SingTel extends its Pan-European IP-VPN coverage through KPN

KPN and SingTel seal agreement to connect their IP-VPN networks

Singapore, 23 November 2004 -- Singapore Telecommunications Limited (SingTel), Asia's leading communications group, and KPN, one of Europe's leading telecommunications service providers, announced today a significant expansion of their IP-VPN MPLS* network coverage through a distribution agreement.

The interconnection of both carriers' IP-VPN MPLS networks enables SingTel and KPN to leverage each other's extensive networks in their respective markets in Asia Pacific and Europe.

Together, both companies offer coverage to more than one thousand Points-of-Presence (PoPs) that cover all major businesses in logistics, healthcare, manufacturing as well as financial centres of the world. The companies will align their marketing and sales efforts to enhance delivery of their networking solutions to their respective enterprise customers.

With this partnership collaboration, SingTel and KPN are now able to offer their corporate customers a one-stop service - with seamless connectivity and fully managed networking solutions - that is highly reliable and secure across Asia Pacific, Europe and the US.

Mr John van Vianen, Senior Vice President, KPN, said: "We are really pleased to be able to connect our customers to the huge booming economies in Asia through our partner SingTel, Asia's leading communications group. SingTel brings value to our partnership through the combination of their extensive infrastructure in Asia Pacific, and their expert knowledge and understanding of the telco market in Asia.

"As their pan-European distribution partner, we can serve SingTel's customers better by offering them extended reach into Europe with the same consistent level of high quality and innovative IP-VPN services that KPN offers to our customers in Europe. The fact that both networks use MPLS enables us to offer our customers the quality they require for converged services such as Voice over IP (VoIP) or videoconferencing."

Mr Thomas Yeo, SingTel's Vice President of Marketing, Corporate Business Group, said: "We are very pleased to work with a top notch and reliable partner such as KPN to extend our network coverage throughout Europe. Our customers will benefit from this partnership as we now have a more complete and seamless IP-VPN service to better serve their global communications needs in both Asia Pacific and Europe. The partnership with KPN forms part of our strategic thrust to strongly position SingTel as Asia's leading communications group to serve the emerging needs of connectivity between pan-Europe and Asia."

“This is a testament to SingTel’s commitment to bring the best connectivity solutions to our customers through our extensive presence and reliable infrastructure across the continents. We will continue to develop the excellent relations and partnerships over the next 12 months to further enhance SingTel’s competitive position and offering in the global telecommunications market,” said Mr Yeo.

 IP-VPN MPLS (Internet Protocol – Virtual Private Network Multi-Protocol Label Switching) technology allows corporations to prioritise data traffic delivery through different classes of service over a private network, thus making it more secure and reliable.*
