Re: Shareholder Proposal of John J. Crapo
Securities Exchange Act of 1934—Rule 14a-8

Dear Ladies and Gentlemen:

This letter is to inform you that Dow Jones & Company, Inc. ("Dow Jones") intends to omit from its proxy statement and form of proxy for our 2003 Annual Meeting of Stockholders (collectively, the "2003 Proxy Materials") a shareholder proposal and supporting statement (collectively, the "Proposal") received from John J. Crapo (the "Proponent"). The Proposal relates to having Dow Jones publish in its proxy statement information relating to its "charitable donations program." The Proposal was delivered to Dow Jones in handwritten form and is basically incoherent. Because the Proposal far exceeds the limit of 500 words set forth in Rule 14a-8(d), we have prepared a transcript of the first approximately 500 words of his original (to aid in legibility and interpretation), and in that regard the transcript provides some punctuation and changes the cases of some letters. Copies of the entire Proposal in its original form, and of our transcript of the first approximately 500 words thereof, are attached hereto as Attachments 1 and 2.

Pursuant to Rule 14a-8(j), enclosed are six (6) copies of this letter and its attachments. Also in accordance with Rule 14a-8(j), a copy of this letter and its attachments is being simultaneously mailed to the Proponent, informing him of Dow Jones's intention to omit the Proposal from the 2003 Proxy Materials. Dow Jones intends to mail its definitive 2003 Proxy Materials no earlier than March 15, 2003. Accordingly, pursuant to Rule 14a-8(j), this letter is being submitted not less than 80 days before Dow Jones files its definitive materials and form of proxy with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Dow Jones hereby respectfully requests that the staff of the Division of Corporation Finance (the "Staff") concur in our opinion that the Proposal may be excluded from Dow Jones' 2003 Proxy Materials on the bases set forth below. Dow Jones believes that the Proposal may

Office of the Chief Counsel
Division of Corporation Finance
Securities and Exchange Commission

properly be excluded from the 2003 Proxy Materials pursuant to Rule 14a-8(i)(7) and 14a-8(i)(3).

Rule 14a-8(i)(7) - Management Functions

A shareholder's proposal may be excluded under Rule 14a-8(i)(7) if it "deals with a matter relating to the company's ordinary business operations." The Proposal, if adopted, would require the Board to include additional disclosure in the proxy statements for the Dow Jones annual meetings.

The Commission has repeatedly taken the position that proposals requiring additional disclosures in proxy materials may be excluded under Rule 14a-8(i)(7) as relating to the company's normal business operations. See, e.g., No-Action Letters re: International Business Machines Corporation (January 19, 1999) (proposal to disclose company and board relationships with executive compensation consultants, not required by applicable laws, in proxy materials properly excluded under Rule 14a-8(i)(7) due to fact that proposal "would specify additional disclosures in proxy materials"), ConAgra, Inc. (June 10, 1998) (proposal to establish a contributions program, and to publish guidelines, as well as disclosure on the recipients of such contributions in Form 10-K properly excluded under Rule 14a-8(i)(7) due to fact that proposal would "require the company to supplement the disclosures made in its annual report on Form 10-K and other periodic reports"), Raytheon Company (March 11, 1998) (proposal to publish disclosure of CEO compensation, not required by applicable laws, properly excluded under Rule 14a-8(i)(7) due to fact that proposal "would specify additional disclosures in proxy materials"), Circuit City Stores, Inc. (April 6, 1998) (to the same effect as ConAgra).

As with the proposals described in each of those letters, which were properly excludable, the Proposal would require Dow Jones to make additional disclosures in its proxy statements that are not otherwise required by any law, order or regulation. Accordingly, the Proposal may be excluded under Rule 14a-8(i)(7).

Rule 14a-8(i)(3) - False and Misleading Statements

A stockholder proposal is excludable under Rule 14a-8(i)(3) if the proposal or supporting statement is contrary to any of the Commission's proxy rules, including Rule 14a-9, which prohibits materially false or misleading statements in proxy soliciting materials.

The Staff has consistently taken the position that a company may exclude a proposal pursuant to Rule 14a-8(i)(3) if the proposal is "vague and indefinite." See e.g., Northeast Utilities (April 9, 2001). In a no-action request granted to Northeast Utilities, the Staff permitted

Division of Corporation Finance

Northeast to exclude the identical proposal submitted by Mr. Crapo for inclusion in Northeast's proxy materials on the grounds that the proposal was vague and indefinite.

The Proposal contains terms that are vague and misleading and potentially confusing, and the Proponent's supporting statement bears no relationship whatsoever to the proposal and would undoubtedly be confusing to stockholders reading the Proxy Materials. It includes a discussion of various executives at the "New England Electric System," as well as "his Majesty Juan Carlos I de Borbon King Regnant of the Kingdom of D'Espana," "Harvard University," Senators "John Forbes Kerry" and "Michael D. Crapo," and "her Majesty Elizabeth II, Regnant" who "sent public safety personnel from her Kingdom of the Commonwealth of Australia to help defeat the Holocaust."

Furthermore, part (ii) of the Proposal refers to "such said qualifying charities and approved foundations," while the only possible antecedent for this phrase is "United States of America Internal Revenue Service approved private foundations," in part (i) of the Proposal. It is impossible to ascertain the scope of the Proposal because what the Proponent means by "such said qualifying charities" is not defined or otherwise described. Further, the reference in part (ii) of the Proposal to "which our Corporation's Board plans as our Corporate Governance Board" is confusing. It is unclear what Proponent is referring to when he cites "our Corporate Governance Board. Further, the Board and Dow Jones management would not know at the time the proxy statement is being prepared, whether and to whom it might make charitable contributions in "the ensuing calendar year."

Beyond the first 500 or so words, the Proposal is incoherent and confusing, addressing such topics as reports on the local news of "a black bear in the State of New Hampshire," Proponent's purchase of "a package of elbow macaroni," and Proponent's "case pending in Hon District Court Cambridge Division Massachusetts Honourable Trial Courts." The Proposal continues for 26 pages and also includes discussions of "New Bedford" as a "well known lead manufacturer of textiles;" "President Lincoln," "Mr William Bligh known for his exemplary captainship of a lifeboat," "Mr John Quincy Adams;" and various references to newspapers and mail in the Proponent's "foyer." The Proponent also encloses with his Proposal 46 photocopied attachments including, among others, a Sbarro pizza box, various receipts from CVS and Kinko's, a parking ticket, the cover of a Harvard Magazine, a Northeastern University brochure, and documents relating to Proponent's landlord/tenant dispute.

For the foregoing reasons, Dow Jones believes that it may exclude the Proposal from the 2003 Proxy Materials.

Office of the Chief Counsel
Division of Corporation Finance

The Staff has also permitted under Rule 14a-8(i)(3) the exclusion of supporting statements (or of portions thereof) where, just as with the instant Proposal, the supporting statement appears to bear no relationship to the proposal or contains false and misleading statements. See Peoples Energy Corporation (November 26, 2001); Phoenix Gold International, Inc. (November 21, 2001); UAL Corporation (February 9, 2001); The Home Depot, Inc. (April 4, 2000); Emerson Electric Co. (October 27, 2000); Comshare Incorporated (August 23, 2000); CCBT Bancorp. Inc. (April 20, 1999); Allegheny Energy, Inc. (March 5, 1998); The SBC Communications Inc. (February 10, 1998); and Baldwin Piano and Organ Company (February 20, 1998).

For the foregoing reasons, Dow Jones believes that even if it must include the proposal itself, it may exclude the entire supporting statement from the 2003 Proxy Materials.

* * *

Moreover, we do not believe that any revision of the proposal or the supporting statement could yield a shareholder proposal or supporting statement eligible for inclusion in the 2003 Proxy Materials. To the extent that Mr. Crapo were to attempt to furnish a coherent and viable shareholder proposal and/or supporting statement, it would be a new proposal, and not a revision. Any new proposal would be submitted too late for inclusion in the 2003 Proxy Materials, and therefore would be excludable under Rule 14a-8(e). The deadline for submission of shareholder proposals for the 2003 Proxy Materials was November 15, 2002, a date which has already passed. If a stockholder were permitted to make an incomprehensible submission prior to the shareholder proposal deadline, and then later "revise" them into an understandable proposal, it would render the deadline of Rule 14a-8(e) meaningless, and seriously interfere with reporting companies' preparations for annual meetings. Accordingly, we do not believe Mr. Crapo should be afforded a second opportunity to reformulate his shareholder proposal or supporting statement for inclusion in the 2003 Proxy Materials.

* * *

I would be happy to provide you with any additional information and answer any questions that you may have regarding this subject. Should you disagree with the conclusions set forth in this letter, I respectfully request the opportunity to confer with you prior to the determination of the Staff's final position. Please do not hesitate to call me at (212) 416-3317, if I can be of any further assistance in this matter.

A family affair

Whitney descendants donate money to Watertown library

By Eunice Kim
STAFF WRITER

For Lyn Legere of Brighton, a simple "thank you" didn't quite capture the extent of her gratitude for a few staff members of the Watertown Free Public Library. She felt the friendly nature and hard work of three particular women during the first Whitney Family Reunion, deserved more — a $207 donation to be exact.

Legere, 49, and 49 other descendants of the original Whitney family in Watertown donated the money to the library's building fund last week.

"They went so far out of their way just to be nice," Legere said of Library Director Leone Cole, Adult Services Supervisor Beverly Shank and Adult Services Librarian Kay Westcott. "They were just phenomenal."

The staff worked together with Legere to organize the three- to four-hour visit to the library, which included displays and interpretations of genealogical documents, books and maps.

"We see it as part of our job," Shank said.

The Whitney family was one of the early inhabitants of Watertown. According to "Crossroads on the Charles: A History of Watertown, Massachusetts," by Maud deLeigh Hodges, John Whitney and his son owned a fruit orchard on present-day Lexington Street. His descendants include Eli Whitney, inventor of the cotton gin, and Anne Whitney, a renowned sculptor whose works include the statue of Leif Ericson on Commonwealth Avenue in Boston and the statue of Charles Sumner in Harvard Square.

Modern-day Whitney descendants, who returned to the town of their family's origins, asked the librarians about various landmarks and places germane to their family history, such as the Whitney Hills and Whitney Woods, both of which the group later toured. The library presented original materials of Solan Whitney, the first librarian at the Watertown library in the 1600s. The group also viewed digitized historical maps of the area and were advised of numerous materials for sale.

"For family reunions, the talk often revolves around the good library and its resources. At that point, it was not known whether the library was going to have the funding to be open on the weekends during the summer. It wasn't until June when Legere learned the budget would indeed allow for weekend openings. Cole then referred Legere to Shank and Westcott, who met Legere in July after several email exchanges and the work went old days and the lifestyle back then when people were nicer," Legere said. In this sense, "the past and the present met in the behavior of these librarians."

The preparation for the event began long before the library's doors opened that Saturday morning. Legere, who began organizing the reunion with others two years ago, started corresponding with the library's staff in the spring, initially asking Cole for permission to use the library and its resources.

"We did what we would do for anyone who asked us," Shank said. "We did a professional job."

The donated money will go into the Watertown Free Public Library Building Fund for the library's renovation project, which will cost about $10 million. The renovations, which Cole hopes will begin in 2004, will include a climate-controlled local history genealogy room in which all materials will be made available.

"We're really grateful to the Whitney family for this donation," Cole said.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 30, 2002 POST-ON HERALD.

State pension fund took $1.2 billion nosedive in July

By DAVID R. GUARINO

The state's tanking pension fund lost another $1.2 billion last month, bringing overall losses to nearly $6 billion under state Treasurer Sharon P. O'Brien's watch, new documents show.

O'Brien's gubernatorial opponents are sure to have a field day with the staggering new pension losses, which amounted to 5 percent of the Pension Reserve Investment Management portfolio, according to documents obtained by the Herald.

Republicans and Democrats have hammered O'Brien's management as chairwoman of the PRIM board, saying it — like claims that the state Lottery is mismanaged — taints her resume.

When someone runs for governor not touting her management experience and just about everything she manages goes the wrong direction, there is a cumulative effect," said Democratic rival Warren E. Tolman.

The July losses are massive, even by PRIM's recent underperforming standards.

The documents show the fund dropped from about $27.3 billion to just over $26 billion. That rate concludes a drop of 8.6 percent this calendar year and 10.5 percent from last July.

The July losses follow a free fall in pension investments that culminated in a $4.7 billion tally after June figures were compiled earlier this month. At an early August meeting, three pension investors were fired — though only one was let go for poor investment performance.

Since then, O'Brien critics have taken to the radio with ads criticizing her — particularly for $23 million lost in Enron investments made even as the energy giant failed. O'Brien's husband, former lobbyist R. Emmet Hayes, formerly worked for Enron.

At one recent campaign appearance, Tolman coined the phrase "Shannonomics," belittling her role as chairwoman of the bipartisan PRIM board.

Senate President Thomas F. Ruffinham, in a Democratic debate Tuesday, joked that voters who like O'Brien should vote for losing $4 billion.

But Treasury First Deputy Michael Travaglini said the figures are merely a reflection of the continuing bear market.

"Anyone investing money now, institutional or individual, is dealing with the same difficult market conditions," Travaglini said.

O'Brien campaign manager Dwight Robson said she will be prepared to fend off new attacks on the PRIM losses but said legislatively mandated returns and the poor market hit pension investors' hands.

"The average person understands when they are opening up their 401(k) that the stock market has gone through a very rough period, particularly in July when the fallout from continued corporate scandals unraveled," Robson said.

According to state regulations, pension investments must try to earn 8.25 percent over the long-term.

The return rate is set to minimize appropriations from the state budget to ensure pensions — for retired state workers, teachers and even politicians — are fully funded.

To reach an 8.25 percent return, investors must put pension money in risky equity stocks, treasury officials say.

Travaglini said the July losses, while significant, don't match the 10 percent loss suffered by PRIM in August 1998. The O'Brien aides were not able to say last night how often PRIM has recorded 5 percent losses.

The aides also said that the PRIM losses, while serious, still outperformed the Dow Jones Industrial Average, which lost 5.4 percent, the S&P 500, which lost 7.9 percent and the Nasdaq, which lost 9 percent.

"Given the broader market conditions, July was a difficult month for all investors, including PRIM," Travaglini said. "That being said, however, PRIM continues to outperform the major indices."

And, Travaglini said, figures for August — which end at market close today — show PRIM is up 1.2 percent, having earned back about $300 million of those losses.

Still, the numbers could be particularly stinging to O'Brien, since during debates she has said, during her term as treasurer, the fund has gained $2.5 billion. With July's losses, her answer will have to be cut in half — to $1.3 billion.

Travaglini and Robson said O'Brien was not briefed on the losses before Tuesday night's debate, when she repeatedly referred to the $2.5 billion gains.

MY SHAREHOLDER PROPOSAL

Shareholders recommend that the Board of Directors ("Board") of the Dow Jones and Company, Inc. ("Corporation") publish in the Proxy Statement of each shareholder annual meeting in the Appendix containing an item the charitable donations program of our corporation for the immediate past calendar year with the following data:

(i) An explanation of at least five hundred words explaining the standards of the Board and procedures of it governing the Corporation's donations to United States Internal Revenue Service ("Service") approved private foundations to include standards for denial of such help.

(ii) An enumeration of such said qualifying charities and approved foundations which our Corporation's Board plans as our Corporate Governance Board to help in the ensuing calendar year included with each charity and foundation an elucidation of at least twenty-five words how it complied with the standards and procedures enumerated in i.

MY SUPPORTING STATEMENT

This shareholder proposal in its current language came from the typewriter of The New England Power Company Office of General Counsel General Counsel Mr. Frederic Greenman, Esquire. I'd submitted it in different form. The Commission preferred the language of New England Power Company, Hon. President Mr. John W. Rowe, Esquire who now is Co-Chief Executive Officer of a much larger energy company. I was exceedingly impressed with the cordiality of Mrs. Bok (New England Electric System Board Chair person), Mr. Greenman (whom I had met before) and personnel of said NEES who greeted me when I arrived at their meeting locations at Boston, Providence and Worcester. Mrs. Bok was President of the University Overseers of Harvard University while Mr. Bok was University President. I've wondered if Mr. Bok re-worded my shareholder proposal. Mr. Bok greeted his Majesty Juan Carlos I de Borbon King Regnant of the Kingdom D'Espana whom in the calendar year 1992 addressed the afternoon meeting of assembled alumni of Harvard University meeting as annual meeting of alumni of Harvard University - "Something you should know."

The Teresa (Ms. John Forbes Kerry) and John Heinz Foundation recommends potential donors consult the Better Business Bureau for performance reports on the character of how charitable donations are used. Hon. Senator in the U.S. House of Senators Mr. Kerry is member of its Finance Committee which exercises oversight of the service. Hon. Senator Michael D. Crapo, AB, Jur D, Esquire who is formerly a member of a law firm known as a leader in the practice of trust law, is a member of the U.S. House of Senators Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee which exercises oversight of the Commission.

I was invited to attend a Crapo wing-ding alongside a highway in Congressional District at a location near adjoining the Congressional District of Mr. Crapo and his address of record. It was during a time when the region was known in national news to be having serious climatic troubles so serious Her Majesty Elizabeth II, Regnant sent public safety personnel from her Kingdom of the Commonwealth of Australia to help defeat the Holocaust. How inspiring the help was by the subjects of the Commonwealth of Nations to help.

DIVISION OF CORPORATION FINANCE INFORMAL PROCEDURES REGARDING SHAREHOLDER PROPOSALS

The Division of Corporation Finance believes that its responsibility with respect to matters arising under Rule 14a-8 [17 CFR 240.14a-8], as with other matters under the proxy rules, is to aid those who must comply with the rule by offering informal advice and suggestions and to determine, initially, whether or not it may be appropriate in a particular matter to recommend enforcement action to the Commission. In connection with a shareholder proposal under Rule 14a-8, the Division's staff considers the information furnished to it by the Company in support of its intention to exclude the proposals from the Company's proxy materials, as well as any information furnished by the proponent or the proponent's representative.

Although Rule 14a-8(k) does not require any communications from shareholders to the Commission's staff, the staff will always consider information concerning alleged violations of the statutes administered by the Commission, including argument as to whether or not activities proposed to be taken would be violative of the statute or rule involved. The receipt by the staff of such information, however, should not be construed as changing the staff's informal procedures and proxy review into a formal or adversary procedure.

It is important to note that the staff's and Commission's no-action responses to Rule 14a-8(j) submissions reflect only informal views. The determinations reached in these no-action letters do not and cannot adjudicate the merits of a company's position with respect to the proposal. Only a court such as a U.S. District Court can decide whether a company is obligated to include shareholder proposals in its proxy materials. Accordingly a discretionary determination not to recommend or take Commission enforcement action, does not preclude a proponent, or any shareholder of a company, from pursuing any rights he or she may have against the company in court, should the management omit the proposal from the company's proxy material.

January 10, 2003

Response of the Office of Chief Counsel
Division of Corporation Finance

Re: Dow Jones & Company, Inc.
Incoming letter dated December 13, 2002

The proposal recommends that Dow Jones' proxy statement contain information described in the proposal regarding Dow Jones' charitable donations program.

We are unable to concur in your view that Dow Jones may exclude the entire proposal under rule 14a-8(i)(3). However, there appears to be some basis for your view that the entire supporting statement may be excluded under rule 14a-8(i)(3). Accordingly, we will not recommend enforcement action to the Commission if Dow Jones omits the entire supporting statement from its proxy materials in reliance on rule 14a-8(i)(3).

We are unable to concur in your view that Dow Jones may exclude the proposal under rule 14a-8(i)(7). Accordingly, we do not believe that Dow Jones may omit the proposal from its proxy materials in reliance on rule 14a-8(i)(7).

Sincerely,

Jennifer Bowes
