NEWS FOR INVESTORS

STET HELLAS LAUNCHES MMS - FIRST IN GREECE WITH AUTOMATIC TERMINAL
SETTINGS ACTIVATION "OVER THE AIR"

ATHENS, August 6, 2002 – STET Hellas Telecommunications SA (NASDAQ: STHLY; Amsterdam: STHLS) today announced that MMS (Multimedia Messaging Service) - the new mobile messaging frontier - will be available to all its customers, both contract and pre-paid, as of tomorrow, August 7, 2002.

MMS launch is a continuation of STET Hellas' focus on technological innovation, and commitment to enhanced product & service offerings. This new advanced service has a unique feature for the Greek market- of automatically adjusting the MMS-enabled terminal settings "Over the Air", and offers our customers access to various advanced applications in addition to the standard-MMS functionality.

STET Hellas' customers are now able not only to send and receive photos, high-definition colored or animated images, audio files and more, to another MMS-enabled phone or to an email address, but also to access interactive applications.

STET Hellas is offering MMS free of charge until the end of 2002 to acclimate its customers to these new services. MMS will be initially available through the use of the Sony Ericsson T-68i model, which together with the Ericsson COMMUNICAM MCA 20 allows the user to shoot and send photos to another MMS-enabled handset. In due time, other MMS-enabled terminals will be added.

"MMS marks an important step towards the 3rd generation of mobile services and gives our customers a taste of the future in mobile communication," said STET Hellas' Chief Executive Officer, Mr. Nikolaos Varsakis. "We use cutting-edge technology to continuously offer our customers new ways of communication, facilitating increased usage of data services, thus securing additional revenue streams."
