ASX Release

Macquarie Bank completes acquisition of US energy assets

02 July 2004 – Further to its news release dated 15 December 2003, Macquarie Bank today announced the completion of its acquisition of Thermal Chicago Corporation, a subsidiary of Exelon Corporation for US$134 (A$191) million. The acquisition also includes the purchase of Exelon Thermal Technologies Inc. and Northwind Midway LLC.

As announced at the time, Macquarie will initially provide acquisition debt and equity for 100 per cent of the purchase price, and is in the process of evaluating long-term financing options for the businesses.

The Thermal businesses provide primarily chilled water to customers from a centralised plant via underground piping for cooling purposes. Customers are typically office buildings that sign up for services under long-term contracts.

The businesses consist of five district plants in downtown Chicago servicing 97 contracted customers and a site specific heating and cooling plant at Midway Airport in Chicago.

Macquarie Bank is in discussions regarding the transfer of the Thermal businesses to the recently announced US-based infrastructure company, Macquarie Infrastructure Assets LLC.

The annualised impact on Macquarie's profit of consolidating the Thermal businesses will be marginally positive, and the impact on capital will not be significant.
