SCOTTISH AND SOUTHERN ENERGY PLC
 INVESTMENT IN GAS DISTRIBUTION NETWORKS

A consortium in which Scottish and Southern Energy plc ("SSE") holds 50 per cent of the equity has agreed to acquire the Scotland and the South of England gas distribution networks from National Grid Transco ("Transco"). The remainder of the equity in the consortium, plus the provision of a financial instrument, is split equally between Borealis Infrastructure ("Borealis") and Ontario Teachers' Pension Plan ("Teachers").

The acquisitions remain subject to approvals from Ofgem and from the Health and Safety Executive and are expected to be completed in the spring of 2005.

The total value of the acquisitions will be £3,162m. They are expected to be funded by £1,038.8m of equity and £2,081.2m of non-recourse borrowings, plus a financial instrument held by Borealis and Teachers.

In summary, this will require SSE to make an investment of £519.4m in cash to acquire its 50% interest in the two gas networks. In return, it will receive 50% of the distributable earnings from the networks.

Upon completion of the acquisitions, SSE will provide certain corporate and management services for the gas networks under an agreement with the consortium. In return, it will receive an annual management charge, based on the cost of providing these services.

The two gas distribution networks already trade as separate businesses within Transco. The Scotland network comprises around 24,000km of gas mains, delivering gas to 1.7m industrial, commercial and domestic customers. The South of England network comprises around 49,000km of gas mains, delivering gas to around 3.9m industrial, commercial and domestic customers.

These acquisitions will make SSE the second largest energy distribution company in the UK. SSE is already recognised as being an efficient operator. The two networks will, therefore, benefit from the adoption of SSE's well-established approach to efficiency in network operation, combined with other performance improvement initiatives. This will build on the progress made by the two networks themselves in recent years. There is also significant geographical overlap between the two gas distribution networks and SSE's existing electricity distribution businesses in the north of Scotland and central south England. This will provide opportunities to create value through the delivery of efficiencies. This investment in gas distribution networks is expected to provide SSE's Contracting and Connections businesses with opportunities to expand their activities and it may also provide opportunities in gas metering and in the provision and maintenance of gas equipment.

This investment is expected to enhance SSE's earnings in the first year after completion of the acquisitions, and thereafter.

Ian Marchant, Chief Executive of SSE, said:

"We have been working very closely with our partners for almost a year now, and I am very pleased that this has culminated in this agreement with NGT. I believe that today's announcement is a good outcome for all concerned, including gas customers in Scotland and the South of England.

It means that our interests in energy networks will expand, thus maintaining the institutions with assets of C$79 billion at 30 June 2004. It invests to secure the retirement income of over 250,000 active and retired teachers in the province of Ontario. The Ontario Teachers' Pension Plan has global infrastructure and timberland assets of C$2.3 billion and is actively seeking to expand its portfolio.

SSE AND TALISMAN ENERGY TO BUILD OFFSHORE

WIND FARM DEMONSTRATOR PROJECT

Scottish and Southern Energy plc (SSE), and Talisman Energy (UK) Limited, a wholly owned subsidiary of Talisman Energy Inc, have announced plans to construct a £24 million deepwater wind farm demonstrator project adjacent to the Talisman-operated Beatrice Field, 25 kilometres off the east coast of Scotland. The demonstrator project will test technologies for deepwater wind farms distant from the shore, with no visual impact. The results will help determine if large-scale developments of this type are a practical source of renewable energy. The project will include the design, construction, installation and operation of two prototype turbines.

The power generated by the turbines will be used at the Beatrice platform and will operate alongside Talisman's existing operations at Beatrice without affecting production. It is anticipated that construction of these turbines will begin later this year and first electricity generation is expected to begin late in 2006.

The demonstrator project will receive £3 million in funding from each of the Scottish Executive and the UK Department of Trade and Industry and €6 million from the European Commission. SSE, and its co-venturer in this project, Talisman, will each contribute around £7 million. To date, Talisman and SSE have conducted four feasibility studies, together spending £2 million.

"There is widespread agreement that the key to realising the full potential of renewable energy over the long term is the development of new technologies," said SSE Chief Executive Ian Marchant. "We are committed to building on our position as the UK's largest generator of electricity from renewable sources. Our participation in this demonstrator project reflects our belief in the long term opportunities that renewable energy offers and confirms that Scotland and the rest of the UK is well positioned to become a leader in this field."

SCOTTISH AND SOUTHERN ENERGY PLC ACQUISITION OF FERRYBRIDGE AND FIDDLER'S FERRY POWER STATIONS

Scottish and Southern Energy plc ("SSE") has acquired the Ferrybridge and Fiddler's Ferry power stations and associated coal stocks of 1.6m tonnes from AEP Energy Services UK Ltd for £136m in cash. In addition, SSE has acquired fuel in transit and contracts to supply fuel for the power stations for $208m. The total payment to AEP will, therefore, be £250m ($456m).

Ferrybridge is a 1,995MW coal fired power station in West Yorkshire which was commissioned in 1966. In 2002, it was the first power station in the UK to 'co-fire' fuels from renewable sources in order to displace fossil fuels and it remains the market leader in this field. Fiddler's Ferry is a 1,989MW coal fired power station in Cheshire which was commissioned in 1971. Like Ferrybridge, it co-fires fuels from renewable sources.

Both are flexible, mid-merit stations and their acquisition complements SSE's existing generation portfolio of 4,300MW of gas-fired stations and almost 1,400MW of renewable capacity. It means that the capacity of SSE's wholly-owned power stations and SSE's share of power station joint ventures is now almost 10,000MW, making it the third largest generator of electricity in the UK.

The power stations produced 15.3TWh of electricity during 2003, and operated at an average load factor of 43%. Having opted out of the Large Combustion Plant Directive, they are expected to operate at a load factor of around 40% until 2008 and then for a total of 20,000 hours between 2008 and 2015, after which the plants are due to be de-commissioned. Costs associated with this have been included in SSE's valuation of the power stations. Both plants are expected to receive an allocation of carbon emissions allowances in respect of the EU Emissions Trading Scheme.

The acquisition is expected to enhance earnings during the current financial year.

Ian Marchant, Chief Executive of SSE, said:

"This acquisition is consistent with our strategy of acquiring assets which can be successfully integrated into our existing businesses at prices which allow value to be created for shareholders.

It will add to the diversity of our generation portfolio, particularly in the mid-merit sector, and will help us meet peak demand for electricity. It will also allow us to manage further our exposure to changes in commodity prices for fuel by balancing our existing gas portfolio with a coal portfolio. This, in turn, will reinforce our ability to compete successfully for industrial and commercial electricity customers.

We recognise that there are challenges involved in owning and operating coal-fired plant at a time when there is a clear move to lower carbon technologies. As a responsible company, we will examine all opportunities for improving the thermal efficiency of the power stations and for reducing the level of emissions from them.

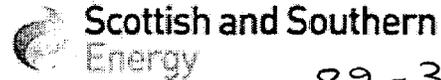

In the meantime, this clearly represents a good deal for SSE. It will stand us in good stead in the electricity

The company previously announced on 30 June 2004 the purchase, by the Trustees of the Scottish and Southern Energy Deferred Bonus Plan, of 217,330 ordinary shares of 50p each in the Company at a price of 684.5p per share. The company now announces the performance-related awards to Executive Directors under the Plan.

On 20 July 2004, the following share awards to the Executive Directors were made:

Ian Marchant	35,279
Colin Hood	25,249
Alistair Phillips-Davies	16,211
David Sigsworth	18,657
Gregor Alexander	16,211

The Plan is designed to contribute to increasing shareholder return and motivation of senior management over the longer-term. Awards to participants in the Plan are dependent on the performance by individuals and by the Company. Participants are granted awards equivalent to their actual short-term bonus. As stated in the Annual Report and Accounts 2004, the value of the award is adjusted by reference to three factors: the company's relative performance in terms of Total Shareholder Return over a three-year period; safety (which is externally verified and compared to other energy companies) and relative performance in terms of customer complaints as recorded by the independent regulatory body, energywatch.

Each Executive Director will only receive from the Trust the number of shares to which they are entitled under their award. For Companies Act purposes, the Executive Directors are technically regarded as having an interest in all those shares held by the Trust.
