FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

RESEARCH IN MOTION FILES SECOND COMPLAINT AGAINST GOOD TECHNOLOGY

Waterloo, ON – Research In Motion Limited (RIM) (Nasdaq: RIMM; TSX: RIM), a pioneer and world leader in the mobile communications market, today announced that it has filed a second lawsuit in the United States District Court for the District of Delaware against Good Technology, Inc. The complaint alleges that Good Technology infringes on a portion of RIM's Copyright Portfolio associated with the user interface on RIM's line of BlackBerry Wireless Handhelds™.

By way of relief, RIM is asking the Court for injunctive relief and an award of monetary damages for Good Technology's infringement of RIM's registered copyright. In addition, RIM asserts that Good Technology's infringement is wilful, thus allowing the Court to award enhanced monetary damages for Good Technology's infringement as well as attorneys' fees and costs to RIM.

In June 2002, RIM filed a separate complaint against Good Technology alleging that Good Technology's wireless goods and services infringe on four RIM patents within RIM's Wireless Integration Patent Portfolio.

RIM is continuing its review of Good Technology's goods and services to determine whether any other rights are violated.
