH Financial, Inc. ("MECH") and its wholly-owned subsidiary, Mechanics Savings Bank ("Mechanics") in a transaction that was accounted for as a purchase business combination. Mechanics Investment Services, Inc. ("MIS"), a subsidiary of Mechanics that was generally registered as a broker-dealer and a RIA, was merged into the Company on the effective date of the acquisition of MECH. All assets and liabilities of MIS were recorded on the Company's balance sheet at fair value on the effective date of the acquisition.

(2) Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies applied by the Company in the preparation of its financial statements. The policies are in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted ("GAAP") in the United States of America.

To prepare financial statements in conformity with GAAP, management must estimate certain amounts that affect the reported assets and liabilities, disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities, and reported revenues and expenses. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Certain financial statement balances as previously reported have been reclassified to conform to the 2001 financial statement presentation.

Substantially all of the Company's financial assets and liabilities are carried at market or fair value or are carried at amounts that approximate fair value because of their short-term nature. Fair value is estimated at a specific point in time, based on relevant market information.

Cash equivalents include all demand deposits held in banks and certain highly liquid investments with maturities of 90 days or less, other than those held for sale in the ordinary course of business.

Commission revenue and brokerage, exchange and clearance fees are reported on a trade date basis.

WEBSTER INVESTMENT SERVICES, INC.
(A Wholly-Owned Subsidiary of Webster Bank)

Notes to Financial Statements

Furniture and equipment are carried at cost and are depreciated on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful life of five years. Leasehold improvements are amortized on a straight-line basis over the lesser of the useful life of the improvement or the term of the lease.

The Company does not have other items of comprehensive income as defined by Statement of Financial Accounting Standards, No. 130, "Reporting Comprehensive Income", accordingly comprehensive income is equal to net income.

The Company is included in the consolidated federal and combined state and local income tax returns of Webster Financial Corporation. The Company accrues taxes as if it were filing on an individual company basis.

(3) Related Party Transactions

The Company settles its customer transactions through a third party company for execution and clearance in accordance with the terms of a clearance agreement. For the years ended December 31, 2001 and 2000, the Company paid clearance fees of approximately $545,000 and $518,000, respectively, in connection with the aforementioned activities.

Receivable from brokers and clearing organizations includes commissions due on the above mentioned customer transactions from the Company's clearing broker. As these amounts are short-term in nature, the carrying amount approximates fair value.

The Company is allocated its proportional share of the costs of information technology, finance and other departments provided by the Parent Company. During the years ended December 31, 2001 and 2000 approximately $383,000 and $362,000, respectively, was allocated to the Company in relation to this arrangement.

(8) Commitments and Contingencies

Management of the Company believes there is no pending or threatened litigation that will result in any material adverse effect on the Company's financial condition as of December 31, 2001. In connection with the clearance agreement with a third party clearing broker, the Company guarantees related customer transactions.

(9) Financial Instruments and Concentration of Credit Risk

In the normal course of business, the Company executes securities transactions on behalf of customers through a third party clearing broker. In connection with these activities, a customer's unsettled trades and extension of margin financing by an affiliate may ultimately expose the Company to off-balance sheet credit risk in the event the customer is unable to fulfill its contractual obligations. The Company and its affiliate seek to control the risk associated with its customer activities by making credit inquiries when establishing customer relationships and by monitoring customer trading and margin financing activity. In addition, the third party clearing broker seeks to control the Company's risk associated with customer margin accounts by requiring customers to maintain sufficient collateral to cover margin balances. As of December 31, 2001, margin balances to customers totaled $289,000. This balance is collateralized by securities held in those customer accounts.

Credit risk is the amount of accounting loss the Company would incur if a customer failed to perform its obligations under contractual terms. Substantially all of the clearing and depository operations for the Company are performed by a third party clearing broker pursuant to a clearance agreement. The third party clearing broker reviews as considered necessary, the creditworthiness of the customers with which the Company conducts business. The Company's exposure to credit risk is associated with the nonperformance by customers in fulfilling their contractual obligations pursuant to securities transactions, which can be directly affected by volatile securities markets, credit markets, and regulatory changes.
