Swisscom Enterprise Solutions Ltd takes 49.9% stake in Unit.Net AG

Swisscom Enterprise Solutions Ltd will acquire a stake in Zurich-based Unit.Net AG as part of a CHF 11 million capital increase. It will obtain a 49.9% shareholding and the option to acquire the majority stake up until 2005. Unit.Net is a provider of specialised online communication services for business customers which allow video and sound to be combined with graphics and interactive functions. Unit.Net generated revenue of CHF 6 million in 2001.

The market for audio/video streaming has enormous development potential in the fields of internal and external communication and eLearning applications. Unit.Net is the biggest provider in Switzerland and has leading market positions in Germany, the UK and Spain where it also has sales outlets. The Unit.Net product portfolio optimally compliments the current Swisscom Enterprise Solutions range.

Unit.Net will continue to operate as an independent entity. The current management will develop the business as a strategic partner of Swisscom Enterprise Solutions Ltd. Unit.Net will continue to provide services throughout Europe. Swisscom Enterprise Solutions has purposely taken a minority to underline the independence and innovative strength of Unit.Net. In addition to the shareholding, a commercial agreement has been reached on the mutual marketing of products.

"We are looking to increase our flexibility and speed in terms of time to market through strategic partnerships and shareholdings," said Hanspeter Quadri, CEO of Swisscom Enterprise Solutions Ltd., "in so doing, we create additional potential to open up new growth markets and to incorporate additional customer solutions into the portfolio."

"Online corporate communication using streaming technology will become as commonplace as e-mail within a few years," remarked Dr. Erk Thorsten Heyen, CEO of Unit.Net AG, "Swisscom's decision to take a holding underlines this trend."

Unit.Net AG:

Unit.Net is Europe's leading provider of webcasting services. Unit.Net's customers use audio and video webcasting for both internal and external communications, public relations, investor relations, eLearning, and marketing and sales communications. Unit.Net uses its unique application „StreamStudio™“, to “stream” the audio/video signal and synchronize it with other media such as slides, photos, web pages or Word/Excel-documents. StreamStudio also integrates interactive functionality (e.g., chat, Q & A, feedback forms, questionnaires).

Unit.Net has many of Europe's top corporations among its customers such as ABB, ABN Amro, ACT, Alcatel, Aventis, Credit Suisse Group, Deutsche Post, Infineon, Marks&Spencer, Microsoft, Novartis and UBS Warburg. Unit.Net services are available throughout Europe from local Unit.Net offices. Along with the three founders, Claudio Cappellari, Andrea Cappellari and Jörg Furrer, the current shareholder group includes three venture capital funds: Part'Com (Paris), Holland Venture (Amsterdam), and Belgacom Multimedia Ventures (Brussels) as well as two other investors.
