INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

Board of Directors
Potomac Investment Company
Chevy Chase, Maryland

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of Potomac Investment Company (an S Corporation) as of December 31, 2002, and the related statements of income, changes in shareholder's equity and cash flows for the year then ended that you are filing pursuant to rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with U.S. generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Potomac Investment Company at December 31, 2002, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended, in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements, taken as a whole. The information contained in Schedules I(a)-I(d) is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 2002

1. Organization and summary of significant accounting policies:

Organization:

Potomac Investment Company (the "Company") was incorporated under the laws of the District of Columbia on October 19, 1983 to provide investment services in the Washington metropolitan area. The Company, which is regulated by the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934, is an "introducing" broker-dealer as defined in Rule 15c3-1(a)(2).

Depreciation:

The Company's equipment is depreciated using an accelerated method.

Income taxes:

Beginning with the taxable year ended December 31, 1983, the Company's shareholders elected to be treated as an S Corporation for Federal income tax purposes. Under this election, income, losses and credits are included in the individual tax returns of the shareholder. Therefore, no provision has been made for Federal income taxes in the accompanying financial statements.

Statement of cash flows:

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with a maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Use of estimates:

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (CONTINUED)
YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 2002

2. Net capital requirements:

The Company is required to comply with the net capital rule of the Securities and Exchange Commission. This rule prohibits the Company from engaging in any security transactions should its "aggregate indebtedness" exceed 15 times its "net capital," as those terms are defined in the rule. The rule may also limit the circumstances under which the Company may declare dividends. The minimum net capital requirement under the rule is the greater of $6,000 or 6.67% of aggregate indebtedness. In computing net capital, items not readily convertible into cash are excluded.

The Company's aggregate indebtedness was $13,695 and its net capital of $16,401 exceeded the minimum required by the net capital rule by $10,401 at December 31, 2002.

3. Computation for determination of reserve requirements pursuant to SEC Rule 15c3-3:

The Company is exempt from the provisions of the reserve requirements of the Securities and Exchange Commission under Section (k)(2)(i)(i) since the Company does not carry security accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities.

4. The Company maintains a Simplified Employer Plan (SEP) for employees. The Company provides a discretionary contribution to the SEP on an annual basis and the contribution is accrued as a liability in the year to which it applies. For 2002, the Company elected not to make a contribution.

Independent Auditors' Report on Internal Control Structure and Compliance

Board of Directors
Potomac Investment Company
Washington, D.C.

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplementary schedules of Potomac Investment Company for the year ended December 31, 2002, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the company including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons
2. Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment of securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

However, we noted the following matters involving the control environment and its operation that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above. These conditions were considered in determining the nature, timing, and extent of the procedures to be performed in our audit of the financial statements of Potomac Investment Company for the year ended December 31, 2002, and this report does not affect our report thereon dated January 13, 2003.

The size of the Company and its limited personnel provide for minimal segregation of duties; i.e., the handling, recording and reconciliation of Company assets. The condition was considered in determining the nature, timing and extent of the audit tests to be applied in our examination of the 2002 financial statements, and this report does not affect our report of those financial statements dated January 13, 2003.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the Securities and Exchange Commission to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding, and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2002, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management and the Securities and Exchange Commission, and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
