We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of Hamilton Miller Investments, LLC, (the Company) as of December 31, 2003, and the related statements of income, changes in member's equity, and cash flows for the year then ended that you are filing pursuant to rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Hamilton Miller Investments, LLC at December 31, 2003, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
December 31, 2003

A. ORGANIZATION AND NATURE OF THE BUSINESS

The Company is a broker-dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and is a member of the National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD). The Company is a Delaware limited liability company 100% owned by Hamilton Miller, Inc. (Note L) and conducts its business in the state of Colorado. The Company provides marketing services for non-traditional fund managers primarily through private offerings in compliance with Regulation D of the Federal Reserve Board.

B. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Presentation

The Company's financial statements are reported on an accrual basis in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. The Company is a privately held limited liability company and, as such, is not required to provide earnings per share information in these financial statements.

Fee and Commission Income

The Company's primary sources of revenue are fees and commissions earned as a percentage of the fees charged by the fund managers to their customers.

Income Taxes

The Company is treated as a partnership for federal income tax purposes and does not incur income taxes. Instead, its earnings and losses are included in the returns of the members and taxed depending on their tax situations. The financial statements do not reflect a provision for income taxes.

Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

HAMILTON MILLER INVESTMENTS, LLC
December 31, 2003

B. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

Cash

For the purpose of the statement of cash flows, cash includes all cash held in checking and savings accounts, other than certificates of deposit.

C. CASH AND SECURITIES SEGREGATED UNDER FEDERAL AND OTHER REGULATIONS

The Company does not participate in active securities trading or clearing functions and therefore is not required to segregate any funds for the benefit of customers under rule 15c3-3 of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

D. CONCENTRATION OF CREDIT RISK

The Company's financial instruments that are exposed to concentrations of credit risk consist primarily of cash and trade accounts receivable. The Company places its cash with high credit quality financial institutions. At times such investments may be in excess of the FDIC insurance limit. Should a bank fail when the Company's bank balances exceed the limits, which is highly unlikely, the Company may suffer a loss of the amounts in excess of the limits. The Company routinely assesses the financial strength of its customers and, as a consequence believes that its trade accounts receivable credit risk exposure is limited.

E. RECEIVABLES FROM BROKER-DEALERS AND CLEARING ORGANIZATIONS

The receivables balance is comprised of management and performance fees due from various fund managers for marketing services performed by the Company. Collateral for the receivables is not reflected in the financial statements.

F. SECURITIES OWNED

Securities owned consist of shares and warrants purchased and valued at cost of $18,900, which is lower than estimated realizable value. There was no market on a securities exchange for the shares or warrants as of December 31, 2003.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Concluded)
December 31, 2003

H. SUBORDINATED BORROWINGS

The Company did not have any subordinated borrowing activity for the year ended December 31, 2003.

I. NET CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (SEC rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1 (and the rule of the "applicable" exchange also provides that equity capital may not be withdrawn or cash dividends paid if the resulting net capital ratio would exceed 10 to 1). At December 31, 2003, the Company had net capital of $273,656, which was $248,498 in excess of its required net capital of $25,158. INDEPENDENT ACCOUNTANTS' REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL

To the Members
Hamilton Miller Investments, LLC

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of Hamilton Miller Investments, LLC, (the Company), for the year ended December 31, 2003, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons
2. Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Schmidt + Associates

A Professional Corporation of Certified Public Accountants

To the Members
Hamilton Miller Investments, LLC

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2003, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Members, management, the SEC, and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
