XAS Group Inc. Operating as XAS Telecom is a Ontario based Corporation incorporated under the laws of the Province of Ontario. XAS Telecom currently provides a range of Voice over IP (internet telephone) services for clients in the province of Ontario.

A maximum of 5,000,000 Common Shares, and a minimum of 0 Shares, are being offered to the public at $1.00 per share. This means a maximum of $5,000,000 and a minimum of $0 of gross proceeds from this Offering will be received by the Company. Insiders hold Five Million (5,000,000) shares of previously-issued (in private placements) shares of the Common Stock. This means that upon completion of the Offering, about Fifty Percent (50%) of the Common Stock will be held by these insiders, and Fifty Percent (50%) by the public, assuming that all Shares offered in this Offering are sold.

The company is self underwriting this offering although outside sales agents may be engaged.

Prior to this Offering, there has been no public market for the Company's Common Stock.

RISK FACTORS

2. List in the order of importance the factors which the Company considers to be the most substantial risks to an investor in this offering in view of all facts and circumstances or which otherwise make the offering one of high risk or speculative (i. e., those factors which constitute the greatest threat that the investment will be lost in whole or in part, or not provide an adequate return).

High Risk Investment. The securities offered hereby are highly speculative, involve a high degree of risk, and should be purchased only by persons who can afford to lose their entire investment. Prospective investors should consider very carefully the following risk factors, as well as all of the other information set forth elsewhere in this prospectus.

The following factors, in addition to the other information contained in this prospectus, should be considered carefully in evaluating the Company and its business before purchasing shares of Common Stock offered hereby. This prospectus contains forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties. The Company's actual results may differ materially from the results discussed in such forward-looking statements. Factors that might cause such a difference include, but are not limited to, those discussed below and in "Business of the Company" as well as those discussed elsewhere in this prospectus.

- (1) The Corporation's recent origin. The Company is only recently formed and faces All of the challenges of a start-up organization including market acceptance and sustained and controlled growth.
- (2) Minimal Revenues. The company has virtually no revenues, as a start-up operation and there is no guarantee of future revenues.
- (3) Market acceptance of low cost long-distance model. The low cost long-distance business model is novel and while it is believed to be accepted, there can be no guarantee that the commercial acceptance will be sufficient to be profitable.
- (4) Recruitment of competent Management. As anticipated growth is achieved more competent management will be required. There can be no guarantee that the company will be able to secure competent management in a timely and cost effective manner to match anticipated growth requirements for the corporation.
- (5) A major long distance provider aligning with this untapped market with its own offering. As Voice over Internet technology becomes more mainstream it may be possible that major long distance providers will offer similar types of services to the same audience. Several large providers are now offering Voice over Internet long distance services and may seriously impact the companies profitability and market acceptance.

- (6) Failure to Raise More Than Minimum Offering. There is no minimum number of shares which must be sold in this Offering and therefore the company may not have raised adequate capital to complete its business plan.
- (7) Significant change in telecom & computer technology markets. The market in which the Company is to embark is rapidly changing in technological developments. The company will be under constant technological pressure for service quality and pricing in the long distance industry. There is no guarantee that the Company will be able to adapt it's pricing and service quality to match the anticipated future levels of sound quality and reduced long distance pricing.
- (8) Best Efforts Offering. This Offering is being made on a "best efforts basis," and there is a no minimum number of shares, which must be sold in this Offering. The Company can give no assurance that all or any of the Shares will be sold. No escrow account has been established, and all subscription funds will be paid directly to the Company. Subscriptions are irrevocable.
- (9) Need for Additional Capital. The Company plans an ambitious marketing and expansion program of the services offered via its web site that will require expenditure of the net proceeds from this Offering. If less than all of the Shares offered are sold, the Company may have to delay or modify its marketing plans and proceed on a much slower or smaller scale. There can be no assurance that any delay or modification of the Company's marketing plans would not adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, and results of operations. If additional funds are needed to develop and market its products and services, the Company may be required to seek additional financing. The Company may not be able to obtain such additional financing, or, if obtained, such financing may not be on terms favorable to the Company or to the purchasers of the Shares.
- (10) No Regular Trading Market May Develop. Following the Offering, the Company may be considered a "non-reporting" issuer whose securities are not listed or subject to regulation under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act"), depending on how many securities are sold, and to how many investors. The vast majority of broker-dealers generally do not engage in the sale or trading of securities of a "non-reporting" issuer. Further limitations upon the development of a trading market are likely by virtue of regulations under Rule 15c2-11 of the Exchange Act which require that before broker-dealers can make a market in the Company's securities, and thereafter as they continue making the market, the Company must provide these broker-dealers with current information about the Company. The Company presently has formulated limited specific plans to distribute current information to broker-dealers, and will only do so if there appears otherwise to be adequate interest in making a market in the Company's securities. Furthermore, in view of the relatively small size of the Offering, the duration of the Offering, and the nature of the Company as a "non-reporting" issuer, it is possible that a regular trading market will not develop in the near term, if at all, or that if developed, it will be sustained. Accordingly, an investment in the Company's Common Stock should be considered highly illiquid.

- (11) No State Registration. The Company has not as yet registered its Shares for sale in any state. The Company can undertake offer no assurance that state laws are not violated through the further sale of its securities. The Company intends to register its Shares for sale in those states in which there are indications of sufficient interest. So far, no Shares have been offered, and therefore there have been no indications of interest from any state.
- (12) Arbitrary Offering Price of the Company's Securities. Prior to this Offering, there has been no public market for the securities of the Company. The initial Offering price of the Shares has been determined arbitrarily, with no consideration being given to the current status of the Company's business, the value of its properties, its financial condition, its present and prospective operations, the general status of the securities markets, and the market conditions for new offerings of securities. The initial offering price bears no relationship to the assets, net worth, book value, recent sales, price of shares issued to founding shareholders, or any other ordinary criteria of value.
- (13) No Prior Market for Common Stock. Prior to this Offering, there has been no public market for the Company's securities, and there can be no assurance that an active trading market will develop after this Offering, or, if developed, that it will be sustained. At least initially, the Company will be too small for its securities to be included on the NASDAQ SmallCap Market. Such securities may be subject to a rule under the Exchange Act that imposes additional stringent sales practice requirements on broker-dealers who sell the Shares. Those sales practice requirements, if imposed, would adversely affect the ability of broker-dealers to sell the Shares, and consequently would adversely affect the public market for and the trading price of the Common Stock.
- (14) Shares Eligible for Future Sale. The availability for sale of certain shares of Common Stock held by existing shareholders of the Company after this offering could adversely affect the market price of the Common Stock. Of the maximum of 10,000,000 shares of Common Stock to be outstanding following this Offering, 5,000,000 shares were issued to the Company's existing shareholders prior to this Offering in private transactions in reliance upon exemptions from registration under the Exchange Act, and are, therefore, "restricted securities" under the Exchange Act, which may not be sold publicly unless the shares are registered under the Exchange Act or are sold under Rules 144 or 144A of the Exchange Act after expiration of applicable holding periods as discussed in greater detail in Section __, below. Sales of substantial amounts of the Company's currently outstanding shares could adversely affect prevailing market prices of the Company's securities (including but not limited to the Shares) and the Company's ability to raise additional capital by occurring at a time when it would be advantageous for the Company to sell securities.
- (15) Underwriters' Influence on the Market. The Company presently has no underwriter for the offering and therefore cannot expect any underwriter to influence or support the companies shares on any market.
- (16) Dilution. Purchasers of the Shares offered hereby will incur an immediate substantial dilution, in terms of book value, from the public Offering price of approximately $1.00 per Share, assuming that all offered shares are sold. Shareholders can expect a dilution of at least $0.50 per share.
- (17) No Dividends. No dividends have been paid on the Common Stock of the Company. The Company does not intend to pay cash dividends on its Common Stock in the foreseeable future, and anticipates that profits, if any, received from operations will be devoted to facilitating growth of the Company's future operations. Any decision to pay dividends will depend upon the Company's profitability at the time, cash available therefor, and other relevant factors, and will be made by the Company's Board of Directors in the exercise of its sole and exclusive discretion.

- (18) Brief Operating History as a Long Distance Telecom Company; Uncertainty of Future Operating Results. The Company has an operating history of four (4) months' experience offering its services to customers in Ontario upon which an evaluation of its business and prospects can be based. Since inception, the Company's long distance business has generated sales and income of $4,696.00 . The Company does not expect to achieve profitability for the next several quarters, and there can be no assurance that it will be profitable thereafter, or that the Company will sustain any such profitability if achieved. The limited operating history of the Company makes the prediction of future results of operations difficult if not impossible, and the Company and its prospects must be considered in light of the risks, costs, and difficulties frequently encountered by emerging companies, particularly companies in the highly competitive computer sales industry.
- (19) Emerging Service Level; Dependence on Telecommunications Carriers and Other Service Providers; Demand for Products. The market for the Company's services continues to develop. Although the rapid expansion and increasing complexity in recent years of internet and telecom provider services allows the Company's to provide services facilitating low cost long distance services within the Ontario area. Delays in the introduction of advanced services, such as network management outsourcing, failure of such services to gain widespread market acceptance, or the decisions of telecommunications carriers and other service providers in the deployment of these services would have a material adverse effect on the Company's business, operating results, and financial condition.
- (20) Dependence on Key Personnel. The Company's success is substantially dependent upon a limited number of key management, sales, product development, technical services, and customer support personnel. The Company believes that its future success will depend in large part on its ability to attract and retain highly-skilled managerial, sales, technical services, customer support, and service development personnel. Competition for qualified personnel in the telecom industry is intense, and there can be no assurance that the Company will be successful in attracting and retaining such personnel. The loss of the services of one or more of such key employees could have a material adverse effect on the Company's business, financial condition, or results of operations. In particular, the Company would be materially adversely affected if it were to lose the services of Jaime Lobo, Chief Executive Officer, who has provided significant leadership, direction, and services to the Company since its inception. The Company does not have employment contracts with, and does not hold key-man life insurance or accident insurance policies on, these key personnel. Even if it did, there is no assurance that these persons could be replaced by qualified personnel. At the same time, there are numbers of well-trained prospective technical employees readily available in today's tight marketplace, though at substantial cost. Failure to attract and retain key personnel could materially adversely affect the Company's business, operating, results, or financial condition.
- (21) New Services and Rapid Technological Change. The market for the Company's services is comprised of purchasers and resellers of products characterized by rapidly changing technologies, evolving industry standards, changing regulatory environments, frequent new product introductions, and rapid changes in customer requirements and preferences. There can be no assurance that the introduction or announcement of new and/or improved services by the Company will cause customers to continue or increase their use of Company services or purchases of products offered through those services, nor can there be any assurance that the products offered by XAS Telecom will continue to spur demand for these long distance requirements. Any decrease in the utilization of the services offered through the Company infrastructure could have a material adverse effect on the Company's business, operating results, or financial condition.

- (22) Risk of Service Level Failure. Computer, Switching and Telecom products as internally complex may contain errors or defects, especially when first introduced or when new versions or enhancements are released. Because the Company does not itself manufacture any of the products, but rather provides the mechanism by which said sales may be more expeditiously effected, the Company does not maintain product liability insurance. Although the Company's agreements with suppliers of these computer and telecom will typically contain provisions designed to limit the Company's exposure to potential claims as well as any liabilities arising from such claims, such provisions may not effectively protect the Company against such claims and the liability and costs associated therewith. Accordingly, any such claim could have a material adverse effect upon the Company's business, results of operations, or financial condition.
- (23) Competition. There are other low cost long distance services offering similar low cost flat rate long distance billing. Some of the Company's current and potential competitors may have longer operating histories and may have significantly greater financial, technical, sales, marketing, and other resources, as well as greater name recognition and a larger customer base or larger product order base, than the Company. As a result, they may be able to respond more quickly to new or emerging technologies and changes in customer preferences or requirements, or to devote greater resources to the development, promotion, sale, and support of mechanisms to facilitate sales of long distance products than the Company. Moreover, the Company's current and potential competitors may increase their share of the local long distance market in Ontario by strategic alliances and/or the acquisition of competing companies. Finally, the principal competitive factors affecting the market for the Company's services are functionality, speed, variety, security, and facility of effecting purchases. The Company's market is continually evolving, and there can be no assurance that the Company will be able to compete successfully against current or future competitors, and the failure to do so successfully would have a materially adverse effect upon the Company's business, operating results, and financial condition.
- (24) Intellectual Property and Other Proprietary Rights. The Company's success and ability to compete is dependent in significant part upon its proprietary server technology. The Company relies on a combination of trade secret, copyright, and trademark laws, nondisclosure and other contractual agreements, and technical measures to protect its proprietary rights. Despite the Company's efforts to protect its proprietary rights, unauthorized parties may attempt to copy or "reverse-engineer" aspects of the Company's services or to obtain and use information of, from, or by the Company that the Company regards as proprietary. There can be no assurance that the steps taken by the Company to protect its proprietary technology will prevent misappropriation of such technology, and such protections may not preclude competitors from developing services (including switches and computer servers) with functionality or features similar to those of the Company. This would have a material adverse affect on the Company's business, operating results, or financial condition. In addition, the Company's internet site is accessible globally, and effective copyright and trade secret protection may be unavailable or limited in certain foreign countries. While the Company believes that its web site, services, and trademarks do not infringe upon the proprietary rights of third parties, there can be no assurance that the Company will not receive future communications from third parties asserting that the Company's services infringe, or may infringe, the proprietary rights of third parties. Any infringement claims, with or without merit, could be time-consuming, result in costly litigation and diversion of important technical and management personnel, cause product shipment delays, or require the Company to develop non-infringing technology. In the event of a successful claim of technology infringement against the Company and failure or inability of the Company to develop non-infringing technology or license the infringed or similar technology, the Company's business, operating results, or financial condition could be materially adversely affected.

- (25) No Prior Trading Market for Common Stock; Potential Volatility of Stock Price. Prior to this Offering, there has been no public market for the Common Stock of the Company, and there can be no assurance that an active trading market will develop or be sustained after this Offering. The initial public Offering price has been determined arbitrarily, and may not be indicative of the market price of the Common Stock after this Offering. The market price of the Shares is likely to be highly volatile, and may be significantly affected by factors such as actual or anticipated fluctuations in the Company's operating results, announcements of technological innovations, new services, product offerings, or new contracts by the Company or its competitors, developments with respect to copyrights or proprietary rights, adoption of new accounting standards affecting the computer industry, general market conditions, and other factors. In addition, the stock market has from time to time experienced significant price and volume fluctuations that have particularly affected the market price for the common stocks of technology companies. These types of broad market fluctuations may adversely affect the market price of the Company's Common Stock. In the past, following periods of volatility in the market price of a company's securities, securities class action litigation has often been initiated against such company. Such litigation could result in substantial costs and a diversion of management's attention and resources, which could have a material adverse effect upon the Company's business, operating results, or financial condition.
- (26) General Economic and Market Conditions. Segments of the telecom industry have experienced significant economic downturns characterized by decreased product demand, price erosion, work slowdowns, and layoffs. The Company's operations may in the future experience substantial fluctuations from period to period as a consequence of general economic conditions affecting the timing of orders from major customers and other factors affecting capital spending. Therefore, any economic downturns in general would have a material adverse effect on the Company's business, operating results, and financial condition.
- (27) Control by Existing Stockholders. Immediately after the closing of this Offering, assuming that the maximum of securities offered hereby are sold, 5,000,000 of the outstanding Common Stock will be held by the parent corporation. As a result, those directors and officers, if acting together, would be able to control substantially all matters requiring approval by the stockholders of the Company, including the election of all directors and approval of significant corporate transactions. The present stockholders, if acting together, would be able to continue controlling substantially all matters requiring approval by the stockholders of the Company, including the election of all directors and approval of significant corporate transactions. This could make it impossible for the new, public stockholders to influence the affairs of the Company.

- (28) Anti-takeover Effects of State Law.
- (29) Shares Eligible For Future Sale. Sales of a substantial number of Shares in the public market after this Offering could materially adversely affect the market price of the Common Stock. Such sales also might make it more difficult for the Company to sell equity securities or equity-related securities in the future at a time and price that the Company deems appropriate.
- (30) Dilution; Potential Need for Additional Financing; Dividend Policy. Investors participating in this offering will incur immediate and substantial dilution of pro forma net tangible book value per share of at least $0.50_ from the initial public Offering price. There can be no assurance that the Company will not require additional funds to support its working capital requirements or for other purposes, in which case the Company may seek to raise such additional funds through public or private equity financing or from other sources. There can be no assurance that such additional financing will be available or that, if available, such financing will be obtained on terms favorable to the Company and would not result in additional dilution to the Company's stockholders.

Note: In addition to the above risks, businesses are often subject to risks not foreseen or fully appreciated by management. In reviewing this Offering Circular potential investors should keep in mind other possible risks that could be important.

3. With respect to the business of the Company and its properties:

- (a) Describe in detail what business the Company does and proposes to do, including what product or goods are or will be produced or services that are or will be rendered.

North America Calling

We are currently selling our flat rate long distance product for calls throughout the United States and Canada with the exception of Hawaii and Alaska at an unlimited flat rate.

Our Solution:

By offering an unlimited flat rate long distance product without the need for a contract or the switching of long distance providers, XAS Telecom is carving out a niche for itself in the Ontario market.

- (b) Describe how these products or services are to be produced or rendered and how and when the Company intends to carry out its activities. If the Company plans to offer a new product(s), state the present stage of development, including whether or not a working prototype(s) is in existence. Indicate if completion of development of the product would require a material amount of the resources of the Company, and the estimated amount. If the Company is or is expected to be dependent upon one or a limited number of suppliers for essential raw materials, energy or other items, describe. Describe any major existing supply contracts.

The company is currently offering it's Long Distance Voice over IP products to business and residential clients in Ontario. All marketing is currently being done via the internet and through word of mouth. The company intends to use proceeds from this offering to expand its marketing scope to include telemarketing, flyer and print advertising. If the maximum proceeds are raised, the company will look into acquisition targets.

The company currently depends on a single back end VOIP carrier but can replace the provider with various other companies. The company does not feel that it can be adversely affected if the provider is lost and can replace the provider with another one or put in its own network.

- (c) Describe the industry in which the Company is selling or expects to sell its products or services and, where applicable, any recognized trends within that industry. Describe that part of the industry and the geographic area in which the business competes or will compete.

Indicate whether competition is or is expected to be by price, service, or other basis. Indicate (by attached table if appropriate) the current or anticipated prices or price ranges for the Company's products or services, or the formula for determining prices, and how these prices compare with those of competitors' products or services, including a description of any variations in product or service features. Name the principal competitors that the Company has or expects to have in its area of competition. Indicate the relative size and financial and market strengths of the Company's competitors in the area of competition in which the Company is or will be operating. State why the Company believes it can effectively compete with these and other companies in its area of competition.

Note: Because this Offering Circular focuses primarily on details concerning the Company rather than the industry in which the Company operates or will operate, potential investors may wish to conduct their own separate investigation of the Company's industry to obtain broader insight in assessing the Company's prospects.

The Industry

XAS Telecom has several products and services that we offer – all are related to the telecommunications industry. And the telecommunications industry is an important segment of the Canadian economy generating revenues in the tens of billions of dollars. XAS currently offers our products and services in Ontario.

Since the Company is selling telecommunication services our market includes every residence and business in the major cities and the smaller towns in Ontario that use long distance to call their customers and suppliers.

Competition

The flat rate industry is dominated by several small companies. These include Distributel Communications Ltd., Metro Access Ltd. and Argos Telecom. The major long distance providers, such as Bell Canada, AT&T Canada, Sprint Canada and Primus all charge by the minute and do not offer a true flat rate product.

The flat rate companies mentioned above offer a similar service within the local calling areas of some cities but none of these companies offers a comparable product that XAS presently offers on a flat rate pricing structure.

For example: Distributel offers 40 hours of calling from Toronto to Hamilton (and Hamilton to Toronto) and their surrounding communities at less than 2 cents per minute! Includes reverse calling feature at $29.95 / month.

To compare XAS will offer a service that allows Toronto customers unlimited calling to London, Hamilton and Kitchener for just $15.99 per month. We plan to increase our flat rate calling area in include every major city in Canada.

Since we our using the Internet to carry our voice traffic our underlying costs are less than what our non voice over internet protocol competitors would pay to provide the same level of service. We realize that our competitors also have the capability to use the Internet to expand their calling area, but since most of these companies are small and undercapitalized installing and managing the Internet infrastructure would, more than likely, be beyond their financial and technical capability.

- (d) Describe specifically the marketing strategies the Company is employing or will employ in penetrating its market or in developing a new market. Set forth in response to Question 4 below the timing and size of the results of this effort which will be necessary in order for the Company to be profitable. Indicate how and by whom its products or services are or will be marketed (such as by advertising, personal contact by sales representatives, etc.), how its marketing structure operates or will operate and the basis of its marketing approach, including any market studies. Name any customers that account for, or based upon existing orders will account for a major portion (20% or more) of the Company's sales. Describe any major existing sales contracts.

The majority of our efforts in the first year will be directed towards the flat rate long distance service. Our typical customer is small business and consumers who spend at least $15.00 per month in long distance calling into the cities that we service. We are not after the large corporations although they could also use our service. Once financing is in place we plan to send out over 1,000,000 flyers (businesses and residences) per month and expect a return of 0.1% or over 1,000 customers per month. We will also market our other services through telemarketers and a small direct sales team who will cross sell our other services to our flat rate business customers.

- (e) State the backlog of written firm orders for products and/or services as of a recent date (within the last 90 days) and compare it with the backlog of a year ago from that date.

As of 5 / 31 / 04 $ 2,328.61
(a recent date)

As of 3 / 26 / 04 $ 0
(inception)

Explain the reason for significant variations between the two figures, if any. Indicate what types and amounts of orders are included in the backlog figures. State the size of typical orders. If the Company's sales are seasonal or cyclical, explain.

The company was incorporated in March 26th 2004. All sales are recurring in nature, and although the company does not have any contracts with any clients, the billing is recurring on a monthly basis without a cancellation from the client.

State the number of the Company's present employees and the number of employees it anticipates it will have within the next 12 months. Also, indicate the number by type of employee (i.e., clerical, operations, administrative, etc.) the Company will use, whether or not any of them are subject to collective bargaining agreements, and the expiration date(s) of any collective bargaining agreement(s). If the Company's employees are on strike, or have been in the past three years, or are threatening to strike, describe the dispute. Indicate any supplemental benefits or incentive arrangements the Company has or will have with its employees.

The company has only one employee at this time. Once financing is in place, we plan over the next 12 months, to employ:

25-30 employees. With the majority being Customer Service Representatives.

(g) Describe generally the principal properties (such as real estate, plant and equipment, patents, etc.) that the Company owns, indicating also what properties it leases and a summary of the terms under those leases, including the amount of payments, expiration dates and the terms of any renewal options. Indicate what properties the Company intends to acquire in the immediate future, the cost of such acquisitions and the sources of financing it expects to use in obtaining these properties, whether by purchase, lease or otherwise.

The company does not own any property nor does it have any leases at this time. It does not have a lease for the office it is using right now but it will eventually have to move to a larger office utilizing the proceeds from this offering.

(h) Indicate the extent to which the Company's operations depend or are expected to depend upon patents, copyrights, trade secrets, know-how or other proprietary information and the steps undertaken to secure and protect this intellectual property, including any use of confidentiality agreements, covenants-not-to-compete and the like. Summarize the principal terms and expiration dates of any significant license agreements. Indicate the amounts expended by the Company for research and development during the last fiscal year, the amount expected to be spent this year and what percentage of revenues research and development expenditures were for the last fiscal year.

The company currently has an internet based CRM system specifically designed for our usage. All infrastructure has been setup for remote administration of customer service, billing, reporting, technical and accounting through the use of the world wide web.

- (i) If the Company's business, products, or properties are subject to material regulation (including environmental regulation) by federal, state, or local governmental agencies, indicate the nature and extent of regulation and its effects or potential effects upon the Company.

Not Applicable

- (j) State the names of any subsidiaries of the Company, their business purposes and ownership, and indicate which are included in the Financial Statements attached hereto. If not included, or if included but not consolidated, please explain.

There are no subsidiaries.

- (k) Summarize the material events in the development of the Company (including any material mergers or acquisitions) during the past five years, or for whatever lesser period the Company has been in existence. Discuss any pending or anticipated mergers, acquisitions, spin-offs or recapitalizations. If the Company has recently undergone a stock split, stock dividend or recapitalization in anticipation of this offering, describe (and adjust historical per share figures elsewhere in this Offering Circular accordingly).

The company is currently, completely, owned by Microsourceonline, Inc., it's parent corporation.

- 4. (a) If the Company was not profitable during its last fiscal year, list below in chronological order the events which in management's opinion must or should occur or the milestones which in management's opinion the Company must or should reach in order for the Company to become profitable, and indicate the expected manner of occurrence or the expected method by which the Company will achieve the milestones.

The company was inactive last year.

	Event or Milestone	Expected manner of occurrence or method of achievement	Date or number of months after receipt of proceeds when should be accomplished
(1)	Flyer Distribution	outsource	3 months
	_____	_____
	_____	_____
	_____	_____
	_____	_____
(2)	Print Ads	outsource	2-3 weeks
	_____	_____
	_____	_____
	_____	_____

(3)	Telemarketing campaign	In house	2-3 weeks
(4)
(5)

(b) State the probable consequences to the Company of delays in achieving each of the events or milestones within the above time schedule, and particularly the effect of any delays upon the Company's liquidity in view of the Company's then anticipated level of operating costs. (See Question Nos. 11 and 12)

The company believes that it can easily achieve these events with proper capital. There are numerous providers of advertising media.

Note: After reviewing the nature and timing of each event or milestone, potential investors should reflect upon whether achievement of each within the estimated time frame is realistic and should assess the consequences of delays or failure of achievement in making an investment decision.

INSTRUCTION: The inquiries under Business and Properties elicit information concerning the nature of the business of the Company and its properties. Make clear what aspects of the business are presently in operation and what aspects are planned to be in operation in the future. The description of principal properties should provide information which will reasonably inform investors as to the suitability, adequacy, productive capacity and extent of utilization of the facilities used in the enterprise. Detailed descriptions of the physical characteristics of the individual properties or legal descriptions by metes and bounds are not required and should not be given.

As to Question 4, if more than five events or milestones exist, add additional lines as necessary. A "milestone" is a significant point in the Company's development or an obstacle which the Company must overcome in order to become profitable.

OFFERING PRICE FACTORS

If the securities offered are common stock, or are exercisable for or convertible into common stock, the following factors may be relevant to the price at which the securities are being offered.

5. What were net, after-tax earnings for the last fiscal year?
(If losses, show in parenthesis.)

Total ($ 58,437)_____ ($__0.01_____ per share)

6. If the Company had profits, show offering price as a multiple of earnings. Adjust to reflect for any stock splits or recapitalizations, and use conversion or exercise price in lieu of offering price, if applicable. Not applicable.

$$\frac{\text{Offering Price Per Share}}{\text{Net After-Tax Earnings Last Year =}} \quad \underline{\hspace{10em}} \quad \text{(price/earnings multiple)}$$

Per Share

7. (a) What is the net tangible book value of the Company? (If deficit, show in parenthesis.) For this purpose, net tangible book value means total assets (exclusive of copyrights, patents, goodwill, research and development costs and similar intangible items) minus total liabilities.

($8,437)_____ ($__0.0017_____ per share)

If the net tangible book value per share is substantially less than this offering (or exercise or conversion) price per share, explain the reasons for the variation.

- (b) State the dates on which the Company sold or otherwise issued securities during the last 12 months, the amount of such securities sold, the number of persons to whom they were sold, and relationship of such persons to the Company at the time of sale, the price at which they were sold and, if not sold for cash, a concise description of the consideration. (Exclude bank debt.)

The corporation had a single share issuance of 5,000,000 common shares to its parent corporation Microsourceonline, Inc. upon inception, March 26th 2004, for goods and services rendered to the corporation at $0.01 per share as reflected in the companies audited financial statements for the year ending May 31st 2004. The figure is attributed to facilitation fees for, employees, operating costs, rent, software and website and technology development.

8. (a) What percentage of the outstanding shares of the Company will the investors in this offering have? Assume exercise of outstanding options, warrants or rights and conversion of convertible securities, if the respective exercise or conversion prices are at or less than the offering price. Also assume exercise of any options, warrants or rights and conversions of any convertible securities offered in this offering.)

If the maximum is sold: 50 %

If the minimum is sold: 0 %

- (b) What post-offering value is management implicitly attributing to the entire Company by establishing the price per security set forth on the cover page (or exercise or conversion price if common stock is not offered)? (Total outstanding shares after offering times offering price, or exercise or conversion price if common stock is not offered.)

If the maximum is sold: $10,000,000 *

If the minimum is sold: $5,000,000 *

* These values assume that the Company's capital structure would be changed to reflect any conversions of outstanding convertible securities and any use of outstanding securities as payment in the exercise of outstanding options, warrants or rights included in the calculation. The type and amount of convertible or other securities thus eliminated would be: 0 . These values also assume an increase in cash in the Company by the amount of any cash payments that would be made upon cash exercise of options, warrants or rights included in the calculations. The amount of such cash would be: $ 0 .

(For above purposes, assume outstanding options are exercised in determining "shares" if the exercise prices are at or less than the offering price. All convertible securities, including outstanding convertible securities, shall be assumed converted and any options, warrants or rights in this offering shall be assumed exercised.)

Note: After reviewing the above, potential investors should consider whether or not the offering price (or exercise or conversion price, if applicable) for the securities is appropriate at the present stage of the Company's development.

INSTRUCTION: Financial information in response to Questions 5, 6 and 7 should be consistent with the Financial Statements. Earnings per share for purposes of Question 5 should be calculated by dividing earnings for the last fiscal year by the weighted average of outstanding shares during that year. No calculations should be shown for periods of less than one year or if earnings are negative or nominal. For purposes of Question 8, the "offering price" of any options, warrants or rights or convertible securities in the offering is the respective exercise or conversion price.

Re: Issuance of Shares

Gentlemen:

Our firm has acted as counsel to XAS Group, Inc., a Canadian corporation (“Company”), in connection with offering of up to 5,000,000 shares of its common stock (“Shares”) pursuant to the exemption offered by Regulation A (17CFR 230.251) as prepared on a Form 1A Offering Statement dated August 11, 2004 (the “Statement”). You have requested our opinion as set forth below, to be effective upon closing of the offering described in the Statement.

In rendering such opinion, we have examined such documents and have made such examination of law as we have deemed relevant and copies of the following documents which we assume comport to the originals thereof.

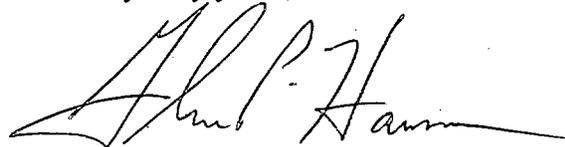

1. Articles of Incorporation of the Company and all amendments thereto.
2. Bylaws of the Company and all amendments thereto.
3. The Statement and all exhibits thereto.

Based upon the above, it is our opinion that, provided that the Shares are sold in accordance with the Statement and any related Fund Escrow agreement, upon their issuance, as a matter of applicable law the Shares will be the fully paid validly and legally issued and non-assessable common stock of the Company.
