MILLENNIUM HOTELS AND RESORTS ANNOUNCE GLOBAL EXPANSION OF MJU RESTAURANT CONCEPT

Millennium Hotels and Resorts, the hotels arm of Singapore controlled Hong Leong Group has announced a global expansion of the restaurant concept branded Mju.

Following the successful launch of the concept at the Millennium Hotel London Knightsbridge, the international hotel company intends to introduce the Mju brand into selected gateway cities throughout the world.

Mju London in Knightsbridge's Sloane Street was established by Millennium Hotels and Resorts in conjunction with Tetsuya Wakuda, the world-renowned Chef from Sydney, Australia. Tetsuya has gained a global reputation for his Sydney restaurant – Tetsuya's.

Mju restaurants will operate independently under Millennium Hotels and Resorts and Tetsuya Wakuda will provide an advisory role.

The Mju operation will be introduced later this year in the USA. Further expansion is to be considered for introduction in Singapore, Paris and the USA as well as various locations in the Middle East in destinations where the company may develop new hotel ventures.

Following the establishment of Mju London, Tetsuya will advise Millennium Hotels and Resorts in the opening of further Mju outlets with key staff who have been trained in Tetsuya's unique cuisine.

Chris Behre, presently Executive Chef at Mju London restaurant will be taking a lead role to extend the Mju brand into Millennium Hotels and target restaurants outside the UK. He and a number of his team members, already with many years of experience under their belt, have acquired intensive experience working with Tetsuya and share his spirit and passion in exquisite culinary skills.

Tetsuya Wakuda said: "I am pleased to have assisted Millennium Hotels and Resorts in establishing the Mju concept in London and look forward to advising on future developments. During the past two years both myself and my team in Sydney have enjoyed training and developing Millennium staff in the discipline of our cuisine."

Tony Potter, Chief Operating Officer, Millennium & Copthorne Hotels plc, commented:
"We are pleased with the success to date of the Mju concept and look forward to Tetsuya advising on future developments. During the period of Tetsuya's consultancy a full team has been trained in his kitchen and restaurant. Our talent at Mju is fully experienced in Tetsuya's style and we will continue to utilize the Sydney restaurant to further develop expertise in the future for any Mju outlets.

"We have enjoyed working closely with Tetsuya and are delighted that a relationship will continue in the future."

City Developments' Seoul City Towers is almost 100% leased

City Developments Limited's (CDL) prime office building in Korea, Seoul City Towers (SCT), which offers some 465,000 sq ft of gross rentable office space, is almost 100% leased due to CDL's strong marketing and management style. The building has just been completed.

"The healthy demand for office space in Seoul coupled, with some value added features offered to the tenants helped boost the overwhelming rental take-up of SCT. The unique interior design of SCT, which is unusual for commercial buildings in Korea, has proven to be appealing to many tenants," according to Mr Chia Ngiang Hong, Group General Manager of CDL.

CDL, in a 50-50 joint venture with US real estate fund, Westbrook Asia LLC, invested some US $100 million to purchase the land and complete the building. The 23-storey building located in the Central Business District of Namdaemoonno, Chung-gu has 23 levels of Grade A offices, one basement level of shops and eateries and five basement levels of car park lots.

SCT's value is further enhanced by its convenient location – especially its proximity and direct connection to the five star Seoul Hilton Hotel, which also belongs to the CDL Group, and the underground tunnel which links the building directly to the Seoul Station.

Some of the major tenants at SCT include Cigna Group Insurance, Prudential Insurance, Korea Train Express, Kukje Fire & Marine Insurance and Presidential Anti-Corruption Commission.
