Report of Independent Accountants

To the Board of Directors and Stockholder of
MONY Securities Corporation

In our opinion, the accompanying consolidated statement of financial condition presents fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of MONY Securities Corporation and its subsidiary (the "Company") at December 31, 2001 in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. This financial statement is the responsibility of the Company's management; our responsibility is to express an opinion on this financial statement based on our audit. We conducted our audit of this statement in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, which require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, and evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

The accompanying notes are an integral part of the statement of financial condition.

1. Organization

MONY Securities Corporation (the "Company"), a wholly owned subsidiary of MONY Life Insurance Company ("MONY"), is a registered broker-dealer pursuant to the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and a member of the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. The Company transacts customer trades primarily in securities and mutual funds. All securities transactions are cleared through a clearing broker on a fully-disclosed basis and, accordingly, the Company does not carry securities accounts for these customers. It also provides distribution and clearance for certain mutual funds affiliated with MONY through a special reserve account.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The consolidated statement of financial condition includes the accounts of the Company and its wholly owned Subsidiary, Trusted Securities Advisors Corp. ("TSA"). All material intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated in consolidation. Certain reclassifications have been made to conform to consolidated financial statement presentation.

This consolidated statement of financial condition was prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America which require management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated statement of financial condition. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash of $216,025 has been and is required to be segregated in a special reserve bank account of the benefit of customers under paragraph (k)(2)(i) of Rule 15c3-3 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

The Company considers investments in cash, demand deposits, commercial paper, money market funds and all highly liquid investments with a maturity of three months or less when purchased to be cash equivalents. At December 31, 2001, the majority of cash and cash equivalents include money market funds held at a major financial institution. The carrying amount of such cash equivalents approximates their fair value due to the short-term nature of these instruments.

Securities Owned and Securities Sold, Not Yet Purchased, at Market Value

Securities owned and securities sold, not yet purchased, are valued at market value with unrealized gains and losses reflected in current period revenues. Securities, which are recorded on a settlement-date basis, are composed of U.S. equity securities and U.S. mutual funds. The Company has securities that are deposited with a clearing broker and these may be sold or rehypothicated by the holder.

Commissions and Other Fees Receivables and Payables

Commissions and other fees receivables and payables arise from the settlement of mutual fund transactions executed for customers of the Company. The receivables are generally collected within 30 days.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The fair value of financial assets and liabilities other than securities owned (consisting primarily of receivables and payables relating to commissions) is considered to approximate their carrying value due to the short-term nature of the financial instruments.

Income Taxes

MONY and its subsidiaries, including the Company, file a consolidated federal income tax return. The tax sharing agreement provides that the consolidated federal income taxes be allocated to the Company based on its separate return calculation. Under the tax sharing agreement, the taxable income or loss of the Company and TSA are combined when calculating separate return tax payments and tax refunds. Intercompany tax balances will be settled annually in the first quarter. As of December 31, 2001, an intercompany amount of $347,477 is included in taxes receivable.

Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are computed annually for the differences between the financial statement and tax bases of assets and liabilities that will result in taxable income or deductible amounts in the future based on enacted tax laws and rates applicable to the periods in which the differences are expected to reverse.

Depreciation

Depreciation is provided on a straight-line basis using estimated useful lives of three to five years.

3. Payable to Customers

Amounts payable to customers represents monies received from customers for mutual fund purchases prior to settlement date.

4. Related-Party Transactions

Operating expenses of $9,223,857 which were incurred by MONY have been allocated to the Company. The related liability of $2,486,612 as of December 31, 2001 is included in the statement of financial condition.

During 2001, in addition to the capital infusion of $4,750,000 made by MONY into the Company, the Company made a capital contribution of $2,250,000 to its Subsidiary.

5. Commitments and Contingent Liabilities

The Company has been named as defendant in a number of legal proceedings arising principally from its securities business. Some of these actions involve claims by plaintiffs for substantial amounts. While results of litigation cannot be predicted with certainty, in the opinion of management, based on discussion with counsel, the outcome of these matters will not result in a material adverse effect on the results of operations or financial condition of the Company.

6. Income Taxes

At December 31, 2001, the Company has net operating loss carryforwards of approximately $5,139,000 for book income tax purposes. The separate components for the Company and TSA are $3,441,000 and $1,698,000, respectively. The income tax net operating loss carryforwards will expire beginning in the years ending December 2018. Based on available evidence, it is more likely than not that the deferred tax asset relating to the TSA net operating loss will not be realized. Accordingly a valuation allowance was established in the amount of $594,000. At December 31, 2001, the Company had a deferred tax asset of $2,076,125 consisting primarily of the tax effect of net operating loss carryforwards and tax deductible goodwill. At December 31, 2001, the Company had a deferred tax liability of approximately $81,000 consisting primarily of temporary differences due to the recognition of investment gains and losses.

The effective income tax rate differs from the federal statutory rate due to the valuation allowance established for net operating loss carryforwards and the effects of state and local taxes, excludable dividends and non-deductibles for meals and entertainment.

7. Financial Instruments with Off-Balance Sheet Risk

In the normal course of business, the Company executes, as agent, transactions on behalf of customers, which are principally foreign and U.S. financial institutions. If either the customer or a counterparty fail to perform, the Company may be required to discharge the obligations of the nonperforming party with the clearing brokers. Under such circumstances, the Company may sustain a loss if the market value of the security is different from the contract value of the transaction.

8. Regulatory Requirements

The Company and the Subsidiary are subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission's Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1) which requires that aggregate indebtedness shall not exceed 15 times net capital or $100,000 whichever is greater, as these terms are defined by the Rule. The Subsidiary will independently comply with the regulatory requirement. As of December 31, 2001, the Company's net capital was $1,748,555 which exceeded the net capital requirement of $332,570 by $1,421,385, and its net capital ratio was 2.85 to 1; while the Subsidiary's net capital was $800,925 which exceeded its net capital requirement of $106,255 by $694,670, and its net capital ratio was 1.99 to 1.

The consolidated financial statements of the Company include total assets of $2,556,853 and total liabilities of $1,550,727, relating to the Subsidiary.

Report of Independent Auditors on Internal Control Structure
Required By SEC Rule 17a-5

To the Board of Directors and Stockholder of
MONY Securities Corporation:

In planning and performing our audit of the consolidated financial statements and supplemental schedules of MONY Securities Corporation and its Subsidiary (the "Company") for the year ended December 31, 2001, we considered their internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the consolidated financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC"), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including tests of compliance with such practices and procedures, that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in the following:

1. Making the periodic computation of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11);
2. Making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13; and
3. Determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3.

Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System; and
2. Obtaining and maintaining physical possession or control of all fully paid and excess margin securities of customers as required by Rule 15c3-3.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of control and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of internal control to future periods is subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including procedures for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2001 to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
