NOTE 1 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES

Industry Operations

United Global Securities, Inc. is registered as a broker or dealer under section 15(b) of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934. The Company was incorporated on October 14, 1993. On November 19, 1993, it was granted registration by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Cash and Equivalents

The Company considers highly liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Revenue Recognition

Property and Equipment

The Company's policy is to depreciate property and equipment over the estimated useful lives of the assets using the Modified Accelerated Cost Recovery System (MACRS) method. #### Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. The more significant areas requiring the use of management estimates relate to fair value of financial instruments and useful lives for depreciation. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimated.

Income Taxes

The Company has elected to be taxed as an S corporation, whereby all federal income tax attributes flow to the individual stockholders.

NOTE 1 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES (continued)

Marketable Securities

Marketable securities are classified as trading securities and are carried at market. Differences between cost and market are recognized in income in the current year. The specific identification method is used to compute realized gain or loss.

Financial Instruments and Credit Risk Concentration

Financial instruments that potentially expose the Company to concentrations of credit risk consist primarily of cash equivalents and commissions receivable. The Company maintains its cash equivalents in high quality securities placed with various major financial institutions. The Company policy is designed to limit exposure with any one institution, yet the Company is subject to concentrations of credit risk with respect to cash equivalents which the Company attempts to minimize by investing in high-quality instruments. Concentrations of credit risk with respect to commissions receivable is generally diversified due to the large number of financial institutions and their dispersion across geographic areas.

NOTE 2 - MARKETABLE SECURITIES

Marketable securities consist of mutual funds which are held for trading and recorded at their quoted market values. The average cost method is used to determine cost of securities.

Trading securities and holding gains and losses are as follows:

Cost	Market	Holding		Realized
		Gains	Losses	Gains	Losses
$47,623	$41,470	$ 3,361	$9,514	$ 0	$ 782

The decrease in net unrealized holding gains and losses for the year ended December 31, 2003 resulted in the inclusion of $9,990 of gains in earnings for the current year.

NOTE 3 - FURNITURE AND EQUIPMENT

At December 31, 2003, furniture and equipment consists of the following:

Furniture	$ 170,877
Office equipment	56,952

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedule of United Global Securities, Inc. for the year ended December 31, 2003 we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5-(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons
2. Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls, and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of the internal control structure would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2003, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than those specified parties.
