These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with U.S. generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

NOTE 2—SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

This summary of significant accounting policies is presented to assist in understanding the Company's financial statements. The financial statements and notes are representations of management who is responsible for their integrity and objectivity. These accounting policies conform to U.S. generally accepted accounting principles and have been consistently applied in the preparation of the financial statements.

REVENUE RECOGNITION

Commissions and related clearing expenses are recorded on a trade-date basis as securities transactions occur.

USE OF ESTIMATES

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

CASH FLOWS STATEMENT

For the purposes of this statement, the Company considers all highly-liquid debt instruments purchased with a maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

NOTE 3—RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

During the year, the Company has periodically advanced funds to the commonly owned affiliate. These amounts are noninterest bearing and due on demand.

The Company performs brokerage services for the commonly owned affiliate and has placed customer investments in funds managed by the commonly owned affiliate. Following is a summary of transactions for 2003:

Commission and fee revenues	$ 260,492
Commission, fee and trading cost expenses incurred	$ 264,198

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

NOTE 4—PAYABLE TO CLEARING BROKER

The Company clears all customers' transactions through another broker-dealer on a fully disclosed basis. The amount payable to the clearing broker relates to the aforementioned transactions. Interest is payable on the outstanding balance that generally corresponds to the broker call money rate.

NOTE 5—COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

The Company has entered into an agreement with its commonly owned affiliate and two individuals whereby the two individuals have purchased stock in the commonly owned affiliate and the existing sole stockholder has purchased additional stock under a stock purchase and recapitalization agreement. Under the terms of this agreement, the Company and commonly owned affiliate have made various representations, guarantees, and warranties, as defined. In addition, the Company must comply with specific covenants including, but not limited to, restrictions on the encumbrance of the Company stock. In connection with this agreement, the Company is subject to consulting agreements with two companies, owned by the two individuals noted above, requiring fees equal to 25% of the net profits, as defined, of the Company for each year. These agreements will remain in effect as long as the two individuals retain their stock in the commonly owned affiliate. No amounts were due at December 31, 2003.

NOTE 6—OFF-BALANCE SHEET CREDIT AND MARKET RISK

Customer transactions are introduced to and cleared through a clearing broker. Under the terms of its clearing agreement, the Company is required to guarantee the performance of its customers in meeting contractual obligations. In conjunction with the clearing broker, the Company seeks to control the risks associated with its customer activities by requiring customers to maintain collateral in compliance with various regulatory and internal guidelines. Compliance with the various guidelines are monitored daily and, pursuant to such guidelines, the customer may be required to deposit additional collateral, or reduce positions when necessary.

Commissions receivable and deposits with and receivables from clearing organizations are amounts due from the clearing broker that represent a concentration of credit risk and a deposit for clearing securities transactions of its customers. The Company does not anticipate nonperformance by customers or its clearing broker. In addition, the Company has a policy of reviewing, as considered necessary, the clearing broker with which it conducts business.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT ON INTERNAL
ACCOUNTING CONTROL REQUIRED BY SEC RULE 17A-5

Board of Directors and Stockholder
Stanford Securities, Incorporated
535 Sandpiper Drive
Lindenhurst, Illinois

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of STANFORD SECURITIES, INCORPORATED for the year ended December 31, 2003, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons
2. Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
3. Complying with the requirements of prompt payment for securities under section 8 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2003, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of management, the SEC, and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
