Filing of Motion for Special Kokoku-Appeal and Permitted Kokoku-Appeal

Tokyo, August 11, 2004 --- The Tokyo High Court today allowed the appeal by UFJ Holdings, UFJ Bank and UFJ Trust Bank against the decision of the Tokyo District Court on August 4, 2004 that had affirmed the provisional injunction granted by the Court on July 27, 2004 in favor of Sumitomo Trust.

Today, therefore, Sumitomo Trust filed a motion for special Kokoku-appeal and permitted Kokoku-appeal to overturn the decision of the Tokyo High Court by the Supreme Court.

Result of UFJ Group's Appeal against Provisional Injunction

Tokyo, August 11, 2004 --- The Tokyo High Court today allowed an appeal by UFJ Holdings, UFJ Bank and UFJ Trust Bank (the "UFJ Group") against the decision of the Tokyo District Court on August 4, 2004 acknowledging the provisional injunction granted by the Court on July 27, 2004 in favor of Sumitomo Trust.

Despite acknowledging the legally binding nature of Sumitomo Trust's exclusive negotiation rights under the Basic Agreement entered into with the UFJ Group, the Tokyo High Court held that those rights were no longer valid. One of the main reasons given for this decision was our act of having applied for the provisional injunction to restrain the UFJ Group from having discussions with or providing of information to any third party in relation to the integration of UFJ Trust Bank's businesses with Sumitomo Trust's businesses.

We believe that this is an extremely inappropriate decision, which infringes upon our constitutional right of access to the courts, and we intend to immediately appeal against the judgment to the Supreme Court.
