09.02 – Operating Sector Characteristics

The strategy defined by the Company in 1995 - expansion at a minimum of 10% per year has been successfully attained, thus assuring our capacity for sustained growth and the addition of value to investments and the brand name.

Year 2001 was marked by facts that favored meat exports, especially to the European market. Other factors could have impacted the Company's performance had we not demonstrated agility and vision.

In the export market, the competitiveness searched along the years, together with the exchange devaluation and turmoil experienced by European producers, allowed Perdígão to leverage the value of exports by 102%, and to grow shipments of 339,000 tons of products by 39%.

In the domestic market, we faced problems created by the energy crisis, which nevertheless provided an opportunity for Perdígão to increase the sales of higher added value products by 18%, and volumes by 15% for the year, by supplying our clients more often. The significant sales of products tailored for the year-end season was another important factor contributing to our excellent performance.

Representing 10% of the Company's total capacity, the Rio Verde plant in Goiás state was responsible for our growth during the year. This production facility already has reached 30% of a total capacity of 260,000 tons of meats forecast for 2003, when the plant will operate at full capacity.

Domestic Market

Perdigão posted revenues 13% ahead of the prior year and 16% ahead of the previous fourth quarter, with volumes 4% higher in the meat segment for the year and 7% higher for the quarter. Sales priority was given to higher added value products, defined as one of the main strategic points, representing 83.1% of volumes and 86.7% of meat sales in the domestic market. Sales of in natura meat products dropped due to the redirection of higher volumes to the export market. Other processed products, including frozen vegetables, pizzas, pastas, cheese bread and beans, grew 26% in volumes, and 33.6% in sales.

These increases are based on marketing efforts to offer consumers different options and to reach the food service and retail markets. Product launches during 2001 totaled 24 new products with the Perdigão brand, in lines: Toque de Sabor, Apréciatta, Chester®, Turma da Mônica and others, of frozen and specialty meats. The Light & Elegant line, with turkey based low calorie products, was the highlight. Under the Batavo brand, we put 11 more new products, including La Gôndola Pizzas.

Other great advantage of the Company is due to our logistical structure, which has been updated and improved over the years, providing agility and surpassing even outside factors, such as the energy crisis.

This performance may be measured by the market share:

Average prices, in this market, suffered increase of approximately 7% in meats, in the year, and 6% in the last quarter of the year, leveraged by improvement in mix.

Perdigão received the award "Destaque Marketing 2001" for "Chester® - Considered as Ideal Poultry". The product prize was given by ABMN - Brazilian Association of Marketing and Business.

Exports

Export revenue growth of 102% and volume growth of 39% were due to an opportunity created by the effects of BSE ("mad cow") and foot-and-mouth disease in Europe. It also reflected market gains by Perdigão in European, Asian and Middle-Eastern countries, and was based on competitiveness, lower production costs, technology innovation, and quality in processes and products. Another factor involved the trace ability of slaughtered animals, which is one more factor that guarantees our products.

The impressive increase of 147% in sales and 80% in volumes of elaborated/processed products - contributed to holding down the average price in US Dollars, which did not change, although the adjustment of in natura products prices in the European market, beginning in the third quarter, due to the resumption of beef and pork meat consumption, after the effects of BSE and foot-and-mouth disease.

In the internationalization process, we further strengthened our position in Europe with the opening of Perdigão Italy, headquartered in Bologna, responsible for trading and distributing to the Italian market and neighboring countries, attending processors and food service, through an office and a distribution center.

We created our international brand – Perdix - which is being used mainly for processed products in markets where the brand constitutes one of our main competitive advantages.

BRF International Foods, a partnership established on April 25, 2001 with Sadia S.A., began operations in October and is increasing the markets of both companies in poultry, pork and food in general in non-consolidated markets such as Russia and Eurasia, among others.

11.01 – Productive Process

POULTRY SECTOR

The productive process of this sector has the following basic flowchart:

1 day old chicks, from the company's hatcheries, are put in birdhouses of the producers (outgrowers). The Company provides them with all necessary inputs for the raising of the poultry lots, ranging from feed, medicines and technical aid to transport. Once the lot is ready for slaughter, within 40 days on average, it is taken to the cold storage through a specific transportation system.

The poultry is, then, conducted from the table of the cold storage to the slaughter system, which is composed by: hanging, dazing, bleeding, scalding, plucking of the feathers, removal of the bowels, inspection by the agents of the Ministry of Agriculture, the carcasses being cooled and the giblets packed.

After cooling, the carcasses are classified and sent uncut to the packaging as carcasses to be cut or industrialized.

The poultry sent uncut to the packaging is classified by weight, labeled, according to its destination, frozen and made available for shipping.

The carcasses are anatomically cut into pieces and their bones taken out. Then they are classified by weight and packed according to their destination, frozen and made available for shipping.

Furthermore, the company has specialty meats frozen products (breaded, stuffed, ready-to-eat dishes, etc.)

PORK SECTOR

The animals are received in suitable facilities, being weighed and tattooed for identification of the producer. They are kept in the pigsty for 9 hours at most, being fed by hydric diet. Afterwards, the animals are conducted to the slaughter system according to the following flowchart: dazing, bleeding, scalding, removal of the bowels and inspection by the agents of the Ministry of Agriculture. Subsequent to the slaughter, the carcasses already cleaned and prepared for processing are cooled until they can be cut into pieces. Following the cut, the pieces are classified as raw material or final product, being directed to the processing sector as raw material or packaged in natura for trade.

The raw material (meat) for industrialization is classified according to its next utilization.

During the industrialization process, previous classified meat is ground, seasoned, stuffed, cooked and/or smoke-cured, packaged and made available for shipping.

There are strict technical criteria for each raw material. Those criteria must be followed to guarantee the technical specifications of each final product.

ANIMAL FEED SECTOR

To produce balanced animal feed it is necessary to mix predetermined macroelements, microelements, vitamins and minerals. The microelements are: limestone, oyster flour, phosphate and others. The macroelements are: previously prepared and ground corn, ground soybean meal, wheat grains and animal flour. Such raw materials are analyzed to assure that they have first-rate standards so that the mixtures they integrate assure the best performance and results of the carcasses, considering animals of different ages and needs.

AVERAGE USEFUL LIFE OF EQUIPMENT, TECHNOLOGY, INSURANCE AND RISKS.

Due to its features, the equipment is subject to continuous preventive maintenance. Such process, implemented through often replacement of the parts and equipment and continuous fixing, assures long useful life of the equipment employed in the slaughter of poultry and pork.

The depreciation is calculated in accordance with lawful procedures, though, as the process is continuous, it is difficult to ascertain the percentage already depreciated.

All the industrial complex and inventories are insured.

The technology is both national and imported and already mostly defined.

The activities, except in case of large damage, do not risk stoppages. On the other hand, the company has strict safety rules.

The preventive maintenance is usually conducted on Sundays, holidays and breaks between turns.

The Company's investment program in equipment of state of the art technology allows increased productivity and production.

14.01 Outlook and/or Results

Related to the Company estimations for 2.001, the performance was as follows:

	Estimate	Effective
Gross Sales Growth	Around 18%	35%
Exports Growth	Around 30%	102%
Meats Growth (in volumes)	10%	16%

The performance above estimations took place because of the increase in exports, due to the sanitary problems that happened in Europe. Besides these, the Company investments were favorable to add value in the products mix.

The results achieved in 2001 and the investment effort that Perdigão has made in the last years have presented favorable perspectives in the short, medium and long-term, to which should be added the performance of the Brazilian economy and the international meat market.

Thus, the Company has outlined its goals for 2002:

- Approximately 10% growth in meat volumes and 18% in sales;
- Possibility of 15% expansion in exports (volumes);
- Investments of R$ 160 million.

Goals in the medium-term include:

- 10% growth per year in the meat segment until 2003;
- Concentration on high value-added food products;
- International competitiveness;
- Expansion to new markets and segments;
- Constantly add value for investors;
- Continue as a Model of Social Responsibility.

MAY 8, 2002 MANAGEMENT REPORT – PERSPECTIVES – PERDIGÃO ESTIMATES INVESTMENTS OF R$ 160 MILLIONS IN 2002

DECEMBER 12, 2001 – RELEASE – PERDIGÃO CREATES 1,000 ADDITIONAL JOBS, AND INVESTS R$ 130 MILLIONS IN 2002

Perdigão will create 1,000 new jobs throughout 2002. Although the Company continuously develops technological improvements, it also maintains a policy of increasing the number of work positions, and constantly improving its work force, which currently exceeds 21,000 employees.

The company expects to invest R$130 million next fiscal year, a 10% expansion compared to 2001. These funds will be directed at expanding, modernizing and increasing productivity of all company facilities located in Brazil's southern states (Rio Grande do Sul, Santa Catarina, and Paraná), and in the state of Goiás.

Year-end revenue is estimated at more than R$2.7 billion, a 38% increase compared to 2000. According to Nildemar Secches, chief executive officer of Perdigão, 2002 projections indicate a 10% growth in volume, and nearly 18% growth in value.

Secches explained that the company based next year's economic planning on an assumption that anticipates GDP to grow by 3%, and annual inflation to reach approximately 5%. Secches further believes that the U.S. dollar will fluctuate throughout next year, but that it will close the year with a moderate gain, relative to the change seen throughout 2001.

Following a highly favorable period for exports, a more stable scenario is expected to characterize 2002 in comparison to this year's accelerated growth. This scenario takes into consideration indications of a worldwide recession and the end of sanitation-related issues that have struck Europe recently. Over this fiscal year, exports should exceed R$1 billion, or 37% of the company's gross revenues. For 2002, it is estimated that international sales will grow by 20% in value.

With respect to primary raw materials, Perdigão's chief executive officer believes that next year will see a significant increase in the cost of corn due to higher foreign exchange rate, and a smaller harvest compared to this year's crop. Although soybean costs are likewise expected to rise, such increase will be lower compared with that expected for corn.

Perdigão will continue an aggressive roll-out campaign in 2002, allowing the company to highlight its key position among Brazilian food producers. Some 42 product launches are scheduled for next year, which will consolidate the company's mix of 400 products offered in the domestic market. Continuing to base its product line on superior quality and diversification in order to meet the demands of the modern consumer, preference for Perdigão products is reflected in its continuing market share growth. According to cumulative year-to-date data from the AC Nielsen Institute, the company had a 24.2% share in the specialty meats segment, 31.1% in frozen meats, and 31.8% share in the frozen ready-to-eat pasta dishes.

INTERNATIONAL COMPETITIVENESS

Recently, Perdigão took two major steps to accelerate its internationalization process. The first was the creation of the Perdix brand for export products to greater strengthen the company's presence in the international market.

Initially, the brand will be used to penetrate new markets for the sale of processed food products. The name was chosen after surveys indicated that it is easily identified with the company's image, since it reinforces some of Perdigão's positive attributes such as strength and success.

The other key measure directed at globalization was the creation of Perdigão Italy, with the objective of not only increasing penetration in the Italian market, but also exploring untapped regions such as Greece, and countries that made up the former Yugoslavia.

Perdigão Italy will be linked to the foreign sales division, and will have a marketing, logistics and sales office in Bologna. The company will outsource warehousing in the Port of Genoa to store its products. The company's Italian operation targets the poultry market, which it intends to initially supply with raw materials for processing plants, as well as in the food service area. In the mid-term, the company wishes to introduce its line of processed products, of higher added value, which will arrive at retail outlets packaged with the Perdix seal. The company also intends to develop products for third party brands.

14.02 Additional Information, but not Obligation

On March, 2001 Perdigão acquired the remaining 49 percent of the equity of Frigorífico Batávia S.A., the payment of R$ 23.8 millions will be in two parcels, on April and October, 2001. After these, Frigorífico Batávia S.A. was incorporated to Perdigão Agroindustrial S.A. These plant increased its capacity of turkey slaughter and there were installed a modern new inventory chamber.
