President's comments

The first quarter of the year was heavily influenced by political and economic events and ended up being dominated by the situation in Iraq. In addition to the unsure geopolitical climate, there is increased uncertainty about the global economy and many growth forecasts have been cut back. Late in the quarter, growing concerns about the spread of the SARS pneumonia also had a negative impact on business activity. These developments were all reflected on the world's stock exchanges, which were generally weak and volatile. The Stockholm Stock Exchange was down 8 percent at the end of March and had declined by as much as 11 percent at one point during the quarter. Investor's net asset value declined by 6 percent, roughly in line with the Stockholm exchange. Against the background of the uncertain economic environment, corporate earnings results for the first quarter are of particular interest to investors.

The continuing decline of stock exchanges and the weak economy have not resulted in reduced activity within Investor. New direct investments were few in number during the quarter, however. On the other hand, work on ownership issues has been intensive. Among other activities, the nomination processes for the spring annual general meetings of core holdings have been in their final phase. When evaluating and recruiting board members, as well as other senior executives, Investor's principle is always to base this work on the specific needs and circumstances of each company in order to find the right people.

At Ericsson's annual general meeting on April 8, Carl-Henric Svanberg took office as new President and CEO. He has been managing a successful international group, and in our opinion, he and the new corporate management team have strong potential to lead Ericsson to profit recovery. During the quarter it was also announced that work would be continued to resolve the voting rights issue, and Investor is actively participating in this process.

AstraZeneca continues to report strong sales growth for products such as Arimidex (oncology), Nexium (gastrointestinal), and Seroquel and Zomig (central nervous system). The company also announced promising research results for Exanta, a drug preventing blood clots, and is planning to submit an application to the U.S. and European regulatory agencies later this year. Crestor, a statin that reduces cholesterol, received its first market approval in several European countries and Canada during the quarter and is now being launched. Approval of Crestor is expected in the U.S. during 2003. An application has also been submitted in Europe for Iressa, a cancer drug that has only been marketed in Japan up to now. The U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is expected to announce its decision on Iressa in the second quarter. AstraZeneca has thus entered an exciting phase with several new pharmaceuticals in different launch stages.

During the quarter SEB announced that its cost reduction program, launched in 2001, achieved targets one quarter earlier than planned, which helped SEB increase earnings in 2002 despite the weak economy. SEB's trend of customer satisfaction is also clearly positive. The bank's sound financial position is comforting in the current uncertain market environment, and the trend of the SEB share price has been positive so far this year.

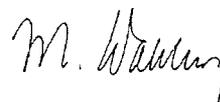

Several other core holdings also demonstrated during the fourth quarter of 2002 that measures to improve profitability have started to produce results. Scania's and Saab's earnings performance are examples.

Within New Investments, the investment pace was limited during the first quarter. Primarily follow-on investments were made in existing holdings whose future potential is considered strong. Some exits were realized and EQT's holding in Dahl was refinanced. In the quarterly review of Investor Growth Capital's holdings, a number of companies reported stabilizing or improving business conditions, although the values of a few small holdings were written down marginally. Investor's valuation principles for unlisted holdings do not allow any write-ups except in conjunction with exits or listings. However, the financial market environment remains unreceptive to these types of transactions.

Hi3G is now weeks from launching its first 3G services. The build-out of the network and development of technology and services will continue at an undiminished pace to achieve good coverage and high customer satisfaction. The estimate that Investor's investment in Hi3G will total SEK 4-5 billion remains valid.

The focus on costs has continued within Investor and resulted in lower expenses in the first quarter, compared with the corresponding period last year. The company's liquidity has also been strengthened in order to maintain sound financial strength and flexibility. Cash and cash equivalents currently total in excess of SEK 10 billion, before the dividend payment to shareholders, and the average maturity of the debt portfolio has been extended to more than six years.

As holdings continue to focus on profitability and a strong financial position, it is important that they lift their sights and also invest for the future. This will enable them to strengthen their long-term competitiveness and achieve profitable growth. Investor's task is to provide support for this effort while we continue our search for and evaluate new and attractive business opportunities.

Marcus Wallenberg

Investor's Other Holdings affected the change in value by SEK 29 m. (665) in the first quarter. The change for the period was primarily attributable to fund investments.

Hi3G

Hi3G, which will launch its services under the global brand "3", is working intensively on building out its UMTS network and developing its customer offerings. In Sweden the company is conducting tests with external users of its services and plans to have its first paying customers in the second quarter. The number of services, functionality and geographic coverage of Hi3G's offering will be increased on a step-by-step basis.

The peak financing need still amounts to the previously announced estimate of approximately USD 2.3 bn. for Hi3G's businesses in Sweden and Denmark. Investor owns 40 percent of Hi3G.

The owners and the company are continuously reviewing the business to further improve cost efficiency. Investor currently estimates that its capital contribution to Hi3G, in the form of a shareholder's contribution, will total between SEK 4 bn. and SEK 5 bn., including the SEK 1,648 m. that has been provided to date. In addition to the capital contribution, there is a loan to Hi3G in the amount of SEK 286 m., which is reported in the item "Other assets and liabilities". Investor has thus provided a total of SEK 1,934 m. to Hi3G. Of this amount, SEK 200 m. was provided in the first quarter in the form of a shareholder's contribution and SEK 162 m. in the form of a loan.

In the first quarter Investor reached an agreement for a SEK 3 bn. bank facility for Investor's share of Hi3G's loan financing. As reported earlier, the intention is to finance Hi3G over time with shareholders' equity and external project financing on an approximately 50-50 basis.

Other

The Board of Directors of Investor AB has approved the company's employee stock option program for 2003. The program, which covers all employees in wholly owned investment subsidiaries, is based on the same structure as the employee stock option programs that have existed for personnel since 2000 (see Investor's Annual Report). Investor strives to offer compensation in line with market practices that makes it possible to recruit senior executives and other employees and retain them in the company. Employee compensation is adapted to Investor's underlying operations and normally consists of fixed salary, variable salary, variable long-term incentive programs (including employee stock option programs) and pension (which for senior executives consists mainly of a defined-contribution pension plan).

The strike price for the 2003 employee stock option program has been set at SEK 52.50 per share, corresponding to the closing price of the Investor share on the first trading day after the release of Investor's Year-end Report for 2002 plus 10 percent. The program comprises 3.7 million options (corresponding to as many underlying shares). The term is seven years, during which the options will gradually become available over a three-year period. The theoretical value of an option is SEK 8.21 and the theoretical value of the entire program is SEK 30 million.

Exposure to increases in the share price, including any social security fees, is hedged by means of hedge contracts from earlier. The annual cost of these contracts amounts to an interest expense based on the value of the underlying shares, less the dividend on the underlying shares. No new shares will be issued as a result of the employee stock option program. The theoretical dilution for the 2003 employee stock option program amounts to 0.48 percent. The total theoretical dilution for all outstanding employee stock option programs amounts to 1.3 percent. See also "Accounting principles" below.

Accounting principles

When preparing this interim report, the same accounting principles have been applied as those used in the preparation of the latest annual report. The interim report has been prepared in accordance with Recommendation No. 20 of the Swedish Financial Accounting Standards Council.

Application of the new recommendations from the Swedish Financial Accounting Standards Council, which came into effect on January 1, 2003, have not had any effect on this report.

Holdings in associated companies are reported in accordance with the acquisition value method. This report will be supplemented with the consolidated accounts in accordance with the equity method (income statement, balance sheet and specification of equity), which will be made available on Investor's website as of May 31, 2003.

As noted in the Annual Report, Investor hedges its seven-year employee stock option programs only against increases in the company's share price. The decrease in Investor's share price below the average hedge price is reported on an ongoing basis as an adjustment item under shareholders' equity. To the extent that Investor's share price is lower than the hedge price, any possible negative effects on cash flow would not arise until after the seven-year term of the option programs.

Valuation principles for New Investments

The valuation of listed holdings is based on the share price of each company on the last business day of the reporting period, less 10 or 20 percent, depending on the liquidity of the company's shares and any limitations to the disposal rights to the company's shares.

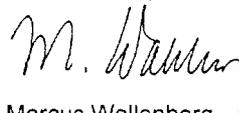

For unlisted holdings, Investor uses a valuation method in which the holdings are valued at acquisition cost, less any write-downs. The valuation, and if relevant, any need for write-downs, is determined quarterly on the basis of the market's development and the performance of each company in relation to its plan and budget.

Unlisted holdings in funds are valued on the basis of the underlying value of their holdings at the lower of acquisition cost and fund manager's valuation. Listed holdings are valued as described above. For funds in which Investor has a holding of less than 10 percent, or is inactive in the fund's activities, the main rule is that Investor uses the valuation that the fund manager makes of all holdings in the fund. However, the fund is never valued higher than Investor's acquisition cost. If Investor's evaluation is that the fund manager's valuation has not given sufficient consideration to factors that can negatively affect the holdings, the value may be written down.
