Severn Trent wins for the fourth time in a row

Severn Trent Plc, a leading UK environmental services group, has been named as the utilities sector leader in the global Dow Jones Sustainability World Index for the fourth consecutive year. In the face of strong competition Severn Trent has now achieved the distinction of the world's most sustainable utility for each of the last four years.

Alexander Barkawi, Managing Director of SAM Indexes, who conducted Dow Jones' research, said "Over the last year Severn Trent has reconfirmed its sustainability leadership and has again been ranked on top of the utilities sector. Leading a sector in the index for four years in a row is a major achievement, especially in an industry as competitive as utilities".

Severn Trent Plc Group Chief Executive, Robert Walker, commented on the group's success "We are delighted that our achievements have once again been recognised by the Dow Jones Sustainability World Index and believe it is evidence of the determination we have to maintain and reinforce our environmental leadership credentials in underpinning our business values. The challenge is not just about contributing to sustainable development within our own operations, but working with our customers and suppliers to help modern society grow in a more sustainable way."

The sustainability index consists of 300 of the largest companies from 24 countries that lead their industries in terms of corporate sustainability. The index is based on an assessment of the quality of a company's management and performance in terms of integrating economic, environmental and social considerations into business strategies whilst continuing to enhance competitiveness and brand reputation
