Press release

Saia-Burgess expands its production capacity in Hungary

Saia-Burgess is expanding its production unit in the Hungarian city of Hatvan which was only commissioned into operation at the beginning of the year. The doubling of the capacity is taking place in view of the new major orders received from the automotive sector.

The size of the production site at Hatvan will be increased from the previous 500 m² to a 1000 m² by the end of September 2003 and the size of the workforce expanded to 120 by the end of the year. The expansion became necessary in particular to enable the company to handle an additional, unexpected major order for the new C1 locking system which will significantly increase the unit quantities from the 3rd quarter 2004. In addition, production for various automotive manually operated switches will start up in Hatvan in 2003 and from the end of 2003 assembly of the subsystem for the door locking system for the Opel Astra and Zafira models will be commenced at the Hungarian production site. "This positive development" says Daniel Hirschi, CEO of the Saia-Burgess Group, "shows our Group's growth potential for next year. We continue however to take a rather cautious approach to the development of business in the current year."
