Independent Auditor's Report

To the Board of Directors
CNL Securities Corp.
Orlando, Florida

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of CNL Securities Corp. (a wholly owned subsidiary of CNL Investment Company) as of December 31, 2003, and the related statements of income, changes in stockholder's equity and cash flows for the year then ended that you are filing pursuant to Rule 17a-5 under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of CNL Securities Corp. (a wholly owned subsidiary of CNL Investment Company) at December 31, 2003, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained in Schedule I is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by rule 17a-5 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

CNL SECURITIES CORP.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

For The Year Ended December 31, 2003

Note 1 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies:

CNL Securities Corp.'s (the Company) accounting policies are in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America and reflect practices appropriate to broker-dealers in the securities industry in the United States of America.

Organization:

The Company was organized under the laws of the State of Florida on November 13, 1979 as a broker-dealer. Effective August 10, 1980, the Company became a wholly owned subsidiary of CNL Financial Group, Inc. No financial activity occurred until 1981. November 25, 1981 was the effective date the Company became registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission. Effective June 30, 1999, CNL Financial Group, Inc. transferred all of the outstanding shares in the company to CNL Investment Company. Effective January 1, 2000, CNL Investment Company became a wholly owned subsidiary of CNL Holdings, Inc. through its subsidiaries, CNL Financial Group, Inc. and CNL Capital Markets, Inc.

Business Activity:

The Company is a registered broker-dealer with the Securities and Exchange Commission and a member of National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc.

The Company serves as broker-dealer for the sale primarily of "limited partnership units" of various investment partnerships and shares of stock of unlisted real estate investment trusts ("REITs"). Commissions are generated from the sale of these units and shares. (See Note 2).

Fair Value of Financial Instruments:

Unless otherwise indicated, the fair value of all reported assets and liabilities which represent instruments approximate the carrying value of such amounts.

Use of Estimates:

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Income Recognition:

Commissions from the sale of shares of stock of REITs and limited partnership interests in real estate and other capital ventures are recognized as income when earned and are recorded on the date the investor is admitted as a partner or stockholder.

During 2003, certain employees of the Company's parent, CNL Investment Company, were transferred to the Company. Revenue and expenses related to such employees were included in the revenue and expenses of the Company in order to reflect all marketing and sales activities related to the sale of shares of stock of REITs and limited partnership interests (See Note 2 – Related Party Transactions – Contribution of Capital).

CNL SECURITIES CORP.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Continued)

For The Year Ended December 31, 2003

Note 1- Summary of Significant Accounting Policies - Continued:

Accounts Receivable:

The Company provides an allowance for doubtful accounts. At December 31, 2003, in the opinion of management, all amounts were considered collectible and no allowance was necessary.

Marketable Securities:

Marketable securities consist of common stocks. Marketable securities are stated at market value. All marketable securities are defined as trading securities under the provisions of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 115, "Accounting for Certain Investments in Debt and Equity Securities" (SFAS 115) and unrealized holding gains and losses are reflected in earnings. Market value is determined by the most recently traded price of the security at the balance sheet date. Net realized gains or losses are determined on the specific identification cost method.

Property and Equipment:

Assets are stated at cost. Major renewals and betterments are charged to the property and equipment accounts while replacements, maintenance and repairs, which do not improve or extend the lives of the respective assets are expensed currently. Gain or loss on retirement or disposal of an individual asset is recorded as income or expense.

Depreciation:

Depreciation is provided primarily by accelerated rates using estimated lives of 5 to 15 years for office furnishings, fixtures and equipment and 3 to 5 years for computer software and hardware.

Income Taxes:

The Company follows the consolidation policies of its consolidating parent company, CNL Holdings, Inc., in paying its portion of the consolidated Federal and State income taxes to the parent company. The Company is reporting on the accrual basis of accounting for both financial statement and income tax reporting purposes.

Cash and Cash Equivalents:

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, cash and cash equivalents include cash and cash invested in liquid instruments with an original maturity date of three months or less.

CNL SECURITIES CORP.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Continued)

For The Year Ended December 31, 2003

Note 2 - Related Party Transactions:

Investment Partnerships and REITs:

The Company's activities as a broker-dealer relate primarily to certain investment partnerships and unlisted real estate investment trusts ("REITs"). James M. Seneff, Jr. (stockholder-officer of Parent Company) and Robert A. Bourne (officer) of the Company are also general partners in these investment partnerships and officers and directors of the REITs.

The Company earned revenues from related entities for the year ended December 31, 2003, of $188,478,521. At December 31, 2003, the Company had commissions due from related investment partnerships and REITs totaling $7,277,288.

Transactions with Affiliated Companies:

During the year ended December 31, 2003, the Company incurred general and administrative expenses totaling $1,335,636 related to services provided by affiliated entities. The Company provides marketing and investor services to the related partnerships, unlisted REITs and related companies for which it receives personnel reimbursement fees. For the year ended December 31, 2003, such reimbursements amounted to $7,772,341.

Contribution of Capital:

In order to meet the Company's net capital requirements (See Note 6) the parent company may be required to contribute capital. The parent company contributed capital of $7,295,000 during the year ended December 31, 2003.

Leases with Affiliated Companies:

The Company was allocated a portion of leases relating to office space leased from a related party. The lease provides for minimum monthly payments through October 2014. Deferred rent expense represents the difference between rent paid and the total cost of the lease recognized on a straight-line basis over the remaining life of the lease. Rent expense, including amortization of deferred rent, relating to their allocation of this lease agreement totaled $243,109 for the year ended December 31, 2003.

The Company's allocation of future minimum cash payments as of December 31, 2003 are as follows:

Year ending December 31,
2004	$ 274,071
2005	282,260

CNL SECURITIES CORP.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Continued)

For The Year Ended December 31, 2003

Note 6 - Capital Requirements:

The Company is subject to the "Net Capital Rule" of the Securities and Exchange Commission. This rule prescribes that a broker or dealer in securities is required to maintain a minimum "net capital" of the greater of $5,000 or 6 2/3% of aggregate indebtedness. The net capital of the Company as of December 31, 2003 was $1,563,688 and 6 2/3% of aggregate indebtedness was $1,026,928 (See also Schedule I).

The Company did not have any liabilities subordinated to claims of general creditors during the period covered by this report, and is exempt from revenue requirements under Rule 15c3-3k(2)(A) of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

There was no material adjustment to the computation of net capital under rule 15c3-1 between the unaudited FOCUS report and audited FOCUS report. Therefore, no reconciliation is required.

The Company is currently under audit by the Securities and Exchange Commission. Management believes that there will be no changes to the net capital computation as a result of the audit; however, if there is such a change, the focus report for December 31, 2003 and this report will be amended.

Note 7 - Profit Sharing Plan:

Employees of the Company are included in CNL Holdings, Inc's. defined contribution profit sharing plan ("the "Plan"). The Plan qualifies under Section 401(a) and 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code, and is not subject to minimum funding requirements. The Plan covers all eligible employees of the Company upon completion of one year of service. The Plan provides for employee contributions under a salary reduction plan, section 401(k). The employees may elect to contribute from 1% to 15% of salary to a maximum under IRS regulations. The Company is required to match 50% of the employee contribution to a maximum of 3% of salary. For the year ended December 31, 2003, the Company's contribution, including administrative costs, amounted to $196,839.

Note 8 - Concentration of Credit Risk:

Financial instruments, which potentially subject the Company to significant concentrations of credit risk, consist principally of cash equivalents and accounts receivable (See Note 2).

The Company maintains cash balances at financial institutions and invests in unsecured money market funds. Accounts at these institutions are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to $100,000. At December 31, 2003, uninsured cash deposits and cash invested in money market funds totaled approximately, $11,605,200.

Concentrations of credit risk with respect to accounts receivable relates to the Company's business activity being the sale of securities of entities primarily within the real estate industry. The Company limits its credit risk by the dispersion of activity across many geographic areas throughout the United States.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL

MCDIRMIT DAVIS PUCKETT

Independent Auditor's Report on Internal Control

To the Board of Directors
CNL Securities Corp.
Orlando, FL

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedule of CNL Securities Corp. (the "Company") for the year ended December 31, 2003, we considered its internal control structure, including procedures for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission, (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons
2. Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control structure and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal control structure policies and procedures and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the Commission's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of an internal control structure and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Independent Auditor's Report on Internal Control Structure

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control procedure of the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or irregularities may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of the internal control structure would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control structure that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control structure elements does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or irregularities in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving the internal control structure, including procedures for safeguarding securities, which we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2002, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of the Board of Directors, management, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and should not be used for any other purpose.
