The net loss has also increased as the Company has adopted a new accounting policy of charging to operations all exploration related expenditures and recording the approximate fair value of the granting of stock options to directors and officers as stock-based compensation expense.

Critical Accounting Policies

Our financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in Canada and form the basis for the following discussion and analysis of critical accounting policies and estimates. We make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities and expenses and related disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities during the course of preparing these financial statements. On a regular basis, we evaluate our estimates and assumptions including those related to the recognition of stock-based compensation.

We base our estimates on historical experience and on various other assumptions that we believe to be reasonable. These estimates form the basis of our judgments about the carrying value of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. Our actual results may differ from those estimates.

The following critical accounting policies reflect the more significant estimates and assumptions we have used in the preparation of our financial statements:

Accounting for Exploration and Development Costs

Effective February 1, 2003, the Company has changed its accounting policy for exploration costs. Under its new accounting policy, it must be probable that exploration expenditures will be recovered from future operations in order to be capitalized and that acquisition costs of mineral properties should be written off upon determination that the costs will not be recovered from future operations. Previously, the Company capitalized all exploration costs incurred on its mineral properties if exploration was continuing on the property, on the basis that it was too early to tell whether the deferred costs would not be recovered from a geological resource or reserve or otherwise.

Stock Based Compensation

Effective, February 1, 2003, the Company early adopted the requirements of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants Handbook Section 3870, "Stock-based Compensation and other Stock-based Payments." The Company has chosen to recognize compensation expense for all stock options granted subsequent to February 1, 2003. However, as required by the accounting standard, the Company has disclosed on a pro forma basis, the fair value impact of issuing stock options granted to employees and directors. The fair value of the stock options has been estimated based on the Black Scholes option-pricing model. Option pricing models require the input of highly subjective assumptions including the expected price volatility. Changes in the subjective input assumptions can materially affect the fair value estimate, and therefore the existing models do not necessarily provide a reliable single measure of fair value of the Company's stock options.

Subsequent Events

Subsequent to July 31, 2004, the Company:

- a) Entered into an option agreement with International PBX Ventures Ltd ("PBX") to explore PBX's Hornitos property in Region III, Northern Chile. The Hornitos claims cover an area of 3,200 hectares. Pursuant to the terms of the agreement, the Company can earn a 65% interest in the claims by paying PBX a total of $370,000 over a four year period and spending $1,300,000 in an exploration work program over the same period.
- b) Issued 2,000,000 common shares at $0.17 per share pursuant to a private placement. The gross proceeds of $340,000 were received during the six month period ended July 31, 2004.
