The BlackBerry Wireless Solution available for the Mobistar business customers

Brussels, May 21, 2004. Mobistar and Research In Motion (RIM) today announced the introduction of BlackBerry to Mobistar'corporate customers in Belgium. The BlackBerry wireless solution will be available for all Mobistar business customers in July 2004. BlackBerry will offer Mobistar's Business customers secure, push-based access to their corporate email system via an advanced handheld with integrated phone and organizer features. It will operate on Mobistar's GSM/GPRS network and include roaming capabilities. Mobistar is the first Belgian operator to launch such a solution with national SIM card.

"Access to corporate e-mails while being on the move is becoming increasingly important to our business customers who want to improve their efficiency. We are convinced that receiving and sending emails from a BlackBerry handheld will become as natural as making and receiving calls", Said Pol Vanbiervliet, Head of Mobistar Business Solutions. "The BlackBerry solution provides effortless access to information while on the move without the need to work with several devices! As it is also very secure and intuitive to use, it offers all the features necessary for the best customer experience for our business customers".

"We are pleased to be working together to introduce BlackBerry to Mobistar customers in Belgium", said Mark Guibert, Vice President, Corporate Marketing at RIM. "The secure, push-based BlackBerry platform and Mobistar's GSM/GPRS network will provide business users with a powerfull productivity tool that brings measurable benefits. We are confident that BlackBerry will be well-received by the business community".

BlackBerry is an award-winning platform that supports wireless access to a wide range of information and communications. With always-on connectivity and push-based technology that automatically delivers email and corporate data to and from a handheld, BlackBerry provides effortless access to information while on the move. Customers can read and forward email attachments from their BlackBerry handheld (including Microsoft® Word, Excel, PowerPoint and Adobe PDF) and also have wireless access to their calendar and corporate address books.
