INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Board of Directors of Bull, Inc.:

We have audited the following financial statements of Bull, Inc. (the "Company") for the year ended January 31, 2002 that you are filing pursuant to Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

	Page
Statement of Financial Condition	2
Statement of Income	3
Statement of Stockholder's Equity	4
Statement of Cash Flows	5

These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Our procedures included a review of the Company's procedures for safeguarding securities. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Bull, Inc. at January 31, 2002 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The following supplemental schedule of Bull, Inc. as of January 31, 2002 is presented for the purpose of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934: Computation of Net Capital for Brokers and Dealers Pursuant to Rule 15c3-1 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. This schedule is the responsibility of the Company's management. Such schedule has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in our audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects when considered in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

YEAR ENDED JANUARY 31, 2002

1. DESCRIPTION OF COMPANY AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Bull, Inc. (the "Company") is a wholly owned subsidiary of Science Applications International Corporation ("SAIC"). The Company is a registered securities broker-dealer that deals exclusively in trades of SAIC stock.

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

For financial statement purposes, cash and cash equivalents include cash and interest bearing cash equivalents that are highly liquid investments with an original maturity of three months or less. Such investments are carried at cost, which approximates fair value.

Commission income, which is charged only on sales of SAIC stock, is recognized on a trade date basis, based on commission rates as established by the Company's Board of Directors.

Fixed assets, stated at historical cost, consist of office equipment and are depreciated over their useful lives of 3 to 7 years using the double-declining balance method. Depreciation expense for the year ended January 31, 2002 was $13,000.

During the year ended January 31, 2002, SAIC billed the Company approximately $3,366,000 for general and administrative support.

The provision for income taxes is recorded based on current year earnings on a stand-alone basis. The Company will be included in the consolidated income tax returns of SAIC. Current and deferred income taxes are recorded in accordance with the liability method as prescribed under Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 109, Accounting for Income Taxes.

2. REGULATORY REQUIREMENTS

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital of $250,000 and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both of which are defined terms, shall not exceed 15 to 1. At January 31, 2002, the Company had net capital of $8,370,000, which was $8,120,000 in excess of the required net capital. The Company's aggregate indebtedness to net capital ratio was .22 to 1 at January 31, 2002.

The Company is exempt from the provisions of Regulation 15c3-3 because the Company does not carry margin accounts, promptly transmits all customer funds and delivers all securities received with its activities as a broker and dealer, and does not otherwise hold funds or securities for, or owe money or securities to, customers and effectuates all financial transactions between the Company and its customers through a bank account designated as "Special Reserve Bank Account for the Exclusive Benefit of Customers."

Pursuant to SAIC trade cycles, cash collected from purchasers of SAIC stock is held in a special reserve bank account for the exclusive benefit of customers. This segregated account may carry a balance for a short period of time prior to the settlement of each quarterly trade, at which time those funds would be used to purchase stock in the trade. Due to the timing of the settlement of the January 25, 2002 trade, this account did not have a balance at January 31, 2002.

3. INCOME TAXES

The provision for income taxes for the year ended January 31, 2002 consists of the following:

Federal	$1,246,000
State	368,000
	$1,614,000

The difference between federal tax computed at the statutory federal income tax rate and the actual effective tax rate is due to the effect of state taxes, federal tax-exempt interest, and non-deductible costs. The amount due to SAIC in the statement of financial condition includes $1,614,000 for income taxes. There were no deferred tax assets or liabilities at January 31, 2002.

March 8, 2002

To the Board of Directors of Bull, Inc.:

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Bull, Inc. (the "Company") for the year ended January 31, 2002 (on which we issued our report dated March 8, 2002), we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, we have made a study of the practices and procedures (including tests of compliance with such practices and procedures) followed by the Company that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. We did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13 or in complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, because the Company does not carry security accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal control and of the practices and procedures, and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the Securities and Exchange Commission's (the "Commission") above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized acquisition, use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal control or of such practices and procedures to future periods are subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the degree of compliance with the practices or procedures may deteriorate.

Our consideration of the Company's internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in the Company's internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements caused by error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving the Company's internal control and its operation, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the Commission to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at January 31, 2002 to meet the Commission's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the board of directors, management, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the National Association of Securities Dealers and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

Yours truly,

Deloitte + Touche LLP
