INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

The Stockholder and Board of Directors of
American Century Investment Services, Inc.
Kansas City, Missouri

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of American Century Investment Services, Inc. (the "Company") (a wholly owned subsidiary of American Century Companies, Inc.) as of December 31, 2002, and the related statements of operations, changes in stockholder's equity and cash flows for the year then ended, that you are filing pursuant to Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Our procedures included a review of the Company's control activities for safeguarding securities. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, such financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2002, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The supplemental schedule listed in the accompanying table of contents is presented for the purpose of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. This schedule is the responsibility of the Company's management. Such schedule has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in our audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects when considered in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

1. NATURE OF OPERATIONS AND SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Nature of Operations - American Century Investment Services, Inc. (the "Company") is a registered broker-dealer and a wholly owned subsidiary of American Century Companies, Inc. ("ACC"). The Company is economically dependent upon ACC. The Company's primary purpose is the marketing and distribution of the American Century family of mutual funds, which are related parties through common management. No customer accounts are carried nor are commissions received on the sale of the aforementioned mutual funds.

The Company is exempt from the computation for determination of reserve requirements under Rule 15c3-3 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 under paragraph (k)(2)(i) of the Rule, since its transactions are limited to the purchase, sale and redemption of redeemable securities of registered investment companies. The Company does not receive, directly or indirectly, or hold funds or securities for, or owe money or securities to, customers.

Cash and Cash Equivalents - The Company considers all liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less to be cash equivalents, which consisted of an investment in a money market mutual fund as of December 31, 2002.

Investments - Investments, which consist of common stock and warrants of The NASDAQ Stock Market, Inc. are carried at fair value with unrealized gains or losses included in the statement of operations. The fair value of the common stock is based on quoted market prices. The fair value of the warrants is based on the Company's best estimates considering its knowledge of the investee, the investee's relative market strength and other pertinent considerations.

Revenues - The Company records interest and dividend income on the accrual basis. Dividend income consists of distributions from an investment in a money market mutual fund that is managed by an affiliate of the Company.

Income Taxes - The Company is included in the consolidated tax return of ACC with other ACC subsidiaries. In accordance with the provisions of the tax sharing agreement between the Company and ACC, ACC allocates income tax expenses or benefits to members of the consolidated group based on each subsidiary's contribution to consolidated taxable income or loss, using the statutory rate applicable to the consolidated group. The amounts are settled through intercompany transactions on a monthly basis. Deferred income tax expense or benefit is recorded similarly and results from differences between the Company's assets and liabilities reported for financial reporting purposes and the tax basis of such assets and liabilities.

Operating Expenses - Operating expenses consist of NASD registration fees for certain employees of other affiliates of ACC. The salaries and other costs related to those employees are borne by the affiliates which employ those individuals. ACC makes periodic capital contributions to the Company to reimburse it for the registration fees and ensure that the Company remains adequately capitalized.

Use of Estimates - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

2. RELATED PARTIES

ACC, through American Century Services Corporation (also a wholly owned subsidiary of ACC) or through other wholly owned subsidiaries of ACC, incurs operating expenses on behalf of the Company. Accordingly, the Company recognizes certain expenses and a corresponding capital contribution. ACC, American Century Services Corporation or the other wholly owned subsidiaries have no intention of requiring reimbursement for these services.

3. NET CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS

The Company is subject to the uniform net capital rule (Rule 15c3-1) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Rule 15c3-1 requires the Company to maintain minimum net capital equal to the greater of $25,000 or 6 2/3% of aggregate indebtedness. The Company had net capital, as defined, of $1,126,982 as of December 31, 2002, which was $1,101,982 in excess of its required net capital of $25,000. The Company's ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital was 0 to 1 as of December 31, 2002.

SUPPLEMENTAL REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL

February 12, 2003

The Stockholder and Board of Directors of
American Century Investment Services, Inc.
Kansas City, Missouri

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of American Century Investment Services, Inc. (the "Company") (a wholly owned subsidiary of American Century Companies, Inc.) for the year ended December 31, 2002 (on which we have issued our report dated February 12, 2003), we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, we have made a study of the practices and procedures (including tests of compliance with such practices and procedures) followed by the Company that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. We did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13 or in complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal control and of the practices and procedures and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the Securities and Exchange Commission's (the "Commission") above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of the internal control or of such practices and procedures to future periods are subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the degree of compliance with the practices or procedures may deteriorate.

Our consideration of the Company's internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in the Company's internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements caused by error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving the Company's internal control and its operation (including control activities for safeguarding securities) that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the Commission to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate as of December 31, 2002, to meet the Commission's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the Commission, National Association of Security Dealers Regulation, Inc. and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

Yours truly,

Deloitte & Touche LLP
