JOINT PRESS RELEASE

Calgary, Alberta: September 23, 2004

The University of Calgary (the "University") and International Health Partners Inc. ("IHP") are both pleased to announce that they have resolved all matters between them relating to the discontinuance of IHP's operation of the University Health Centre.

IHP's operation of the University Health Centre was a success and, subject to the one-time costs incurred by the University in transferring the operation of the University Health Centre to IHP, the University made an operating profit as a result of such operation by IHP.

However, the University has determined that there would not be a long-term benefit to it of having the University Health Centre operated by IHP and therefore negotiation of a long-term contract between the parties did not proceed. The University has resumed direct management and operation of the University Health Centre.

The University appreciates the work and effort by IHP and its staff.

David McQuaig, President
International Health Partners Inc.

Dr. Harvey Weingarten, President
The University of Calgary
