ITV Digital (PLC) and ITV Digital (Services) Ltd; Administrator's Statement

The Joint Administrators of ITV Digital, N.J Dargan & N.G. Edwards of Deloitte & Touche, issued the following statement on 30th April 2002:

"The Administrators of ITV Digital have today confirmed that they will be closing the Pay Television operation of the Company from this evening. Insufficient interest has been shown from prospective purchasers to justify a continuation of the operation.

The free to air channels will continue in the short term whilst the Administrators pursue the best realisation for the value of the assets.

The Administrators advised "It is with regret that we take this course of action. We have made strenuous efforts initially to restructure the cost base and latterly to sell the business and assets but unfortunately there is no appetite in the market for a preservation of the business as a going concern.

"Arrangements have been made for the surrender of the multiplex licences to the ITC. We understand the ITC will issue invitations to re-tender those licences on a more flexible basis tomorrow, Wednesday, May 1."

They added, "We will be contacting subscribers, employees and creditors as we move to close the administration."

ITV Digital (PLC) and ITV Digital (Services) Ltd; Administrator's Statement

The Joint Administrators of ITV Digital, N.J Dargan & N.G. Edwards of Deloitte & Touche, issued the following statement on 25th April 2002:

"The Administrators of ITV Digital have today confirmed that they are offering the business and assets of the Company for sale with immediate effect.

They have confirmed that they have not been able to secure additional funding on terms that would enable them to commit to a long-term sale process.

However, they will discuss with the major suppliers of the Company today their willingness to continue to provide services on a short-term basis whilst offers are invited for the business and assets. The aim of this process is to attempt to maximise the value of the assets on behalf of all of the Company's creditors.

It is likely that customers will continue to receive free to air services at least in the short term whilst the sale process is concluded.

All customers and suppliers will be contacted directly and advised of this process as soon as possible and the Administrators will continue to co-operate with the Independent Television Commission until the business and assets have been sold."

The Joint Administrators of ITV Digital, N.J Dargan & N.G. Edwards of Deloitte & Touche, issued the following statement on 17th April 2002:

"Since Monday's High Court hearing, the Administrators of ITV Digital have been assessing the impact of the lack of progress in negotiations with the Football League on the Company's business plan.

It is now apparent that this has dissuaded some other suppliers from seriously engaging in restructuring discussions. The shareholders are re-evaluating the business plan and therefore no formal offer has been made to the Football League. Discussions with all suppliers will continue. As indicated on 15th April, while we seek to establish whether the Company can be preserved, we are also preparing the business for sale."

ITV Digital (PLC) and ITV Digital (Services) Ltd; Administrators' statement

The Joint Administrators of ITV Digital, N.J Dargan & N.G. Edwards of Deloitte & Touche, issued the following statement after a High Court hearing this morning:

"Since our appointment as Joint Administrators on 27 March, we have been involved in lengthy and complex discussions with the Company's suppliers in an attempt to significantly restructure its cost base.

We have advised the Court this morning that some progress has been made with certain suppliers and constructive dialogue is on going with others.

However, the restructuring has been hampered by the unauthorised disclosure of private and confidential discussions and the campaign of negative publicity which has continued this morning and is severely undermining the administration process. This may have impacted on our ability to successfully restructure the business.

In the meantime, proposals have been put to the Football League Executive which we have been advised will be considered by a meeting of the Clubs' Chairmen.

The Shareholders have confirmed that, while doubts remain over the ability to restructure the Company, they will not fund a continuation of the administration. Consequently, whilst we have recommended that the process be continued for a further short period to establish finally whether the Company can be preserved, we are also preparing the business for sale.

We remain hopeful that our on-going discussions could result in a successful restructuring. However, should the Football League reject the proposals or we conclude that the on-going recriminations have undermined our ability to achieve the Business Plan, we will be left with no alternative than to implement a sale of the business and assets.

We would like to thank those customers, employees and suppliers of the company who have been extremely supportive during this process and look forward to their continued support during the course of this week."
